

السنة الأولى

the men

the News
Fit to Print

The New York Times

LATE CITY EDITION

Weather: Sunny, mild today; cool tonight. Chance of rain tomorrow. Temperature range: today 48-68; Friday 59-75. Details on page 54.

No. 43,190

© 1976 The New York Times Company

NEW YORK, SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1976

25 cents beyond 30-mile zone from New York City. Except Lake Island, delivery to all delivery cities.

20 CENTS

BON: Partisans of the Social Democratic Center battle members of the in Lisbon as election campaign ends. Tomorrow, the Portuguese will their first free parliamentary election in half a century. Page 5.

ALBANY ALLOWING GEICO AUTO RATES TO RISE 47% MAY 3

Its Increase Applies to New and Renewed Policies—Higher Costs Cited

By REGINALD STUART
A 47 percent increase in the automobile insurance rates of the half million New York State customers of the financially troubled Government Employees Insurance Company has been approved by the state's Department of Insurance.

The new rates, which become effective May 3 and apply to all new and renewed policies, follow two increases last year totaling 21.4 percent and virtually eliminate GEICO's competitive edge over other insurers in some parts of the state.

The Washington-based company is the second largest automobile insurer in the state, behind the Allstate Insurance Company.

"The increases allow for a correction of management's prior misjudgments of proper rate levels as well as for the marked increases in medical costs and crash parts increases," said Thomas A. Harrett, state insurance superintendent. "My objective is to maintain uninterrupted insurance availability to all the insureds and to prevent any company's inability to service policies because of inadequate rates."

Financial Condition Shaky
The rate increase approved for New York customers of GEICO is indicative of the type of increases the company has been seeking in dozens of states in recent months in view of its shaky financial condition. It recently reported a $124.2 million loss on operations for 1975, in contrast to a profit of $26.1 million in 1974.

In Connecticut and New Jersey, state insurance authorities have also raised GEICO rates as part of a massive regulatory effort to keep the company solvent. Last year its Connecticut rates were increased 6.6 percent and a pending increase request seeks an additional 15.3 percent. New Jersey rates for GEICO auto policies were increased 14.4 percent and earlier this month its rates were increased another 20 percent as part of an overall request for a 42.5 percent increase.

The new GEICO rates for New York policy holders include a 10 percent bumper discount on collision rates and a 15 percent credit for policies in which youthful drivers have had driver training courses. Some examples of the new rate structure provided by GEICO follow:

4A Manhattan policyholder
Continued on Page 41, Column 4

Bostonians marching yesterday to protest racial violence. State Capitol is in distance.

THOUSANDS MARCH IN BOSTON RALLY AGAINST VIOLENCE

Mostly White, Middle Class Crowd Hears Prayers for End to Racial Strife

TENSIONS REMAIN HIGH

Group Takes Responsibility for Courthouse Blast—Bomb Squad Is Busy

By JOHN KIFNER
Special to The New York Times

BOSTON, April 23—Tens of thousands of people marched in the sunshine through the center of Boston today in a "Procession Against Violence" that sought to ease the city's racial tensions.

The half-mile march, called by Mayor Kevin H. White, followed a series of racial incidents that included the beating of a white man who was dragged from his car in a black neighborhood and an attack on a black man by white youths in front of City Hall, in which an American flag was used as a weapon, and nearly two years of festering resentment and sporadic outbreaks over court-ordered busing for school desegregation.

The crowd was middle class, heavily white and sprinkled with elected officials, clergymen and young people. Anti-busing leaders had denounced the march and boycotted it, and there disappeared to be few participants from the city's embattled white neighborhoods.

March in Silence

The crowds began gathering shortly after 11 A.M. at the foot of Beacon Hill by the Boston Common and Public Garden, where the trees are budding and the magnolias blooming.

They marched in silence up Beacon Hill, past the gold-domed Statehouse designed by Charles Bulfinch, along the side of the Common and on to the broad brick plaza in front of the striking, modern City Hall.

There were no speeches. But at the march's end there were prayers for racial peace, and Humberto Cardinal Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston, intoned, "Help us, O Lord and Father, to turn Boston from a city in crisis to a city of hope."

36 Bomb Scares

Tensions increased here yesterday when a dynamite bomb exploded at the Suffolk County Courthouse, injuring more than 20 persons, including a man whose foot was blown off. By 5 o'clock this afternoon, the police bomb squad had responded to 30 calls, finding what were described as "packages" at three places, but no explosives.

Today, a letter from a group calling itself the Sam Melville-Jonathan Jackson Unit, taking responsibility for the courthouse bombing, arrived at The Real Paper, a Cambridge-based underground weekly.

The letter called for reforms at Walpole State Prison near here, where there has been considerable unrest in recent years, and warned "if these demands are not met, we will continue to act."

Continued on Page 19, Column 1

Spaniards Iron From Exile

By HENRY GINIGER
Special to The New York Times

23 — Two "I have only one word: distinguished peace," he said at the airport as he returned here. "We have killed each other too much already. Let us reach Albornoz, a understanding under a regime or president of freedom, all of us putting exile, who into it what is necessary from to set foot each side of the barricade. He General. "Forty years are a lot," he Franco was continued. "Historically, nothing resists time, everything is He apocaled, transitory and perishable. No inciliation. "Many people realize this in go, another Spain among all Spaniards. ariaga, who can just an old preacher of Switzerland, peace and reconciliation among homeland. Albornoz, a Spanish Government policy is to welcome back political exiles Franco in 1930's."

Continued on Page 7, Column 1

KISSINGER ARRIVES IN AFRICA TODAY

His Word Is Awaited on Key Issue of U.S. Aid to Nationalist Groups

By MICHAEL T. KAUFMAN
Special to The New York Times

NAIROBI, Kenya, April 23—The major question that African leaders are waiting to ask Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who begins a tour of Africa here tomorrow night, is just how far he is prepared to go in offering tangible support for African nationalist movements in Rhodesia and South-West Africa.

The issue is expected to become insistent early next week when Mr. Kissinger stops in Tanzania and Zambia on the first leg of his 12-day tour of seven African nations. The Presidents of these two countries, Julius K. Nyerere and Kenneth D. Kaunda, will press hard for United States assurances of backing, even direct military backing, primarily for the guerrilla forces now seeking to topple the white minority Government of Prime Minister Ian D. Smith of Rhodesia.

And Mr. Kissinger, in turn, will be hard pressed not to offer some form of assistance if he seeks to impress African nations with his recent warnings of the dangers to world and continental peace posed by Soviet and Cuban interventions in Africa.

For such leaders as Mr. Nyerere, these dangers are seen as minimal compared with what they view as the urgent necessity to end white domination in Rhodesia by any means, with whatever assistance comes to hand.

African diplomats and political experts here are wondering

Continued on Page 2, Column 3

Says F.B.I. Sought CIA Article's Source

By JOHN M. CREWDSON
Special to The New York Times

April 23—Federal Government for late Director in that case, and in a deposition taken in that law suit recently Cartha D. DeLoach, formerly the third-ranking official at the bureau, referred to length to the Hoover memorandum. Mr. DeLoach's deposition is a matter of record.

The memorandum, Mr. DeLoach said, contained the names of "newspaper people friendly to the F.B.I." who were to be asked "if they could shed any light on" how the information was obtained by William Beecher, then the military correspondent of The Times.

That article, which appeared May 9, 1968, touched off a search for the sources of such

Continued on Page 25, Column 6

Cuts Curbing Consumer Agency

Supposed to look for unit-pricing violations, freshness dating and mislabeling of meat.

During the Lindsay administration, the Consumer Affairs Department, with Bess Myerson at its head, was a showpiece, a highly visible expression of government's involving itself directly in the problems of the ordinary citizen. Its innovations, and the very law that created it, were widely copied by municipalities around the country.

That has changed in recent months as city officials have apportioned budget cuts. Donna Shalala of the Municipal Assistance Corporation and William M. Elvinghaus of the Emergency Financial Control Board publicly referred to the Consumer Affairs Department as a luxury that the city's residents might no longer be able to afford.

In broad terms, the department's staff has been cut by 30 percent, down from 487 in January 1974 to 341 now. Of the 341, 93 are being paid out of Federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds and have been facing imminent dismissal since the beginning of this year.

The Consumer Affairs Commissioner, Elinor Guggenheimer, maintains that she had little choice of where to make staff cuts, although critics point out that she still has four

Continued on Page 33, Column 2

State Democrats Re-elect Cunningham as Chairman

By MAURICE CARROLL

His voice breaking, tears in his eyes, Patrick J. Cunningham accepted re-election yesterday as Democratic chairman of New York State.

"I've been judged by people who know me—through 30 years in politics," he said afterward, "and their judgment is good."

No more than 25 members of the state committee in the crowd of about 300 stood to vote against Mr. Cunningham after a nominating process that bluntly displayed the power of the party's regulars and oratory denouncing editorials that had counseled against keeping Mr. Cunningham as chairman.

Shouting into a microphone in the Trianon Ballroom of the New York Hilton Hotel, Joseph F. Crangle, the Erie County leader and Mr. Cunningham's predecessor as state chairman, waved a newspaper and assailed "self-appointed, self-anointed, holier-than-thou editorials."

To oppose Mr. Cunningham

HIGH COURT DENIES VOTE FUND PLEAS

Contenders May Turn to Appeals Court for Ruling on Federal Subsidy

By LESLEY OELSNER
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 23—The Supreme Court turned down tonight the pleas by seven contenders in the Presidential primaries for a resumption of Federal campaign subsidies.

It appeared, however, from a concurring opinion by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. and from an order issued today by the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, that the contenders might be able to pursue their efforts to obtain release of the matching funds in the appellate court.

The Supreme Court gave no explanation for its refusal. It announced its action in a brief order that said simply that the motions made by the contenders yesterday, and a motion by the Democratic National Committee asking permission to file a friend-of-the-court brief supporting the contenders, had been denied.

The Supreme Court ruled on Jan. 30, in its decision in the original campaign case striking down parts of the new campaign financing legislation and

Continued on Page 13, Column 6

O'Dwyer Formally Enters Race For Nomination for U.S. Senate

By EDWARD C. BUREK

Describing himself as the "most likely Democrat to bring unity and enthusiasm to the diverse elements of the party," Paul O'Dwyer plunged yesterday into the crowded race for United States Senator from New York.

Mr. O'Dwyer, the New York City Council President, is entering familiar but turbulent political waters already awash with four Democratic aspirants who hope to unseat Senator James L. Buckley, Conservative Republican, in November.

The other Democrats already in the race are Ramsey Clark, the former United States Attorney General; Assemblyman Andrew J. Stein of Manhattan; Abraham Hirschfeld, a builder, and Edward Hanna, Mayor of Utica.

Representative Bella S. Abzug, Democrat of Manhattan, is expected to make a formal announcement soon. And Daniel Patrick Moynihan, former United States representative to the United Nations, is also regarded as a possible Democratic contender.

Mr. O'Dwyer, who has often played a maverick role in long years of political battles, said that this time he would be seeking the official endorsement of the Democratic State Committee at its June meeting.

If he should fail to obtain the state committee's designation, Mr. O'Dwyer said, he would "hesitate very much" before deciding to go ahead and

Continued on Page 14, Column 4

BERGMAN TO COME TO U.S.: Ingmar Bergman, the film director, with his wife, Ingrid, in Paris yesterday. He said he would visit U.S. "in the next few days." Page 9.

NEWS INDEX table with columns for Page, News, and Page.

CALL THIS TOLL-FREE NUMBER TO ORDER HOME DELIVERY OF THE NEW YORK TIMES—800-55-6000—JAP1

exotic marketing

New York's Best Bets

Solid Butcher Block Table, 2" thick hardwood, with trapezoidal base, 30" x 60", reg. $269. Now $199.

Also 42" round table with chrome pedestal base, reg. $249. Now $179. Many other sizes available.

Genuine Leather $139<sup>50</sup>

Imported hardwood rocker. Clock Bookcase in walnut, mahogany and cane. Reg. $119. $89. 66" H x 15" W. Reg. $125. $79.

OPEN SUNDAY IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

191 Lexington Avenue (32nd St.) N.Y.C. Weekdays 11-6; Saturdays 10-6 • 679-1922

New Anti-Zionist Moves at U.N. Sought

By PAUL HOFMANN
Special to The New York Times

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 23—An Arab diplomat is pressing for new broad drive in United Nations bodies to renew charges of racism against Israel, "third-world informants" here say.

According to these informants, the Arab advocates of another campaign to equate Zionism with racial discrimination intend to base their new effort on the seeming emergence of a closer relationship between Israel and South Africa.

The sources note, however, that several black African countries appeared reluctant to go along with the Arabs, particularly Iraq and Libya, during a conference of Arab and African foreign ministers that ended in Dakar, Senegal, yesterday.

Move Planned in Havana

Plans to revive the charge of racism against Israel will be taken up at an international anti-apartheid seminar that the United Nations committee sponsoring in Havana next month in collaboration with the Organization of African Unity. The conference is being organized by the IS-nation Special Committee Against Apartheid.

The advocates of a renewed drive to denounce Zionism as racist are also trying to have other organs of the world body take up the theme again. Behind the scenes at the current session of the Economic and Social Council, a 54-country body, efforts are going on to reintroduce the Zionism issue. The issue overshadowed the 30th General Assembly last year. On Nov. 10, in an atmosphere of tension and bitterness, the Assembly adopted a resolution proclaiming Zionism a "form of racism and racial discrimination."

The vote was 72 to 35, with 32 abstentions. The United States declared that it would never abide by the "infamous" decision.

Effort to revive the divisive Zionism issue in the United Nations are based, on reports that Israel and South Africa have decided to increase economic and scientific cooperation. South Africa's Prime Minister, John Vorster, visited Israel earlier this month.

The prospect of stepped-up collaboration between Israel and South Africa is being cited by hard-line Arab diplomats as conclusive evidence that their thesis of the racist character of Zionism is right.

Some other United Nations delegates have recently expressed similar views. The chief delegate of Cuba, Ricardo Arceon Quesada, for example, told the United Nations Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People yesterday that "recent improvements in the relations between Israel and South Africa" were ominous.

Arab governments and the Palestine Liberation Organization have for some time been seeking to persuade black African countries that there was a link between Zionism and the racial policy of South Africa.

Arab influence induced a conference of Arab heads of state in Kampala, Uganda, last July to adopt a declaration alleging that "the racist regime in occupied Palestine and racist regimes in Zimbabwe [Rhodesia] and South Africa have a common imperialist origin."

The Kampala text linking Israel and South Africa was cited in the preamble of the General Assembly's resolution Nov. 10 condemning Zionism.

Representatives of Iraq, Libya and, to a lesser degree, Syria, are reported to have insisted at the Dakar meeting this week that after Mr. Vorster's visit to Israel the time had come for a vigorous campaign against what they termed the "unholy alliance" between Zionism and South Africa.

Some Africans Wary

Information reaching here through diplomatic channels from Dakar indicated that many black African countries, perhaps a majority, would not endorse a new all-out campaign against Zionism.

An Africa diplomat in New York who described himself as a moderate and declined to be identified said today: "We are all united by the determination to fight against racial discrimination in South Africa, but while we are worried about any sign of collaboration between Israel and South Africa, many African governments still feel that the issue of Zionism is extraneous to what we want—majority rule in the southern part of our continent."

Repeat of

a Smashing Sell-out

For 3 Days Only SAT-SUN-MON

"The Chair"

side chair 44<sup>95</sup> arm chair 54<sup>95</sup> sells in leading furniture and department stores best quality from Italy

second to none

Immediate delivery on first 400 chairs

We create and ship all over USA

interconcepts

a division of interiors and sound inc.

OPEN SUNDAY 12-5

WALL SYSTEMS
BOOKCASES
LEATHER SOFAS & CHAIRS
DINING ROOMS BEDROOMS

UNBEATABLE—
"NEVER TO BE REPEATED" PRICES

27 West 44th St. (bet. 4th & 5th) New York, N.Y. 10018
Tel. 212-246-7700

The Murphy Bed

the logical solution

It saves space. It's comfortable. It's convenient. With a flick of the wrist, the Murphy Bed disappears into a smartly styled cabinet.

Now Lockwood combines the Murphy Bed with a system of modular wall components—wardrobes, chests, bookcases, desks, filing cabinets, bar units, and on and on. Choose from a wide variety of beautiful woods and great colors. Come in and open the doors to refreshingly new design ideas.

Open Mon. & Thurs. 10-9. Tues. Wed. Fri. Sat. 10-7
Master Charge accepted

Lockwood Cabinet Company

163 East 61st Street, New York, N.Y. 10021 (212) 752-8374 between Lexington and Third Avenues.

Kissinger Begins Tour of Africa Today

Continued From Page 1, Col. 3

whether Mr. Kissinger is in a position to offer anything that those African nations most active in their support of Rhodesian nationalists could accept as credible and realistic.

"He could, for example, promise funds for the reconstruction and development of Zimbabwe once Smith was ousted," said Hilary Ngweni, editor of the influential Weekly Review, a Kenya news magazine, referring to Rhodesia by the name black nationalists use. "But I doubt this would satisfy Nyerere and Kaunda, whose concerns right now are to defeat Smith militarily."

"If he's going to impress anyone with his warnings about the Soviets he's going to have to offer something to counter the aid the Soviets are providing and if he is able to convince Congress to provide such assistance it would probably only encourage the Soviets to increase their military contributions," said Mr. Ngweni.

A further complication arises in what is viewed as Mr. Kissinger's desire to contain the conflict, with its potential for great-power rivalry, to Rhodesia and to encourage a negotiated settlement rather than a military one.

Publicly, the major African heads of state have given up on the possibility of negotiations, although some observers feel that there remains the slimmest chance that should the United States throw its muscle behind the guerrillas, in effect putting the resources of both superpowers at the disposal of the nationalists, Mr. Smith, with sharply eroded bargaining power, would be forced to negotiate.

But what real guarantees can there be that a conflict in Rhodesia could be kept from spreading in the whole of southern Africa. For example, it is asked, what could the United States options be if Rhodesian forces attacked Mozambique in a pre-emptive strike and Mozambique called for military assistance from its allies?

"What if South Africa was then drawn into the conflict on Rhodesia's side, fighting as it did in Angola? Would any support now for Rhodesia's guerrillas by the United States impel further commitments in wending war in the future?"

Finally, in regard to Rhodesia, there is the question of whether nationalist action if any should be the recipient of United States aid. Western diplomats were saying as late as yesterday that Mr. Kissinger might meet in Zambia with Joshua Nkomo, the leader of the faction that was negotiating with the Smith Government until the Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger being greeted by Anne Armstrong, United States Ambassador to Britain, at Heathrow Airport in London last night.

Details of the Itinerary For Kissinger in Africa

WASHINGTON, April 23 (Reuters)—Following is the itinerary of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, as made available today by the state department.

April 23 and 24, London.
April 24 and 25, Nairobi, Kenya.
April 26 and 27, Tanzania.
April 28 and 29, Zambia, a major speech on Southern Africa and a meeting with Rhodesian nationalist leaders.
April 27, 28 and 29, Zaire.
April 29 and 30, Ghana.
April 30 and May 1, Liberia.
May 1 and 2, Senegal.
May 2 to 6, Nairobi, major economic address to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development.
May 6 and 7, Paris, meeting with President Giscard d'Estaing.
May 7, returns to Washington.

talks collapsed in Salisbury last month.

Mr. Kissinger's major responsibility to the issues raised by Rhodesia and the nationalist movements is to come in Zambia on Tuesday, when he will make a speech on United States policy in southern Africa. Said Mr. Ngweni, "I really don't think Africa should expect too much, but perhaps he just might be able to pull some rabbit out of his hat."

While southern Africa will be the thorniest problem facing the Secretary, he will also be asked to consider a strin of requests for military and development assistance by the heads of state he visits in his first trip to this continent as a public official.

Here in Kenya, a staunch pro-Western country, the emphasis of the officials he will meet is presumed to center on stepped-up military assistance.

In Zaire, which receives the greatest amount of United States aid of any African country, similar requests are expected while Tanzania, Zambia, Liberia and Ghana are thought to be seeking greater developmental aid.

The final country to be visited, Senegal, is within the French orbit, and it was included in the itinerary to provide an occasion for Mr. Kissinger to pay his respects to President Leopold S. Senghor, one of the elder statesmen of African nationalism and the man who led the African opposition to recognition of Angola's Popular Movement.

Something significant about Mr. Kissinger's itinerary is that it excludes the two giants, South Africa and Nigeria. In the planning that followed the Secretary's announcement last November that he intended to come to Africa, both countries were at times under active consideration for inclusion in this tour—and, in fact, Nigeria was included until it announced two weeks ago that a visit by Mr. Kissinger at this time was inopportune.

In the wake of the assassination of the Chief of State, Murtala Ramat Muhammed, Nigerian students and newspapers have adopted an intensifying anti-Western position, accusing Britain, for example, of complicity in the abortive coup in which General Muhammed was killed.

As for South Africa, some of the black opposition in the United States to such a visit evaporated when Representative Charles C. Diggs Jr., a leader of the Congressional Black Caucus, urged Mr. Kissinger to visit the country. However, State Department officials in Africa generally discouraged a South African stopover, saying it could only be counterproductive.

Kissinger in London

LONDON, April 23 (Reuters)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived here tonight on his way to Africa.

A senior American official speaking to reporters aboard Mr. Kissinger's plane, predicted "a difficult trip" if African leaders demanded United States military aid against Rhodesia.

FIVE DAY SALE

20% or more OFF LIST PRICE!

CLIP THIS AD & SAVE!!
PRESENT THIS AND WE'LL TAKE OFF AN EXTRA 10% IN FRONT OF YOUR VERY EYES ON OUR ALREADY LOWEST SALE PRICES!

Sale Ends THURSDAY 8 P.M.

TOP NAME BRAND CONVERTIBLES

CHESAPEAKE • ECLIPSE • SIMMONS • SEALY • ETC.
SOFA BEDS—LOVE SEATS—SECTIONALS

BERK/HIRE HOUSE CONVERTIBLE/
Owned by Norbert FLAKS
NOT CONNECTED WITH ANY OTHER STORE

19 West 45th St., N.Y. City (212) 246-4770

OPEN-SUNDAY 12-5

Daily 10 am to 6 pm; Thurs 12-8 (CLOSED SATURDAY)
• AMERICAN EXPRESS • BANK AMERICAN • MASTER CHARGE • FREE PARKING

ONE HOUR DELIVERY
on stock pieces—reasonable distance

6 WRITE-UPS IN N.Y. MAGAZINE

The Mill at Burlington House

has re-opened.

Textiles take a giant step backward... back about 200 years.

The Mill at Burlington House has been re-textiled, re-audio visualized, re-pictured and re-gigged to show you just how far our industry has come in 200 years.

It's our way of celebrating the Bicentennial—paying tribute to two centuries of innovation, growth and development in the textile industry.

It's all fashion, fun and free.

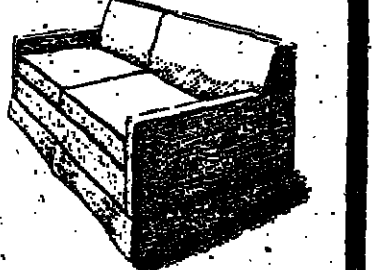

The New Mill at Burlington House takes you a giant step backward, and brings you right back up to date.

The New Mill at Burlington House

1345 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019
Open Tuesday thru Saturday, 10 a.m.-7 p.m.
Closed Sunday and Monday.

SPRING CLEARANCE

FLOOR MODELS DRastically REDUCED

No "special merchandise" offerings—the real thing. Floor models for immediate delivery PLUS 7000 yards of fabrics available on custom-made sofa/beds at substantial reductions. Choose from velvets, linens, prints, corduroys, denims, Vectras, Herculeans, etc., etc. But choose now!

The truth is we have floor models in carefully selected fabrics that must make way for new convertibles. We have designer-look sofa/beds that were featured in our window displays. And because we want to clear the decks, you are in line for some unusually advantageous buys and some never before Carlye savings.

Every convertible, regardless of sale price, features the justifiably famous Carlye mattress. So, act now, before the convertible you covet goes!

Carlye Manufactured by us for us and for ourselves alone.

custom convertibles inc.

MANHATTAN: 1054 Third Ave. near 62nd St. (212) 838-1525. Open Mon & Thurs 10 to 8. Open Tues., Wed., Fri., Sat. 10 to 6.
SCARSDALE, N.Y.: 285 Central Ave. (212) 962-0202. Open Mon. thru Fri. 10 to 9. Open Sat. 10 to 6. PARLIAM, N.J.: 145 Route 17, 2 mi. north of Route 99, Paramus, N.Y. (201) 261-2202. Open Mon. thru Fri. 10 to 6. FAIRFIELD, N.J.: 330 Route 46, 2 miles west of Wallingford. Mail going east (201) 572-0050. Open Mon. thru Fri. 10 to 9. Open Sat. 10 to 6.
Mass. Charge and Bank America accepted.

ORIENTAL RUGS

From Prominent Estates
MULTI MILLION DOLLAR SALE!

Prices less than you can give you a feeling worth millions.

—Partial Listing—

Tapestry Weave Islamic KILIM
9 x 4.5 ..... $ 245

CHINESE — Tree of Life Design
Over 100 years old — Prime Condition
5.4 x 4 ..... $1,500

Semi-Antique — ROYAL SAROUK —
13.8 x 9.9 ..... $2,500

Russian KASAK — (Wool on Wool)
Soft Antique Patina
8.1 x 6 ..... $ 750

Finest Old NAIN — 800 knots
(per square inch) 5.4 x 3.6 ..... $2,000

• Shop at Home Service • Expert Cleaning Repair •

at Alexander

THE ORIGINAL ALEXANDER—SINCE 1937
410 COLUMBUS AVENUE (bet. 79-80 St.)
N.Y.C. 10024 212-724-6500

OPEN SUNDAY 11 to 5

$200 CONVERTIBLES

New York City's largest selection of $200 convertible sofas/beds. Values to $400.

JENNIFER HOUSE

Open daily 10-7 PM
Sunday 12-5 PM

404 Park Ave. 5th (bet. 68th St.)
Phone: LB 2-4887

Old & New Prints

SIGNED GRAPHICS
Americana, Currier & Ives, Views, Legal, College, Golf, Medical, Maps, Audubon, McGinnis & Ray Harm Birds.

Printers and Graphics
Old Print Center
981 2nd Ave. 152 St. N.Y.C. 10022
Hours: 9:30-10:30 P.M. Tues. thru Sat.
Closed Mondays. PLS-1516
CREATIVE FRAMING

THE NEW YORK TIMES
210 West 43rd St., N.Y. 10018
(212) 246-1224

Published daily, except on legal holidays and on days when publication is deemed inadvisable.

MAIL SUBSCRIPTION U.S. TERRITORIES
Weekly only ..... $12.00
Monthly only ..... $36.00
Daily only ..... $1.00
Rate to other countries on request.

The Associated Press is entitled to use the name of this publication in its news stories and in its editorial comments. It is not authorized to use the name of this publication in its advertising or in its editorial comments. It is not authorized to use the name of this publication in its editorial comments.

Luchow
1000 Old Post Rd. New York, N.Y. 10014
Tel. 212-246-1224

PARAMUS FOR INSTANT FURNITURE

Donish teak bookcase led $99

A great home for your books—34"x71" high and a roomy 11" deep. Genuine Bangkok veneer, hand-rubbed oil finish. Pick it up, assemble yourself and save! Only $30 more for sliding door unit.

the international home
new york open Sunday 11-5

NEW YORK: 440 Park Ave. 52/209-3641-1155
PARAMUS: 712 Rt. 17 at 65th St. (201) 261-4411
ROSELAND: 190 Woodside Ave. (201) 962-0202
BOSTON: 1400 Washington St. (617) 552-4411
DORSET: 1000 Old Post Rd. (212) 246-1224

NEW YORK, PARAMUS OPEN THURS. 10-8 P.M.

SPRING CLEARANCE

FLOOR MODELS DRastically REDUCED

No "special merchandise" offerings—the real thing. Floor models for immediate delivery PLUS 7000 yards of fabrics available on custom-made sofa/beds at substantial reductions. Choose from velvets, linens, prints, corduroys, denims, Vectras, Herculeans, etc., etc. But choose now!

The truth is we have floor models in carefully selected fabrics that must make way for new convertibles. We have designer-look sofa/beds that were featured in our window displays. And because we want to clear the decks, you are in line for some unusually advantageous buys and some never before Carlye savings.

Every convertible, regardless of sale price, features the justifiably famous Carlye mattress. So, act now, before the convertible you covet goes!

Carlye Manufactured by us for us and for ourselves alone.

custom convertibles inc.

MANHATTAN: 1054 Third Ave. near 62nd St. (212) 838-1525. Open Mon & Thurs 10 to 8. Open Tues., Wed., Fri., Sat. 10 to 6.
SCARSDALE, N.Y.: 285 Central Ave. (212) 962-0202. Open Mon. thru Fri. 10 to 9. Open Sat. 10 to 6. PARLIAM, N.J.: 145 Route 17, 2 mi. north of Route 99, Paramus, N.Y. (201) 261-2202. Open Mon. thru Fri. 10 to 6. FAIRFIELD, N.J.: 330 Route 46, 2 miles west of Wallingford. Mail going east (201) 572-0050. Open Mon. thru Fri. 10 to 9. Open Sat. 10 to 6.
Mass. Charge and Bank America accepted.

Comparison of the Military Manpower of the Soviet Union and the United States

pared from information supplied by Rep. Aspin and supported by estimates of the intelligence Agency, shows that the comparable as of the Soviet Union and the United States is roughly equal. This is derived by subtracting number of Soviet troops the number of ing essentially civilian work, such as internal security, construction or civil defense, or assigned to military missions not directly threatening to the United States. Other Soviet troops, such as those on the Chinese border or in Czechoslovakia are questionable, according to Mr. Aspin, because he doubts that they are a direct threat.

Beirut Violence Goes On; Brown Seeing Kissinger

By JAMES M. MARKHAM
Special to The New York Times

BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 23—L. Dean Brown, the special American envoy to Lebanon, flew to London today to meet with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as Lebanon itself stumbled through the fourth day of its latest "cease-fire." Sporadic shelling and sniping continued throughout the day in Beirut. There were some accounts that 360 people were killed in shelling over a 24-hour period.

Mr. Brown took a helicopter to the Christian port town of Junieh before leaving the country. In Junieh, he met with President Suleiman Franjeh, who has again postponed a decision on signing a constitutional amendment that would permit Parliament to choose a new head of state.

The Interior Minister, Camille Chamoun, said in a "bad weather" he forced the postponement of a high-level Christian meeting on the constitutional amendment.

Other rightist informants asserted that Mr. Brown himself had asked Mr. Franjeh to delay signing the amendment; a high American official denied this.

Muslim and leftist leaders have accused the Christian rightists of dragging their feet on the succession question in the hopes of "internationalizing" the civil war.

Today, newspapers were full of reports of plans for a joint French-Syrian force that would keep the peace in this country torn by civil war since last spring.

In the northern port of Tripoli, which is controlled by leftist and Palestinian groups, officials were reported to have established a "local administration." This appeared to be one response to appeals by foes of the President to establish "revolutionary authorities" in parts of Lebanon under their control. In their drive to make him resign and allow a successor to be elected by Parliament.

From one of the largest diamond and sapphire collections in the world.

Diamond and platinum band rings:
A. Part-way set, $320. B. With sapphires, $800.
C. Part-way set, $535. D. $1,355. E. Part-way set, with emeralds, $925. F. With sapphires, $1,035. Part-way set, with sapphires, $555. G. Part-way set, with rubies, $1,050.
H. Marquise and round diamonds, $3,275.

Diamond and eighteen karat gold band rings:
J. $505. K. Part-way set, $825. L. Part-way set, all sapphires, $300. M. With sapphires, $670. N. $730.
O. Part-way set, with rubies, $295. P. Part-way set, with emeralds, $1,275. R. Part-way set, with sapphires, $395. With rubies, $495. Or with emeralds, $555.

TIFFANY & CO.

NEW YORK 57th AVE. & 57th ST. TEL: 100222 TEL: (212) 758-8000
ATLANTA - CHICAGO - HOUSTON - SAN FRANCISCO - SEVERLY HILLS
Please call sales for where applicable. American Express - BankAmericard

The smart groom buys her diamond ring at Tiffany.

FRED LYNN TALKS ABOUT REAL VALUE IN MEN'S CLOTHING.

"Botany '500' taught me that real value is more than low price. Value begins with luxury fabrics, terrific styling and the finest tailoring. Then I learned how Botany's nationwide distribution enables them to give me quality clothes at popular prices."

Thomas Murray agrees with baseball's newest superstar and that's why we carry New York's largest selection of Botany '500' clothing.

Come in for a try-on. We'll serve you in a gracious, comfortable environment. Then we'll custom-alter your choice, promptly. Right on our own premises. Join Fred Lynn. Let Botany '500' suit you, too.

thomas-murray
"IN THE NEW YORK MANNER"
520 Lexington Avenue (at 48th Street) Phone: (212) 755-1246
Open 8:30AM-6:00PM / Major Credit Cards Accepted

THIS MOTHER'S DAY... GIVE HUNTING WORLD ORIGINAL ELEPHANT HAIR JEWELRY...

For Mother with Love -

Hunting World's handmade originals, in Elephant Hair with rolled Gold mountings. Rings from $10 to $30. Bangles and Bracelets from $20 to $55.

SEND $2 to Dept. T (Credited to First Purchase) FOR COLOR-FILLED 116-PAGE CATALOG

Open Mon. thru Sat. 10-5
HUNTING WORLD
16 EAST 57th STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10022

Statistics on Soviet Question Extent of Threat

FINNEY
April 23—The Defense Intelligence Agency estimates, relying in large measure on the intelligence analysis, Mr. Aspin has argued that when "non-threatening" forces are deployed, the Soviet forces appear "distinctly smaller" in terms of the threat they present to the United States.

In support of his arguments, Mr. Aspin provided a breakdown of the Soviet military forces showing that the Russians had about 2.2 million troops "who do work we assign to civilians or perform tasks that cannot be considered threatening to us."

Mr. Aspin also pointed out that when the Pentagon last year reported a 600,000-man increase in the Soviet forces, "it is important to mention an important detail" namely that the intelligence community simultaneously reduced its estimates of civilians employed by the Soviet military by an equal 600,000.

About 430,000 troops are maintained by the Soviet Ministry of Internal Affairs and the Committee of State Security (K.G.B.) for internal security and border patrols. In the United States, the National Guard, which maintains security during riots, and the border patrol of the Immigration and Naturalization Service are not included in the 2.1-million-man force.

The Russians use 170,000 military personnel in research and supply jobs that are staffed primarily by civilians in the United States.

Scattered throughout the Soviet forces are 300,000 persons wearing uniforms but doing jobs reserved for civilians in the United States. As Mr. Aspin points out, the Pentagon in recent years has been "civilianizing" many military jobs, partly because in the long run a civilian costs less than someone in service.

About 20,000 servicemen are assigned to the civil defense program in the Soviet Union. In the United States, civil defense is a civilian operation with only one military man—an Air Force lieutenant colonel—assigned to it.

According to Mr. Aspin, in the Soviet Union 250,000 men apparently washouts from basic training are kept in uniform to do construction work that is handled by civilian contractors in the United States. The Defense Intelligence Agency does not dispute the number but contends that the construction troops are "functioning equivalent" to army engineers in the United States and could be used to support combat troops in wartime.

By Mr. Aspin's calculations, 150,000 Soviet troops are assigned to the railroads and to work on military farms. The Defense Intelligence Agency contends that 75,000 railroad troops maintain lines of communication in the large Soviet land mass and thus they are "equivalent" to United States Navy forces maintaining sea lines of communication for the United States. The agency also maintains there are no Soviet "farm troops" as such but only regular troops periodically assigned to farm labor.

Mr. Aspin maintained that there were "other anomalies" in the Defense Department numbers that tended to exaggerate the comparative size of the Soviet military forces.

Subtracting all these different categories, Mr. Aspin comes up with a Soviet force of 2.6 million men that could be "considered threatening to us."

In addition he placed 555,000 Soviet troops in a "gray area" where there was some doubt whether they were threatening to the United States.

Climbers in Nepal Advance
KATMANDU, Nepal, April 23 (Reuters)—Despite continuing bad weather, the British-Nepalese army expedition to Mount Everest has established its third high-altitude camp at about 23,000 feet, the Foreign Ministry announced here last night.

STUDENTS IN PARIS STAGE NEW PROTEST

PARIS, April 23—Thousands of students protesting Government changes in the educational system marched through the streets of Paris again today.

The demonstration was considerably less violent and apparently smaller than the one eight days ago, when clashes with security forces produced scores of injuries, more than 200 detentions and many broken windows.

Estimates of the size of the day's demonstration ranged from 20,000 to 70,000, according to protest organizers. The police put the figure at 15,000. Last week's demonstration figure was generally placed at 35,000.

Essentially, the students are protesting plans to allow universities to be more selective in their admissions policies, and the increased influence of the business and industrial community in reshaping curriculum to funnel more students toward local enterprises. The students feel the changes will reduce the value of their degrees and make it more difficult to find jobs on graduation.

Accuracy Confirmed
In response to inquiries by The New York Times, the Defense Intelligence Agency confirmed the basic accuracy of the figures used by Mr. Aspin, although it differed with him on some details. The differences, however, were not great enough to challenge Mr. Aspin's basic point that when "non-threatening" troops were deducted, the opposing military forces were not that much different in size.

Mr. Aspin's calculations, supported in large measure by the Defense Intelligence Agency, estimated, listed the following categories of "nonthreatening" Soviet forces:

A & KAREN

Scandinavian Furniture Inc.
1391 E. 28th St. 146 E. 53rd St.
Enter St. from 1st Ave. 2nd Fl. 758-4207
HOURS: 10-5 THURS. 10-7:30, SAT. 10-5
We show a complete selection of Scandinavian Furniture.

SUNDAY, 12-TO 5
NEW YORK STORE ONLY

SALE!

Discover many unadvertised specials for your home, including wonderful values in rya rugs. Everything for immediate delivery.

Delivery extra or pickup at store. Major credit cards honored. No CODs. All sales final.

Save 10%-40% at the Norsk Spring Furniture Sale

TOGA CHAIR is extra-large, extra comfortable. Honey-beige vinyl cushions reverse to natural linen. Reg. $199, sale $179.

NORWAY FALCON CHAIR. Medium or dark brown leather, rosewood frame. Low back, was $295, now $199. Also high back, was $355, now $249.

DININGDESK CHAIR with black vinyl seat. Teak or walnut, Reg. $39.50, now $33.50 (save even more: 4 for $125). Rosewood, Reg. $45, now $38 (save even more: 4 for $145).

MAN'S TEAK WARDROBE CHEST, 41 x 16 1/2 x 40 1/2" high. Reduced from $399 to $249.

STRESSLESS CHAIR is uniquely relaxing. Dark brown leather. Discontinued model, was $349, sale $315.

FLAIR RECLINER. in beige linen/cotton. Was $199, now $179. Other recliners also on sale.

NORSK
114 East 57th Street (bet. Park and Lex.), New York 10022
(212) PL 2-3111 • Daily 10-6, Thurs. 10-8
SILVER • JEWELRY • CRYSTAL • PORCELAIN • PENYER • RUSS • FURNITURE

Richter's 30% to 50% off Sale...

featuring Brooches, Earrings, Rings and Bracelets of Diamonds in Platinum and Gold, with Emeralds or Sapphires, Rubies, Turquoise.

Gold Chains
Cultured Pearls

International Jewelers For Almost Half a Century
Richter's Fifth Avenue
680 Fifth Avenue, N.Y. 10019 • 355-4600
(bet. 53rd & 54th St.)
LOOK FOR THE STORE WITH THE GARDEN IN FRONT

Yves Saint Laurent creates a cool, breezy summer with this spirited collection of Featherweight. Lively solids and crisp patterned shades, including the spectrum of popular naves and ties. 165 to 215.

BRITISH AMERICAN HOUSE
488 Madison Avenue at 51st, New York City 10022 • PL 2-5880

Report of a Smashing...
OPEN SUNDAY...
FIVE DAY SALE...
20% OFF LIST PRICE...
CLIP...
SALE ENDS THURSDAY 8 PM...
TOP NAME BRAND CONVERTIBLES...
ONE HOUR DELIVERY...
ORIENTAL RUGS...
ALEXANDER...
SUNDAY, 12-TO 5...
SALE!

THE POTTERY barn

For sale: bags to carry you through the summer.

Check our bags. They're not only terrific, they're on sale — so they cost less than you think possible. No mail order. Our supply won't last forever. So come in and bag a bag.

	Color	Reg.	Sale
A. Cross Country	Natural	$16.00	$10.95
B. Tre Case	Natural	$17.00	$11.95
C. Satchel	Brown	$10.50	$ 8.50
D. Luggage Tote	Nat. & Red, Nat. & Blue	$10.50	$ 6.95
E. Shoulder Bag	Natural	$ 8.00	$ 5.00

Main Barn Only
Open Sun. 12-5. Free parking. Main Barn with $5 purchase. MasterCard, BankAmericard.

Of 13 Portuguese Parties, Only 4 Count

By MARVINE HOWE
Special to The New York Times

LISBON, April 23—When the Portuguese vote Sunday they will be giving their verdict on this country's two years of social revolution.

The essential question is whether the long months of political instability, social unrest, growing economic depression and indecisive leadership have discredited the revolutionary process that began on April 25, 1974, with the overthrow of the 48-year-old right-wing dictatorship.

The six and a half million voters will give the answer when they choose the men who are to govern Portugal for four years and thereby determine the future course of the revolution.

Only four of the 13 parties taking part in the election for the 263-seat National Assembly are expected to win a significant number of votes. They are the parties that won last year's election for the national constituent assembly.

These major parties agree that the legislative elections are "decisive" for the consolidation of the country's democratic institutions but differ radically in their outlook on the revolution. Essentially, the Socialist Party, the country's largest, supports the revolution but believes that it has gone far enough for now and errors must be corrected.

The Liberal Popular Democrats, whose party is second in size, feel the revolution has gone too far and would like to go back a bit.

Only the Communist Party gives wholehearted approval to the revolutionary advances and feels they must be safeguarded and carried on.

The conservative Social Democratic Center has been in opposition from the outset of the revolution and basically would like to undo what has been done and begin all over again.

The two small right-wing parties, the Popular Monarchists and the Christian Democrats, share the position of the Social Democratic Center.

The seven radical parties to the left of the Communists admit they are taking part in the election to denounce the regime. They favor revolution but not this one and call for "popular power."

An eighth group, the Marxist-Leninist Communist Party of Portugal, Mr. Castro last month in a Miami speech as "an internationalist."

The armed forces, which have pledged to guarantee Portugal's first free legislative elections in half a century, have observed strict neutrality during the campaign. There have been veiled warnings, however, of possible military intervention should the voters bring in a majority that would threaten the essence of the revolution.

The three-week campaign has centered on the following areas:

CIVIL LIBERTIES—All parties claim to defend them but the leftists accuse the right of planning to install a regime of repression and dictatorship, and vice versa.

DECOLONIZATION—The Communists call it a "victory," the Socialists say it was "inevitable," the Popular Democrats term it "badly done," while the Social Democratic Center denounces the whole process.

NATIONALIZATIONS—Socialists say there should be no more and what has been done must be rearranged to be made viable. The Popular Democrats call for "reconversion" and the Social Democratic Center insists the whole process must be reviewed and some things "denationalized."

AGRARIAN REFORM—The Socialists say "errors and excesses" should be corrected, while the Popular Democrats call for a revision of the law. The Communists say the reform should go even further, while the Social Democratic center demands that it be suspended and done all over again.

pledged to guarantee Portugal's first free legislative elections in half a century, have observed strict neutrality during the campaign. There have been veiled warnings, however, of possible military intervention should the voters bring in a majority that would threaten the essence of the revolution.

The three-week campaign has centered on the following areas:

CIVIL LIBERTIES—All parties claim to defend them but the leftists accuse the right of planning to install a regime of repression and dictatorship, and vice versa.

DECOLONIZATION—The Communists call it a "victory," the Socialists say it was "inevitable," the Popular Democrats term it "badly done," while the Social Democratic Center denounces the whole process.

NATIONALIZATIONS—Socialists say there should be no more and what has been done must be rearranged to be made viable. The Popular Democrats call for "reconversion" and the Social Democratic Center insists the whole process must be reviewed and some things "denationalized."

AGRARIAN REFORM—The Socialists say "errors and excesses" should be corrected, while the Popular Democrats call for a revision of the law. The Communists say the reform should go even further, while the Social Democratic center demands that it be suspended and done all over again.

CUBAN BOAT INQUIRY YIELDS NO SUSPECTS

WASHINGTON, April 23—An investigation by three Federal agencies has failed to turn up any suspects in the ramming vessel, the Ferro Cemento 119, and sinking of a Cuban fishing boat on April 8 off Florida, United States officials said today.

The officials said the investigation, concentrated in southern Florida, involved an unusually large number of agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Coast Guard and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The agencies are proceeding on the assumption that the raid on Cuban fishing boats by an unidentified vessel was the work of a clandestine group of Cuban exiles who have detonated several bombs in the Miami area in recent months. Several such groups say these actions are aimed against the Cuban government of Fidel Castro.

The C.I.A. has attempted to assist in the investigation by providing names of Cuban exiles it formerly employed in clandestine actions against Cuba, an intelligence official said.

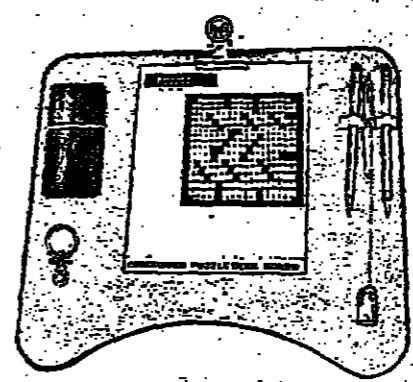

He said it appeared that the exiles felt they had acquired a "new hunting license" from the President Ford, who denounced Mr. Castro last month in a Miami speech as "an internationalist."

The armed forces, which have pledged to guarantee Portugal's first free legislative elections in half a century, have observed strict neutrality during the campaign. There have been veiled warnings, however, of possible military intervention should the voters bring in a majority that would threaten the essence of the revolution.

TEAK SHIPS TRUNDLE BED

Hammacher Schlemmer Mother's Day, May 9th

Crossword Puzzle Book
All the tools you need for crossword puzzle solving. Board contains: 2 pencils, pencil sharpener, dictionary, nifty glass and clip. Available in black, red or white. Please specify color.....$12
Add $ 1.95 for shipping and handling

YOU MAY CHARGE TO YOUR AMERICAN EXPRESS, MASTER CHARGE, DINNER'S CLUB OR BANK AMERICARD.
INSTANT PHONE ORDERS: (212) 937-8181 OR (914) 946-7725.

Video Voice
Remote control audio reception. A compact, all solid-state device that receives the sound of all VHF-TV channels as well as the full band of FM radio broadcasts. Picks up TV stations, gives you sound only. 4 1/2" cube.....$29.95
Free delivery 50 miles (and all L.I.); beyond add $1.50

Richfield's Exciting Pre-summer Sale!

Choose from our vast selection of Famous Brand Suits and Sport Jackets that have been reduced to these very low prices.
Petrocelli, Groshire, Hammonton Park, Di Baroni, Designer Collections.

European and American styled Vested and Non-vested Suits in solids, stripes and plaids. Were $165 to $225.

Sale priced at $119<sup>50</sup>

Hundreds of High Fashion, Famous Brand Sports Coats. Were $100 to $210. Now Reduced 1/3.

now $66<sup>67</sup> to $140<sup>00</sup>

SPECIAL GROUPS
FAMOUS LABELS REMAIN IN GARMENTS

EXPERT CUSTOM ALTERATIONS
Sizes 34 to 50 Regular, 34 to 44 Short; 38 to 50 Long
All Major Credit Cards Accepted or Use Richfield Charge Plan clothes

Richfield

Kings Plaza Shopping Center, Brooklyn, N.Y., 212/651-7800
Five Towns Shopping Plaza, Woodmere, L.I., 516/286-8880

Open Monday Thru Saturday 10 a.m. till 9:30 p.m.

Bernie Frankel Sol Frankel

NOW 15.99 VALUE 22.50

The high quality, versatile, durable lamp which gives efficient illumination. The 4-way bracket, clamps or mounts to walls, tables, desks, headboards, shelves, ladders, drafting boards, sewing machines, chairs, etc. Flexible arm movement twists, turns, stretches up and down. Takes up to and including regular 100 watt bulb. 75 watt Hood or plant bulb. Available in black, white, brown, red, orange or bicentennial colors.

MAIL ORDERS: include $2.00 for mailing & handling. Include appropriate Sales Tax.
SORRY—AT THIS PRICE NO CREDIT CARDS FOR THIS ITEM.

LAMPLAND

579 Sixth Ave., N.Y. 10011
(betw. 16th & 17th) Tel: WA 4-6883

Immediate 99 Mile Delivery.

"If we're not perfect in bed, we cut the price in 1/2"

At Kleinsleep we ship every one of our slightly damaged items, discontinued floor samples, and one-of-a-kinds from our 8 stores to our Clearance Center. You'll save 50 to 75% on mattresses, box springs, platform beds, hi-risers, convertible sofas, recliners and more.

FOR EXAMPLE:
POSTUREPEDIC FULL Set, Reg. $229. Sale $158.
Queen size convertible Reg. $439. Sale $248.
HI-RISER 33" Very Firm, Reg. $229. Sale $135.

Master Charge & BankAmericard. Cash & Carry.

kleinsleep / Clearance

1 PARK AVENUE (52 ST.) MANHATTAN SUN 1-5 MON. 10-2 DAILY 10-5

SPECIAL OFFER! FREE TABLE!

New for SleepBox® lovers! A matching TV table. $85 alone—Free! with the purchase of a SleepBox®!

Free table offer ends April 28th.

Loftcraft

Downtown 171 Seventh Ave. (20th) (212) 258-9048 Open 10-8, Sunday 11-5 Easy Parking Uptown 1021 Third Ave. (60th) (212) 753-3367 Open Mon-Wed. 10-8 Thurs-Sat. 10-10 Sunday 11-7

REX HUMBARD PRISON TV SPECIAL

Sunday, April 25

SEE OUR AD ON PAGE 54

SHELVES WICKER

WALL MOUNTED—FREE STANDING OR ON CHAIR SHELF POLES OVER 3000 SHOWN IN STOCK SPECIAL SIZES MADE TO MEASURE EXPERT PLANNING—FREE DELIVERY INSTALLATION SERVICE

FURNITURE AND ACCESSORIES DECORATION SELECTION AT LOW TO MEDIUM PRICES

SHELF WICKER SHOP #1 ANNEX 725 WEST AVE. AT 47th ST. 928-7246 N.Y.C.

SHELF WICKER SHOP #2 ANNEX 402 E. 69th ST. AT 1ST AVE. 928-3810 N.Y.C.

Hammacher Schlemmer

147 East 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10022
Instant Phone Orders: (212) 937-8181 or (914) 946-7725
N.Y.C. Add 8% sales tax. Elsewhere N.Y. State as applicable.

bloomingdale's clearance of bedroom ensembles at 40% to 60% savings

bedspreads! coverlets!
dust ruffles! canopies!
pillow shams! draperies!
40% to 60% off

A huge assortment of designs for the bed and matching accessories...all now at incredible savings. Many designs also available in decorative pillows. Hurry in for best selections. Examples seen here: our "Trellis" coverlet printed in a traditional floral in blue or rose. Of machine washable cotton and polyester. And the coordinating eyelet dust ruffle in white or ecru. All at 50% savings.

- Coverlet:
Twin, reg. 35.00 17.50
Full, reg. 40.00 20.00
Queen, reg. 45.00 22.50
Dual, reg. 55.00 27.50
84" Draperies,
reg. 30.00 15.00
Pillow sham,
reg. 10.00 5.00
Dust ruffle:
Twin, reg. 25.00 12.00
Full, reg. 28.00 14.00
Queen, reg. 32.00 16.00

our famous irish woven bedspreads

62.50 to 72.50
Twin size, reg. 125.00 to 145.00

Luxurious bedspreads in a rich blend of wool and nylon...superbly woven in deep textured designs. All detailed with lavishly fringed edges. Choose from assorted patterns, but not available in every size. Similar savings available on full, queen and dual sizes.

our indian crewel-work bedspreads

45.00
Twin size, reg. 95.00

Magnificently hand-crafted in India to dress your bed with the elegance of Kashmiri crewel. Available in an array of colors and designs.
Full, reg. 120.00 55.00
Queen, reg. 130.00 65.00
Dual, reg. 160.00 75.00
Pillow sham, reg. 45.00 20.00

sensational savings on designs from our dakotah handicrafts collection

50.00

Twin bedspreads, reg. 125.00 to 150.00

Now...enjoy the luxury of a Dakotah Handicraft bedroom ensemble at lavish savings. A wide selection of bedspreads, coverlets, dust ruffles, pillow shams, draperies and other matching accessories from this group at never-before low prices. Of course, all bedspreads feature exquisite hand-guided quilting on lustrous polyester and cotton broadcloth with double-puffed polyester filling. Choose from a wide assortment of prairie-inspired designs and colors. Similar savings available on full, queen and dual sizes.

assorted machine washable bedspreads

17.50

Twin size, reg. 30.00 to 45.00

Stripes, prints, solids...ranging from subtle to bold designs, tailored to delicate moods. All of carefree and machine washable polyester and cotton. And all at one terrific low price. Similar savings on full, queen, dual sizes.

HURRY IN FOR BEST SELECTIONS...QUANTITIES LIMITED ON MANY ITEMS. WE REGRET, NO MAIL, PHONE OR C.O.D.'S.

Bedroom Ensembles, 4th Floor, New York. Similar selections in all stores.

decorative toss pillows

3.00 to 23.00
Regularly 6.00 to 46.00

Every decorative toss pillow now at half price. Included in the selection are prints, solids and irish woven designs. Some with tassels, some with ruffles...plus many, many other trimming features. A wide selection of floor cushions also available.

luxurious bedspreads with the fur look

45.00 to 99.00
Twin size, reg. 95.00 to 200.00

Deep, deep acrylic pile bearing an incredible likeness to mink, chinchilla, ermine and such. Similar savings on full, queen, dual sizes.

Expected to row With Majority

LEWIS
The cam ll's first free tions in half tonight, with placed on full lence during and in the ction period.
high-ranking ans, officials domats, an lift right in last year's y elections shift is not change the ong the made an effec-ny one. The Communists left would ciently solid able govern-ho have ex-the revolu-w the old on April 25, they were ack and enicians with sility.

the armed from power d the navy
dm. August a member Revolution-terview, he l to be the litary, sayd have to of demoduring the sterity that r economic stability.

on Next onstitution civilian to ng council d of state be a mili-te and ef-g the poli-aid.

ident are
The new
the new er, so no ne change after Sunovelty for two gen-rian gov-e motions.

ce, of poergetic and there were e persons ens were bans were Portuguese mb went nassy. It ave been extremist ruption on n.

ne of last is signifiime. Last ling some essed the ocratic ex-litical na-any illiteyear adventional
t they be-wanted to Fraud eader, Ala point of ion results arty made e grounds and con-ing intimig against alled for a on with the Socialists an appeal to governlition with ists or the arties.

ilar Demo-social geonservative Center, percent last ly double vote now, its together out the left.

judged that ose parties and would station with which the ng and the g leverage, as suffered years since employment lation at 25 r, industrial out 15 perance-of-pay-ming at $1

nsus among and, doubt-omic meas-d to reverse d.

ex political think will tion results, that Portu-government ble to take evidence is want to see e Socialists f the parties ght, and will obtain that t, despite the tion refusal.

made in denmark

PLATFORM SALE

now save 20% definitely a best buy!

WHITE LACQUER TEAK
reg. $150 $120 reg. $160 $128

for 60x80 mattress

in stock

WHITE LACQUER TEAK
reg. 177.50 $142 reg. 187.50 $150

OTHER MODELS: FROM $149.99 (DOWNTOWN ONLY) TO $229.99

bonaire by molla

74 Fifth Ave (13 St.) Open 10:30-6:30 New York WA 4-1060
1060 3rd Ave (63 St.) Open 10:30-6:30 New York WA 4-5060
Wash DC 3221 M St N.W. FE 6-4730, Open 11:00-11:00 Sat 11:00-11:00

THE HOUSE OF WOOD

WESTCHESTER'S HOME FOR THE FINEST HANDCRAFTED BUTCHER BLOCK AND OAK PARQUET TABLES AT THE BEST PRICES, MATCHING CHAIRS CHOPPING BLOCKS CUTTING BOARDS COUNTER ACCESSORIES GIFT ITEMS AND POTPOURRI FOR THE SERIOUS OR JUST BROWSING SHOPPER

ANNOUNCES THE GRAND OPENING

OF OUR NEW YONKERS SHOWROOM AT CROSS COUNTY SHOPPING CENTER [Next to Burger King]

In Celebration of our Grand Opening
FREE DELIVERY of Tables and Matching Chairs [WITH THIS AD]
Offer good through April 30, 1976

Now Shop At Either of Our Two Convenient Locations
CROSS COUNTY, YONKERS
41 MAMARONECK AVE., WHITE PLAINS
CALL: (914) 949-5325

OR SEND $1.00 FOR OUR CATALOG TO:
HOUSE OF WOOD DEPT.
41 Mamaroneck Ave., White Plains, N.Y. 10601

ORIENTAL RUGS. AT BROOKLYN PRICES.

Since 1907, Kalfajian has been the place in Brooklyn where authentic Oriental rugs are sold at warehouse prices. Oriental treasures that range in price from three to six times less than fashionable Eastside places. The Kalfajian Collection is on display for leisurely inspection. And Kalfajian's expert staff is available to you when you need them and not before. For a rare Oriental rug treasure, visit Kalfajian today—and save.

Kalfajian is located just across the Brooklyn Bridge at 475 Atlantic Avenue in the Boerum Hill section of Downtown Brooklyn.

Open Sundays 10:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.
Weekdays 9:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. (including Saturdays)

Here's a sample of the hundreds of Oriental rug values you'll find at Kalfajian. The listing includes Kalfajian's warehouse prices.

PARTIAL LISTING
Mosoul, Semi-Antiq.	2x3.6	$25.
Belouch, Antique	2.7x4.4	30.
Chinese, Semi-Antiq.	9x12	100.
Kandahar, Semi-Antiq.	10x12.4	125.
Kilim, Semi-Antiq.	4.10x8.6	225.
Agrastan, Antique	10x12.9	275.
Meashad, Semi-Antiq.	10.10x14.10	295.
Meshkin Runner.	2.2x10.3	375.
Indo-Caucasian	6.2x8.1	495.
Heriz, Semi-Antiq.	8.2x10.8	575.
Bokhara, Antique	7x10.9	595.
Bokhara-Kilim, Antiq.	7.9x14.8	650.
Turkish, Semi-Antiq.	9.11x15.10	750.
Sarouk, Semi-Antiq.	10.5x13.4	850.
Kirmanshah, Antiq.	9.2x12	1250.
Chindia, Beige & Rose	12x30	1750.

D. Kalfajian & Son Inc.
Since 1907

475 Atlantic Avenue (Between 3rd Avenue & Nevins Street) TR 5-2222

We also buy used and antique oriental rugs.

10 minutes from West Side & FDR Highways (ample parking).
3 minutes from BMT & IRT Express stops. 5 minutes from Wall Street.
3 minutes from LIRR Termini.

Mapping the Capitalist Road: A Peking Political Glossary

By FOX BUTTERFIELD
Special to The New York Times

HONG KONG, April 22—As part of a nationwide effort to explain to the Chinese people why Teng Hsiao-ping, their former senior Deputy Prime Minister, was suddenly stripped of his official posts earlier this month, the official daily, Jenmin Jih Pao, said in an editorial this week that he "is the arch-unrepentant capitalist-roader in the party and the behind-the-scenes promoter of the right deviationist wind to reverse correct verdicts."

To outsiders, that would only obscure further the recent baffling events in Peking. But to China's 800 million people, for years accustomed to Aesopian language and long hours of study of Chairman Mao Tse-tung's oracular instructions, the meaning was clear enough.

For the uninitiated, here is a brief guide to some of the current terms in the Chinese political lexicon.

Unrepentant Capitalist-Roader Within the Party

The term capitalist-roader was coined during the Cultural Revolution a decade ago to describe those people who Chairman Mao feared wanted to restore capitalism in China. Specifically they were accused of favoring a pragmatic economic policy that would offer material incentives for workers and peasants, rely on experts, and borrow technology for China's factories and military from abroad.

Mr. Teng, at that time the secretary general of the party, and Liu Shao-chi, the head of state, were denounced and purged as the two biggest capitalist-roaders. In the last three years, under the aegis of the late Prime Minister Chou En-lai, Mr. Teng and many other veteran party leaders who had been dismissed were rehabilitated. But sometime last fall Chairman Mao is said to have sensed that Mr. Teng had not really reformed his old ways, and hence the campaign was launched against "the unrepentant capitalist-roader."

A Right Deviationist Wind To Reverse Correct Verdicts

In the earthy, sometimes poetic turn of phrase the Chinese language favors, this is the term used to denote alleged efforts to undo the reforms of the Cultural Revolution. Since Mr. Teng has also been accused of trying to settle accounts with the Cultural Revolution, the term seems to imply that he wanted to restore many of the men purged during that tumultuous period and out others who rose to power in those years.

The reforms of the Cultural Revolution are often referred to as "the socialist new-born things." These include the new education program of basing admission to college on a student's political background rather than academic achievement, the policy of resettling urban teen-agers in the countryside after they finish high school, 12 million so far; the new emphasis on training "barefoot doctors," or paramedics, and the revolutionary operas of Chairman Mao's wife, Chiang Ching. These theatrical performances, which Mr. Teng has been accused of refusing to attend, stress the theme of class struggle.

Mr. Teng has been charged with arguing that many of these reforms, particularly the education program, are impractical, waste talent and reduce China's ability to develop into a "powerful modern socialist nation by the turn of the century," a goal outlined by Mr. Chou last year.

Taking the Three Directives As the Key Link

The most heinous of Mr. Teng's crimes, this slogan is said to have been erroneously devised by Mr. Teng last summer to denude the Chinese people about the real intent of three directives that Chairman Mao had issued. The three orders were to pursue class struggle by studying Marx's theory of the dictatorship of the proletariat, to practice "stability and unity," and to "promote the national economy."

Mr. Teng's mistake lay in putting all three on an equal footing, when, according to the Chinese press, the Chairman really meant to "take class struggle as the key link." Although China analysts have searched their files, they have not been able to find any instance where Mr. Teng, or any other Chinese leader, mentions "taking the three directives as the key link," so it remains uncertain whether the charge against Mr. Teng was trumped up.

Whatever the case, Mr. Teng's enemies have insisted that they are not opposed to economic development. "Our difference with him on this question," a recent editorial in the official daily said, "is what line should be carried out and what road followed to achieve these purposes."

Antagonistic Contradiction

In the resolution adopted by the party's Politburo stripping Mr. Teng of his posts, the reason given was: "The nature of the Teng Hsiao-ping problem has turned into one of antagonistic contradiction." The use of the word contradiction is a favorite in Chinese Communist political jargon, and stems from Chairman Mao's own habit of analyzing all problems in terms of contradictions, for example, between the imperialist powers and their need to rely on the resources and cheap labor of the developing world, which means the two will ultimately clash.

In the Chairman's view, there are two types of contradictions—those among the people, which can be resolved, and those between political enemies, like the proletariat and the bourgeoisie, which will lead to confrontation. The latter are antagonistic contradictions. According to Chairman Mao's writings, class struggle does not die out, even in China, because there are always different classes and therefore always contradictions. Mr. Teng is said to have forgotten this elementary truth.

Study

An important Chinese Communist political technique used for indoctrination and communicating the latest shift in the official line. Study sessions, using party newspapers, Central Committee directives and the thoughts of Chairman Mao, are a regular feature of life for China's peasants, workers and soldiers. During a political campaign, when the side in power decides to try to defuse the movement and prevent further attacks from being made on it—as seems to be happening at present in China—increased study is one of the best ways to do it. Study, as a phase of political action, alternates with struggle, a more active technique.

Firmly Keep to the General Orientation of the Struggle

A phrase that has appeared in all editorials and articles since the riot two weeks ago in Peking and the subsequent ouster of Mr. Teng. It is a shorthand order to the so-called radicals not to try to take advantage of the current campaign to expand their attacks beyond Mr. Teng to other leaders of the moderate faction.

Radicals and Moderates

The inadequate terms analysts often employ to try to distinguish the two major factional groupings in China. Many Chinese would probably not fit neatly into either category, even in the Communist context but the practice of using the words follows Chairman Mao's own habit of talking about the struggle between two lines.

To oversimplify, the radicals are noted for their preference for ideological purity over pragmatic solutions, or in the Chairman's terms, they "put politics in command." Specifically, they insist that they follow Chairman Mao's proletarian revolutionary line, which stresses avoiding material incentives and instead brings into play the workers' revolutionary enthusiasm and hard struggle and self-reliance rather than borrowing from abroad.

The radicals tend to be younger than the moderates, at least those in Peking, since they came to power in the Cultural Revolution. But while their differences with the moderates may sometimes be genuinely ideological, they seem to be increasingly personal. The moderates, once led by Prime Minister Chou, are practical administrators and politicians who favor orthodox economic policies.

If the recent outpouring of sentiment for Mr. Chou during the Ching Ming festival for the dead two weeks ago is any indication, large numbers of Chinese prefer the moderates' more ordinary approach.

A European diplomat in Peking related recently that when a huge officially organized rally was held to support the removal of Mr. Teng, his Chinese interpreter remarked caustically, "That's just those radicals at it again."

JAVITS IS OPTIMISTIC ON MIDEAST PEACE

Special to The New York Times
TEL AVIV, April 23—Senator Jacob Javits, Republican of New York, said today that the process toward a Middle East solution might start before the United States elections in November.

The senator said it would be improper for him to repeat what he had been told by not to have to depend on the Government leaders in Cairo, Damascus, Amman and Jerusalem, but he said, "The nations in this area are ready for peace." He will return to the United States tomorrow and report to President Ford.

At a news conference here, Mr. Javits acknowledged that the mutual confidence between Israel and the Arabs could not be invoked at present but he asserted that it is possible to interlock the mutuality of interests so as to repeat the mutual confidence before a final peace.

ALL LOCATIONS OPEN SUNDAY EXCEPT SEAN

Squires

WAREHOUSE DEPOT

buy where retailers buy

our story... 4 great locations... our warehouse depot at 105-5th Ave. where you can choose the same 1st quality clothing our clients select from, for their stores throughout the country, now you can also shop at our 3 additional outlets that receive a constant flow of surplus merchandise from manufacturers and our warehouse depot

all our stock near or below original wholesale

INCREDIBLE VALUE SUITS $59.90 2 FOR $110

3PC. VESTED EUROPEAN MODELS

BLAZER MODELS • SIDE & CENTER VENT • TEXTURIZED POLYESTER

SUITS $49.90 $59.90 $69.90 $79.90
SPORTCOATS $29.90 $39.90 $49.90
SLACKS $7 $10 $12 $15

RAINCOATS $29.90 $39.90 $49.90
LEISURE SUITS $29.90 $39.90 $49.90

charge it! master charge bankAmericard

MANHATTAN 105 5th Ave., 7th floor 924-7902 btwn. 17th & 18th St. in Barnes Noble Bldg. Daily 9 to 6 Sunday 10 to 5

OTHER LOCATIONS
ARMONK 147 Old Bedford Rd. 914-773-9173
NANUET 128 E. Rd. 914-623-9057
MADISON CONN Madison Shop Plaza 203-241-4129
Open daily 9:30 to 6:00
Thurs. 10:30 to 6:00 (next to A & P.)

Roberts

Greenwich, Connecticut

Bonaire by molla

SPECIALLY PRICED

ILLUSTRATED	REGULAR	SALE
ARM CHAIR	89.00	76.00
48" TABLE	235.00	199.00
EASY CHAIR	112.00	94.00
30" COCKTAIL TABLE	112.00	94.00
RECLINER CHAISE	207.00	175.00
NOT ILLUSTRATED
48" PEDESTAL TABLE	192.00	163.00
ADJUSTABLE CHAISE	212.00	180.00
HIGH BACK SPRING BASE CHAIR	139.00	118.00
SWIVEL ARM CHAIR	149.00	127.00

Your Choice of Frames and Straps All One Color or Any Combination of Colors

DAFFODIL - PORCELAIN - WHEAT - SABLE - MARGOLD
SAGE - SEAFOAM - AZURE - JADE - BREWSTER GREEN
LIME - FERN - ELECTRIC BLUE

ALLOW 6 WEEKS FOR DELIVERY

SEE THEM ALL HERE!
ALL WEATHER LEISURE FURNITURE - WILL NOT RUST EVER!
MOLLA - BROWN JORDAN - CATALINA
TERRA - WOODARD - TROPITONE

FOR SPECIAL PERSONALIZED ATTENTION
ORDER BY MAIL OR PHONE COLLECT 203-869-4610

Roberts
our 56th year

75 Greenwich Avenue
Greenwich, Connecticut 06830
203-869-4610
Closed Wednesday Afternoons

"One of America's Largest Retailers of High Quality Leisure Furniture"

...CHIEF AND IS READ

...Barnes' reviews of the theater in The New York Times. Barnes. Right? Right in The Times.

Peking Police

سبتمبر ١٩٧٥

EXILES TO SPAIN

Page 1, Col. 2

ceptions, mainly iders and persons ecent crimes. The Sánchez Albor-ariaga and other e Franco regime, allists and even nists and anard no special offi-ugh some memvernment resent hey hold toward ied in November, continuing pres-extreme-rightist in official instiis a conscious g Juan Carlos I ers to attenuate the civil war incently, for ex-ernment for the proved financial i veterans of the ublican side in.

Albornoz came os Aires, where or 34 years. He anned to spend onths here and Argentina "to s of emotion in d much of his ancient town he represented

Associated Press
z Albornoz ce and rec-Spain, on om exile.

of the Second also a foreign mbassador to ortugal broke republic, the France, where few years be-invitation to
From 1961
president of ic abroad.
g record of Franco, Mr received an in Buenos om the Span-Gregorio Ma-was officially I today by the of Education est Olivares esentatives of
ry. Some 500 and, including great grand-ver seen.
left Buenos
d to a Spanish Franco's rule gest in Spain as a tremenor Spain," he ommunism the few hos-ut Franco by z Albornoz or at have been panish press.

ve also been as expressing Communism, edom," as Mr. is 89, has put ted have been 4 men favor-f the Commuegal group. In interview, Mr. noz warned the Commu-
l heroes" and tion would de-parliamentary the Govern-push through munists from decreed a stans for all of-

to the war.
rials say that only exile arti-
l war has been

SE CHIEF
VD IS READ

Thailand, April Defense Miniscart attack to-48 hours after to the Cabinet.
the minister,
a, cast a shad-w Government nister Seni Pradiced a new un-the political ld general, who al role in the ilian rule after the military October 1973. a hospital last eart complaint.

eral Kris was e of the army rned Thailand.
he survived f the military.
I was accepted able of healing moralc of the

Last fall, I thought this day would never come. It came. School's nearly out. I already bought great duck shorts and a tank top so I could practice for summer on the warm weekends. I love to practice.

It's me. Don't you recognize me? You think I look different, but it's mainly my clothes. A duck jacket, with four pockets, and duck pants. Aren't they neat? But I'm telling you, Mother, it's your daughter.

I love a skirt for the summer. It makes my legs look fantastic when they get tan. And this skirt's duck. So beachy with a summer tee to go on top. I think they make me look older. And tanner.

Left: Navy, red, or yellow top with open back, cotton and polyester, for small, medium, and large sizes, $6. White or navy Celanese Fortrel® polyester and rayon shorts, 5 to 13 sizes, $13.

Center: Jacket, for 5 to 13 sizes, $31. Pants, for 5 to 13 sizes, $16. Both in white or navy, Fortrel polyester and rayon.

Right: Navy, yellow, or red cotton and polyester tee, for small, medium, and large sizes, $7. White or navy Fortrel polyester and rayon skirt, for 5 to 13 sizes, $19.

Young Circle® Sportswear, Second Floor. Sorry, no mail or phone orders.

Here comes the sun, and I'm all excited because I've got the white ducks for it. One of the pleasures of summer from

Saks Fifth Avenue

Kazakhstan Beckons Refugees From China

By CHRISTOPHER S. WREN
Special to The New York Times

ALMA-ATA, U.S.S.R.

Three times a week, a small newspaper is published here in flowing Arabic characters. Yeni Khayat — the name means New Life in the Uighur Language.

The Talk aimed at helping assimilate some of the Central Asian refugees who have fled China for Soviet Kazakhstan.

"Over 100,000 people from China have come across, I can't exactly say how many," said Turdakhan Nazarov the other day. Mr. Nazarov, a journalist with a thoughtful manner, edits Yeni Khayat. Like many of the refugees, he himself is Uighur, although Soviet-born.

Yeni Khayat was started in 1970 after Soviet authorities found that some older arrivals had difficulty adapting to the 42-letter Uighur alphabet based on the Cyrillic script used in the Soviet Union. In the Sinkiang Uighur Autonomous Region across the border, Arabic script is widely used among non-Chinese minorities, although plans to switch to a Latin script were recently reported from China.

To Know About the World

The newspaper, which now has a circulation of 8,000, differs somewhat in content from the larger Uighur-language newspaper published in Cyrillic script, Kommunist Tugl. Mr. Nazarov said Yeni Khayat was intended to educate the new arrivals:

"We want them to follow contemporary life, to know about the rest of the world."

The influx of arrivals from China began about 20 years ago, but took on mass proportions in the early 1960's after Soviet-Chinese relations worsened. The immigrants included not only Uighurs, Mr. Nazarov said, but other Central Asian nationalities living on both sides of the border like Kazakhs, Tatars and Uzbeks.

While the Soviet press has alleged persecution of non-Chinese minorities by Peking, Mr. Nazarov found that the motive for flight was "not just discrimination — they were hungry."

The Soviet Government set up reception centers in border towns like Fanfilov to provide food, clothing and medical attention. The immigrants have since been resettled. Mr. Nazarov said, with many of them continuing in sheep breeding while their children attend boarding schools.

"The first people who came were very cautious and didn't dare express their thoughts," asserted Mr. Nazarov, who had served on a fact-finding commission back in 1964. "But they came to understand that in comparison to China, they could enjoy a freer life here."

Two visiting American newsmen were unable to meet any refugees. Mr. Nazarov explained that the influx had dwindled in recent years. "I've heard that the border is now very tightly watched on the other side," he said.

Kazakhstan probably has the largest meld of Soviet ethnic groups outside the Russian Republic. Russians outnumber Kazakhs among Kazakhstan's 14.5 million population. But several dozen other groups include Ukrainians and Poles, Koreans, Kurds and Gypsies, as well as traditional minorities like the Uighurs and Uzbeks.

Roots for the Germans

Germans—858,000 as of the 1970 census—make up the republic's fourth largest ethnic group. Descendants of 18th-century German settlers in Russia, they encompass the Volga Germans who were deported wholesale by Stalin in 1941 after war broke out. The Soviet Government for-

The New York Times/April 24, 1976
Assimilation is a problem

In the Alma-Ata area.

Many rehabilitated in 1956, conceding "injustices" that were attributed to Stalin's "cult of personality."

But the Germans were not allowed to return home from Central Asia.

Through their own initiative, the Germans, who speak an archaic Swabian dialect, have put down roots. Most of them work industriously as farmers in central and northern Kazakhstan.

They have a national newspaper, Neues Leben, and a separate Kazakhstan paper, Freundschaft, and are allotted German-language broadcasts on local radio and television.

"Some of the old people still remember, but they feel there is no point going back because there is nothing to go back to," said one German engineer met in a chance conversation. Those who want to leave, he said, are more likely to try for West Germany than their Volga homeland. Nearly 24,000 have been permitted to emigrate since 1970 according to West German figures.

A request to meet some Soviet Germans produced an officially arranged meeting with a half-dozen German journalists.

"Here in Kazakhstan, the Germans have everything they want and need," contended Dietrich D. Frizin. "I think if they were asked to return, many of them would say no." And what of lingering bitterness among people who were so violently uprooted?

"Of course, people had some feelings about it, but it was the war, everybody suffered," said another journalist, Georg Rau.

They were asked whether the Germans would like to see the restoration of their own autonomous republic, which Stalin had eliminated.

"Again you'd have to move people," Mr. Rau responded. "There'd be new injustices. That is why I think the Government answered the question in a very correct way."

The second largest republic after the Russian Federation itself, Kazakhstan stretches from the Central Asian desert to Siberia. Its one million square miles include the virgin lands, cultivated two decades ago to yield the nation more grain. It has mining, industry, even the Soviet space center of Baikonur.

Though Alma-Ata lies 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow, it has consequently assumed some political weight of its own. The Soviet Communist Party leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, was a party secretary in Kazakhstan in 1954-56, and the current first secretary, Dinmukhamed A. Kunayev, has been a full member of the Soviet Politburo for five years. Valentin K. Mesyats, formerly the republic's second secretary, last month was tapped to become the new Soviet Minister of Agriculture in the wake of last year's harvest disaster.

But Alma-Ata's inhabitants are more preoccupied with their own daily lives. They complain that the streets are being left ripped up by inconsiderate construction crews. A lively discussion is also under way over how a subway system could be built in view of the earthquakes that sometimes rattle the region.

The city has also found itself with a dropout problem. A Kazakhstan newspaper recently reported that Alma-Ata's police were picking up dozens of "mobile" unemployed young people who were drifting through. Holding facilities were already full. Though Soviet law imposes criminal penalties against "parasites" who won't work, it has been difficult to prosecute them because they had no real occupation to start with.

One young man, Aleksandr Sorokin, was found to have come to Alma-Ata by way of Murmansk, Odesa and Vladivostok — an odyssey that took him to nearly all corners of the Soviet Union.

A 19-year-old from Petropavlovsk, Lena Sychova, had been on the move for more than a year. She arrived in town to look for a husband because her older sister got married here.

The most poignant tale came from 18-year-old Tanya Khokhlova, who arrived in Alma-Ata hoping to meet an artist. Asked why she had abandoned her small village, she replied: "Mama drinks. Father drinks too, but less."

The celebrated apple orchards surrounding Alma-Ata have barely begun to sprout their delicate white blossoms. But prospects of summer have already captured local imaginations.

Some residents have started sprucing up their small summer dachas set in the foothills of the Tien Shan, which runs east into China. A special evening course has begun in town to teach how to pick medicinal herbs safely in the mountains.

The big peaks have been closed to tourists until May 15 because of snow avalanches. But on a recent weekend, climbers festooned in ropes were already training on the cliffs along the road leading south from Alma-Ata. On the hills above Medeo Gorge, families were picnicking, some stripped to their underwear to bask in the warm spring sunshine.

But the reality of China, 200 miles away, is not altogether forgotten. On the top of one big hill a dozen teenagers roasted potatoes in the ashes of their campfire.

"Eat up," one strapping

Friends photograph a newly married Kazakh couple outside of the Wedding Palace in Alma-Ata in Kazakhstan.

boy urged his friends as he poked through the ashes with a long stick. "You need to be strong to fight some day."

"Who are we going to fight?" one of his friends challenged. The boy pointed eastward with his charred stick toward China, hidden behind the snowy mountains.

"Just a couple of hundred kilometers and a few hours by car," he said. The others did not laugh.

5 EXCITING AND DIFFERENT Exotic Plants ON SALE $4.99 ALL 5 FOR

SAVE $2.51 OVER INDIVIDUAL PRICES

Burro Tail	3 YRS. OLD	$1.50 INDIVIDUALLY
Aloe Nobilis		$1.50 INDIVIDUALLY
Panda Ears	LARGE CLUMP (KALAMACHOE TOMENTOSA)	$1.50 INDIVIDUALLY
The Pony Tail Palm	WEEPING LEAVES	GUARANTEED 10"-12" LO $1.50 INDIVIDUALLY
Mini Jade	GOOD FOR BONI	$1.50 INDIVIDUALLY

Come in and Browse and see many exotic varieties of unusual cactus and succulent plants.

Store Hours: Mon. to Sat. 9 to 5 Sun.: 10:30 to

GUARANTEED TO GROW OR YOUR MONEY BACK

Plants	Aloe Nobilis	Pony Tail	Panda Ears	Mini Jade	Burro Tail
All 5 plants for $4.99. Add $1.00 postage and handling.
10 plants for $9.98. Add $1.50 postage and handling.
1 ea. as checked @ $1.50. Add $1.50 postage and handling.
2 ea. for $2.50. Add $1.50 postage and handling.

The Cactus Plant Shop
447 Merrick Road
Oceanside, N.Y. 11572
Enclosed is my check  or money order  in the amount of $
Name: _____
Address: _____
City: _____ State: _____ Zip: _____

Welcome the "LOOK of SILK" by Hickey-Freeman

No Sales Tax on clothing in N.J.
Shop Mon., Thurs. Fri. 10-9:30 Other days 10-6

The 'look of silk' is superiorly elegant, especially when it is expertly hand-tailored by Hickey Freeman in an unusual blend of polyester, wool, mohair and silk.

Our 'Milan' by Hickey Freeman, will capture your attention with its luxurious silk look & perfect shaped contour. Skipper blue, silver grey. Sizes 39-50 regular, short, long, x-short, x-long, portly, portly-short. Schlesinger value priced!

Enjoy Schlesinger's Custom fitting

Schlesinger's
Bergline at 58th WEST NEW YORK, N.J.

Schlesinger, Charges and Credit Cards honored

PARKING rear of store

Thousands Rally in Saigon In Election Demonstration

SAIGON, South Vietnam, April 23 (Agence France Press) — Thousands marched through the South Vietnamese capital today in a mass rally before the general elections Sunday.

Slogans broadcast over loudspeakers on vans competed with the shouts of the demonstrators and the blaring music of patriotic songs played by district bands.

The marchers converged on the town hall where representatives of the Workers Party, the National Liberation Front and the People's Revolutionary Committee were awaiting them on the steps.

Contrasting with the white shirts and dark trousers of the party officials were the long black cassock of Nguyen Van Binh, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Saigon, and the saffron robe of Nun Huynh Lien, a prominent Buddhist and an opponent of the former Saigon regime now a candidate in the elections.

be stamped when he has cast his vote.

Voting rights have been restored to 90 percent of the servicemen and civil servants of the former Saigon government released by the revolutionary authorities after having undergone a period of re-education, a senior government official said today.

Nguyen Van Hieu, Minister Without Portfolio, said at a news conference that he could not give any figure for the number of former officers and civil servants still undergoing re-education.

Execution Threat to Officers
SAIGON April 23 (Reuters) — The South Vietnamese Government will "exterminate" members of the former regime's armed forces who continue to oppose the present administration, a leading official said here yesterday.

The deputy chairman of the Saigon People's Revolutionary Committee, Nguyen Van Hieu, said a number of officers of the former armed forces were still in touch with "imperialists, the United States' Central Intelligence Agency and capitalists who continue to oppose the revolutionary regime."

"This minority shall be exterminated," Mr. Hieu said.

He was speaking at a news conference called in connection with the nationwide elections to be held on Sunday.

SPACE-AGE WRAPAROUND SUNGLASSES MAKE ALL OTHERS OBSOLETE!

FIT COMFORTABLY OVER YOUR OWN GLASSES!

Developed from the world's strongest plastic, developed to protect the astronauts — as windows in their space capsules and face shields in their moon-walk space suits — comes Space-Age Wraparound Sunglasses! Made of GE's LEXAN® Resin — the strongest material clear as glass, and unaffected by the most intense heat... the most frigid sub-zero weather!

This is the extraordinary protection Space-Age Wraparound Sunglasses give you! They're the safest-against-impact sunglasses you can buy. Won't chip, crack or shatter! In fact, their impact resistance is fifty times greater than federal regulation standards for safety glass! And the space-age design gives you wraparound protection from the sun's harsh glare. The Side-And-Top Shield Construction surrounds your eyes in glare-free comfort! For added safety against the sun, the exclusive optometric-designed Solar-Tone® coloring screens out a full 86% of all dangerous ultra-violet and infrared rays that can damage your eyes and cause fatiguing strain.

The color-faithful blue-green lenses won't fade! Their streamlined, futuristic design gives both men and women a peace-of-mind look! And they're light as a feather... you'll hardly know you're wearing them. Outdoor sports lovers love them for everything from skiing to backpacking to hunting!

They're large enough to fit comfortably over regular eyeglasses, doing away with clumsy clip-ons! And contact-lens wearers get an extra safety bonus — because Space-Age Wraparounds do an unshakable job of safeguarding eyes from wind-blown dust and grit.

Don't trust your precious eyes to ordinary eyeglasses! Protect them with the super-strength plastic developed for the astronauts... in glasses made from GE LEXAN® Resin! One size fits all. Space-Age Wraparound Sunglasses are only $9.99 — order now!

JAY NORRIS
WAREHOUSE OUTLET
30 DAY MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!
Wear a Pair of Space-Age Wraparound Glasses 30 Days. If not completely satisfied — return for prompt refund of purchase price.
JAY NORRIS Warehouse Outlet, 25 W. Merrick Rd., Dept. A-519 Freeport, N.Y. 11521
Please rush me... pair of SPACE-AGE WRAPAROUND SUNGLASSES (#R934) @ $9.99 purchase price per pair plus 90¢ shipping and handling.
 SAVE! Order TWO Pair for only $17.99 purchase price plus $1.25 shipping and handling.
Enclosed is  check or  money order for $_____.
Sorry, no C.O.D.'s. — (N.Y. residents add sales tax.)
PLEASE PRINT: NAME _____ ADDRESS _____ CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____
JAY Norris Corp. — 1976
Copyright © 1975 Jay Norris Corp. All Rights Reserved.
P.O. Box 1000, Dept. A-519 Freeport, New York, 11521

MIRACLE SUNTAN BLANKET TOASTS YOU TO A GOLDEN TAN

LOWEST PRICE $2

WEAR A TROPICAL SUNTAN EIGHT MONTHS A YEAR!
Now, sunbathe in comfort before, during and after the regular season! "Toast" to a delicious all-over tan your friends will envy! This giant 56 x 84 inch (32 square foot) Blanket magnifies even the sun's weakest rays. In summer, when the noon-day sun is unbearably hot, you'll be able to tan comfortably in the cool of the early morning and late afternoon.

ENJOY YOUR TAN BEFORE OTHERS GET STARTED!
This miracle Suntan Blanket — big enough to accommodate two — weighs just a few ounces and folds to fit into your purse or travel bag. Use it on your back lawn, terrace, roof and beach. Gives you twelve months service each year! For extra warmth in winter, take this handy blanket to the ski slopes, football stadium, camp-outs, fishing and hunting trips. It's efficient reflective insulation bounces back most of your body heat for added warmth.

NO-RISK MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!
Order freely now for yourself and friends at our risk! You must be delighted with this Miracle Suntan Blanket or return it for a full refund of the purchase price!

30 DAY MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!
FAIRWAY RECORDS, Inc. Dept. 778
3947 Austin Blvd., Island Park, NY 11558
 Rush one Suntan Blanket @ $2.79 plus 70¢ shipping and handling.
 SAVE ME MORE! Rush two for $5.20 plus shipping and handling.
 SAVE ME MOST! Rush six for $13.50 plus postage and handling.

Name: _____
Address: _____
City: _____ State: _____ Zip: _____

REMOVE

ing New "A

LES O

ZEN I

MAG

999

WAREHOUSE OUTL

الجمعة 20 أبريل 1976

REMOVE WANTED HAIR FOREVER— Professional Way!

Painless... Permanent... Safe!

An amazing hair remover pencil has proved completely reliable. This amazing pencil removes unwanted hair root forever so hair cannot possibly regrow. No chemicals. No pain. No chance of infection. No redness. Complete with instructions and carrying case. Unwanted hair forever, in no time. We offer a money back guarantee. Only $12.99. Dollars less than professional hair removal. Why wait? Order yours today!

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE! ORDER TODAY!
Jay Norris Warehouse Outlet, 25 W. Merrick Rd., Dept. AA-518, Freeport, N.Y. 11521
Please rush me one Hair Remover @ $12.99 purchase price plus $1.00 postage and handling.
 I SAVE! Order TWO for only $24.00 purchase price plus $1.00 postage and handling.
Enclosed is  check or  money order for $.....
Sorry, no C.O.D.'s—(N.Y. residents add sales tax.)
Please Print:
Name _____
Address _____
City _____
State _____ Zip _____
*****©Jay Norris Corp., 1976*****

PALME REQUESTS BERGMAN RETURN

Prime Minister Joins Top Swedes in Appeal to Film Director in Paris

STOCKHOLM, April 23 (UPI)—Prime Minister Olof Palme, saddened by Ingmar Bergman's decision to leave Sweden because of tax difficulties, appealed today to the film director to come home.

Mr. Palme joined more than a dozen leading Swedish figures who expressed regret at Mr. Bergman's decision to leave his native country. The 58-year-old director flew to France Wednesday saying he was tired of being hounded, threatened and harassed by Swedish tax officials.

"I am deeply sorry if he leaves Sweden, partly because of his artistic ability and partly because he is a good friend," the Swedish Prime Minister said. "I hope he will come back."

But Bibi Andersson, the Swedish actress whose career was fostered by Mr. Bergman, said: "I am glad Ingmar is well again. You get branded like pigs and it takes years to wash away the mark."

Miss Andersson, who was arrested and interrogated recently in a tax investigation, said she also would be leaving Sweden soon.

In an open letter to the Swedish people, Mr. Bergman said he would look in another country for the security that was impossible for him in Sweden. But none of his plans were known.

Plans to Visit U.S.

Special to The New York Times
PARIS, April 23 — Ingmar Bergman said today that he intended to visit the United States "in the next few days."

Mr. Bergman, who is staying at the Hotel George V here, appeared pale and nervous as he left the hotel for a midday walk with his wife, Ingrid, who held his arm tightly and appeared to be steadying him as he walked. Mr. Bergman smiled for photographers but declined firmly to discuss his decision to leave Sweden or his plans. Friends and professional associates in Paris said Mr. Bergman had not decided where he would settle, but they indicated that the director was seriously considering Paris, where he has many Swedish acquaintances. Mr. Bergman's friends also said that after his visit to the United States, where his schedule was undisclosed, he might accept invitations to make films in Italy, with Federico Fellini, or in West Germany. His friends here said he was still weakened by the nervous collapse that hospitalized him for two months earlier this year.

No Pension, but a Cell

LONDON (Reuters)—Police finally caught up with an escaped prisoner, John Murray, 61 years old, when he tried to claim an old-age pension illegally—after 19 years on the run.

Paper in Callaway Case Is Losing Ads

CRESTED BUTTE, Colo., April 23 (AP)—Advertising has fallen off sharply in a weekly newspaper whose articles led to a Senate investigation and the subsequent resignation of President Ford's former campaign manager, Howard H. Callaway.

The newspaper's publisher, Myles Arber, insists that his Crested Butte Chronicle is the target of an organized boycott. But businessmen who have withdrawn their ads say they acted on their own.

"I will print to the end of spring. That's two months," Mr. Arber said Wednesday. "But if business doesn't change by the fourth of July, I'll have to other recourse but to close the doors."

The issue in dispute, Mr. Arber said, was the advertiser's alleged boycott of the paper after he published allegations that Mr. Callaway had misused his power when he was Secretary of the Army to bring about a favorable United States Forest Service decision on expanding the Crested Butte ski area.

Mr. Arber, a 33-year-old New Yorker who came here about five years ago, said that his paper, which has a circulation of 2,500, has shrunk from an average of 24 pages to eight pages a week. He declined to give a dollar value of the lost ads.

Mr. Callaway majority shareholder and board chairman of the resort, left his campaign post two days after the first article appeared and a day after Senator Floyd E. Haskell, Colorado Democrat, announced that he planned subcommittee hearings on the allegations.

Mr. Arber contended that Bill Sweitzer, head of a natural gas company, organized the alleged boycott of his paper. Mr. Sweitzer denied it.

"I called up 8 to 10 people I know and asked them to read the paper to see if they wanted to continue supporting it," Mr. Sweitzer said. "That's all I did." He said he had not placed an ad in The Chronicle since the ski area controversy began.

Mr. Arber said that the alleged boycott had been planned at a meeting at the ski area sometime in March. James Larkin, the area's general manager and the Mayor of Mount Crested Butte, denied that, as did other businessmen who are withholding their advertising.

Kyle Lawson, managing editor of The Gunnison Country Times, a weekly paper that supported the proposed ski area expansion editorially, said he had found no evidence of a boycott.

"The people of Gunnison are not cruel. They're not out to get anybody. They're just offended. They are expressing their opinion in the only way they can," he said.

Mr. Lawson said that some of the people who were withholding advertising from The Chronicle had telephoned him to complain about his editorial policies in support of the ski area.

Public Use of Waterfront Is Sought in Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—The chairman of Montreal's Port Council wants to open 105 acres of waterfront land to public use within the next 10 years.

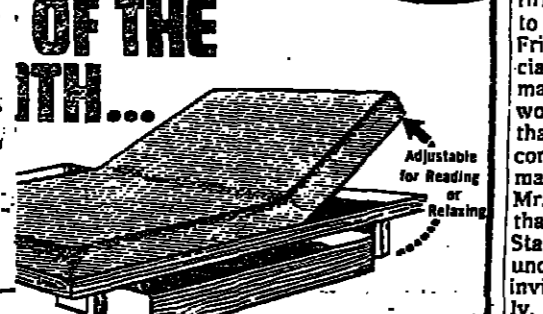

He said he had not placed an ad in The Chronicle since the ski area controversy began.

The $200-million project is supported strongly by the council president, Jean-Marie Chabot, who owns a waterfront candle shop.

The project calls for opening the port to housing, green spaces and pedestrian walkways right down to the waterfront without changing its character as a harbor.

GREENE BROS. CHANDELIERS Warehouse Inc. Lamp and Chandelier OUTLET
our business is UNDERSELLING!
OPEN SAT. & SUNDAY
Chandeliers from $35 to $500 a large variety of LAMPS CHANDELIERS TIFFANYS TRAC Factory Hours: 9 AM TO 5 PM
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
DIRECTIONS: Bklyn-Queens Expressway, Exit onto Metropolitan Ave. to the junction of Lorimer, Withers and Meuser
Greene Bros. Inc. CHANDELIERS WAREHOUSE
40 WITHERS ST. GREENPOINT BROOKLYN TEL: 388-6800

THE BED OF THE FUTURE... $179 UP

Get a 54" x 75" x 5" foam mattress; a platform bed; TWO huge adjustable recliner. (60" x 80" bed for $179 UP)

THE BEDDERS

13 West 20th St. New York, N.Y. 10011 Tel. 243-6315
Sat. 9 am. to 7 pm. Open SUN. 12 to 4

Introducing New "Anti-Freeze" Scoop

SCOPS OUT SOLIDLY FROZEN ICE CREAM

THE MAGIC!

Now—even the hardest, solidly frozen ice cream becomes easy to serve! Because our scoops dig through any ice cream—soft, creamy, or solidly frozen—so you can scoop from freezing—so you can lift out perfectly shaped time! Special non-stick surface the annoying job of scraping of ice cream! Just shake—and scoop onto dessert plate or pie.

Anti-Freeze Ice Cream Scoop is lifetime aluminum. Corrosion resistant and easy to clean. Anti-Freeze Ice Cream Scoop let hard ice cream give you a soft scoop! Only $3.99

90-DAY MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE
Never struggle to scoop out solidly frozen ice cream again! Try our ingenious new "Anti-Freeze" Scoop for 90 days! It must enable you to dig through even the hardest frozen ice cream quickly and easily... and then keep it from sticking to the scoop—so you get perfectly shaped portions every time... Or return within 90 days for prompt refund of purchase price!

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE—ORDER TODAY!
Jay Norris Warehouse Outlet, 25 W. Merrick Rd., Dept. AA-520, Freeport, N.Y. 11521
 Please rush me one "Anti-Freeze" Scoop @ $3.99 purchase price plus 70¢ shipping and handling.
 I SAVE! Order TWO for only $7.00 purchase price plus 90¢ shipping and handling.
Enclosed is  check or  money order for $.....
Sorry, no C.O.D.'s—(N.Y. residents add sales tax.)

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____
STATE _____ ZIP _____
*****©Jay Norris Corp., 1976*****

WAREHOUSE OUTLET
13 West 20th St. New York, N.Y. 10011 Tel. 243-6315
Sat. 9 am. to 7 pm. Open SUN. 12 to 4
Please send orders to: JAY NORRIS CAN LTD. P.O. Box 1000, Dept. AA-520, Montreal North, Quebec H1H 5A8

bfo THE ORIGINAL BFO MANHATTAN — (6th Floor)
149 Fifth Avenue at 21st Street
Phone: (212) 254-0059-0060
OPEN EVERY DAY INCLUDING SUNDAY 9:30-5:30

Quality:

the most important word in Men's Clothing.

We started in the men's clothing business as manufacturers 60 years ago... We learned a lot in that time. One of the most important things we learned was that quality describes a company as much as it describes the company's products. To us, selling good clothing isn't good enough. It takes something extra. Like offering the finest clothing obtainable... from internationally famous designers and manufacturers. And... at prices that are usually below original wholesale. Like offering vast selections, so you always have more to choose from. Like our "None Higher" price policy that lets you know in advance exactly what our clothing costs. Like our Guarantee that says you can have your money back for any reason or no reason. We're doing these things because we believe a company has to think quality to sell quality. Quality. It's all we can afford to sell. It's all you can afford to buy.

Impeccably Tailored SUITS
None higher than $75... Others $65 and $55.
Every important new fashion look for spring, elegantly tailored in vested models, dashing European Designer shapes and classic soft shoulder styles. Huge selections.

Distinctly Bold SPORT COATS and CLASSIC BLAZERS
None higher than $45... Others $35 and $25.
Bold new plaids... and bright new colors... in soft comfortable fabrics perfect for the days ahead. Distinctively styled in lean looking European Designer shapes or classic traditional. Great selection.

Famous Brand SLACKS
None higher than $20... Others $15 and $10.
An all-but-endless selection... most with the quality labels in them.

Authentic French Designer Fashions! SUITS None higher than $75 SPORT COATS None higher than $45
The true European silhouette... the tapered fit... the higher armholes. We have gained a reputation for our outstanding selection and our miracle low prices for this elegant clothing.

Handsome LEISURE SUITS $35-$45 None Higher
Look dressed up without feeling dressed up. We have an outstanding selection of this popular new fashion.

Superb ALL WEATHER COATS
BFO Miracle Price! Beautifully tailored classics in Trench Coat or Traditional styling.

YOUR MONEY BACK WITHIN 7 DAYS on any unaltered garment
Alterations available on premises (Manhattan and Yonkers Only)

The original BFO Concept now in luxury furnishings: BFO plus
Our new 2nd Floor department 149 Fifth Ave., at 21st St. (212) 673-6026 Famous Designers' Dress Shirts, Sport Shirts, Sweaters and Neckwear for Men at 1/2 Price or Less!

We honor the American Express Card, Master Charge and BankAmericard

OTHER LOCATIONS:
YONKERS — In the BFO/Waldbaum Shopping Plaza (former site of Patricia Murphy's) 1745 Central Ave. ... Just north of Tuckahoe Road. Phone (914) 961-6700. Open Mon. through Fri. Noon till 10 PM. Open Sat. 10 AM-7 PM. Closed Sun.
CLIFTON, N.J. — 550 Gety Avenue (Strassl Factory Bldg. Adjoining the Garden State Parkway) Phone (201) 546-8300. Open Mon. through Fri. Noon till 10 PM. Open Sat. 10 AM-7 PM. Closed Sun.
CINCINNATI — Gentry Shops, 745 Swift Center

Copyright BFO 1976

OPEN SUNDAY 10 AM - 5 PM

Once-in-a-Lifetime SALE my Doctor ordered.

I paid no attention when my accountant and my lawyer said "Slow down, you're making Uncle Sam rich" — but when my doctor laid the law down, I knew I had very little choice. So slow down I must reduce my inventory and cut my overhead.

Max Rosenfeld

An impressive selection of Maxis famous quality Men's Suits, Sport Coats, Slacks and Haberdashery including our celebrated GROSVENOR HOUSE and RUSSELL SQUARE models, all in the very choicest fabrics and the new season's most exciting styling...

Half Priced

... and less! The Choice is Yours ... but Come Early!

MEN'S SUITS
Maxis regular price $165	$79
Maxis regular price $185	$89
Maxis regular price $195	$99

SPORT COATS
Maxis regular price $95	$47
Maxis regular price $110	$55
Maxis regular price $125	$62

MEN'S SLACKS
Maxis regular price $37.50	$19.90
Maxis regular price $42.50	$21.90
Maxis regular price $60	$24.90

Entire Stock of TIES - 1/2 PRICE! Imported Swiss Cotton Shirts 2 for $9.90.

Large selection of Topcoats, Raincoats, Overcoats, Suburban Coats at Cost and Below. Extra Short and Portly Short Men will find a huge selection.

385 Broadway Bklyn, N.Y. ST 2-6292

It's easy to reach us: (15 minutes from Times Square. All major buses, trains and expressways lead to Maxis.) BMT to Haves St. Station or IND (GG) to Broadway (Union Ave.) Station. By Car: L.I. Expressway to Metropolitan Ave. Exit From Brooklyn, get off at Flushing Ave. Exit. No parking problem.

OPEN MONDAY through SATURDAY 9:30 AM to 7 PM SUNDAY, 10 AM to 5 PM Master Charge and BankAmericard Welcome.

Fellman, Ltd.

FOUR "PERSONAL" BOOT SHOPS ALL-AMERICAN SPECIAL

Costly one-piece long-wing style. Soft-grained leather uppers. Slip-resistant hard rubber boot heels. Fully leather lined. All around storm welts over genuine leather soles. Antique brown or black. Exceptional value.

Four Shops: NEW YORK: 12 E. 46th St. 10017 and 49 W. 43rd Newark 24 Broadford Pl.—East Orange: 560 Central at Evergreen N.Y. & E. Orange open Thurs. Eves. Newark: Open Wed. & Fri.

Fellman, Ltd. 12 E. 48th St., New York 10017

Send _____ prs. "Americana" Wings. @ $38 each.

Size _____ Width _____ Color _____

Color _____

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Also $1.50 per pair shipping plus applicable tax. Visa one of our shops or by mail or phone with confidence—212-687-8786 (no C.O.D.s)

Carter Would Promote Private Jobs

By CHRISTOPHER LYDON

Special to The New York Times

PHILADELPHIA, April 23—Jimmy Carter declared today that his top priority for the economy would be the public promotion of jobs in private industry through training, tax incentives and long-term economic planning.

Mr. Carter, campaigning for the Democratic Presidential nomination in the Pennsylvania primary next Tuesday, issued his first comprehensive outline of economic policy ideas here in the company of a group of economic advisers.

Both his policy proposals and his advisers placed the former Georgia Governor in the mainstream of his party—for example, in putting somewhat heavier short-term stress on reducing unemployment than on checking inflation.

Mr. Carter's economic advisers, led by Prof. Lawrence Klein of the University of Pennsylvania, president-elect of the American Economic Association, proposed a somewhat larger budget for the coming fiscal year, between $412 billion and $420 billion, with a somewhat larger deficit than President Ford's $395 billion proposal.

But in that and many other particulars involving expansion of the economy, job development, the easing of credit and reform of the Federal Reserve Board Mr. Carter's position paper often echoed the Democratic leadership in Congress.

Mr. Carter's position paper, released at a news conference, seemed designed to establish this general familiarity with national economic debates, and not to claim any particular expert or original insights. If there was anything distinctive about Mr. Carter's approach, it was perhaps his emphasis, as a successful small-business man in a race with lawyers and life-time politicians on the private economy and on better management and planning in government.

"We have no discernible economic goals," Mr. Carter said of the national Government in the Nixon and Ford eras.

At the same time Mr. Carter again offered no details on the revenue side of his own economic plans, though he has repeatedly promised sweeping tax reform in the general direction of equity and simplicity.

"I doubt I could come forward with a comprehensive income tax program before a year after I reach the White House," Mr. Carter said in answer to a reporter's question. "This is not something that can be done in the heat of a campaign."

Mr. Carter emphasized, as he had earlier, that public job programs are an expensive and temporary solution to unemployment. Yet he endorsed "accelerated public works" in areas of acute distress.

A government program to rehabilitate railway roadbeds; a summer job program for 800,000 youths; a doubling of the number of jobs under the Comprehensive Education and Training Act, to a level of 600,000; and countercyclical aid to cities in periods of high unemployment.

Mr. Carter's three-year goals, he said, included a 4.5 percent overall unemployment rate, a reduction of annual inflation to 4 percent, and economic growth at an overall rate of between 4 and 6 percent.

By 1979, he said, economic recovery and the growth of tax revenues should make possible a balanced budget without any reduction of social spending programs or a curb on inflation. Mr. Carter said, "I favor standby controls which the President can apply selectively. I do not presently see the need for the use of such standby authority."

Besides Prof. Klein, the members of Mr. Carter's economic study group are Carolyn Shaw Bell of Wellesley College; Richard Cooper of Yale; Julius Edelstein, of the City University of New York; Martin Feldstein of Harvard; Albert T. Somers of the Conference Board; Lester Thurow of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Michael Wachter of the University of Pennsylvania.

Jackson Endorsed

Special to The New York Times

PITTSBURGH, April 23—Senator Henry M. Jackson, while campaigning here today, received the endorsement of more than 100 leaders of organized labor who have formed a western Pennsylvania labor committee in behalf of his candidacy. A similar committee was formed this week in Philadelphia.

However, at a news conference at which the announcement was made, James Mahoney, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania A.F.L.-C.I.O., acknowledged that the chief intent of the labor movement in the Presidential primary Tuesday was to elect delegates to the Democratic National Convention "so that the voice of labor will be heard."

Mr. Mahoney made it clear the labor leaders were involved in a movement to stop Jimmy Carter in Pennsylvania. He said the unions were sending out thousands of letters to voters questioning the former Georgia Governor's labor record. Mr. Mahoney said the literature could say that workers in Mr. Carter's peanut warehouse in Plains, Ga., are paid "peanut wages" and do not receive other benefits the labor movement feels are essential.

Responding to questions on whether the endorsement of Mr. Jackson was really an effort to nominate Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, who is not running in the primaries, Mr. Mahoney said, "We're interested in seeing Scoop Jackson in the White House. Yes we are."

Jimmy Carter at a news session in Philadelphia yesterday with Prof. Lawrence Klein, head of Mr. Carter's task force of economic advisers. It was the first time Mr. Carter's economic advisers has appeared publicly with him.

Ford Denies Plans for Ties With Hanoi

By PHILIP SHABECOFF

Special to The New York Times

ATLANTA, April 23—President Ford, again on the defensive from an attack on his foreign policy by Ronald Reagan, denied today that the United States planned to establish diplomatic relations with North Vietnam.

Mr. Ford, campaigning in Indiana and Georgia, was repeatedly asked about contentions by his rival for the Republican Presidential nomination that the Administration has made overtures to Hanoi aimed in that direction.

The President said that these reports were "totally without foundation."

Talking to a meeting of broadcasters in Indiana this morning, Mr. Ford said that United States interest in talking to Hanoi was primarily directed at obtaining information about Americans missing in action in the Vietnam War. He said that this country was willing to discuss some "humanitarian aid" to Vietnam.

"But I never said we were going to normalize relations or recognize the North Vietnamese," the President said. "We are not committed. As far as I can see, there is no prospect of it, and there is nothing that would convince me otherwise that we are interested and will do below that level, anything to get our M.I.A.'s back."

Concession on Georgia

Mr. Reagan has been drawing large enthusiastic audiences here in Georgia, and the President's campaign staff concedes that Mr. Ford is running behind the California Governor in this state.

Mr. Ford attracted big enthusiastic crowds in Indiana, including over 25,000 people who lined the streets of Evansville this morning for a sun-drenched parade, and he called the Indiana primary, which will be held May 4, "crucial."

The Georgia primary will also be held on May 4. Mr. Ford did not predict victory here—his campaign staff has been saying he is running behind Mr. Reagan. But upon his arrival in Atlanta he said, "We have a damned good chance of winning." He said he was an underdog in Texas but has been making headway in that state, which holds its first primary on May 1. He added he could come from behind in Georgia.

Speaking to campaign workers in Atlanta, he praised his former campaign chairman, Howard H. Callaway, as a "great American." Mr. Callaway, who is from Georgia, resigned as chairman of the Ford campaign committee after he was charged with using political influence to win government favors for a ski resort he controls.

Today Mr. Ford said that Mr. Callaway was receiving "unfair treatment" by the Senate committee that is investigating some of the charges and said that the former campaign chief "ought to get a fair shake."

Mr. Ford did not explain what treatment he considered unfair. Last night Mr. Ford told an interviewer that Mr. Reagan had pulled "out of the blue" the statement that the United States intended to establish relations with Hanoi.

Mr. Ford did not mention the fact, previously made public by the State Department, that on March 29 the United States Embassy in Paris sent a note to the North Vietnamese Embassy in that city proposing low-level talks on any subject either side found of interest. The United States interest in the talks entered on the issue of servicemen missing in action.

Response by Hanoi

The Hanoi Embassy responded that the economic aid promised by the United States in the Paris peace treaty was a pre-condition for any talks.

The note from the American Embassy to the Hanoi Embassy had been generated by a Congressional delegation, led by Representative G. V. Montgomery, Democrat of Mississippi, that visited Hanoi late last

Mansfield Calls on Rocketteller To Clarify Remarks on Jackson

By JAMES M. NAUGHTON

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 23—Fosdick, staff director of the Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said today that Vice President Rockefeller should verify or refute suggestions attributed to Mr. Rockefeller that Communists had penetrated Congressional staffs.

"If there is any validity" to the reports, the Montana Senator said in an interview, "they ought to be laid out on the table for all to see. If not, the air ought to be cleared."

Mr. Mansfield said he was "disturbed" by published reports that the Vice President had told two groups recently, in off-the-record conversations that Communists might have infiltrated the staff of Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

The Atlanta Journal reported Wednesday that Mr. Rockefeller told a group of Georgia Republicans last week it would be "naive" to believe that "out side interests" had not penetrated Capitol Hill staffs. The Journal said he had questioned the loyalty of an unidentified aide to Senator Jackson and the background of Dorothy Rockefeller, who is running behind Mr. Reagan. But upon his arrival in Atlanta he said, "We have a damned good chance of winning." He said he was an underdog in Texas but has been making headway in that state, which holds its first primary on May 1. He added he could come from behind in Georgia.

Speaking to campaign workers in Atlanta, he praised his former campaign chairman, Howard H. Callaway, as a "great American." Mr. Callaway, who is from Georgia, resigned as chairman of the Ford campaign committee after he was charged with using political influence to win government favors for a ski resort he controls.

Today Mr. Ford said that Mr. Callaway was receiving "unfair treatment" by the Senate committee that is investigating some of the charges and said that the former campaign chief "ought to get a fair shake."

Mr. Ford did not explain what treatment he considered unfair. Last night Mr. Ford told an interviewer that Mr. Reagan had pulled "out of the blue" the statement that the United States intended to establish relations with Hanoi.

Mr. Ford did not mention the fact, previously made public by the State Department, that on March 29 the United States Embassy in Paris sent a note to the North Vietnamese Embassy in that city proposing low-level talks on any subject either side found of interest. The United States interest in the talks entered on the issue of servicemen missing in action.

Response by Hanoi

year. Talking to reporters yesterday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said, "We have stated publicly that we are in principle prepared to have talks with Hanoi in which each side would be free to raise any issue that it wishes and that the outcome of these talks can determine whether there is a sufficient basis for normalizing relations. As far as we are concerned, the absolute precondition is a complete accounting for the M.I.A.'s."

However, President Ford, responding to Mr. Reagan's attack, did not mention anything about previous Administration talks with Hanoi, which were with North Vietnam and appeared to rule the prospect out.

Reagan Going on TV

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 24 (UPI)—Mr. Reagan, closing out two days of campaigning through Alabama, charged today that the Ford Administration had not been candid with Americans about the nation's defense posture.

The former Governor of California said he would go on nationwide television next week to detail the "dangers of our present national defense situation." He said the broadcast would be carried Wednesday evening by CBS.

PROFESSIONAL BOOK OF THE WEEK

ALCOHOLICS AND BUSINESS: PROBLEMS, COSTS, SOLUTIONS

by Joseph F. Follmann, Jr.

It's a proven fact: it pays you as an employer to rehabilitate this problem drinkers in your company, NOT fire them. Read how much this problem is costing your company and how it affects employees, organized labor, health and welfare funds and insurance programs. Learn where to get help and guidance in setting up your own company program. It's all here in this first in-depth documentation of alcoholism in American business.

AMACOM 246 pages $12.95

AVAILABLE AT THE McGraw-Hill Bookstore

Order by Phone: 212/997-4115

McGraw-Hill Bookstore 1221 Ave. of the Americas, N.Y., N.Y. 10020

Please allow 2-3 weeks for shipping. Payment enclosed or charge my:  BankAmericard  American Express  MasterCard  VISA

Name _____ Address _____ City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Add applicable sales tax plus 5% each to postage and handling.

INCREDIBLE NOBEL PRIZE-WINNING "MIRACLE" TECHNOLOGY

CREATES AMAZINGLY BEAUTIFUL, AMAZINGLY NATURAL FROZEN-IN-MID-SPACE JEWELRY!

Astonishingly Real LASER BEAM HOLOGRAPH "ROSE in Full Bloom" LOVE PENDANT

... So True-to-Life, You Can Almost Smell It!

Blossom, leaves and stem virtually PROJECT out of the artisan crafted heart shape frame with full dimensional HEIGHT, WIDTH and Incredible DEPTH!

Perfect Gift to Convey LOVE AND AFFECTION in a VERY SPECIAL Way!

for MOTHER on HER Day... WIFE... SISTER... SWEETHEART or That Important "SOMEONE" in Your Life

NEVER BEFORE AVAILABLE... AT ANY PRICE! Your beloved can be among the very first to own and proudly wear the breathtakingly realistic jewelry of the SPACE ERA! Genuine HOLOGRAPH reproductions captured by the miraculous LASER BEAM, that belief-defying technological development revolutionizing medicine, commerce and communications.

In sunlight or a well-lit room, the rose seemingly "floats" in mid-space within the pendant. delicate contours appear to move with each turn of the wearer's body... and the ever-changing spectrum of colors are viewable in true depth and dimension from every angle... above, below, to both sides. Yet, in dim or diffused light, you see only a soft, subtle glow. A sure-to-be-treasured and destined to become a collector's item.

BANKAMERICARD * MASTER CHARGE * AMERICAN EXPRESS * DINERS CLUB

AVAILABLE EXCLUSIVELY AT THE NEW Country Club Golf and Tennis Shops

USF COUPON FOR PROMPT MAIL ORDER SERVICE

Please rush me the following HOLOGRAPH Love Pendants, gift boxed with chain: at only $9.95 plus $ to cover last shipping, handling, insurance. (SAVE! We pay shipping, handling, insurance on 2 or more. If not 100% delighted, I may return pendants) within 30 days for FULL REFUND of purchase price.

Charge to:  BANKAMERICARD  MASTER CHARGE  AMER. EXPRESS  DINERS CLUB

Check or money order enclosed in amount of $ _____

Card No. _____ Expire Date _____

Signature _____ MASTERCARD (516) 3626

PRINT NAME _____ We Use Name of Card

Address _____ ZIP _____

Now, wear the prettiest, most practical new fashion under the sun

GIANT 24-INCH FOLD-AWAY SUNBONNET

FOLDS FROM THIS...

Clever snap-in-place hinged brim measures a full 24 inches in diameter.

... TO THIS— IN 2 SECONDS FLAT!

Tucks away neatly in its own 8-inch zippered tote bag.

Look what's new (and exciting) under the sun! The biggest, brightest, most beautiful sunbonnet you've ever seen! It has a huge 24-inch brim (a full two feet across!)... cleverly stowed with a special spring-metal hoop border that keeps the stay-in-place brim rigidly positioned (even in the stiffest breeze!).

You'll fall in love with this unique hat for loads of good reasons. First, its eye-catching, tie-dye "bubble" design. And, of course, its supremely comfortable, feather-light fabric (weighs only three ounces!). But most of all, you'll appreciate the wonderful way the big brim slides your face, neck, shoulders and back from the potentially harmful effects of the sun.

More and more reports these days tell of the serious dangers you risk by constant overexposure to the sun's ultra-violet rays. But now, at last, you can rely on this gorgeous, giant sunbonnet to protect you—beautifully!

And here's more good news! As an added advantage, our new 24-inch sun hat folds neatly into its own 8-inch tote bag... in just 2 seconds flat!

The convenient tote is fashioned of the same superb, breeze-light fabric as the hat... and comes equipped with an 8-inch zipper, shoulder-length carry strap, plus handy pocket for sunglasses, cigarettes, makeup or what-have-you. 24-inch foldaway sunbonnet and matching tote bag... only $5.99 complete. One size fits all. Order yours now!

More and more reports these days tell of the serious dangers you risk by constant overexposure to the sun's ultra-violet rays. But now, at last, you can rely on this gorgeous, giant sunbonnet to protect you—beautifully!

And here's more good news! As an added advantage, our new 24-inch sun hat folds neatly into its own 8-inch tote bag... in just 2 seconds flat!

The convenient tote is fashioned of the same superb, breeze-light fabric as the hat... and comes equipped with an 8-inch zipper, shoulder-length carry strap, plus handy pocket for sunglasses, cigarettes, makeup or what-have-you. 24-inch foldaway sunbonnet and matching tote bag... only $5.99 complete. One size fits all. Order yours now!

JAY NORRIS 23 W. 23rd St., New York, N.Y. 10011

WAREHOUSE OUTLET

90-DAY MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Wear your Foldaway Sunbonnet for 90 days! You must be absolutely delighted with it or return for prompt refund of purchase price—no questions asked.

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE—ORDER TODAY!

JAY NORRIS Warehouse Outlet, 23 W. 23rd St., Dept. AA-827, Prospect, N.Y. 11211

Please rush me one Giant 24-inch Foldaway Sunbonnet $21.99 at purchase price $5.99 plus 70¢ shipping and handling.

SAVE! Order TWO for purchase price only $10.99 plus 85¢ shipping and handling. Enclosed is  check or  money order. Sorry, no C.O.D.'s. (N.Y. residents add tax.)

Please Print: NAME _____ ADDRESS _____ CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____

Jay Norris Corp., 1976

SALE A...
RUST...
WITH FIRM...
most destroyer...
only 30 minutes...
new protective...

INCREDIBLE NOBEL PRIZE-WINNING "MIRACLE" TECHNOLOGY
CREATES AMAZINGLY BEAUTIFUL, AMAZINGLY NATURAL FROZEN-IN-MID-SPACE JEWELRY!
Astonishingly Real LASER BEAM HOLOGRAPH
"ROSE in Full Bloom" LOVE PENDANT
... So True-to-Life, You Can Almost Smell It!

Now, wear the prettiest, most practical new fashion under the sun
GIANT 24-INCH FOLD-AWAY SUNBONNET
FOLDS FROM THIS...
Clever snap-in-place hinged brim measures a full 24 inches in diameter.
... TO THIS— IN 2 SECONDS FLAT!
Tucks away neatly in its own 8-inch zippered tote bag.

SALE A...
RUST...
WITH FIRM...
most destroyer...
only 30 minutes...
new protective...

April 20, 1976

Amazing "Rust Killer" REMOVES ROTTING RUST AND REPLACES IT WITH FIRM NEW COATING

End worries from rust damage forever
The rust destroyer brushes on over rusted areas... only 30 minutes... Replaces rust with new protective coating Spots of rust eating away at automobile... Killer new coated surface replaces old and rusted areas only. Simply brush on and rust spots become invisible. But that's only the beginning. Those looking spots are actually eating away at the body out of your car... destroying metal grills... you can end the ugly look of rotting... Apply Rust Killer once and end the rust damage 2 Generous 4 ounce cans, $3.00.

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE ORDER TODAY!
Buy Norris Corp., 25 W. 116th St., Dept. AA-522, Freeport, N.Y. 11521

RRIS WAREHOUSE OUTLET
25 W. 116th St., Dept. AA-522, Freeport, N.Y. 11521
Satisfied Customers for over 25 Years

Fund Scandal Is an Issue in Race to Succeed Scott in Pennsylvania

By JAMES T. WOOTEN
PHILADELPHIA, April 21—

When Senator Hugh Scott announced last December that he would not seek re-election, there were few tears shed among his fellow Pennsylvania Republicans. He had been accused of and had not denied taking money from the Gulf Oil Corporation, and no one in the party's hierarchy wanted that sort of millstone around his candidate's neck in this Presidential year. Now, although the 76-year-old minority leader is out of the race, the results of the Republican primary for Mr. Scott's seat Tuesday may still hinge on precisely the same sort of scandal.

Representative J. John Heinz, 33, heir to the Pittsburgh food processing fortune and the early favorite to win the nomination, is apparently in serious trouble because he has admitted that he, too, was a recipient of the giant oil company's political contributions.

Too Close to Call
His two opponents, Arlen Specter, the former Philadelphia District Attorney, and George Packard, formerly the managing editor of The Philadelphia Bulletin, have questioned raised the Gulf Oil reputation as a part of their campaigns, and politicians across the state this week were judging the contest as much too close to call.

In contrast, Representative William J. Green, the popular Philadelphian who took his father's seat in Congress in 1964 at the age of 25, is the overwhelming favorite among the same politicians to win the Democratic Senate primary. His opponent, State Senator Jeanette Reibman, is highly respected for her legislative acumen in Harrisburg, but she is little known elsewhere in the state, an impediment her poorly financed campaign has yet to overcome.

Consequently, most public attention has been on the Republican contest where money—legal and otherwise—has become a running issue.

Vulnerable to Charge
Ironically, Mr. Heinz, 37, a millionaire who has spent more than $250,000 of his own money in the campaign, left himself vulnerable to the Gulf Oil charge by accepting a relatively insignificant sum—$4,000—from the company a few years ago.

Both Mr. Packard and Mr. Specter have presented themselves to the voters as men who never have and never would take corporate funds. The strategy has had apparent success.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period. Mr. Heinz, however, spent $318,000 on his campaign, including $288,000 of his own funds.

Mr. Specter spent the least amount of money on his pursuit of the nomination, $84,000. Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

has been against Mr. Heinz. And he, in turn, has devoted much of his campaign simply to defending himself against the charge of corruption.

Mr. Heinz's television advertising has stressed his legislative record and his own personal trustworthiness, and because he has been able to purchase substantially more broadcast time than his opponents, some Pennsylvanians believe he still retains the edge in the race and will probably win.

Campaign records through the end of March show that Mr. Specter spent the least amount of money on his pursuit of the nomination, $84,000.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who has been endorsed by John Eisenhower, the son of the late President and Thomas Gates, a former Secretary of Defense, spent $133,000 in the same period.

Mr. Packard, who said last week that he had not lost any of the confidence he had gained when he walked across the state at the start of his campaign, has described himself as "what the people want."

He promised that if he became Senator, he would refuse a $3,000 salary increase voted by members of Congress for themselves last year.

Mr. Specter has vowed to approach the Federal Government with the same reformist's zeal he says was his when he served eight years as Philadelphia's District Attorney.

He was first elected in 1965, after serving a special counsel to the Warren Commission in its investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy.

He originated the single-bullet theory on which the commission based much of its report.

Mr. Specter, who is 45, ran unsuccessfully for mayor in 1969 and was defeated for a third term as district attorney in 1973.

Mr. Packard, 43, holds a doctorate in foreign studies and once worked for the Central Intelligence Agency in Japan. He resigned as The Bulletin's managing editor last spring, announced his Senate candidacy in the autumn and began his trek across the state. Mr. Heinz, in his second term in Congress, has enjoyed remarkable success in his brief political career. In 1972, he won more than 70 percent of the general election vote and picked up 25 percent of the ballots in the Democratic primary as a write-in candidate.

Mr. Green, the Democrat, went to Congress in 1964 after the death of his father, a feared and respected political boss who had held the center city Philadelphia seat for several years.

Although Mr. Green was defeated by Frank L. Rizzo in the Democratic mayoral primary here in 1971, he has never been challenged seriously in his district.

Mrs. Reibman, 60, a liberal who is a veteran of the state's legislative wars, has challenged Mr. Green's assertion that he was substantially responsible for the removal of the oil depletion allowance for big producers through Federal tax reforms.

"If that is true, then he must take some of the blame for the overall lack of tax reform that still allows 200,000 of America's wealthiest families to pay only nominal income taxes or none at all," she said here yesterday.

Full business day in Buffalo or Pittsburgh.

To Buffalo		From Buffalo
Lv. 8:00 am Nonstop/N	Ar. 8:58 am S	Lv. 7:12 am Nonstop	Ar. 8:05 am N/S
8:00 am Nonstop/L	9:01 am B	7:29 am Nonstop	8:25 am L/B
10:00 am Nonstop/N	10:58 am	10:24 am Nonstop	11:20 am L
11:40 am Nonstop/L	12:41 pm	12:57 pm Nonstop	2:00 pm K
2:07 pm Nonstop/N	3:05 pm	2:35 pm Nonstop	3:28 pm N
2:35 pm Nonstop/K	3:44 pm	4:09 pm Nonstop	5:02 pm N
4:15 pm Nonstop/K	5:24 pm	5:04 pm Nonstop	6:00 pm L
6:00 pm Nonstop/L	7:01 pm	6:09 pm Nonstop	7:02 pm N
6:25 pm Nonstop/N	7:23 pm	7:42 pm Nonstop	8:45 pm K
8:00 pm Thru/N	9:36 pm	9:01 pm Nonstop	9:57 pm L
9:05 pm Nonstop/L	10:06 pm	☆9:39 pm Nonstop	10:30 pm N
☆9:35 pm Nonstop/K	10:44 pm

To Pittsburgh		From Pittsburgh
Lv. 7:40 am Nonstop/L	Ar. 8:52 am B	Lv. 8:00 am Nonstop	Ar. 9:04 am N/B
7:55 am Nonstop/N	9:05 am B	8:15 am Nonstop	9:18 am L/B
9:35 am Nonstop/L	10:47 am	9:50 am Nonstop	10:53 am L
9:45 am Nonstop/N	10:55 am	12:00 pm Nonstop	1:03 pm L/S
11:30 am Nonstop/L	12:42 pm S	1:10 pm Nonstop	2:23 pm K/S
1:45 pm Nonstop/L	2:57 pm	2:00 pm Nonstop	3:03 pm L
3:00 pm Nonstop/K	4:13 pm	3:40 pm Nonstop	4:43 pm L
3:45 pm Nonstop/L	4:57 pm	3:40 pm Nonstop	4:53 pm K
5:18 pm Nonstop/L	6:30 pm S	4:31 pm Nonstop	5:32 pm N
5:45 pm Thru/K	7:58 pm	7:00 pm Thru	9:05 pm K
6:50 pm Nonstop/N	8:57 pm S	7:05 pm Nonstop	8:09 pm N/S
7:00 pm Nonstop/L	9:12 pm S	8:05 pm Nonstop	9:06 pm N
7:20 pm Nonstop/N	9:30 pm S	8:05 pm Nonstop	9:08 pm L
8:00 pm Nonstop/K	9:15 pm	8:40 pm Nonstop	9:54 pm K
10:35 pm Nonstop/K	11:50 pm	9:10 pm Nonstop	10:10 pm L

We call it a full business day away service. And the idea is to get you in before 9 AM, so you can put a full day on business—with a choice of flights home after 5. It's efficient. It's convenient. And it's built right into our schedules.

You get a choice of 11 nonstops a day to Buffalo. And 11 coming back. That's more than any other airline offers out of New York so you'll find a flight when you want one.

We're No. 1 to Pittsburgh, too—with 15 jets a day—each way. And a choice of 6 flights coming back after 5.

See your Travel Agent for information and reservations, or call us at 736-3200.

We honor American Express and all other major general-purpose credit cards.

We're America's 6th largest passenger-carrying airline with service and schedules that mean business.

S-Snack B-Breakfast ☆ Moonlighter—save up to 20% Certain weekend exceptions K-Kennedy L-LaGuardia N-Newark Our City Ticket Offices are located at 100 E. 42nd St., 1 E. 9th St., and 120 Broadway.

ALLEGHENY. We mean business.

CABIN & PEARLMAN Last Days of Sale!

For more than half a century of selling fine clothing, we ourselves forced to make an important decision. We'd Cash... desperately!... So we've taken drastic steps to avoid disaster! We've priced our fine merchandise without regard to costs... but we'll take less if you make a reasonable offer!

NAME YOUR OWN PRICE!

reasonable offer refused consideration!

- Select Group! SUITS DUOS $29.90
- Select Group! SPORT COATS $19.90
- Select Group! MEN'S SLACKS $6.90
- Select Group! WEATHER INCOATS $19.90
- Select Group! Short Sleeve SHIRTS $3.90
- Select Group! TIES $1.99

CABIN & PEARLMAN
37th AVE. bet. 35th-36th Sts. 564-7035
Daily 9 AM - 6 PM • Saturday to 5 PM • OPEN SUNDAY 10 AM to 5 PM

OPEN SUNDAY PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

GREATEST SUIT BUY!
MANUFACTURERS FACTORY OUTLET
 OVER 10,000 SUITS
 NO CLOSEOUTS—NO SURPLUS
100% Wool Worsted
Dacron-Worsted
All Suits $59
 ONE LOW PRICE
 UNBELIEVABLE VALUES

OUR SUITS—Now selling for $110 in leading retail stores.
THE BEST SUIT BUY IN N.Y.
 Latest Spring/Summer suits are coming out of work every week. Conservative & European shaped models. All fabrics from famous mills only. We are MANUFACTURERS since 1940 and all suits are made in the same modern union factory. NOTHING BOUGHT ON OUTSIDE—NO SURPLUS. Select from over 10,000 suits all on one floor.
 VESTS AVAILABLE AT SMALL ADDITIONAL COST
GLEN PLAIDS, STRIPES, PLAINS AND FANCIES
 All colors and sizes (reg., shirts, long, extra long, cadets, stouts). Immediate Alterations available.
LEISURE SUITS Regulars, Shorts, Longs
ALL WEATHER COATS—LATEST MODELS
SPORT JACKETS All Colors & Sizes...$37

CLOTHING FACTORY SALES
 100 FIFTH AVE. (15th ST.)—9th FLOOR TEL. 255-0919
 MON.-FRI. 9-6; SAT. 9-4 OPEN THIS SUN. 10-3

ALSO OPEN SUN. 11-5 P.M.

STORAGE SALE UNCLAIMED RUGS

AT A FRACTION OF ORIGINAL PRICES (ALL RUGS CLEANED AND MOTH PROOFED)
CHINESE & ORIENTALS

SIZES APPROX.	PARTIAL LISTING	PRICE
3x5 BELGIUM	9x12 CHINESE	$85
3x5 HONG KONG	ANT. KARABAGH	348
3x5 S/ANT. KILIM	S/A KAZAK	198
3x5 BOKHARA	S/A KYRISTAN	848
3x5 CHINESE	ANT. KAZAK	348
4x8 KURDISH	S/A KAZAK	348
4x12 ISPARTA	S/A CHINESE	95
3x10 S/A KARABAGH	ANT. SIVAS PRAYER	395
4x15 S/A NAMADAN	S/A SHIRAZ	1208
3x16 S/A Sema/Randam	9x12 S/A SENA-KILIM	348
4x15 S/A MING CHINESE	S/A BERGAMO	898
4x12 HEDGE BOKHARA	4x7 S/A KAZAK	758
4x12 ANT. FEREBHAN	5x8 KILIM	288
4x12 S/A WESHER	ANT. KAZAK	198
10x13 KERMAN	4x8 KILIM	198
9x15 ARTLOOH WILTON	4x8 DARGESTAN	478
9x10 MING CHINESE	9x12 S/A MING CHINESE	685
9x12 S/A BERZ	9x12 S/A KIBORASON	378
10x14 SAROUK KARASTAN	9x11 CHINESE YAM/TAMPE	495
9x12 JOSHEGAN SAROUK	9x9 S/A MING CHINESE	898
9x12 NAHAL	9x10 S/A BERZ	495
9x12 KABASTAN	9x12 SPARTA	578
9x11 TABIZ	9x12 MING	325
9x12 S/A KERMAN	6x11 ANTOUQUE BIJAN	588
9x12 HESHER	6x10 SAROUK	448

ALSO A VERY LARGE QUANTITY—ROOM SIZE BROADLOOMS IN ALL COLORS & QUALITIES
CENTRAL CARPET CLEANING
 426 COLUMBUS AVE. (81st St—Opp. Planetarium)
 2 HRS. FREE PARKING SATURDAYS & SUNDAYS AT WEST 83rd ST. GARAGE (bet. Columbus & Amsterdam Aves)
 EN 2-5485 • JEN 2-8269
 DAILY & SAT. 9-6 • MASTERCHARGE O.K.

We Custom Fit our ready to wear clothes

One of the most persuasive forms of communication is what you wear. That's why the man who chooses to express himself most eloquently wears GGG... Style for living!

Our meticulous fitting service at no extra charge!

GGG SUITS $285.

OTHER SUITS FROM $165. OPEN MON. & THURS. 10-9 P.M.

Court Tailors
 EST. 1912
 179 Montauk Avenue WHITE PLAINS 914 WH 9-1414

OVER 1,000,000 BOOKS!
 SECOND HAND AND OUT-OF-PRINT FOR SCHOLARS, COLLECTORS AND READERS
 SPECIAL: THOUSANDS OF REVIEWERS' COPIES OF NEW 1976 BOOKS AT 1/2 PRICE
ART BOOKS: HUGE DISPLAY AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES
STRAND BOOKSTORE
 828 BROADWAY (N.E. CORNER 12th STREET)
 N.Y.C. 10003 (212) 633-1452—HOURS: 9-5:30 TO 6:30 MON. thru SAT.

Pittsburgh Area Offers Unofficial Carter Referendum

By JOSEPH LELYVELD
 Special to The New York Times
PITTSBURGH, April 23—Election posters for two rival Democratic candidates for the state legislature have been left to curl and fade in the window of Cupka's Cafe.

Joan Burke with her daughter in front of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Works on the South Side of Pittsburgh. "To be truthful, it's a heck of an attitude but I'm just not interested this year," she said about the political situation.

Richie Cupka, the proprietor of an establishment that is celebrated on the South Side for its sausage sandwiches and the softball team it fields every year at about this time, hasn't removed the posters because the candidates spent more than $10 each in his bar buying rounds of Iron City beer for the electorate.

It cannot be said, therefore, that the primary campaign has been invisible on the South Side. But the Presidential primary might also be taking place in some other sense for all the impact it is having on this solidly working-class neighborhood of tiny 19th century row houses that sit beside the massive Jones & Laughlin Steel Works like dinghies moored to an ocean liner.

The South Side turned out heavily for Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, in that order, in the Democratic primary four years ago. It will probably turn out heavily again because this is a neighborhood that values old customs, such as voting, that are becoming passe elsewhere. But this time, among the candidates on the ballot, the South Side has no obvious favorites.

"To be truthful, it's a heck of an attitude but I'm just not interested this year," Joan Burke, the wife of a detective on the Pittsburgh force, commented apologetically in the primary four years ago, she said, she voted for Senator George S. McGovern of South Dakota. On Tuesday she plans to cast an unenthusiastic vote for Governor Wallace because, as she explained it, "I don't like the other ones."

Wide Range of Opinions
 A sophisticated political analyst could make much of a former McGovern voter shifting to Mr. Wallace but no analyst would get very far trying to fit the surprising, often original judgments of individual voters here into a conventional interpretation.

The South Side is an unusually stable neighborhood in that most people live within walking distance of where they grew up—but ring three doorbells and you stand an excellent chance of getting five or six distinct opinions on the same candidate or issue.

In any case, a new Wallace voter is a rarity, what is what former Wallace voters are not. "Wallace had his year," said George Yovetich, a steelworker. "At the time he was good, but I don't think he's good for the time now."

Older residents can still work up enthusiasm for Senator Humphrey and some speak of writing in his name. "Just like Humphrey, that's all," said John Pogorelec who retired from the Jones & Laughlin rolling mill six years ago. But younger people seem mostly indifferent or hostile to the Humphrey admirers, there were some who were ready to accept Jimmy Carter, the former Georgia Governor, as the best available choice.

In a curious sense, the primary here seems to boil down to a referendum on the Georgian, a contest between those who are inclined to vote for him and those who have developed feelings against him. Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Representative Morris Udall of Arizona, the leading rivals of Mr. Carter, appear to have made little impression.

On the South Side over the last few days, 12 of 37 residents interviewed at random said they would probably vote for Mr. Carter. They were five votes for Mr. Wallace, four for Mr. Udall and only three for Senator Jackson, who has predicted that he will put together a winning coalition in heavily unionized, ethnic neighborhoods like this.

Strong Carter Criticism
 The remaining residents were undecided, not voting or toying with the idea of a Humphrey write-in. Many expressed strong doubts about Mr. Carter. Indeed, the opposition to him was much more vehement than the support he aroused.

"He seems to me like another Nixon—sneaky," said Mary Lapata, the wife of a construction worker. "Every time I see him smiling, it seems to me it's an evil smile," said Ray Witman, a young steelworker who has been laid off. "There's something phony about that smile."

Support for Mr. Carter was generally expressed hesitantly and verbally festooned with doubts. "I like Carter but he's too mysterious," said Mr. Yovetich. "Carter? It's 50-50 with me, but I believe in giving the man a chance," said Elwood Tasillo, a house painter who would prefer Senator Humphrey but has no interest at all in the Jackson and Udall candidacies, which Humphrey supporters hope will block Mr. Carter's march to the nomination. Diversity of opinion was than in the reactions to Mr. Carter's "ethnic purity" slip.

The South Side is as ethnic as they come but not especially pure. Serbian, Croatian, Slovak and Polish, with some Germans, Italians and Irish mixed in, it has been proud of its patchwork heritage so long that even the younger people still call it a "League of Nations."

The candidate's remark aroused the "league's" strong and contradictory feelings about race, which are never far beneath the surface.

Charles Miller, a millwright at Jones & Laughlin and a Bronze Star winner in World War II, said he was "disgusted" when Mr. Carter apologized "to the coloreds—I lost interest in him right away for that." Mr. Miller is convinced that blacks are destroying American society and that politicians care only about the black vote, so he is withholding his own as a protest.

He even regards Governor Wallace as a "turncoat." The Alabama Governor now shakes hands with blacks, while only a few years ago, Mr. Miller said, Mr. Wallace chased blacks from his restaurant with baseball bats—an apparent confusion with former Gov. Lester G. Maddox of Georgia, who used ax handles for that purpose. Defying conventional logic, Mr. Miller said he would put these feelings aside to vote for Senator Humphrey if he entered the race.

A few doors away on the same street, Charles Totin, a 23-year-old Air Force veteran who has been unemployed for two years, said the remark sealed his mistrust of Mr. Carter. "I tend to see him as more of a racist," he explained. Across the street,

Mrs. Lapata echoed that concern.

But Stephanie Bachleda, a nurse who is voting for Governor Wallace because she would like to see the electric chair reintroduced, said she thought Mr. Carter was "for the colored." And Ray Effort, a fireman, said he would vote for the Georgian because he agreed with what Mr. Wallace "said about the niggers."

Not one of the workers who were interviewed said he had heard anything about the Presidential race from his labor union. Mr. Udall went to the Jones & Laughlin gate of the United Steelworkers local, James Comet, who supported Mr. Jackson in 1972 only to see the Senator get less than 2 percent of the vote on the South Side.

Now when Mr. Jackson comes to town, Mr. Comet said, he seems more interested in meeting with wealthy potential contributors than union leaders. Mr. Comet has been busy campaigning on behalf of an officer of his local who is running for Congress and, aside from his visit to the factory gate, has done nothing to advertise his support for Mr. Udall. "But if anybody asked me, I'd tell them."

In the absence of active campaigns or of any event that commands attention, the undecided vote on the South Side seems likely to drift off in all directions. Like the faintly sulfurous smoke that rises from the steel works, "I'm like free," Pete Losanovich, a young steelworker, said with a touch of amusement. "All these candidates have got to do is touch me and impress me a little and I'll be theirs."

Church Pins Hope on Nebraska Primary

By R. W. APPLE
 Special to The New York Times

AURORA, Neb., April 23—It was a dreumlike spring day in this town of 3,180 people in the wheatfields of the Great Plains. The sky was blue, the trees were budding, the bricks of the Victorian courthouse glistened in the sun, and there was a Presidential candidate on the bandstand.

Senator Frank Church of Idaho savored the moment, his jacket off, his shock of graying hair flying in the breeze. The last Presidential candidate to visit Aurora, he remarked as he assailed the Ford Administration's farm policies, was Wendell L. Willkie in 1940.

"He didn't win, either," grunted an elderly farmer with a cigar in his mouth.

Mr. Church, who entered the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination only last month, has encountered some of that kind of skepticism in a three-day trek across Nebraska, whose primary May 11 will be his first test.

But he has also evoked enthusiasm to suggest that he has an outside chance of winning the kind of showing he needs here to get his campaign off the ground.

To Build Momentum
 The 51-year-old liberal said in an interview that he needed at least a second-place finish in Nebraska's preferential primary, and needed to elect some delegates in the separate caucus to build the momentum to raise the money to run in Oregon, Montana and California.

"We have a chance to turn this campaign around," he argued at a headquarters opening in Grand Island, "by winning the primaries that will make the final impression."

The collapse of the Nebraska effort of Representative Morris K. Udall of Arizona, whose constituency Mr. Church hopes ultimately to inherit and expand, will benefit the Senator's campaign here. Mrs. Frank Morrison, wife of a former Governor who has been Mr. Udall's main champion in the state, traveled with Senator Church this week, and Mr. Morrison praised him so hugely that some Nebraska newspapers construed his comments as an all-out endorsement.

Mr. Church said he had little hope of winning here, largely because of the national news media attention already lavished on former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia. His own bid, done by Joe B. Williams, a veteran local public opinion analyst, show Mr. Carter with a strong lead, the Senator said.

No Carter Campaign
 With the election only two and a half weeks away, Mr. Carter has yet to campaign here. Only $15,000 has been raised to date by his supporters, mostly amateurs, headed by Mrs. Jean Masurk, who met Mr. Carter when she was lobbying in Atlanta for the League of Women Voters in 1962.

of it for television commercials that have already begun running, according to Joe McCarter, his campaign manager.

Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who has the support of Gov. J. J. Exon and of key elements of organized labor in Omaha, has no visible campaign. His chairman, Norman Krivosha, who is Mr. Exon's lawyer, advanced the unusual argument that neither organization nor television advertising counted here.

"There's no point in sending out literature or opening offices," he said. "Jackson's well enough known here. It's up to the delegate candidates to do the job themselves."

The presence on the preferential ballot of Senators Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who were listed despite disqualification of candidacy, could present problems for Mr. Church. Because he has declared his availability, said Richard White, the state Democratic chairman, Mr. Humphrey might pull a solid vote.

Was Second in 1972

Mr. Humphrey finished second to Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, with 34 percent, in the 1972 primary. Nebraska Democrats, particularly those in the vast rural areas outside the only two large cities, Omaha and Lincoln, are often pictured as conservatives. Yet both Robert F. Kennedy in 1968 and Mr. McGovern in 1972 won here by combining the university and government vote in liberal Lincoln with "outstate" Nebraska while struggling in Omaha.

Mr. Church is trying to do the same thing. As he crossed the state this week from Scottsbluff to Omaha he promised a more consistent farm policy.

Ford Acts to Release Reagan Movies for TV

LOS ANGELES, April 23 (UPI)—President Ford, writing in a letter that Ronald Reagan's old Western movies have no bearing on the political process, has waived his rights to equal time, paving the way for television audiences to once again see the films.

Shortly after Mr. Reagan announced his candidacy for the Republican Presidential nomination earlier this year, the Federal Communications Commission ruled that the former actor's old movies and television shows could no longer be shown unless equal time was given to other candidates.

In a letter to Steve Weiss, of Adrian-Weiss Productions, which bought two of the movies, "Tennessee Partner" and "Cattle Queen of Monona," Mr. Ford wrote on April 20.

"Since the nature and content of these films do not relate to or affect the political process, I am willing to grant such a waiver of my rights of equal time provided under Section 315 of the Communications Act."

argued that the nation should be the "breadbasket of the world, not the cannon factory," and called for a restoration of ethics in government.

At almost every stop, unlike his rivals, he attacked President Ford's pardon of Richard M. Nixon and recounted in detail what he called the "horribly unlawful activities" of the Central Intelligence Agency and other agencies.

In the Republican primary here, former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California begins with the advantage of the state's extraordinary Republican conservatism, the degree of which is suggested by its two Senators, Carl T. Curtis and Roman L. Hruska, probably the most right-wing senatorial pair from any Northern state.

Opposing Views
 Mr. Ford has lined up the entire party establishment, beginning with the two Senators, but one neutral Republican, who has been traveling around the state, said this week. "The President is in bad shape." On the other hand, Lloyd Hooper, Mr. Ford's regional coordinator, said polls showed the President narrowly ahead of his rival in the popularity contest.

Whatever the outcome in that part of the voting, the delegate contests are sure to be contested. With the elimination of filing fees, no fewer than 110 delegate candidates pledged to Mr. Reagan and no fewer than 147 pledged to Mr. Ford will compete for only 25 delegate slots.

The winner, in all likelihood, will be whoever can focus his vote on a few delegate candidates, rather than having it widely dispersed.

Until this week, the Ford forces thought the greater prominence of some of their candidates—senators, legislators, former party chairmen—would solve the problem. But the Reagan forces have now chosen official states in each Congressional district, and hope to distribute blue palm voting slate cards to at least half the Republican electorate, according to Milan Bish, the state Reagan chairman.

"It's never been done here before," Mr. Hooper said. "I don't know whether it will work, but if it does we could be in real difficulty."

Reagan Gets Oklahoma Bid
OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23 (AP)—Ronald Reagan, who is challenging President Ford for the Republican Presidential nomination, will be the keynote speaker at Oklahoma's Republican convention May 15, a state party spokesman said today. Gary Blevins said that the state party had just received confirmation from the former California Governor. The party also expects Mr. Ford or a Ford aide to attend.

New Train Stops in Canada
WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Amtrak's New York-Detroit express will handle local passengers between Windsor, St. Thomas and Fort Erie, Ont., starting Sunday. Under the old systems, the train handled only international travelers at the three Canadian cities. The train will take on the name The Niagara Rainbow.

Will the European suit shape find favor with American men in the year of the Bicentennial?

Sunday in Part 2 of The New York Times Magazine

REPORT ON MEN'S WEAR

This comprehensive fashion report covers all the news in men's wear and answers some of the season's basic questions.

Will the summer of '76 see the return of the polo shirt and the walking short?

Will terry cloth come out of the closet (or the bathroom) long enough to be seen in sport coats?

Will we see a return to seersucker, striped cords, poplin and polished cotton?

Don't miss the answers in this 80-page spring-summer men's wear report Sunday.

Part 2 of The New York Times Magazine

New French C
 Higher armhole
 Tapered sleeve Fitted chest Fitted waist
Very viri
 Custom made
 $15.00 to $26
 Custom minimum: any NEW!
 Custom Made Suits
 Imported Fabrics $45 to $95
 Cut and styled to your individual measurements
 American Express/Travelers
 1000 5th Ave. 10th fl. New York, N.Y.

The Custom Shop
 1000 5th Ave. 10th fl. New York, N.Y. 10011
 Tel. 212-687-4300

TENNIS SPECIALISTS
 The most complete stock of rackets, sneakers, clothing and accessories...
Jesse Halper
 State & Tennis Shop
 Daily 9:30-6:30
 516 - 14th St. - 7-6979
 93 Carter Hill Rd., Great Neck

Will the European suit shape find favor with American men in the year of the Bicentennial?

Sunday in Part 2 of The New York Times Magazine

REPORT ON MEN'S WEAR

This comprehensive fashion report covers all the news in men's wear and answers some of the season's basic questions.

Will the summer of '76 see the return of the polo shirt and the walking short?

Will terry cloth come out of the closet (or the bathroom) long enough to be seen in sport coats?

Will we see a return to seersucker, striped cords, poplin and polished cotton?

Don't miss the answers in this 80-page spring-summer men's wear report Sunday.

Part 2 of The New York Times Magazine

April 20 1976

THE WORLD'S GREATEST STAGE AND SCREEN SHOW

RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL

SHOWPLACE OF THE NATION IN THE HEART OF ROCKEFELLER CENTER • 240-6000

The Great Easter Show

Robin and Marian

"Sean Connery and Audrey Hepburn are superb together."

JAY COCKS, Time Magazine

SEAN CONNERY AUDREY HEPBURN ROBERT SHAW

ROBIN AND MARIAN

PRODUCED BY MICOL WILLIAMSON

ON THE GREAT STAGE

THE WORLD-FAMOUS TWO-PART HOLIDAY PRESENTATION

Featuring "Glory of Easter" pageant... plus "MANHATTAN EASTER" produced by PETER GENNARO featuring THE ROCKETTES with special guest artists and the Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Will Irwin. Settings by John William Keck, costumes by Frank Spencer.

General admission seats available for each performance every day.

DOORS OPEN TODAY 10:15 A.M. • PICTURE: 10:45, 1:35, 4:34, 7:20, 10:09

STAGE SHOW: 12:40, 3:36, 6:35, 9:10 • DOORS OPEN TOMORROW 11:15 A.M.

"POWERFUL. AN ATMOSPHERIC TRIUMPH... ROMANTIC AND EROTIC."

—Richard Eder, N.Y. Times

"A WORK OF ART. ABSOLUTELY EXQUISITE."

—William Wolf, Cue Magazine

"IT IS MATURE, SOPHISTICATED EROTICA."

—Bruce Williamson, Playboy Magazine

Sarah Miles Kris Kristofferson

The sailor who fell from grace with the sea

THE CORONET

1, 2, 5, 7, 9, 11

Miss Niska to Do 'Pag' and 'Cav'

By RAYMOND ERICSON

Traditionally known as the ham and eggs of opera, Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" are customarily presented together in that order. Tonight at the New York State Theater, they will become eggs and ham—"Pagliacci" will be given first. Why the sudden and almost unknown reversal? Because the leading soprano roles in both will be sung by the same singer, a feat that is also fairly rare. The soprano is Maralin Niska, one of the New York City Opera's leading artists.

who normally sings such sympathetic roles as Mimì in "La Bohème," Tosca, Madama Butterfly and Violetta in "La Traviata," but who has also caused quite a stir for her portrayals as the decadent Salome in the Strauss opera and as Emilia Marty, the unaging 300-year-old heroine of Janacek's "The Makropoulos Affair." She has sung Nedda in "Pagliacci" many times, but Santuzza in "Cavalleria" will be a new part for her. It will be her 22d role with the company in nine years there.

Miss Niska came out of a 2½-hour rehearsal of the double bill Thursday afternoon, looking as beautiful as she does onstage and dashing around with as much energy as if she had just started the day.

"Actually I have sung Santuzza once before," she said in a brief interview. "I was still in school. I was 19. I could sing, but a music career was not something I had thought of yet. Two performances of 'Cavalleria' were being given, and they needed someone for the first Santuzza. They asked me to sing it, and I did. I was in the chorus for the second performance. I never thought I would sing it again."

What attracted her to the part now was the challenge of the double bill. The problem in singing Santuzza and Nedda successively lies in the different kinds of voice that are required. Santuzza, the jealous Sicilian woman abandoned by her lover, is usually sung by a soprano or mezzo-soprano with a voice that is big in the middle and low registers. The music carries the voice down for a heavy, gutty kind of singing, and it has the reputation of being a voice-breaker. On the other hand, Nedda, the flirtatious singer-dancer with a group of strolling players, calls for a high, lyric, relatively light voice.

Ballet: The Royal 'Swan'

Nureyev and Merle Park Are Splendid in Revised Version of 1974

By ANNA KISSELGOFF

It was another grand performance by the Royal Ballet on Thursday night, when Rudolf Nureyev and Merle Park led the cast in the first "Swan Lake" of the season at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Traditionally, the company's signature piece has been "The Sleeping Beauty." But as far as such 19th-century classics go, "Swan Lake" is not far behind, chiefly because for so many years the Royal Ballet presented one of the greatest Swan Queens of all. This was, of course, Dame Margot Fonteyn.

The production the Royal Ballet has brought along this time is the same hybrid, revised version it presented in 1974, after having dropped the previous production by Sir Robert Helpmann and Sir Frederick Ashton. There were no surprises there.

The gemlike Ashton pas de quatre was still retained in Act III as two years ago. The first act was shared by his lively opening waltz, Dame Ninette de Valois's choreography for the polonaise and Mr. Nureyev's own soliloquy of an adagio. The other acts followed along the lines of the "traditional" 1895 version.

If there was anything unconventional, it came in the wonderfully danced and idiosyncratic Odette-Odile offered by Miss Park. There is a fascinating glamour to the image she etches of Odette. It has the grandeur of a silent-movie queen—a grandeur that creates an emotional distance between herself and her partner but that is also utterly compelling.

Quite daringly, Miss Park also plays down the difference between Odette in Act II and the third act's impostor, Odile. Most would find this minimal contrast

Friends' Suggestion

"My friends said I should sing Nedda first on the double bill," Miss Niska said. "They thought it would be safer. I mentioned this to Julius Rudel (the City Opera's director), without really asking for it myself. He agreed immediately. I'm not sure yet whether it matters. I know that if you let the role carry you away emotionally, that can cause you vocal trouble. I believe that if I sing Santuzza on my own terms, I will be O.K. Anyway, when we go to Washington next week I'll be singing the double bill twice and in the regular order — Santuzza first."

A speculative, slightly amused look came into Miss Niska's eyes. "You know," she said, "Pagliacci" takes place in Calabria in southern Italy, just across the Messina Straits from Sicily. Nedda and her fellow players are touring there. Frank Corsaro, who staged the double bill for us, once had the whimsical notion of showing the "Pagliacci" troupe passing through the Sicilian village where "Cavalleria" takes place. Now, who knows what happens to Santuzza after her lover is killed. She was not old, she was not plain, or she would not have been able to attract her lover in the first place. Perhaps she became a Nedda."

Miss Niska laughed at her flight of fancy, said goodbye and fled.

O'Dwyer Formally Enters Race For Nomination for U.S. Senate

Continued From Page 1, Col. 2

battle it out in the later Democratic primary.

But he added quickly that he was not ruling out a primary fight, "because somebody might make me mad in the meantime."

For his long-expected formal announcement, Mr. O'Dwyer used a small, crowded room at the New York Hilton Hotel called the Nash Suite, for Ogdon Nash, the late wit and master of droll verse. Mr. O'Dwyer, known for a sharp and ready wit softened by his Irish brogue, declined to discuss issues at this stage, but he offered a few droplets of his own in response to questions.

When asked whether he preferred having former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia or Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota at the top of the Democratic ticket, he smiled broadly and quipped:

"That's a very, very impolitic question, and self-preservation suggests I not answer."

How about the "ethnic purity" of neighborhoods?

Mr. O'Dwyer also fielded that one effortlessly. "Every neighborhood is pure," he said.

In a serious vein, reading his prepared statement, Mr. O'Dwyer said that "bringing about the retirement of Mr. Buckley is of tremendous importance to all New Yorkers."

"The circumstances of his election six years ago," he said, "did not give us much hope that he would be committed to the basic needs of our people. I cannot say that he has done much during his tenure to reverse our early dismal expectations."

Mr. O'Dwyer, who will be 69 years old in late June, has run for a number of political offices since 1948: for the House of Representatives, for City Council and Council President, for Mayor and for the United States Senate.

With the support of the liberal and reform wings of the party, Mr. O'Dwyer won the 1968 Democratic nomination for the Senate but lost to the incumbent, Jacob K. Javits, Republican-Liberal, in the general election. In 1970, seeking to run against Senator Buckley, he was defeated in the primary by Representative Richard L. Ottinger, who then lost to Mr. Buckley.

Mr. O'Dwyer said yesterday that in 1965 he and Mr. Javits

Events Today

- Music
- NEW YORK CITY OPERA, New York State Theater, Lincoln Center, 8:00; "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Pagliacci," and "La Traviata."
- CONCORDIA COLLEGE CHORUS, Alice Tully Hall, Lincoln Center, 8:00.
- OUR BACH CONCERT, Alice Tully Hall, Lincoln Center, 8:00.
- SIXE NOMINE SINGERS, 52d Street, Y. V. Hall, at Lexington Avenue, 8:00.
- TRETTA, 125 West 46th Street, 8:00.
- THE MOTHER OF US ALL, 125 West 46th Street, 8:00.
- ERIC CAVALIERI, Hunter College Assembly Hall, 8:00.
- MARSHALL OF ISRAEL, folk group, Carnegie Hall, 8:00.
- STEVE REICH AND MUSICIANS, Town Hall, 8:00.
- HILLIARD AMERICAN OPERA CENTER, Hilliard Theater, Lincoln Center, 8:00; "Il Cardovano" and "Wesol's The Hundred Nights," 8:00.
- JOSEPH KARPENIA, guitarist, WBAI Free House, 235 East 64th Street, 8:00.
- HERBERT SWINT, pianist, Carnegie Recital Hall, 8:00.
- LOU LAY, soprano, and EP-NETTO GASCIN, Carnegie Recital Hall, 8:00.
- BROOKLYN PRILHARMONIA, Brooklyn Academy of Music, Lefferts Space, 8:00.
- MERLE HAGGARD, country music, Felt Forum, 7 and 10.
- Dance
- ROYAL BALLET "Swan Lake," Mason and David, 8:00.
- "Swan Lake," "Mababara and Dorelli," 8:00.
- "Ghi on Fira," "Avalanche," Brooklyn Academy of Music, 8:00.
- JEL TAKETI MOVING ARTS, Central of St. John the Divine, Amsterdam Avenue, 11th Street, 8:00.
- PEOPLE/DOROTHY WISLOCKY DANCE THEATRE, New Cunningham Studio, 25 Bethune Street, 8:30.
- A SPECTACLE IN SIGHT AND SOUND!
- WALT DISNEY'S FANTASIA
- AND
- WALT DISNEY'S ALICE IN WONDERLAND
- TECHNICOLOR
- Both Features Now Playing at Both Theatres
- CINEMA I 3rd Ave. at 52nd St. 11:00, 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00
- CINEMA II 3rd Ave. at 50th St. 11:00, 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 7:00, 9:00

STAY HUNGRY

SNEAK PREVIEW TONITE 9:10 a new film by BOB RAFELSON, the director of "Five Easy Pieces"

ART

8th St. East of 5th Ave. • GR 3-7014

"THE RIVER NIGER HAS DYNAMIC ENERGY."

James Earl Jones is so charged with vitality that the screen can barely contain him."

—Kathleen Carroll, New York Daily News

CREEV TYSON JAMES EARL JONES

THE RIVER NIGER

ON THE WEST SIDE ON THE EAST SIDE

LOEWS STATE 1 / THE FINE ARTS / UFA EAST

1045, 1245, 225, 415, 615, 815, 1015, 1215

12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10

"Hollywood porn is here... Right Now."

—Al Goldstein, Midnight Blue

"Misty Beethoven"

"A classic piece of erotica."

—Borden Scott, After Dark

WORLD 49th ST. 97th St. at 47th Ave. • Open 24 Hours

Lipstick

It isn't always an invitation to a kiss.

TECHNICOLOR

LOEWS STATE 2 LOEWS CINE

10, 11:30, 1:15, 3, 4:30, 6:15, 8, 9:45, 11:30

12, 1:00, 3:15, 5:30, 8:15, 10:15, 11:30

World Premier!

The first starring look of the SAGGY tortures and brutal pleasures of the...

Golden Boys of the S.S.

3rd SMASH YEAR! THE NEW YORK EXPERIENCE

THE HISTORICAL STORY OF NEW YORK CITY

10, 11:30, 1:15, 3, 4:30, 6:15, 8, 9:45, 11:30

FROM THE CREATORS AND STARS OF "TAXI DRIVER"

MEAN STREETS

"A TRIUMPH OF PERSONAL FILMMAKING."

—Pauline Kael, The New Yorker

EXCLUSIVE ENGAGEMENT

Coronet 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10

34th St. East

12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10

"I URGE YOU NOT TO MISS IT!"

W.C. Fields and Me

UNIVERSAL PICTURE TECHNICOLOR

CRITICUM 10:00, 12:10, 2:30, 4:30, 6:40, 8:50, 11:00

GOING OUT?

New York's Only FREE VINTAGE AUTO MUSEUM

SERVING FOOD AND DRINK!

TODAY BOB McALLISTER

TOMORROW O.T. ZAPPO

SUNDAY BRUNCH 4.95

GENERAL MOTORS BUILDING

5th Ave. at 90th 832-3322

Read next Friday's Times for the DEFINITIVE ANSWER to the problem that plagues us all.

The New York Times

Lar Lub

Annals is P...

Great Britain En...

THE GREAT BARNES

ham Offers a...

olin in His Vie...

Guido

LOOK LEARN

PTD

Original

Brookl...

ance: Lar Lubovitch nce of Attitude Is Puzzling As He ens Brief Brooklyn Engagement

By CLIVE BARNES

the young hopefuls in the dance world, Lar Lubovitch has just got to be puzzling. He has abundance, but they are never agglomerate into a serious thing, an argument. You are never sure where Mr. Lucolleague of Twyla Tharp. Who influenced whom perhaps no one will know—but the choreographic images of both are similar, and Miss Tharp handles them a great deal better. Slow motion accentuated by momentary frenzy, lean- ing bodies against a seem- ingly steel wind, frozen groupings and most of all that displaced, disoriented, disconnected emotion—all re- call Tharp, but without add- ing to the recollection.

...What do you want to do with this woman?

Mr. Lubovitch's new piece, "Session," looked like a poor man's "Chorus Line" with- out words or thought. Danc- ers are horsing around and camping it up at a rehearsal. Without, again, even the benefit of music. Why? Yes, dance rehearsals are some- times a little like that—but performances are not.

Graham Offers a Sonata in His Viola Recital players begin on both Wright was the helpful pianist in both the Brahms and the Mozart. In music where tone isn't really a factor—as in Bach's Suite in C, normally played on the cello—Mr. Graham was far more persuasive. This was music making of a precise, sensitive and convincing kind.

By JOHN ROCKWELL

And he handled his part in Emmanuel Ghent's "Entelechy II" neatly enough, too, but the piece itself had problems. This was a first performance, but essentially "Entelechy II" is the same work as Mr. Ghent's earlier "Entelechy," with the piano part transcribed for computer-ordered synthesized sound. Unfortunately, the basic ideas seemed rather unfocused, and the tape part was too much of an oddly altered piano; as if some violist's music sounds best when composers let the tools at their disposal shape whole new sorts of sound.

GOING OUT Guide

Remember "Back to Me?" Everybody does, not so easy to link Romberg song light opera—

11 A.M. on the steps of the school (one block east of City Hall), returning there for coffee. Tickets are $4.50, and $3.50 for children under 12 years.

GREEN ACRES Today and tomorrow, a free, 90-minute trek across Central Park will be led by Marshall Wershaw, former tour guide for the Museum of the City of New York. The group will meet at 2 P.M. at 72d Street and Central Park West, in front of the Dakota Apartments. The tour will stress Frederick Law Olmsted's design and construction of the park, which marks its 100th birthday this year.

TRANQUILITY The site of tomorrow morning's hour-long tour by the Adventure on a Shoestring unit will be a historic cemetery where such personages as Samuel Johnson, John Jay, and William S. Hart, Lida Montez, Henry Ward Beecher, and Peter Cooper are buried. The group will meet at 9 o'clock at the southwest corner of 55th Street and Seventh Avenue for a subway ride to the cemetery. The tab is $2. Reservations: CO 5-2663.

POTPOURRI The New York African Violet Society holds its annual spring show today from 2 to 5 P.M. and tomorrow from noon to 7 P.M. free at the Horticultural Society, 128 West 58th Street. The Edgar Allan Poe Cottage, a city landmark, re-opens for weekend visiting to- morrow from 1 to 5 P.M. and tomorrow from 1 to 5 P.M. at the Grand Concourse and East Kingsbridge Road, the Bronx.

An illustrated talk about New York Harbor in 1776 will be given tomorrow at 3 P.M. by Peter Drummond, a Columbia University student who has made a special study of 18th-century local maritime history. The place is the Long Island Historical Society, 128 Pierrepont Street in Brooklyn. Admission is $1.

For today's Entertainment Events listings, see page 00. For Sports Today, see page 23. HOWARD THOMPSON

Walter Reade Theatres TAKING OFF 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 THE RIVER NIGER 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 THE SAILOR WHO FELL FROM GRACE WITH THE SEA 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11 ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 MOSES 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 MEAN STREETS 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 JACK AND THE BEANSTALK 12, 1, 4, 5 TAXI DRIVER 3:30, 5:40, 7:50, 10 Special Midnight Show Tonight "ANGELS" NEW YORKER / 10 West 43rd St. Special Midnight Show Tonight "ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW" WAVERLY / 6th Ave. at 3rd St.

"AN EXHILARATING THRILLER." Supremely droll and graceful. The old Master Alfred Hitchcock is in the cheerful mood. IT'S A MOVIE TO RAISE YOUR SPIRITS! -VINCENT CANBY, N.Y. TIMES There's no body in the family plot. ALFRED HITCHCOCK'S FAMILY PLOT starring KAREN BLACK-BRUCE DERN BARBARA HARRIS-WILLIAM DEVANE Music by JOHN WILLIAMS - Screenplay by ERNEST LEHMAN From the novel "THE RAINBIRD PATTERN" by VICTOR CANNING Directed by ALFRED HITCHCOCK A UNIVERSAL PICTURE-TECHNICOLOR NOW at Universal Blue Ribbon Theatres

IF YOU'VE GOT AN APPETITE FOR LIFE: STAY HUNGRY a new film by BOB RAFELSON JEFF BRIDGES in "STAY HUNGRY" co-starring SALLY FIELD Directed by BOB RAFELSON Produced by HAROLD SCHNEIDER and BOB RAFELSON Screenplay by CHARLES GAINES & BOB RAFELSON Based on the novel by CHARLES GAINES Starts Tomorrow TRANS-LUX EAST 86th STREET EAST

"A terrific movie on every level." -BERNARD DREW, Gannett Newspapers REDFORD/HOFFMAN "ALL THE PRESIDENT'S MEN" A Warner Bros. Production - A Robert Redford - Alan Pakula Film

For the first time in 42 years, ONE film sweeps ALL the MAJOR ACADEMY AWARDS JACK NICHOLSON BEST PICTURE BEST ACTOR BEST ACTRESS BEST DIRECTOR BEST SCREENPLAY ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST

Adults who want to see a well made film with a BRILLIANT performance by Robert DeNiro will hail "TAXI DRIVER" COLUMBIA PICTURES presents ROBERT DE NIRO TAXI DRIVER NOW AT COLUMBIA PREMIERE THEATRES

"Bugs Bunny Superstar" NOW AT FLAGSHIP THEATRES

"Hilarious!" "The Bad News Bears" 3rd HIT WEEK!

"Breakaway funny." Paul Mazursky's "Next Stop Greenwich Village" ART CARNEY in "HARRY AND TONTO" NOW PLAYING AT A THEATRE NEAR YOU!

ELLIOTT GOULD-DIANE KEATON-PAUL SORVINO. I will. I will...for now. NOW PLAYING AT A SPECIALLY SELECTED THEATRE NEAR YOU!

"Salsa" JERRY MASUCCI presents A Film NEW EMBASSY 46th St.

"Raw Country" 5th RECORD BREAKING WEEK J. BRIAN'S

"The Light From The 2nd Story Window" DAVID ALMARE

"Grey Gardens" LAST DAY I've seen it four times.

"The Last Hard Men" NOW PLAYING AT FLAGSHIP THEATRES

Vertical text on the left margin: "I don't want to..." "What do you want to do with this woman?" "I don't want to..." "The New York Times"

Inca Co.

Opera: 'Lizzie Borden'

By ALLEN HUGHES

There is, presumably, operatic logic that makes sense of the way opera companies are run, but since outsiders are not privy to this reasoning, it is difficult, even impossible at times for them to understand why things happen as they do.

Take the case of the New York City Opera's revival of Jack Beeson's "Lizzie Borden." It was introduced at the New York State Theater on Thursday night, will be given a second performance on Sunday night and will disappear again to await another revival some years hence.

Is it reasonable to pay at least five, and probably more, dollars to learn and rehearse notes that they will do only twice and to incur all the other expenses that go with such a revival? If an opera is worth reviving, shouldn't it be worth more than two performances?

"Lizzie Borden," which was given its premiere in 1965 by the New York City Opera, definitely merited revival. Kenward Elmslie's libretto based on a scenario by Richard Plant treats the story of the Fall River, Mass., murderer of the 1850's with intelligence and insight, and Mr. Beeson's music is admirable in the second and third acts. In Act I, poor calculation and clumsy instrumentation cause important lines of the text to be obscured, but once this has been gotten through, the going for the listener is both easy and rewarding.

The big scene for the stepmother in Act II is beautifully built around a song she sings while accompanying herself, and the subsequent monologue for Lizzie is first-rate music theater. Act III may not reach these peaks, but it works from start to finish.

Only one member of this cast of six had appeared in the work previously. It was Ellen Faulk, who created the role of the stepmother. Her voice was generally steady and her characterization of the vain, mean-spirited woman was varied and volatile.

Eileen Schauler had the title role. Elizabeth Hynes made her company debut as Lizzie's sister, Edward Pierston was Lizzie's father, John Darrenkamp was Jason, and Jerold Siena was the clergyman. All handled their assignments skillfully, and Miss Schauler proved to be a commanding figure as Lizzie. Imre Pallo conducted and, after the balancing problems built into Act I had passed, he maintained an aptly scaled and nicely paced performance.

Peter Wexler designed the unit set, which incorporates a stairway used to good dramatic effect by the director, Nikos Psacharopoulos, and the handsome array of period costumes was designed by Patton Campbell.

Previews Today 2 & 8, Mon. 8, Opens Tues. 6:45

Robert Morse IN So long, 174th Street

A NEW MUSICAL COMEDY

CHANGE TICKETS BY PHONE
CHARGE: MAJOR CREDIT CARDS CALL: (212) 238-7177

For Group Sales Only Call: 733-2824 • TICKETS ALSO AT ALL TICKETBOX OFFICES 541-7282 HARKNESS THEATRE, 108 W. 43rd St. / 581-6000 adjacent to Lincoln Center

"MONTY PYTHON LIVE" IS ABSOLUTELY TERRIFIC, PURE ADULTERATED MADNESS...

IN PERSON
—CLIVE BARNES, N.Y. TIMES

MONTY PYTHON

"EXUBERANTLY BRIGHT AND WACKY."
—MARTIN DUTTOYER, N.Y. POST

"HILARIOUS!"
—ALLAN WALLACH, NEWSDAY

"It's better low high the low or low low."
"Monty Python Live" crosses it with just-propelled words. —T.J. KALEM, TIME

NEW YORK CITY CENTER

PRODUCED BY ARTIST CONSULTANTS

Film: Love-Death Western

THE LAST HARD MEN, directed by Andrew V. Lawton, screenplay by Gordon Fringon, produced by John B. Calvert, distributed by New York City Opera, is a musical comedy that is a far cry from the usual fare of the genre. It is a love-death western, a genre that has been tried before but never with such success.

The plot moves along with reasonable briskness for a while. The Navajo kidnaps the sheriff's daughter to lure the old man out into chasing him. Mr. Heston does, and there is a shoot-out filmed with the new ginseng—viz., each time a bullet goes in the front, sticky red stuff falls out the back. There is also an endless rape scene. It is shot in slow-motion to convey horror, but it only conveys somnolence.

Some of the chases are well done, particularly a night scene when the daughter tries to escape the bandits and is hauled back. I liked the dry performance of Michael Parks as the young sheriff who has more faith in his telephone than in old-fashioned shoot-outs. Otherwise, the film is heavy and pretentious. It is showing at Mann's National and other local theaters.

Charlton Heston is not bad as the retired sheriff who has little but contempt for this technologically minded successor, a young man who relies on the telephone to summon out the cavalry and goes to train robberies in a primitive automobile.

James Coburn is hopeless as the maddened half-breed who leads a gang of convicts into a jailbreak and forces them to follow him on his mission of killing the old sheriff. Mr. Coburn grimaces, shows his teeth, rolls his eyes and gorges his consorts. The plot moves along with reasonable briskness for a while. The Navajo kidnaps the sheriff's daughter to lure the old man out into chasing him. Mr. Heston does, and there is a shoot-out filmed with the new ginseng—viz., each time a bullet goes in the front, sticky red stuff falls out the back. There is also an endless rape scene. It is shot in slow-motion to convey horror, but it only conveys somnolence.

Vanessa Redgrave
Fat Hingle
John Heffernan

Henrik Ibsen's The Lady from the Sea
NOW THRU MAY 23 • ALL SEATS $8.95

CIRCLE IN THE SQUARE
CIRCLE-CHARGE 581-0720
300 West Street West of Broadway

BAM
Now thru Apr 25
Lar Lubovitch
DANCE COMPANY
all seats: $4.00

Change tickets to credit cards, call CHARGE! (212) 238-7177.

Tickets at BAM Box Office, A&S, Bloomington's, Tickleton, Duany's, Edison Theatre, Youniss, Gilman rush $2.50. 100 Dime Venues accepted. For information call 636-4100. "Foodstuffs" & attended parking avail.

Brooklyn Academy of Music
30 Lafayette Ave., Bklyn.

EDEN
THRU SUN. ONLY
TODAY 3:30 & 8:30
SUN. 2:30 & 7:00

ST. MARKS PLAYHOUSE OR 4-3530
133 SECOND AVE. (10th St.)
the Ensemble Company at The St. Marks Playhouse

פסטיבל האגש

האגש

"HAGASHASH OF ISRAEL"
LEIFED BROUGHTON
SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1976, AT 9:00 P.M.
TICKETS: $12.50, 10.50, 8.50, 7.50, 6.50.
AVAILABLE AT CARNEGIE HALL BOX OFFICE
110 W. 57th St. N.Y.C. 10019 (212) 247-7289
MAIL ORDERS ACCEPTED

THEATRE DIRECTORY

BROADWAY

THE BILLY BUXTON
A new musical by Scott Mansfield
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

ME AND BESSIE
A TREMENDOUS MUSICAL!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MONTY PYTHON LIVE!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

THE BROADWAY

THE BILLY BUXTON
A new musical by Scott Mansfield
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

ME AND BESSIE
A TREMENDOUS MUSICAL!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MONTY PYTHON LIVE!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

THE BROADWAY

THE BILLY BUXTON
A new musical by Scott Mansfield
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

ME AND BESSIE
A TREMENDOUS MUSICAL!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MONTY PYTHON LIVE!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

TODAY SATURDAY AT 10:30AM 3:00 & 8:00PM
SUNDAY AT 1:15 & 5:30PM
TUESDAY AT 10:00AM & 2:30PM

"ALONE IN ITS GREATNESS"

RINGLING BARNUM & BAILEY CIRCUS

Produced by Irvin Feld and Kenneth Feld • Staged and Directed by Richard Barker

NOW THRU MAY 31

USE THESE CREDIT CARDS TO ORDER BY PHONE CALL 594-4900.

For information call (212) 564-4400. Tickets at Garden Box Office and over 150 Ticketbox outlets. For location nearest you, call (212) 541-7290. Group rates call (212) 563-8080.

For mail order check or money order payable to Madison Square Garden, Inc. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope and $2.00 per order for handling. Please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.

madison square garden

NEW YORK CITY OPERA

LAST 4 PERFS!

TODAY AT 2:00 CARMEN Sold Out
TODAY AT 8:00 PAELIACHI Sold Out

SUN. APR. 25 1:00 THE BALLAD OF BABY DOE Waiting, Costa-Gavras
SUN. APR. 25 7:00 LIZZIE BORDEN Schauler, Faulk, Hynes, Pierston, Darrenkamp, Siena

Box Office open 12:00-8:00. Tickets are also available at Bloomington's, the Manhattan and Harkness. Casts and programs subject to change. Music & Hamlet in the official piano.

CHARGE! ORDER TICKETS BY PHONE WITH MAJOR CREDIT CARDS (212) 238-7177, (212) 422-2626, (516) 328-7272, (201) 323-6266

NEW YORK STATE THEATRE, LINCOLN CENTER / TR7-4727

"ONE OF THE MOST PURELY EXCITING COMPANIES IN THE WORLD — IT LEAPS WITH GRANDEUR."
—Clive Barnes, N.Y. Times

Today Mat. & Eve. & Mon. Eve.: SWAN LAKE

HURON presents

ROYAL BALLET

NOW THRU MAY 15 ONLY!

AMERICAN EXPRESS, DUKER'S & CARTE BLANCHE ACCEPTED AT BOX OFFICE. Tickets also at Bloomington's and Tickleton. For Details Call 541-7290. For mail order check or money order payable to Metropolitan Opera House, Inc. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope and $2.00 per order for handling. Please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE (212) 787-3880

ROYAL DANISH BALLET BOX OFFICE OPENS TOM'W 12 NOON

LAST WEEK!
TUESDAY 7:30 P.M. & 10:30 P.M.

GODSPELL
THEATRE TRUMPETS
B'way at 78th St.
Group Sales (212) 757-4298
U.S. & C. Credit Card Sales: 238-7177

The Birthday Concert
TO BE RECORDED BY WARNER BROS. RECORDS

ROD MCKUEN

Carnegie Hall

Only New York Appearance This Year!
SUNDAY, APRIL 25, 10:00 P.M.
Tickets: $12, $8, $5, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50

His first New York appearance followed the concert and four new songs from "The Black Eagle."

A Pittsburgh's Carnegie Music Hall, April 22nd and Philadelphia's Academy of Music, April 23rd.

"I HOPE IT RUNS FOREVER"
Edith Piaf, The New York

FUSCALOOSA'S CALLING ME

THE NEW YORK MUSICAL

Today 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.
Wed. 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.
Thurs. 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.

Original Cast Shows on Broadway Records (130) 75
CHELSEA'S WESTSIDE THEATRE
407 West 43rd St. (at 9th Ave.) 541-5415
STUDENT RUSH $2.00! see abc's for details

TODAY 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.
WED. 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.
THURS. 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.

LET MY PEOPLE COME

A SEXUAL MUSICAL

PHONE RESERVATIONS: 473-7270 / 473-3570
VILLAGE GATE
BLEECKER & THOMPSON STS.

TODAY AT 7:30 P.M.
WED. 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.
THURS. 7:30 & 10:30 P.M.

KURT WEILL
MAYNARD BRASCH
MAMA GAELS
24th Street at 5th Ave.
Lorraine Canal & Grand St.

BROADWAY'S ALL STAR CAST IN THE BIGGEST COMEDY HIT EVER!

RICHARD BENJAMIN PAULA PRENTISS DON MURRAY
ESTELLE BARRY CAROLE PARSONS NELSON SHELLEY

in the new comedy
THE NORMAN CONQUESTS
directed by ERIC THOMPSON

"FUNNY, FASCINATING, HILARIOUS!" —Clive Barnes, N.Y. Times

MOROSCO THEATRE 20 WEST 6TH STREET / 246-6200
SEE ABC'S FOR DETAILS

BROADWAY

THE BILLY BUXTON
A new musical by Scott Mansfield
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

ME AND BESSIE
A TREMENDOUS MUSICAL!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MONTY PYTHON LIVE!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

THE BROADWAY

THE BILLY BUXTON
A new musical by Scott Mansfield
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

ME AND BESSIE
A TREMENDOUS MUSICAL!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MONTY PYTHON LIVE!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MEYER
Theater

THE BILLY BUXTON
A new musical by Scott Mansfield
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

ME AND BESSIE
A TREMENDOUS MUSICAL!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

MONTY PYTHON LIVE!
Tues. 7:30 P.M. & 10 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Mon. 8 P.M. / Wed. 8 P.M. / Thurs. 8 P.M. / Fri. 8 P.M. / Sat. 8 P.M. / Sun. 2 P.M. & 7 P.M. / Tickets: $12, $10, $8, $7, $6, $5, $4, $3, $2, $1.50, $1.00, $0.50. Circle Charge: 238-7177

Art: Inca Conquers Spaniard in Peru

HILTON KRAMER are times in our art-culture when we ally think we have anything in the world
 if not at first hand, least in the form of phic reproduction — something comes at is at once totally or, and we realize and extremely dis-in this world.
 likely to be the ex-of many people who and should see — tion of 18th-century
 colonial painting,
 the Cuzco Circle, ended this week at for Inter-Ameri-ons, 680 Park Ave-57th Street. This is at once intensely and the visitor who it with a mind with the familiar Western European certain to suffer
 se of cultural ver-first encounter.
 imatic-medieval mannerist images,
 Christ and the Vir-Christian saints — present in these yet utterly trans-that we find in this fusion — and collorand the Indian, and of the Indian, and magical primiof the classic conventions of ating.

"Our Lady of Cochareas" by an unknown Peruvian painter of the 18th century, in the exhibition of "The Cuzco Circle," at Center for Inter-American Relations.

ings, "Flanders" and "Stable," but everything here upholds a high standard. This is a painter we are likely to hear a good deal more about. Through May 6.

Tom Wesselmann (Janis, 6 West 57th Street): The big tour de force in this show of Mr. Wesselmann's new paintings is big indeed: a "Still Life" of a keyring, a cigarette, a toothbrush and a gold and ruby (?) ring, measuring more than 32 feet wide. Executed in the painter's familiar Pop style, it would make a swell decoration for some posh apartment house lobby — the perfect picture to glimpse on the way to the elevator, but one that rather shrinks when examined head on.

The real emotion in the exhibition — and it is sometimes surprisingly ferocious — is to be found in the "Smoker" paintings in the back gallery. An open mouth larger than a doorway, smoke that billows into immense noxious clouds, grotesquely twisted lips, and polished finger nails larger than a man's hand — these are the images of these cropped-image, shaped-canvas pictures, and they sometimes (as in "Smoker No. 14") overwhelm. Through May 22.

day but Monday, noon to 6 P.M., and there is no admission charge.

Other exhibitions this week include the following:
 Susan Rothenberg (Willard, 29 East 72d Street): This is uncommonly impressive work by a painter having her first uptown solo exhibition. To say that it consists of paintings and drawings of horses would be literally correct, but somehow misleading. For it is the quality of the painting that is so impressive — the authority with which a highly simplified image is transformed into a pictorial experience of great sensitivity and even grandeur.
 The means are deliberately limited. The horses are seen in side-view silhouette, and color is limited to little more than black and white or sienna. Yet the painting is powerful, for it is the kind of painting that invests every area of the canvas with feeling without ever spilling over into Expressionist abandon. Image and surface, surface and emotion, process and result, are given an extraordinary unity and immediacy. My own favorites are the near-monochrome paint-

Pat Adams (Zabriskie, 29 West 57th Street): As an abstract painter who gave special care to developing a surface — and a pictorial space — that was finely worked, crowded with minute visual incident, yet gave one a sense of otherworldly distances, Miss Adams has generally been at her best in a format small enough to ensure a certain intimacy with the viewer. The many small gouaches in the present exhibition continue in this vein, though they give one a sense of greater openness and ease — an embrace of a larger world. The kind of intensely focused aerial space that appears in these pictures, a space full of Pointillist constellations of light and looping lines of color, is harder to sustain on the scale of a larger canvas, but in this show Miss Adams has produced two pictures — "At" and "In the Course of Being" — that brilliantly succeed. There is a formality and drama in "At," particularly — an opposition of hard-edge geometrical form and liquid, "infinite" space brought to harmonious resolution — that marks a real advance in her work. Through May 8.

ART

RED GROOMS
 and the Ruckus Construction Co.
 Present

Featuring:
 World Trade Center Brooklyn Bridge
 Statue of Liberty Dame of the Narrows
 Woolworth Building Wall Street
 Lexington Local Girls, Girls, Girls Street Light Book Store
 Tourists New Hong Lo Kitchen

Opening May 1, 1976

Marlborough

40 West 57 New York 541-4900
 LONDON • ROME • CUNNING • MONTREAL • TORONTO • TOKYO

WILDENSTEIN
 THE WORLD'S FOREMOST ART GALLERY

French
 Neoclassicism

A selection of neoclassical paintings, drawings and sculpture, including works by Ingres, David, Girodet, Géricault, Baron Gérard, Vigée-Lebrun and others

April 16 - May 15, 1976

Monday - Saturday 10:00 to 5:30

19 EAST 64TH STREET, NEW YORK

WALLY FINDLAY GALLERIES
 17 EAST 57TH STREET NEW YORK 10022
 New York, Paris, Chicago, Palm Beach, Beverly Hills

Proudly Present

A Prestigious Exhibition and Sale of Highly Important Fauve Paintings for Collectors featuring thirty rare works by

Georges Braque
 Charles Camoin
 Raoul Dufy
 Othon Friesz
 Henri Manguin
 Albert Marquet
 Henri Matisse
 Jean Puy
 Louis Valtat
 Vlaminck

through May 3

Hours: Mon. thru Sat. 9:30 to 5:30 (212) 421-5390

PACESETTERS IN ART SINCE 1870

Martin Gordon Inc.

Exhibition and Auction of 19th & 20th Century Prints & Photographs

at Hotel St. Moritz
 Central Park South
 (58th St. & 6th Ave.)

Exhibition dates:
 Friday, April 30 9:30 AM-5:00 PM
 Saturday, May 1 9:30 AM-5:00 PM
 Sunday, May 2 9:30 AM-5:00 PM

Auction begins promptly at 9:30 AM, Monday May 3

Martin Gordon, Auctioneer
 1000 Park Avenue
 NY, NY 10028 (212) 249-7350

Catalog available by mail or at exhibition $5.00

ART

Knoedler
Mark Tobey

Through May 1

fully illustrated 72 page catalogue with 9 color plates and an introduction by John Ashbery. $3.00.

21 East 70th St., N.Y. 10021
 628-0400 Open Tues.-Sat.

BONINO IN SOHO
 98 PRINCE STREET NEW YORK

BERNARD DREYFUS PAINTINGS-VOLUMES
 THROUGH MAY 15

ALFRED MAURER

Whistlerian Realist Expatriate Fauve American Cubist
 WORKS FROM 1900-1931

Through April 30th
H. Peter Findlay
 162 East 81st, 1-70-730-735-4667

LINDNER • MASSON • RODO BOULANGER
 KRUSHENICK • BEARDEN • ROSENQUIST
 GROSSMAN • ALECHINSKY • LAWRENCE
 BEARDEN • SOTO • AGAM • DALI • BELLMER
 BOULANGER • ... • ELMANN • KATZ
 MARINI • SUTHERLAND • ... • MASSON
 ANUSKIEWICZ • ... • ECHINSKY
 APPEL • ... • INDIANA
 KATZ • ... • DALI
 BOULANGER • ... • DALI
 MATTIA • ... • DALI
 CALDER • ... • DALI
 MARISOL • ... • DALI
 ANUSKIEWICZ • ... • DALI
 SUTHERLAND • ... • DALI
 VASARELY • ... • DALI
 ROSENQUIST • RIVERS • MOORE • TAMAYO
 TOBEY • LINDNER • WESSELMANN • APPEL
 MAN RAY • ALECHINSKY • ANUSKIEWICZ
 LAWRENCE • KRUSHENICK • GROSSMAN

Exhibition opens Saturday, April 24, 10 AM to 5 PM

Transworld Art

600 Fifth Avenue, N.Y. 10020 (212) 757-2700. Hours: Mon thru Sat, 10-5.

JASPER
 CONTEMPORARY ENGLISH IMPRESSIONIST

Mynott

CONTEMPORARY ENGLISH IMPRESSIONIST

42 EAST 57th PL1-8230

Art of the 20th Century
 FROM WILLIAMS COLLEGE ALUMNI COLLECTIONS

ALBERS DE CHIRICO MARIN
 BACON ERNST NEVELSON
 CALDER GRIS TOBEY
 CORNELL HOPPER WYETH

FINAL DAY

Hirschl & Adler
 GALLERIES INC.

21 East 67th Street New York 10021 (212) 435-8810
 Tuesdays-Fridays: 9:30 to 5:30, Saturdays: 9:30 to 5
 Fully illustrated 76 page catalogue: $5.90 postpaid

REYDOUN HOVEYDA

PAPIERS COLLES

ROQUES KAPLAN 19 E 71

MICHAEL OEW

ARTS TODAY

ARK 469 BROOME

Felicia EYER
 PAINTINGS
 Apr. 19-May 8
 at Rubin Gallery
 Madison (at 60 St.)
 2nd floor

Wickiser
 Lotus Gallery
 81 Spring Street

STUART KRISSEL at NORTH GALLERY
 Stone Sculpture
 From April 25th
 89 East Avenue
 Glen Cove, N.Y.

LEFEBRE GALLERY
 47 E 77
POL BURY

Every month an average of 8,600
 ads of farms, lots and acreage appear in
 The New York Times
 Classified Pages

It's the place to look for the property of your choice... it's the place to advertise for quick and profitable response.
 To order your classified ad, call (212) OX-5-3311 between 9 A.M. and 5:30 P.M. In the suburbs, call The Times regional office nearest you between 9 A.M. and 4:45 P.M., Monday through Friday, in Nassau, 747-0500; in Suffolk, 669-1800; in Westchester, WH 9-5300; in New Jersey, MA 3-3900; in Connecticut, 348-7767.

The New York Times

100TH ANNIVERSARY EXHIBITION
JULIO GONZALEZ
 THE PACE GALLERY 32 E 57 ST N Y 10022
 40 PAGE CATALOGUE WITH TEXT BY DAVID SMITH
 $6.00 P.P. - TAX WHERE APPLICABLE

Hans Hofmann
 The Years 1947-1952

André Emmerich Gallery
 41 East 57 Street

RICHARD POUSETTE-DART

RECENT PAINTINGS MARCH 31ST-APRIL 26TH 1976
 ILLUSTRATED COLOR CATALOGUE $8.50 P.P.O.

ANDREW CRISPO GALLERY
 11 EAST 27 STREET NEW YORK CITY 758-9990 2nd floor

ART

from exotic africa

Our collection of African art includes masks, figures, and objects of wood, metal, and other materials. The regular collection of the Pace Gallery includes a large number of African art objects.

bloomingdale's

1000 Third Avenue, New York. Open late Monday and Thursday evenings.

AFRICAN SPIRIT IMAGES AND IDENTITIES

THE PACE GALLERY 32 E 57 ST

TRIBAL ARTS

Wednesday, May 5, at 8:00 pm
Exhibition through Saturday, May

Tuesday through Saturday
10:00 am to 5:30 p catalogue: $3.95 via first class mail

AUCTION

393

393 West Broadway New York (212) 925-15

RISD

RHODE ISLAND SCHOOL OF DESIGN SUMMER SESSIONS

Pre College Foundation Program for high school students over 40 different workshops for college students and adults and a Fine Arts Workshop in Providence. For information write to: RISD, 2 College Street, Providence, Rhode Island 02903 (401) 531-3507, Ext. 242

20th CENTURY WORKS ON PAPER

MCKEE
140 East 63 Street (Barbizon)
N.Y.C. 682-5951

DROUOT RIVE GAUCHE

(Gare d'Orsay)
PARIS: 7 Quai Anatole France, 75007—Telex 270906

THURSDAY, MAY 6th, 1976—HALL No. 9 at 2:30 P.M.
LARGE SELECTION OF DRAWINGS by EDGAR DEGAS

IMPORTANT PASTEL "The Hairdo": (75 x 52 cm sketch of the National Gallery's painting

RARE PRINTS from artist's Workshop and NEPVEU-DEGAS Collection: standing horse in bronze from the collection of the heirs of Degas

Mr. Alain LEMEE
Appraiser

10 rue Rossini, PARIS Phone: 770-38-89

Experts:

Mr. Andre PACITTI 174 rue du Faubourg St-Honore, Phone: 225-34-29
Miss Denise ROUSSEAU 42 rue La Fayette, Phone: 770-84-50

Exhibition: Wednesday, MAY 5th 1976 from 11 A.M. to 6 P.M.

L. RICE PEREIRA

APRIL 17TH THROUGH MAY 15TH 1976

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE WITH AN INTRODUCTION ESSAY BY JOHN L. H. SAUR $2.50 P. PD.

ANDREW CRISPO GALLERY

11 EAST 57 STREET NEW YORK CITY 758-5890 2nd floor

Chagall Miró
30 original lithographs 30 original aquatints

Plus works by:
Calder • Cuevas • Dali • Folon
Friedlaender • Lam • Marino
Matta • Moore • Reynard • Tamayo
Zuñiga • and others

10 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday
Brewster Gallery
1018 Madison Avenue • N.Y.C. 10021
(between 78th & 79th Streets) Tel. 472-9481

To May 8

MARIO AVATI

Recent Mezzotints
A film on the artist and his work will be shown throughout the exhibition. Illustrated catalogue and price list on request.

ASSOCIATED AMERICAN ARTISTS
663 5th Ave. (Bet. 52 & 53 St.)
PL 5-4211 Mon-Sat, 10-6

HENRY MOORE SCULPTURE

EXTENDED TO MAY 22

Dorsky Galleries
111 Fourth Avenue
(between 17th & 17th St.)

THE "WILD BEASTS" Fauvism

and its Affinities

"A TERRIFIC SHOW" - N.Y. Times
"Everywhere one turns in this show, pleasure is celebrated... a splendid exhibition" - Time Magazine

"This exhibition can't fail to be a smash success. The very vices that horrified Paris in 1905 ('uncouth and naive' wrote one critic) have come to be regarded by succeeding generations as virtues" - Newsweek

Made possible by generous grants from SCM Corporation and the National Endowment for the Arts

The Museum of Modern Art
11 West 53 Street 956-7070

Don Milman's Manhattan

Oils, watercolors, drawings and graphics.

MARGO FEIDEN MONDAY-FRIDAY 10 A.M. TO 6 P.M.
GALLERIES SATURDAY NOON-6 P.M.

51 EAST 10TH STREET, N.Y.C. 10003
TELEPHONE (212) OR 7-5330
Mail and telephone inquiries invited

Claes Oldenburg
New Prints April 24-May 15
Opening Reception 10:00-11:00 p.m.

NYW
MULTIPLES

55 East 80th Street, New York Tel. 938-2200

THE AMERICAN SCENES OF

JOHN SLOAN

Through May 1

Kraushaar Galleries
1055 Madison Avenue
(Bet. 80 St.) Tues-Sat. 9:30 to 5:30

MUCHA
Exhibition and Sale of Over 35 Different Lithographs and Posters
April 28 to May 25
10:30-5:30, Wednesday-Saturday

AIAN BROWN GALLERY
68 E. Huntington Avenue
Huntington, N.Y. 10820
(914) 761-1421

KNOEDLER CONTEMPORARY ART
19 EAST 70
DAVID SMITH
PAINTINGS
LAWRENCE RUBIN: DIRECTOR

André Fauteux
Exhibition ends April 28

Deitcher O'Reilly Galleries
35 East 67 New York 879-3560

PLAZA
Art Galleries, Inc.
ESTABLISHED 1916
406 E. 79th STREET
NEW YORK 21 • TR 9-1100

AUCTION
Thurs., April 29th
at 8 P.M.

19th & 20th CENTURY LITHOGRAPHS
By Various Artists
From the Collection of Igor M. Ateller
With Additions

ON VIEW: April 26-9 A.M.-4:45 P.M.
Thurs., April 27-9 A.M.-7:30 P.M.
Wed., April 28-9 A.M.-11:45 A.M.

Gallery Closed
11:45 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.
Except Sale Days

E. P. W. H. & W. E. O'REILLY
Auctioneers

OLD & NEW PRINTS
SIGNED GRAPHICS

DALI

& ALL MAJOR ARTISTS
AMERICAN, AUDUBON MEDICAL, COLLEGES
GOLF, TENNIS
LEGAL, TRADES

PUBLISHER DALI GRAPHICS

DALI COLOR CAT. $1.50 FOREIGN $3

PHYLLIS LUCAS GALLERY
981 2nd AVE (52 ST)
NEW YORK CITY 10022
PLAZA 5-1516

Elaine Lustig
Denise Cohen
6/1/57

Morihiro Miyazaki presents
Costumed Works by Stephen Varble
April 10 to 30, 1976, 11 to 6 pm daily
176 Franklin Street
Below Canal between Greenwich & Hudson
966-3637

nudes and flowers
DUFY
LUBIN
ROSS
VENTEN

THE Eric GALLERIES
61 E. 57 • 371-9270

*****Special Show***** Paintings, Drawings and Sculptures by 20 ARTISTS entitled
"Dreams, Myths & Imaginary Landscapes"

THRU
MAY 7

ML GALLERY
OF FINE ARTS
58 East 7th Street
New York, N.Y. 10003
NON-PROFIT • TAX DEDUCTIBLE

CATHEDRAL
2111 68th St.
795 B'WAY, N.Y.C.
10th & 11th Sts.

AUCTION
MAY 1, SAT. 10:30 A.M.
EXHIBIT FRI. APR. 30, 10 A.M.-5 P.M.
25% CASH DEPT. & C.O.D.
NO CREDITS

JEWELRY
STAMPS & COINS
TO BE SOLD PROMPTLY AT 12:30 A.M.

AUTOGRAPHS WEAPONS
DOLLS
ANTIQUES

For details See Our Ad Tues., Sunday, Apr. 25, Section Section 7
B. BREN, Auctioneer
(212) 229-0000

GRUENEBAUM

MARWAN

FIRST EXHIBITION
IN THE U.S.A.

APRIL 7 TO MAY 1
9:00AM-6:00PM
Tuesday-Saturday

25 East 77th Street
(212) 249-9868

Dear Art Public:
There is historic precedent for establishment disregard of new art forms. Time passes. Suddenly the inner circle opens and admits a new aesthetic. An art "star" has arrived.

Last year photography, this year folk art, next year, who knows? We know. We know there is a groundswell of creativity surrounding the art community. It expresses itself in clay, glass, fiber, wood and metal.

We encourage artists working in these materials, and regularly exhibit their work. We ask that you come and see our shows each month.

Theo Portnoy Gallery
58 West 57th Street
New York, N.Y. 10019

THE BARBER IS A LADY presents paintings by IOANNIS
GLYKOKALOS

Opening: April 25 - June 13, 1976
308 East 71 St. near 2nd Ave.
Mon.-Sat. 11 A.M. to 7 P.M.

THRU MAY 8

BARKLEY
HENDRICKS
New Paintings

ACA GALLERIES
25 E. 73

BYRON BROWNE
"The Nude"
DRAWINGS 1928-1961

GRAPHICS BY AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN MASTERS
THROUGH MAY 22, 1976
HOURS: TUES. SAT. 1-5 P.M.
AND BY APPOINTMENT

SUMMIT GALLERY
101 WEST 57th St.
SUITE 2D/586-6734

Pots, Planters, Jars, Sculptures, Toys, Jewellery, Glass, Kites, Etc. etc. etc.

BOB POYARI contemporary crafts gallery

LOUIS & DIANNE MENDEZ
FLORIDA (Orange City) N.Y. 10921
55 rd N.W. of Goo. Wash. Bridge
Exit 124A or 126 on Rt. 17
Thurs. 10:00 Sun. 10:00 Wed. 10:00
914-851-7418

LORE
original jewelry
Jewelry with Ancient Stones and Jades ancient art ethnographic art

145 Lexington Ave NYC at 92nd Street 534-2231

Philip Aziz
Through May 15

David Findlay
384 Madison Gallery

Pat Adams
Paintings
Zabriskie
29 West 57

Cavallon

AM SACHS
29 West 57 Street

THE AMERICAN CUBISTS
THROUGH MAY 1
WALKOWITZ, HANFORD, WEBER, CARLES, DICKINSON, HAN RAY

SID DEUTSCH
43 EAST 80 ST. 361-4429
TUES.-SAT., 10-6

AMERICAN ART
THE BASIC YEARS
1925-1945
LARCADA 23 E 67

MIDTOWN GALLERIES
PAUL CADMUS
SELECTED WORKS
April 13-May 8
11 E. 57 St. N.Y.

SECOND STORY SPRING STREET SOCIETY
167 Spring Street NY 10012
925-5110
DIDIER & WAITS
paintings, sculpture & objects of art
April 24-May 13

David Roth
Robert Elkon Gallery
1063 Madison Avenue

AG BLACK
watercolors and
ALONZO • 26 E 63

Betye Saar
Monique Knowlton, Inc.

Ralph HAMILTON
SIX PAINTINGS
APRIL 24-MAY 19
CLOVELLY LANE GALLERY
548 La Guardia Pl. N.Y.C.
(212) 472-0554

IMPORTANT SCULPTURE & PAINTING
Staeppfli
47 E 77, NYC

SEEKING SCULPTURE
Aluminum height 6'
For exterior wall of building
Ferrous or non-ferrous metal 215-743-7315

D. CLARK
PAINTINGS
April 20 - May 8
BODLEY • 1063 MADISON

Chew, left, presiding over the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Abolition Society in Philadelphia. The society was founded in 1775, mainly by the Quakers.

Abolition Society, 201 Years Old, Holds Annual Meeting Out of Force of Habit

L. SHENKER
New York Times
PHILA., April 22—The Pennsylvania Abolition Society, founded in 1775, held its 201st annual meeting here today.

about it. It regards records of the past as precious. It was 1775 when some public-spirited men, mainly Quakers, moved by theology and stilled by compassion, constituted themselves the group that became "the Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery; for the Release of Free Negroes Unlawfully Held in Bondage; and for Improving the Condition of the African Race." They demanded to know how men could be infuriated by a stamp tax and yet accept the confiscation of all a man's earnings as well as his liberty.

"Yes, you have done a great deal for the Negro," Frederick Douglass, a former slave, told the gathering. "But the world has never seen any people turned loose to such destitution as were the four million slaves of the South. Free State to hunger; the winds and rains of heaven; free to the pitiless wrath of enraged masters."

The society's present at the city of Philadelphia, in a rooming house, was presided over by the society's president, Benjamin Franklin, and Benjamin Rush as one of two secretaries. Thomas Paine, John Jay, Noah Webster and Lafayette joined, too. Other states founded similar societies, and the first American convention was held here in 1794. It recommended orations to awaken a sense of horror about slavery, and proclaimed that "freedom and slavery cannot long exist together."

In 1787 the society, no longer almost exclusively Quaker, named Benjamin Franklin as its president and Benjamin Rush as one of two secretaries. Thomas Paine, John Jay, Noah Webster and Lafayette joined, too. Other states founded similar societies, and the first American convention was held here in 1794. It recommended orations to awaken a sense of horror about slavery, and proclaimed that "freedom and slavery cannot long exist together."

Acrimonious Debate
The first years of this century brought difficulties in mustering quorums, acrimonious debate about meager assets, and proposals for dissolution. But the inertia of life was stronger. Seeking an outlet for energies and a motive for survival, the society continued to contribute toward black education and worked on its own history. It studiously neglected to abolish itself. When the meeting today considered the paradox of survival, one member suggested that if the society went out of existence, the state would get the organization's assets, valued at $103,581.41. "So we just go on," he said.

Tens of Thousands March in Boston Rally Against Violence

about 11:30, and were immediately swamped by photographers as the march began in generally cheerful confusion. A flag honor guard from the Fire Department made sporadic attempts to blunder into the line of march, but was quickly surrounded by police and urged to stand back. Finally, police motorcycles cleared the way.

procession were construction workers in hard hats. Some had been left off with pay from their jobs building a new high school in the black section of Roxbury, where construction was shut down for the day.

Building security guards rushed outside with the box and there it was found. Ambulances and fire trucks sped to the scene. The police bomb squad gingerly pulled the box open with a long rope. It contained the empty cylinder from a Xerox machine, which resembled a pipe bomb.

LOUISIANA YOUTH IS DENIED 2D TRIAL

Black Faces Electric Chair on May 1 in Slaying

Special to The New York Times
HAHNVILLE, La., April 22—Gary Tyler, a 17-year-old black youth sentenced to die in the electric chair on May 1 for allegedly killing a fellow student in an outbreak of racial fighting at a high school near here, was denied today a motion for a new trial.

Judge Ruche J. Marino, who presided at the youth's trial last November, turned down the request for a second trial to hear "newly discovered evidence" at the close of a two-and-a-half-day hearing. The hearing was held in the St. Charles Parish (County) Courthouse in this small town 25 miles upriver from New Orleans, in the same courtroom where the Tyler youth was convicted. An all-white jury had found him guilty of first-degree murder, a verdict that under certain conditions carries a mandatory death sentence in Louisiana.

After Judge Marino announced his decision, several women joined in a small scuffle, crying, "racists." The judge ordered spectators to leave the courthouse singly and to vacate the courthouse grounds. Sheriff's deputies and state policemen, with rifles and police dogs, were stationed as the Tyler youth was escorted to a helicopter to take him back to the state penitentiary at Angola.

Black legislators as well as civil rights activists in New Orleans have argued that the November trial had "racial overtones."

Louisiana's capital punishment law is one of five such state laws on which a ruling by the United States Supreme Court is awaited. The evidence at the hearing focused on the credibility of the testimony of Natalie Blanks, a 16-year-old girl who was riding the bus with the Tyler youth on Oct. 7, 1974, when 19-year-old Timothy Joseph Weber, who was white, was shot in a crowd of students at Destrehan High School near here.

Miss Blanks testified at the trial last November that she saw the defendant fire a pistol out a school bus window but recanted that testimony a few weeks ago, saying that she had been coerced into testifying for the prosecution. At the hearing, the girl, described by her lawyer as having "a nervous mental condition," said that she had seen "nothing" on the school bus that day, that she had seen no one firing a pistol, and that, later on, policemen tried "to put words in my mouth."

Testifying in a barely audible and hesitant voice, Miss Blanks said she had read her entire testimony at the Tyler trial from "a paper" placed on the floor of the witness stand. Prosecution attorneys introduced a succession of witnesses who testified that Miss Blanks had not been reading from "a paper" and that she had not been coerced into testifying.

Judge Marino said that Miss Blanks' assertion that she had read her testimony was "preposterous," that no medical evidence was introduced at the hearing to disqualify her testimony for psychiatric reasons that she had been coerced.

Jack Peebles, a defense attorney, said that he would appeal the denial of his motion for a new trial to the Louisiana Supreme Court, which had ordered the hearing on the motion before ruling on a pending appeal of the Tyler conviction.

Man Gets Two Life Terms
SEATTLE, April 23 (UPI)—Edward A. Mead, 34, has been sentenced in King County Superior Court to two consecutive life terms for shooting at policemen in the attempted robbery of a bank in Tukwila, Laury. The robbery was attempted by a group that called itself the George Jackson Brigade.

Art: French Neoclassicism Without the Arguments

By JOHN RUSSELL

French painting between David and Delacroix has been one of the hottest things in art history since the beginning of the present decade. Revisionism is rampant in nature in Robert Lefevre's "Seated Woman in White."

The little show of "French Neoclassicism" at Wildenstein's, 19 East 64th Street, is not intended to argue any particular case, but simply to bring out a selection of paintings, drawings and sculptures from the gallery's own holdings.

As might be expected, it is strong on gracious living. If you are lucky enough to own some first-rate French furniture, Wildenstein's has the small marbles and the small terra cottas that would thrive in its company. (The Metropolitan Museum has just acquired, coincidentally, a group of French terra cottas; they will be on view there through Oct. 31.)

Neoclassicism is not, however, primarily a matter of small decorative objects. It has to do with heroism, with turbulent feelings that demanded new modes of expression, with the passion for truthfulness about human relations that had come in with Jean-Jacques Rousseau and with the fascination of far countries and unspoiled non-European societies. It also has to do with the use of emblem and symbol, allegory and cultivated allusion.

No one room could be enough for all this. But a close look will reveal something of the noble candor of J.-L. David in Francois Andre Vincent's "Woman with a Kerchief," Girodet's "Funeral of Atala" speaks for the time when Chateaubriand dominated the French imagination. There is something wonderfully droopy and absolutely of her time about the soulful diaries who commences with nature in Robert Lefevre's "Seated Woman in White."

Other exhibitions include: Jacques Villon (Roy R. Neuberger Museum, Purchase, N.Y.); it was in the 1950's that Jacques Villon began to be spoken of as a major European painter. Prizes really counted for something then, and he won first prize at the Carnegie International in 1890 and the grand prize for painting at the Venice Biennale in 1896. As he was born in 1875, the consecration could not be called premature, but Villon had for many years been somewhat in the shadow of his two brothers, Marcel Duchamp and Raymond Duchamp-Villon.

He was known as a print maker, but print making as such was not then ranked as high as it is now. (Villon in the 1920's supported himself by making color aquatints after paintings by Cézanne, Bonnard, Duchamp and others. What might have been mere drudgery was turned by his unselfish nearness into something altogether higher and finer.)

He was also known as a thinker and a theorist, though one who preferred to live out his thoughts rather than to put them down on paper. In 1913 he was prominent in a group that included Gleizes, Metzinger,

Kupka, Picabia, Léger, Le Fauconnier, and Guillaume Apollinaire, and in 1913 he chose the name ("Section d'Or") under which the Cubist members of the group exhibited together and brought out one issue of a magazine.

But he could have done all these things and never painted a beautiful picture. Just what he could do with paint is made clear in the show of 165 paintings, drawings and prints by Jacques Villon on view at the Neuberger Museum in Purchase through May 23. It is a monumental affair, which was initiated at the Fog Art Museum and has been made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Council for the Arts in Westchester.

Prof. Daniel Robbins and six of his students joined with a whole phalanx of other enthusiasts for Villon to produce the catalogue, which at $15 is both handsome book in itself and a storehouse of academic insights. (Someone in that French-American phalanx ought to have known, however, that Gide's "Si le Grain ne meurt" is not a novel but an autobiography.)

Throughout his career—or at any rate from 1912 onward—Villon produced from time to time the kind of knotty, heavily plotted and densely significant painting that gains by sustained elucidation. The exhibition now in Purchase includes many such canvases, and the art-historical mangle works overtime to straighten them out. Villon touched the art of his time from his first beginnings; the turn-of-the-century prints with their delicious mingling of Art Nouveau linearity with a notably resourceful erotic content. And he stayed close to it, alike in his scientific researches into color, his awareness of the kinetic experiments to which Marcel Duchamp gave such a delicious nonchalance and his determination to give a renewed probity and an incorruptible exactitude to the practice of landscape painting.

In his search for a complete formal stability he would try anything, follow any idea to its logical conclusion, raid sculpture and geometry for their unexplored potential, and return over and over again to what had been since long before 1914 one of the great subjects of French painting: the effects of the industrial revolution on French landscape.

What became of all this is too complex to be summarized here. But we learn at Purchase that Villon's conscientious labors were crowned in 1959 by a series of paintings of giant cranes unloading boats in the Seine near Rouen. Manner and matter are here ideally matched, and the man who for much of his career was one of the uncomplaining foot soldiers of art got to ride in triumph.

Pat Steir (Fourcade, Droll Inc., 36 East 75th Street); Pat Steir works in a terrain of her own devising, midway between drawing and writing. Sometimes what she writes make perfect and patient sense; sometimes she ducks below the level of literacy, only to get back up again before we expect it. Sometimes the marks on the paper function quite straightforwardly as drawings, so that the element of reading can be discarded altogether. So it's a show that operates successfully on several levels at once, and it's there through May 8.

ART

REYNOLDS BEAL
(1867-1951) to April 24
Illustrated catalogue available
HAMMER galleries, 51 east 57th new york 10022, 758-0409
open monday-saturday

LAURA GRISI
HYPOTHESIS ABOUT TIME
24 APRIL-15 MAY
LEO CASTELLI
420 WEST BROADWAY

Jean Hélon
Spencer A. Samuels
18 East 76 New York (212) 988-4556
Gallery hours: Tuesday to Saturday, 12 to 5:30

MARGARET ISRAEL
SCULPTURE & PAINTINGS
THROUGH MAY 1

BESIKA
LAST DAY
Graham
1014 Madison Avenue
Telephone: 535-5767

Fontainebleau Gallery
897 Madison Ave. (at 72 St.)
Diaghilev & Russian Stage Designers:
A. Benois
Dobuzhinsky
Ere Gontcharova
Larionov
Soudeikin
Sovini
Tchelitchev
M. Maclet
Gall
M. Ferrieres
Wasserberger
Sewerin
Guerin
Holesch
Moldovan
Antossov
& many others

Judy Fiskin
Desert
Photographs
through May 1
Castelli Graphics
4 East 77th Street

Joyce Kozloff
April 17 to May 6
Tibor de Nagy
29 West 57th Street
212/421-3780

LELAND BELL
thru May 15
SCHOELKOPF
825 Madison Avenue

Jim Dine Graphics
1966-1975
Gimpel & Weitzenhoffer
1040 Madison Ave

Ida Kohlmeyer
Through May 1
David Finlay
984 Madison Galleries

CAJORI
drawings
ingber gallery
3 east 78 nyc

APRIL 8-MAY 1
JOCHEN SEIDEL
"WORD DRAWINGS"
MARTHA JACKSON
32 EAST 69 NEW YORK

SCULPTURE CENTER
167 EAST 69 ST.
NON OBJECTIVE
FORMS IN SCULPTURE
THRU MAY 5
Tues-Sat. from 11 to 6

THRU MAY 9 Wed-Sat. 12-5
SANDRA GROSS
TEXTURAL & COLLAGE
PAINTINGS
CENTRAL HALL GALLERY
PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y.

THRU MAY 1
TERESHKO
Recent Paintings and Drawings
LERNER-HELLER
789 MADISON AVE., N.Y.

PETER PLAGENS
NANCY HOFFMAN GALLERY
429 WEST BROADWAY
NEW YORK 10014-6676

Modern Masters
European and American (in various media) thru May 6th
Send for free brochure
CHILD'S
169 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

APRIL 8-MAY 1
LOUIS COMTOIS
RECENT PAINTINGS
MARTHA JACKSON
32 EAST 69 NEW YORK

ENGLISH SPORTING MARINE & PRIMITIF PAINTINGS
18th and 19th Centuries
Last two days (24-25) 50% off all prices: The Manhattan Art Center, The Vermont Gallery, 1050 2nd Ave.
753-9784

CARTOONS
BOOTH
NICHOLLS GALLERY
1014 Madison Ave

bill MARTIN
NANCY HOFFMAN GALLERY
429 WEST BROADWAY
NEW YORK 10014-6676

THRU MAY 7
FRED CHANCE
AVANTI -145 E 72

Joel Perlman
André Emmerich
420 W Broadway

PHOENIX
Lockspeiser
Recent Paintings
To May 7
939 MADISON (74th Street)

L.L.Bean

Nylon Shell For Men and Women

Ultra light, all weather, sports jacket of tough, tear-resistant nylon. Water repellent and washable. Front zip up to form hood, two chest side pockets, drawstring at bottom. Can be folded into neat pocket and slipped into leather slings. Men, Lg. Colors: Navy, Powder Blue, Yellow, Red, Maroon. Women, Med., Lg. Colors: Navy, Yellow, Olive, Red.

Send Free Catalog

Ship: Ladies Nylon Shell @ $12.50 post. Color: Size

Ship: Men's Nylon Shell @ $12.50 post. Color: Size

Card No. Exp. Date

Name: Street: City: State: Zip:

Outdoor Sporting Specialists
L. L. Bean, Inc.
800 Main St., Freeport, Maine 04932

Issue and Debate

The National Gamble on Flu Vaccination

By HAROLD M. SCHMECK JR.
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 23—The flu vaccination program that began Wednesday with ceremonial, but real, shots in the arm for two ranking Federal health officials will be larger and more intensive than any other in the nation's history.

This huge effort to vaccinate most of the population against swine influenza was planned on remarkably short notice against a public health threat that is potentially grave but far from proved. In such a situation questions are much easier to ask than to answer and conditions are ripe for debate and polemic.

The objective is a nationwide program to give as many Americans as will accept it a shot of vaccine against swine influenza before the expected flu season next winter.

The reason for trying this year is that Government flu experts believe they may have a more than six-month advance warning of the next major change in the flu virus. They say it would be foolhardy to ignore such a warning and that delay would make the program irresponsibly too little and too late.

Some critics charge that warning is unproved and unconvincing and that the national program could be hazardous as well as unnecessary.

Unlike most viruses, those of flu seem to change somewhat from year to year and to change a lot about once a decade.

When a big change comes, it leaves most people unprotected because the antibodies they have developed against past waves of flu are not primed to recognize and combat the new model.

The worst of these changes in modern history produced the pandemic of 1918-19 in which 20 million people died, more than 500,000 of them in the United States.

A brief outbreak discovered about two months ago at Fort Dix, N. J., provided a strong hint that another big change in the flu virus might be at hand. The outbreak affected more than 500 persons and caused one death. Adding an extra note of drama to the discovery of this new virus was the fact that it appeared to be almost the same as the virus that is believed to have caused the 1918 pandemic.

This is the swine influenza virus, so called because for the last 50 years or so it has regularly caused flu-like illness in pigs but has left humans alone. No one knows whether the new swine flu virus found at Fort Dix will behave at all like that of 1918.

The really important thing, according to specialists, is that the Fort Dix outbreak shows that this is a virus that can spread from person to person and that it is a virus against which most Americans have no antibody protection.

After the discovery in February, the nation's leading experts on influenza and vaccine production were called together in a series of urgent meetings by the two Federal agencies most concerned—the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta and the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Biologics in Bethesda, Md. Between the meetings, there was much discussion and polling of expert opinion by telephone.

The product of all this was a recommendation to President Ford for an all-out campaign to make swine flu-type vaccine available to all Americans.

It was the first testing in humans of vaccine against this newly discovered swine influenza-like virus that began Wednesday. The first two shots were administered to Dr. Harry M. Meyer Jr., head of the F.D.A. Bureau of Biologics, and Dr. Theodore Cooper, Assistant Secretary for Health in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

As to the costs of administering vaccines nationwide, many states and localities have already complained that the effort will cost far more than Federal funds will cover and that even totally voluntary programs cost money. Administration health spokesmen say a program totally paid for by Federal funds was never intended, but that more money will be requested from Congress if it proves warranted.

The Outlook

Probably the most unanswerable question of all is ### whether the program is really needed.

Those who made the decision made it quickly because they felt they had to. They had one confirmed outbreak of the new flu virus, but only one. Will it really be the next pandemic strain?

No one knows. The public health experts who made the decision to ask for a national program have conceded from the start that it is a gamble. They cannot even estimate the odds. Their view is that it is better to gamble with money than with lives. In fact, they say that any major flu epidemic costs thousands of lives and billions of dollars.

Some public health officials have argued that the vaccine should be produced and stockpiled but used nationwide only if more evidence of swine flu virus is found in the human population. Others have argued that flu moves so fast that the approach would inevitably fail. The epidemic would outrun the program.

Whether the Fort Dix type virus appears in strength or not, public health experts are likely to be criticized for all the sniffles, sore throats, coughs and fevers of other origin that will inevitably confront the nation next winter.

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and ### delivering a new vaccine to so many so quickly will add powerfully to the hazards.

Defenders of the program say this is a conventional flu vaccine and that many years' experience support the safety of this kind of product. They expect many more arms, some transient fevers, but not much more than that.

The issues of cost are complex and by no means entirely resolved. Congress and the Administration have made it clear that they want the effort to be free of excess profits to anyone. They have nevertheless legislated a market for the vaccine makers to produce 10 times as much as usual. On the other hand, flu vaccines have never been considered a big profit item in the drug industry. Only a handful of concerns make them at all.

As to the costs of administering vaccines nationwide, many states and localities have already complained that the effort will cost far more than Federal funds will cover and that even totally voluntary programs cost money. Administration health spokesmen say a program totally paid for by Federal funds was never intended, but that more money will be requested from Congress if it proves warranted.

Students Free 14 Trustees Held At a College for Black Women

ATLANTA, April 23 (AP)—Spelman College students released 14 college trustees held locked in a room for 26 hours after the trustees agreed today to discuss student demands for a black woman president.

Millicent Dobbs Jordan, a faculty member who was a spokesman for the protesting students, teachers and alumnae at the predominantly black woman's college, said the trustees had agreed to meet with four students and two representatives each from the administrative staff, faculty and alumnae.

Mrs. Jordan, aunt of Atlanta's Mayor Maynard Jackson, said the board would discuss the possibility of organizing a new search committee and rescinding its presidential appointment yesterday of a black man, Dr. Donald Stewart, a dean at the University of Pennsylvania.

The lock-in began yesterday when the trustees named Dr. Stewart to succeed Dr. Albert Manley, also a black. The protesters lashed the board room doors shut with a rope after learning that the board had ignored demands for a black woman president.

An estimated 500 to 600 students at the 1,200-student campus spent the night in the halls outside the room.

"We're going to make the trustees believe that Spelman woman mean business," vowed Jeta Edwards, a senior majoring in philosophy.

Some faculty members and alumnae took food to the students. The captive trustees, seven men and seven women, apparently sustained themselves on snack food they had brought to the board meeting. The demonstrators supplied trustees with other necessities.

Dr. Manley, 68 years old, is retiring after 23 years as president. He was preceded by four white women presidents.

"Dr. Manley has been dedicated to training young women for leadership, and this school has been here for 95 years," one faculty member said. "To say there are no qualified black women to be president, well, you might as well close us down."

One of the trustees locked in the room was Eleanor Franklin, who was a candidate for the job of president and cast the only dissenting vote on Dr. Stewart's appointment. She is an associate dean of the Howard Medical School in Washington, D. C.

Silver Plant Strike Ends
PROVIDENCE, R.I., April 23 (UPI)—Negotiators for 600 striking steel workers and the Gorham silver plant reached a tentative agreement on a seven-month strike. The settlement, came after four days of bargaining mediated by Gov. Philip W. Noel, Lieut. Gov. Joseph Garrahy, and Representative Edward P. Beard, a Democrat.

TWO BEHAVIORISTS WINKITAYAWARD

Reactions to Environment Explained by Pioneers

By ROYCE KENSBERGER

Two scientists whose pioneering research has helped explain how the mind and body respond to and act on their environment were named yesterday as winners of the annual $25,000 International Kitay Award.

One researcher was Dr. James Olds, who discovered that there is a physiological basis for hedonism. He pinpointed areas of the brain, now called pleasure centers, and found that animals, given a chance to stimulate these centers through implanted electrodes, would do so to the exclusion of all other activities. The other scientist was Dr. Hans Selye, who, over several decades, has demonstrated the role of stress in a number of diseases as ulcers, heart disease, brain hemorrhage, hardening of the arteries and migraine headaches.

Established in 1970, the award, the largest for research relating to mental health, was announced at a news conference in New York held by the Kitay Scientific Foundation, which was established in 1970 to recognize scientific achievements in this field and to sponsor a major symposium annually.

Dr. Olds, professor of behavioral biology at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, made his discoveries about the pleasure centers in the mid-1950's. Until then many psychologists had believed that chief drives in both rats and people were essentially negative—that is, to reduce the pangs of hunger or sexual desire.

More recently, Dr. Olds has continued efforts to map other regions of the brain, such as those involved in learning, and to elucidate the role of certain substances secreted by the brain that may activate or repress the various drive and reward centers.

3-Stage Reaction
Dr. Selye, the other winner, is director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery at the University of Montreal. His work, begun more than 40 years ago, led to a theory that people react to physical or emotional stress in three successive stages.

The first stage is a kind of body mobilization, through hormones and other mechanisms, for "fight or flight." If the stress continues, the second stage ensues with the body employing various adaptive responses. These include both behavioral and biochemical activities to combat the stress or to escape it.

But Dr. Selye found, mostly in experiments with animals, that no individual can maintain the adaptive response indefinitely. Exhaustion follows and the body suffers some physiological or psychological damage.

Military Abroad to Get Vaccine for Swine Flu

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—The Pentagon plans to give swine flu vaccine to nearly 800,000 United States military personnel, their wives and children stationed abroad about the same time that other Americans are being immunized at home.

Officials said that the vaccine will be compulsory for all of the 454,000 American military men and women at overseas posts. The vaccine will also be made available to their 333,000 dependents, but it is uncertain if this point whether they will be required to be inoculated.

In all, the Pentagon's health officials intend to provide immunization to 2.1 million military personnel and nearly 3 million dependents in the United States and abroad.

Copter Carrying Oil Crew Crashes; No Survivors Seen

NEW ORLEANS, April 23 (AP)—A helicopter flying workers to an offshore drilling rig, went down in the Gulf of Mexico today with 12 persons aboard. Four bodies were picked up, and there was no indication of survivors, officials said.

A spokesman for Petroleum Helicopters Inc., owner of the craft, said the fully loaded Bell 205 went down shortly after 8 A.M. on a routine flight carrying workers from shore to work on the rig.

The pilot was identified as Walter Bager of Nederland, Tex. Officials refused to say where the workers were employed. The workers boarded the helicopter in Cameron, La., a little town on the coast near the Louisiana-Texas border, and were flying to a Gulf Oil Company drilling platform called the Blue Dolphin.

A spokesman for P.H.I. said they were not Gulf workers. The craft apparently ran into trouble about 30 minutes after take-off. Dispatchers monitoring the radio said they had heard the switch click open on a microphone and then heard a "loud noise."

ALIBI BY SOLI IS NOT CONFI

Witness Fails to Back Him on Day of Rob

SACRAMENTO, Calif., (UPI)—A young masseur unable today to verify testimony of Patricia Hearst's Steven Solih; that he saw San Francisco at the "fetal bank holdup 91 away.

After her testimony, her witnesses and one prior rebuttal witness heard, and both sides to present final argument. Mr. Solih's bank robbery Monday.

"The case is closed," States Federal District Philip C. Williams said.

Early today, 26 years old, who said that she perceived "corrective messages," that Mr. Solih had spied before the robbery San Francisco. However, she did not remember him the next morning when he departed at 11 A.M.

Mr. Solih testified he that he lived with Miss in March and April 19 was in San Francisco A the day of the robbery. A Sacramento, Calif., witness who said that she perceived "corrective messages," that Mr. Solih had spied before the robbery San Francisco. However, she did not remember him the next morning when he departed at 11 A.M.

Mr. Solih testified he that he lived with Miss in March and April 19 was in San Francisco A the day of the robbery. A Sacramento, Calif., witness who said that she perceived "corrective messages," that Mr. Solih had spied before the robbery San Francisco. However, she did not remember him the next morning when he departed at 11 A.M.

The finest quality
SUEDE
and
LEATHER
TAILORING
ALTERATIONS-FITTINGS
Leather Care
1701 FIRST AVENUE
at 88th Street
427-7111
Complete on premise cleaning facility

Men's Custom Tailor
SPECIAL SALE
Whichever fashion you prefer, I personally will style-cut to suit you best.
Finest Imports
Canvas Try-On
I do all my own work. Result low overhead... low cost to you.
Only $175
Comparable Value $300-$475
Fino
Formerly of New York
218-78th Street, A.D.
Queens Village, N.Y. 11429
SP 6-8387

Background

Unlike most viruses, those of flu seem to change somewhat from year to year and to change a lot about once a decade.

When a big change comes, it leaves most people unprotected because the antibodies they have developed against past waves of flu are not primed to recognize and combat the new model.

The worst of these changes in modern history produced the pandemic of 1918-19 in which 20 million people died, more than 500,000 of them in the United States.

A brief outbreak discovered about two months ago at Fort Dix, N. J., provided a strong hint that another big change in the flu virus might be at hand. The outbreak affected more than 500 persons and caused one death. Adding an extra note of drama to the discovery of this new virus was the fact that it appeared to be almost the same as the virus that is believed to have caused the 1918 pandemic.

This is the swine influenza virus, so called because for the last 50 years or so it has regularly caused flu-like illness in pigs but has left humans alone. No one knows whether the new swine flu virus found at Fort Dix will behave at all like that of 1918.

The really important thing, according to specialists, is that the Fort Dix outbreak shows that this is a virus that can spread from person to person and that it is a virus against which most

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and

Background

Democratic health affairs leaders in the Congress were offended by the President's failure to include them in the final, and widely publicized, council. They saw their exclusion as an attempt to make political capital out of an issue that would have been completely nonpartisan. The Administration insists the decision was nonpartisan and that there was not time to arrange the announcement differently.

Despite grumbling, Congress accepted the program and, within days, appropriated the $135 million that the President had requested for the effort.

After the President's announcement, at least one critic demanded a public debate on the issue, saying the case for a national effort was unproved.

The health officials' reply was that the debate had already been as full and open as possible considering the urgency of time. The decision had to be made well before April 1 if there was to be any chance of producing 200 million doses of vaccine in time for the next flu season.

The issues raised by critics since the President's announcement center on these questions: Is it necessary? Is it safe? Will there be enough money? Will the drug firms have a windfall?

The question of safety is being addressed in the vaccine trials that have just begun. Critics say that anything given to a majority of the American population is certain to have ill effects on some and that producing and Selling your car?

To place your ad call
OX 5-3311

AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE

Volvo, Mercedes, BMW, etc.

OPEN SATURDAY
At All-State
our job is you.
Call 212-937-7500
Inquire about our very special 6 month summer lease.
Leasing Chevrolets and Other Fine Cars

SALES-LEASES
MARTIN'S BMW HONDA
NOW NOT AVAILABLE IN BROOKLYN
2nd AV. (67 St.) 249-8700
11th AV. (49 St.) 586-0780
1865 JEROME, BX. 731-5700

For Sale 3702
CADILLAC 1968-MINTI
FLEETWOOD BROUGHAM
550 ORIG MILES!
Chauffeur'd black with velour interior.
NEVER IN RAIN OR SNOW
Fully equipped. Under $2500
Wash. Reg. $2200
Call: 212-222-2200

For Sale 3702
CADILLAC ELDOBRADO
CONVERTIBLES
1975 & 1976
NEW & USED
Call: 212-222-2200

WOLF
Jaguar
PEUGEOT TRIUMPH
273 Lafayette St., 226-4664
427 E. 82nd St., 226-2900

For Sale 3702
OLDS CUTLASS 73 Supreme
A/C, P/S, AM/FM, Burgundy & white, 1/2 ton, 2100 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

For Sale 3702
FORD LTD 75 Sedan
All accessories, A/C, low mi. best cond. Call: 212-222-2200

WOLF
'76 VOLVO
$5595
273 Lafayette St. - 226-4664

Cars Wanted
WE BUY ANY MAKE YEAR AMERICAN FOREIGN & SPORTS CARS
OVER BOOK PRICES PAID
Mercedes, Jaguars, Porsches, compacts, Cadillacs, Lincolns
Rolls, Bentleys, BMW's
SAVE HUNDREDS OF $$$
CALL TODAY TO GET THE BEST PRICE
WE BUY ANY MAKE YEAR AMERICAN FOREIGN & SPORTS CARS
OVER BOOK PRICES PAID
Mercedes, Jaguars, Porsches, compacts, Cadillacs, Lincolns
Rolls, Bentleys, BMW's
SAVE HUNDREDS OF $$$
CALL TODAY TO GET THE BEST PRICE

2000 CARS WANTED
NEED CARS FOR EXPORT
1964's to 1976's
Pay Premium Prices
35 MINUTES FROM N.Y. OR I.D.R.
435-3800
Brooklyn Auto Sales
45 St corner 18 Ave, Bldg

Automobiles Wanted 3706
GET MORE
For your clean used car, call us for a free estimate. We'll give you the best price. We'll take care of the rest. Call: 212-222-2200

Station Wagons & Buses 3708
CHEVY 74 Malibu
Classic, 9 Pass. Air, full equip. 2300 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Automobiles Wanted 3706
Lincoln 1951
2700 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
BMW 1971 Bavaria
Fantastic running, low miles, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Mercedes Benz
74 450SE, metallic blue, sun roof, Mexico 22,000 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Volvo Sale of 75 Dmc
PREVIOUSLY OWNED CAR VOLVO 74 450SE, metallic blue, sun roof, Mexico 22,000 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Mercedes Benz
74 450SE, metallic blue, sun roof, Mexico 22,000 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Peugeot 76, Datsun 76
DEALS! DEALS! DEALS! DEALS!
See us for details. Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Mercedes Benz
74 450SE, metallic blue, sun roof, Mexico 22,000 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Volvo 1974, 1975, 1976
AM/FM, A/C, P/S, Burgundy & white, 1/2 ton, 2100 miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Volvo 1969 1645, 4 dr. AM/FM
low miles, excellent condition, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Imported & Sports Cars 3720
Volvo 72 1400TAM A/C
5700 Miles, 1 yr. warranty, 45-48, Call: 212-222-2200

Advertisement for a business or service, partially obscured.

Veras of the Jets testing the knee strength of Richard Todd at Hofstra rookie camp yesterday

Anderson

Just Plain Richard Joins the Jets

AD, L.I., April 23—For the New York Jets, Namath as a rookie, Sonny Werblin, then entrepreneur, tossed a cocktail party at Toots Between sips of scotch, the $427,000 quarter-back left knee about to be sliced in surgery, a skeptic to ask, "What happens to all the you don't make it?" Joe Namath quietly take it. But today Richard Todd, another back from Alabama, was introduced as only one of 63 players attending the Jets' orientation weekend. Richard Todd preferred it that way. Richard Todd understands that comparisons with Joe Namath are inevitable. Except for his blond hair and unscarred knees, he resembles Joe Namath; he even, 'd, has a Beaver Falls accent. Actually it's a 'n accent. That's where Richard Todd grew Namath on TV and later worked out with Tuscaloosa campus. Now he has hired Joe t, Jimmy Walsh, to negotiate his contract, as a possible knee problem.

or told me I had tendonitis in my right Todd was saying now. "I thought I was asy, pleasant smile, the 6-foot-1-inch, 206- was sitting at a table in the Hofstra Un- room after lunch.

"knee hurt?" somebody asked.

"little pain," he agreed.

"is it the right knee?"

The Goal-Line Offense

at bad," he said, smiling. "It's not like Joe's comparisons to some extent. But it's silly to Joe as a quarterback. He's the best played the game at the quarterback position when I'm on the field people are going. I like to run and Joe doesn't like to run. a lot better than mine. And," he smiled have half the girl friends he does."

Quarterbacks will work out at Tuscaloosa in at the Boys Camp that Joe Namath, soon old, operates.

ged with him the last two years." Richard out how he gets his shoulder into throw- e helped me with my footwork, like if e my left, to get my feet straight so I'm cross my body."

the Jets' new coach, knew that Namath d as a "first-round draft choice.

hard Todd lives up to the reputation that the coach said before lunch. "I might use line. This team has had difficulty in sc- I might use him down there to sprint out, to roll out. We've got to find a better way to put the ball in the end zone. As for yanking Joe Namath down there, I'd yank my mother if I thought I had a better chance to win with my neighbor."

But now, Richard Todd was recalling what Joe Namath had mentioned to him after the draft.

"He told me," the rookie said, "that this was a real good opportunity to come into, that he doesn't know how much longer he'll play but it shouldn't be too much longer, but he also told me," and he smiled again, "you've got to come up and beat out five other guys before I get a chance at him. But nobody is going to beat out Joe."

The Discus Thrower

Richard Todd remembered watching Joe Namath in the Jets victory in Super Bowl III.

"That was the icing on the cake," the 22-year-old rookie said. "Even before that any time there was a Jets game on TV, that's the one I'd watch. I lived in Tuscaloosa when he played there, but I was too young to remember him there. After that we moved to Bristol, Va., where my father got his doctorate in education, and back to Tuscaloosa and then to Arkadelphia, Ark., before we settled in Mobile, where I went to Davidson High and where we live now."

"Did you play other sports in high school?"

"Basketball, and I threw the shot and the discus."

"Didn't you win the state championship?"

"In the discus I did, 170 feet," he said. "But I was fifth in the shot, 56 feet."

"What did you do last night," somebody asked.

"I got here yesterday afternoon," he said. "I came over to the Jets' center for a meeting, then I had dinner and went to bed."

"Do you emulate Namath," somebody asked, "in any other ways?"

"I knew that was coming," he said, smiling again, while spurning a vanilla parfait for dessert. "Nobody is going to take Joe's place on and off the field. I'd be a fool to try. I'm me. I like a beer and I like a good whiskey now and then. I like girls, too."

"Do you have any nicknames?"

"Just plain Richard," he said.

"When you were working out with Joe in Tuscaloosa," somebody said, "did you sit around his restaurant at night with him?"

"We did that a couple of times," Richard Todd said, smiling. "But the girls would always talk to him instead of me."

"Have you had any acting lessons?"

"Any what?" he asked.

"Oh, acting lessons, no," Richard Todd said. "I thought you said 'acne,' but that's all cleared up."

Royals Top Yankees' Hunter, 3-2; Cedenó Homer Helps Beat Mets

Koosman Bows to Cosgrove of Astros by 3-1

By PARTON KEESÉ
Special to The New York Times
HOUSTON, April 23—Mike Cosgrove, who has only one complete game in four years with the Houston Astros, lasted eight innings tonight against the New York Mets, and that was enough. With the aid of Ken Forsch, who notched his sixth save in the last nine games, the Astros defeated the Mets, 3-1.

The Astros' two hottest batters were instrumental in handing Jerry Koosman his first defeat. Cesar Cedenó's two-run homer with Enos Cabell on first and Cabell's triple accounted for the Houston run.

Cedenó's hit stretched his consecutive-game streak to eight, while Cabell has hit safely in 10 straight. Cosgrove, the only left-handed pitcher on the Astros' staff, matched Koosman in early results, if not in mastery. Except for Cedenó's scratch single off Bud Harrelson's glove in the first and Cabell's triple over Bruce Boisclair's head in the fourth, Koosman didn't face a ripple of resistance for six innings. Cabell's three-base hit had led to a run, however, when Cedenó followed with a grounder to second to score the Astro run. Boisclair, fill- ing centerfield for Del Unser who is out with a sore elbow, tried to make a Willie Mays-type back-to-the-plate catch of Cabell's long fly. But the 23-year-old rookie is not Willie Mays, and it went through his outstretched arms.

The Mets tested the Astros' acknowledged weakness on stolen bases—25 bases had been stolen against them in 33 attempts. At first it backfired. Wayne Garrett getting trapped between first and second on a hit and run, but in the fourth it worked, leading to a run.

Grote Bats In Run

Dave Kingman walked with two out, beat Cliff Johnson's throw to second for a stolen base and tallied on Jerry Grote's single to center.

The Cincinnati Reds stole 11 straight bases against Johnson, an outfielder who was converted to first base and then made a catcher late last season. Johnson doesn't take all the blame for the thefts, however, noting how many new pitchers the Astros have.

"I haven't worked that much with them," he said, "and they haven't worked much with me. But I'm not satisfied with my throwing, either, though I don't think it's as bad as it may seem."

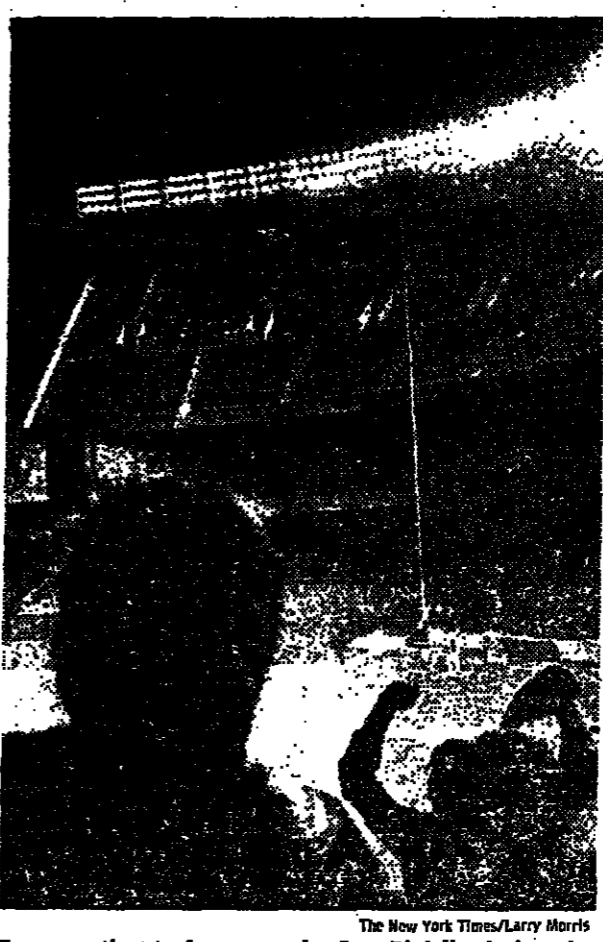

In the Mets' seventh, however, Boisclair again tested that theory after drawing a walk with two out. Attempting the Mets' third steal of the contest, he drew a two-bouncer from Johnson and beat the peg easily. After an intentional walk to Harrelson, Cabell made a good stop and dive to force Boisclair at third, ending the threat.

"I think the pitchers should concentrate more," said Johnson. "There's just more that a pitcher has to do when runners are on base."

Koosman's mastery ended abruptly in the seventh. Cabell walked to lead off. After failing to bunt, Cedenó drilled a liner over the 379-foot mark in left field for his fifth homer, sending Houston into a 3-1 lead.

Though it was just the third hit off Koosman, he was taken out for Bob Apodaca. The right-handed reliever got out of the inning with the help of an umpire, who accidentally stopped a hit by Leon Roberts with his leg, enabling the Mets to throw him out at second.

Box Score on Page 22.

Fans reacting to home run by Lou Piniella during the first night game at remodeled Yankee Stadium.

Mike Hole Found Dead in His Car

By MICHAEL STRAUSS

Michael Hole, the English-born jockey riding at Aqueduct, was found dead Thursday afternoon in the front seat of his automobile in a parking lot at Jones Beach on Long Island.

Hole, 35, was discovered dead in his car with the exhaust pipe stuffed with paper, at the western tip of the state park by Long Island Parkway Police on routine patrol. His wife, Yvonne, identified the body yesterday at the Nassau County Morgue in East Meadow, L.I. She arrived earlier in the day from Kentucky, where she was visiting friends when notified of her husband's death.

Mrs. Hole sobbed and nearly keeled over as she left the room where Hole's body lay. The couple had two children, Vanessa 8, and Taylor, 5.

Two Notes Found

The police said two notes were found in Hole's Garden City home. One note, addressed to his wife, said he was leaving all his possessions to her and the other asked her to "forgive me for my weaknesses." Authorities said Hole had been seeing a psychiatrist.

Hole's body was found on the front seat of a 1974 Gremlin with his head partially covered by a jacket. The exhaust pipe of the car had been stuffed with paper, the police said, and a hole drilled in the floor of the car behind the driver's seat. A piece of tubing had been linked from the muffler to the interior of the car.

News of the death of Hole, who was scheduled to ride three horses at Aqueduct yesterday, was met with stunned silence by his colleagues in the track's jockey room.

Mike Venezia, a jockey and director of the New York chapter of the Jockeys Guild, said he couldn't believe that Hole took his own life.

"Only recently," Venezia said, "Mike asked me about pensions plans, because he was trying to set one up."

Hole's top money earnings season came in 1974 when his mounts brought home

Pitcher Charged With 3d Loss Before 35,116

By MURRAY CHASS

Just think that the Yankees would be without Catfish Hunter—a 1,000 ball club, that's what.

Hunter, the only Yankee pitcher to lose a game this season last night as the Kansas City Royals edged the Yankees, 3-2.

The Royals didn't exactly overwhelm Hunter, the man with the multimillion-dollar arm. Buck Martinez hit a home run off him and the other two runs came on sacrifice flies. Nevertheless, he suffered his third loss in four decisions and the Yankees have lost only three games in these first two weeks.

Six other members of the pitching staff each have one victory, which means if they get together and hold a vote, they might expel Satfish from their club. After all, it takes only one bad apple to spoil the lot.

Before anyone starts ganging up on Hunter, though, it should be noted that he paid less than Catfish but expected to do their share, had as much to do with this loss as anyone.

Roy White was caught off base in unpropitious spots twice, but neither of his wanderings was as flagrant as the errant footwork of Rich Coggins in the seventh inning. Then in the ninth inning Sandy Alomar was out trying to steal third base—a moment after he stole second with one out.

A crowd of 35,116—more than 25,000 bought tickets at the Yankee Stadium windows before the game—saw five Royal pitchers limit the Yankees to home runs by Chris Chambliss and Lou Piniella, his first since Sept. 28, 1974.

One of those fans also got into the action, throwing a bottle at Greg Kosc, the rookie umpire at third base who called Alomar out in the ninth.

The bottle sailed out of the stands behind third base as Manager Billy Martin raced across the infield to argue with the 26-year-old umpire. The bottle missed and Martin lost the argument.

Rav Sadecki, the first of three Kansas City pitchers in the ninth, started the inning by walking Graig Nettles.

Jim Mason tried to sacrifice him to second, but George Brett quickly fielded the bunt and caught Nettles for a force out. Manager Whitey Harzog then brought in Marty Patin to pitch to Willie Randolph and Martin sent Alomar in to run for Mason. Alomar, playing in only his second game this season, promptly stole second.

However, as Patin threw a fourth ball to Randolph, walking him, Alomar broke for third and Martínez nailed him with an accurate throw to Brett.

The bottle and Martin then appeared simultaneously and Herzog chose that moment to call for Steve Mingori, a left-handed pitcher, to face the left-handed scab Gamble. Brett tossed the bottle aside. Martin returned to the dug-out and Gamble fouled to

Mike Hole

$2,242,317 in purses. Last season he rode Dearly Precious to the 2-year-old filly championship.

Despite his successes, Hole never rode a Kentucky Derby winner, although he raced in that classic twice. He maintained, however, that competing in that famous race, in itself, was enough of a reward.

"After all, I had no intention when I arrived here of becoming a jockey in America," he said early in his career. "One reason was that I then weighed 130 pounds. But I had ridden in England and I knew horses so I got a job as an exercise boy at Belmont Park."

Continued on Page 22, Column 1

es, Villanova Spark Penn Relays

By Tom Toms
A April 23 meeting old amlin Field—and a lot unning, the day carnival ghtning-fast, polyurethane lete sew of and a new Olympic 400-old medal.

irst race, Ed ouse College he 400-meter rdes in 49.8 cond fastest merican this e was not it was only lemp at this in which a l of his steps is as impor- and har-

6-1-inch 160- re from Day- coached by i former New Club runner, the race, "I unning under the Olympic old record is y John Akil- i in winning e 1972 Olym-is lack of ex- said, "I guess n getting on- ce."

standing. In the 800-meter relay, Arizona State's quartet of Charlie Wells, Steve Williams, Carl McCollough and Herman Frazier ran 1:22.6, only 1.1 seconds off the world record of 1:21.5 held by the Italian National Team.

Tennessee, anchored by Reggie Jones, breezed to the second fastest time, 1:22.9 and Essex County College of Newark, N. J., was third fastest with 1:23.3. Tennessee recently tied the world record of 1:21.7 for the 800-yard relay, and if the weather is good tomorrow all these teams could go under 1:21.5 for 800 meters.

The same three teams also led the qualifiers in the 400-meter relay, Tennessee running 1:22.9 and Essex County College of Newark, N. J., was third fastest with 1:23.3. Tennessee recently tied the world record of 1:21.7 for the 800-yard relay, and if the weather is good tomorrow all these teams could go under 1:21.5 for 800 meters.

Continued on Page 22, Column 5

THE GRASS IS IN: Workmen at the Olympic Stadium in Montreal putting finishing touches on playing field. One hundred men worked for three days to install the turf. An artificial surface may be installed after the Olympics.

Dave Schultz of the Flyers being restrained by Toronto police during a dispute with fans Thursday night

Sittler's Heroics Give Leafs Hope

TORONTO, April 23 (AP)—Darryl Sittler matched a National Hockey League playoff record by scoring five goals to lead the Toronto Maple Leafs to an 8-5 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers last night, forcing a deciding game Sunday night in Philadelphia in the four-of-seven-game quarterfinals.

Sittler's brilliant performance by Sittler, whose victims were the veteran Philadelphia goalie, Bernie Parent, highlighted an evening of hockey that produced a playoff record 185 penalty minutes and left the N.H.L. referee-in-chief, Scott Morrison, visibly shaken.

Also shaken was Dave Schultz, the Flyers' rugged left wing.

Schultz was making his way to his team's dressing room late in the second period, after drawing a fighting major penalty and a 10-minute misconduct penalty when a spectator appeared in the hallway and elbowed him "in the side."

After Schultz retaliated with a threatening gesture, the fan fled and was not apprehended.

Later in the game, Schultz was ejected after drawing a double game misconduct penalty following a fight with Dave Williams of the Leafs.

Sittler Hadn't Scored

Sittler, the Leafs' top scorer during the regular season, hadn't scored a goal in eight playoff games.

He ended the drought when he beat Parent in the first period, then scored three times in the second period and once more in the third. He wound up tying the playoff record for most points in a game when he drew an assist on a goal by Clair Alexander.

He matched the five goals scored by Maurice Richard of the Montreal Canadiens in 1944 and the six points produced by Dickie Moore of Montreal in 1954 and Phil Esposito of the Boston Bruins in 1969.

Brian Glennie, the Leafs' defenseman struck in the mouth by a puck Thursday night, underwent an operation Friday to set a fractured jaw.

Jim Gregory, the Leafs' general manager, said Glennie's jaw had been wired and that he would remain in the hospital for a few days, missing Sunday night's seventh game against Philadelphia.

Glennie's jaw was broken and his mouth bloodied when he went down to block a shot by Bill Barber late in the third period.

LOS ANGELES, April 23. (AP)—All but counted out of their National Hockey League playoff against the Boston Bruins, the Los Angeles Kings came to life in a short span last night to force the series to a seventh and deciding game.

"We feel real good about going to Boston," said Butch Gorfing, who scored after 18 minutes 28 seconds of the overtime period to beat the Bruins, 4-3, in sudden-death overtime. "It's now a one-game thing and anything can happen. We'll be going all out."

They meet on Sunday night in Boston and the Bruins also will be going all out. In the fourth and fifth games, they had outscored the Kings, 10-1, and led, 3-1, into the third period on Thursday.

Then Mike Corrigan scored two goals, the last one tying the count at 3-3 with just 2 minutes 12 seconds remaining. The first Corrigan goal came with 9:10 remaining.

"When you make mistakes, it will cost you," the Boston coach, Don Cherry, said ruefully. Then he added:

"We worked all year to get this home-ice advantage in the playoffs. We lost once at home in our last 30 games. I think we'll be ready for them."

Marcis Draws Pole

MARTINSVILLE, Va., April 23 (AP)—Dave Marcis of Wausau, Wis., won the pole position today for Sunday's $92,000 Virginia 500 Grand National stock car race, the fourth time in nine races this season he has earned the No. 1 starting spot.

Celtics Win for 2-0 Lead

BOSTON, April 23 (AP)—The Boston Celtics, playing without John Havlicek, got outstanding performances from Don Nelson and Steve Kuberski tonight in defeating the Buffalo Braves 101-96. Boston extended its lead to 2-0 in the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference semifinal playoff series.

Nelson, winding up a 14-year pro career, scored 22 points and Kuberski 13 while spelling Nelson, helping the Celtics offset a 40-point performance by Bob McAdoo of the Braves.

Havlicek is sidelined with an injury to his left foot.

Nelson hit for 12 points as Boston took a 28-24 lead in the first period and finished the game by sinking four free throws in the final 18 seconds.

Kuberski hit on four key baskets at the start of the fourth period. However, the Celtics' lead dwindled from 13 points to 2 midway through the final quarter.

Buffalo closed to 86-84 in the sixth minute of the fourth period, but the Celtics eased the pressure with a free throw by Dave Cowens and a jump shot by Kuberski. After that, the Braves were not able to get any closer than 3 points.

Cowens, playing the entire game, led the Celtics with 27 points and 18 rebounds. Jo Jo White had 20 points and his backcourt partner, Charlie Scott, 14.

Hartley Is Victor at Relay

By WILLIAM J. MILLER
Special to The New York Times
PHILADELPHIA, April 23 — Bill Hartley, who failed to clear 14 feet in the pole vault at the Penn Relays last year, returned today and put himself in the schoolboy record book. The Tuckerton, N.J., senior cleared 16 feet and not only erased the Carnival standard but became the first East Coast schoolboy to clear that height.

"What a difference from last year," the young star, who attends Southern Regional High in Manahawick, said later. "It was raining hard when I attempted to go over 14 feet," he said, "but I didn't come close. Today the weather was great. I felt great, and I guess, I vaulted great."

Hartley's feat was hardly a surprise, however. The 6-foot-5-inch, 175-pound Stateside star had been the best vault in the East since he had a 13-foot-11-inch vault at the Penn Relays last year. He had also been the best in the East since he had a 13-foot-11-inch vault at the Penn Relays last year.

Hartley's feat was hardly a surprise, however. The 6-foot-5-inch, 175-pound Stateside star had been the best vault in the East since he had a 13-foot-11-inch vault at the Penn Relays last year. He had also been the best in the East since he had a 13-foot-11-inch vault at the Penn Relays last year.

VAL record and is the second fastest run by an Eastern schoolboy.

The 17-year-old Hartley and the 16-year-old Steve O'Connell of Milford, Conn., were the only two events of the Penn Relays—two-day track and field meets in Philadelphia.

But the Eastern schoolboy tests were canceled because of a canceled 1976 meet and had a controversial third leg of 1,300 meters, provided the competitive form of the schoolboy program for the spectators.

Late in the race on the final leg of 1,300 meters, no more than 10 yards separated the two runners. They both crossed the finish line at the same time.

Weaver, however, gave chase and took the lead on the field stretch. Detolozza made two strong attempts on the outside to regain the lead but Weaver refused to give up and the two runners appeared to give up the final 100 yards, and Weaver was home first.

Al J. Fiorentino placed Weaver in contention on the 1,300-meter leg. Getting the stick in eighth place, Fiorentino, normally a good half-joker, put on a strong drive and handed the stick off in third place, within 10 yards of first place.

Hartley cleared 16 feet of his third attempt clearly after a close miss on his second try. The 13-year-old senior who started as a runner in his freshman year, will soon

Ants' Rook

... we want ...

... we want ...

... we want ...

Indians' Hurler Regains Rookie Form

By DEANE MCGOWEN

As far as 21-year-old Dennis Eckersley is concerned, the Oakland A's are just another ball club. Last year, he was the only Cleveland pitcher to beat the A's in 12 games.

Last night in Municipal Stadium, the right-hander held the powerful A's to two hits in pitching the Indians to a 3-0 victory.

Despite the 46-degree temperature, Eckersley struck

Spikes tripped across George Hendrick, who had singled, then scored on a sacrifice fly by Doug Howard.

Eckersley, who had failed to get past the third inning in his first two starts this season, returned to the form that made him the American League's top rookie pitcher last year. Vida Blue, who has not defeated the Indians since July 21, 1974, was tagged for seven hits in losing his second game.

Eckersley is in complete charge as he recorded four strikeouts in the first two innings. The victory was Cleveland's third straight and the shutout was the first against Oakland in 86 games. The A's had gone 33 games on the road without being blanked.

The A's defeated the Indians 10 of 12 times last season. Both Cleveland triumphs er brother had been shot to death earlier in the day.

Brewers 4, Angels 2

AT MILWAUKEE — Milwaukee rallied for three runs in the last of the eighth, two scoring on a throwing error at shortstop by Orlando Ramirez. California had taken a 2-1 lead in its half of the inning when Bobby Bonds hit his first homer of the season. Jim Slaton scattered eight hits in 8 1/2 innings and raised his record to 3-1. Eduardo Rodriguez relieved him in the ninth. Henry Aaron lifted his batting average to .345 in collecting three singles in three trips to the plate.

er brother had been shot to death earlier in the day.

Brewers 4, Angels 2

AT MILWAUKEE — Milwaukee rallied for three runs in the last of the eighth, two scoring on a throwing error at shortstop by Orlando Ramirez. California had taken a 2-1 lead in its half of the inning when Bobby Bonds hit his first homer of the season. Jim Slaton scattered eight hits in 8 1/2 innings and raised his record to 3-1. Eduardo Rodriguez relieved him in the ninth. Henry Aaron lifted his batting average to .345 in collecting three singles in three trips to the plate.

Hurdler, Villanova Penn Stars

Continued From Page 21

ning 0:40.2 and Arizona State and Essex County, 0:40.3. In the 1,600-meter relay, Arizona State led the qualifiers with 3:04.5, Tennessee was second with 3:04.9, and Essex also qualified for the final by running away with the Junior College 1,600-meter relay in 3:09.3.

Seton Hall's shuttle hurdles relay team, favored to win tomorrow's final, had the fastest time in the heats, 57.9 seconds.

St. John's Leads Tennis

St. John's University took first place in Division A of the Metropolitan Tennis Conference by defeating visiting Iona College, 6-3, yesterday. Ricky Ledman of St. John's beat Pat Lyons of Iona, 6-1, 6-4, in singles.

Drivers to Practice Today at Trenton

TRENTON, April 23 (AP)—A large field of drive including A. J. Foyt, last year's winner, has assembled at the Trenton International Race Track today for the first time since the first woman to file an entry for the Indianapolis 500 reportedly averaged an adequate 155 miles an hour practice laps around the 1.5-mile kidney-shaped Trenton Speedway last week. She is given a chance of making a 22-car field in the United States Auto Club 200-mile race scheduled tomorrow afternoon with qualifying set at Sunday at 1:30 P.M. The race is scheduled for 4 P.M.

Person Shot

65

Aque

... we want ...

Major League Box Scores and Standings

Team	W	L	Pct.	GB
AMERICAN LEAGUE
Kansas City 3	New York 3	(n.)
Boston 3	Chicago 2	(n.)
Milwaukee 4	California 2
Cleveland 3	Oakland 0	(n.)
Detroit 2	Texas 0
Other teams not scheduled.
THURSDAY NIGHT
Kansas City 2, Milwaukee 1.
STANDING OF THE TEAMS
Eastern Division
New York 7	Pct. .700
Milwaukee 6	Pct. .667	1/2
Detroit 5	Pct. .556	1 1/2
Cleveland 4	Pct. .545	1 3/4
Baltimore 4	Pct. .500	2
Chicago 3	Pct. .429	2 1/2
California 2	Pct. .333	3
Oakland 1	Pct. .250	3 1/2
Texas 0	Pct. .000	4
Kansas 0	Pct. .000	4 1/2
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	5
St. Louis 0	Pct. .000	5 1/2
Philadelphia 0	Pct. .000	6
Minnesota 0	Pct. .000	6 1/2
Western Division
Pittsburgh 6	Pct. .667
New York 5	Pct. .625	1/2
Philadelphia 5	Pct. .625	1/2
Chicago 5	Pct. .625	1/2
Montreal 4	Pct. .500	2
St. Louis 4	Pct. .500	2
San Francisco 4	Pct. .500	2
San Diego 3	Pct. .375	2 1/2
Los Angeles 3	Pct. .375	2 1/2
Atlanta 2	Pct. .250	3
Houston 2	Pct. .250	3
Cincinnati 1	Pct. .125	3 1/2
San Francisco 1	Pct. .125	3 1/2
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct. .000	4
Atlanta 0	Pct. .000	4
Houston 0	Pct. .000	4
Cincinnati 0	Pct. .000	4
San Francisco 0	Pct. .000	4
San Diego 0	Pct. .000	4
Los Angeles 0	Pct

Books of The Times

Trenchant Ecology Treatise

By GLADWIN HILL

THE HOME OF MAN. By Barbara Ward. 220 pages. Illustrated. W. W. Norton, $5.95 cloth; $3.95 paper.

Nearly half the cities in Latin America have neither piped water nor sewage systems; in Africa and Asia the proportion is even higher. In many of the world's cities, shanty-town squatters represent one-third to one-half of the population. Eighty percent of the eight million people in Calcutta live on the basis of one room per family.

Such deprivation is not confined to the "developing" world. On the outskirts of Paris there are individual water faucets that serve 2,000 people. And in London, Rome, New York and scores of other American cities there are, of course, conditions we'd rather not think about.

The city is one of mankind's basic creations: a focus of life and aspirations—but now, after thousands of years, also a focus of inequities, tribulations and perplexities. How do we untangle urban—and conjunctive rural—problems? Is there any hope for overcoming urban woes and transforming cities into the serviceable and even idyllic instruments for living that our imaginations tell us they could be?

These are the principal questions that Barbara Ward, the British economist, addresses in a book commissioned by the United Nations as a sort of keynote for the global conference on Human Settlements ("Habitat") that will convene in Vancouver, British Columbia, on May 31.

Conventional routes for commentators on urban problems are either "Doomsday" compilations of enormities or Utopian panaceas that evoke only yawns or laughs at city halls. Miss Ward, long noted for her insights and her engaging articulation of them, steers far clear of these futile oversimplifications. In a virtuoso display of familiarity with both history and contemporary evolutions all the way from Tokyo to Massachusetts, she dissects community problems, scrutinizes their causes, and projects some plausible paths toward their solution.

Cities, she observes, are ungainly but inevitable combinations of the intentional and the unintended elements that have inexorable reasons for being but that in the industrial era have been assailed by influxes of population exceeding their assimilative dexterity. If over 20,000 population is taken as the arbitrary criterion of a city, nearly half the world's people now live in cities, and the proportion is growing steadily. Of the world's 191 million-population cities more than half, remarkably, are in the "developing" countries.

The Hammer of Technology

"The industrial city," she comments, "appears to have been not so much planned for human purposes as simply beaten into some sort of shape by repeated strokes from gigantic hammers—the hammer of technology and applied power, the overwhelming drive of national self-interest, the single-minded pursuit of economic gain." We're all only too familiar with the resultant problems—smog, traffic, pollution, strained municipal finances and general civic discontent. In recent years inflation especially has thwarted schemes for improvement—such as New York's Urban Development Corporation—because inflation bears so heavily on land values, crucial in reshaping municipal patterns.

Nevertheless there have been some striking achievements. The French are trying to take pressures off Paris with systematic development patterns in eight surrounding cities within 100 miles. Belgium and the Netherlands have come close to producing adequate housing for all their people at viable prices. Admittedly their problems were limited in both size and complexity. But, Miss Ward notes, the West Germans "have proved that if a resourceful and hard-working people devote a steady 5 to 6 percent of their gross national product to housing, a vast transformation can be achieved in only two decades."

Planning, on both national and international levels, along with some moderate redistribution of wealth, is one of her prime recommendations. National planning is needed to take logical account of the many supra-municipal problems cities have, such as New York City's burdens from the Southern-Newark-black and Puerto Rican migrations.

"The decisive element in developed countries' housing policy is political will. Every developed country is perfectly able to meet the first need in the provision of shelter—a stock of housing with at least one room for each member of the family. If one considers the whole problem not at the large national level but in human terms, the scale of needed effort becomes more comprehensible. Suppose that on a lonely island of a thousand families, one shipwrecked family came ashore, stripped of everything by the disaster. It would be quickly helped and re-established. This number is not much higher than the percentage of desperately poor people in most developed lands."

Globally, she continues, "it is true that the pressures of escalating population are vast. But as a world community, we have so far made no concerted effort to extend to the thousand million or so who possess least and grow most rapidly the preconditions of family stability—enough food, clean water, medical services, falling infant mortality and education, particularly for women." The World Bank, she notes, has estimated that to overcome fundamental obstacles to development that would assure the world's population a decent existence would require an investment of as little as $125 billion over a 10-year period—only half of what the world spends for armaments in a single year.

Front-Yard Urban Problems

Urban renaissance, particularly in the developing countries, she suggests, depends also on a revitalization of rural areas, to slow down the lemminglike migration to cities and capitalize dually on the possibilities of food production and employment in small-scale farming.

No ivory-tower macrocosmicist, Miss Ward also examines closely such front-yard urban problems as the automobile's ravenous consumption of as much as half of some cities' land; problems of resources recovery from solid waste; and the need for consideration of human feelings, as illustrated in the disparate degrees of popularity of high-rise and low-rise housing developments in Brooklyn.

Over all, she is optimistic that we're on the threshold of solving a lot of human-settlement problems—first because of the "remarkable number of alternative answers that are beginning to be offered," and secondly because "there probably has never been a time when the risks and evils of society have been admitted and examined with such openness and objectivity."

The forthcoming Habitat conference grew out of the 1972 United Nations environmental conference at Stockholm, where it was decided that community problems needed a closer world look. Only belatedly was it realized that "problems of human settlements" encompass all the woes to which humanity is heir—an agenda of staggering breadth. Since then conference planners have been struggling to give the coming deliberations coherent and manageable form and direction. Miss Ward's trenchant treatise should lend guidance and hope both to the parley and to all concerned with the urban predicament.

Reactions Differ Over Media-F.B.I. Link

By DEIRDRE CARMODY

The disclosure that the Federal Bureau of Investigation has used, and may still be using, journalists as informers brought reactions from editors yesterday ranging from assertions that reporters should never supply information to intelligence agencies to speculation as to when providing such information might be proper. But for the most part the editors who were interviewed said that they would wait to comment on the latest disclosures about the F.B.I.'s use of journalists until they learned more details about just what the newspaper and television reporters had done for the F.B.I. The information is scheduled to be made public when the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence issues its report on domestic intelligence operations.

Information Act Cases

The bureau has refused to comment at all on the disclosures until they are made public. It has also resisted disclosure by the Senate panel and other investigators of the names of any of the individuals named in the report on the ground that they would "dry up" as providers of information.

This has led some newspapermen to believe that the F.B.I. may still be using journalists as informers. When similar disclosures were made recently about the Central Intelligence Agency, William E. Colby, who was then director, aser who had been employed by the agency.

The New York Times, for instance, filed two such requests under the Freedom of Information Act. One was denied and the other is still pending. Several editors held out the possibility yesterday that they might file such requests with the F.B.I. to make the names of informers public.

"Full information must come out on this to avoid smearing all journalists," said A. M. Rosenthal, managing editor of The New York Times.

Clayton Kirkpatrick, vice president and editor of the Chicago Tribune, said that while he was strongly opposed to journalists giving information to intelligence agencies, he did not think the F.B.I. should be required to make public the names of reporters.

"I'm not in favor of forcing any intelligence agency to expose any of its agents because I think that for the agency to be effective, it does have to have confidential aspects," he said. "But I don't think a newspaper person should be part of anybody's apparatus. I'm not sure that there are people who are serving two masters in our craft."

It is unclear so far whether the journalists carried instructions of F.B.I. agents and under what circumstances they provided information. There seems to be no evidence that any of the journalists were on the F.B.I.'s payroll. Television reporters as well as newspaper reporters were apparently employed.

Reporters are often in contact with Government officials while working on a story. For instance, a reporter covering a demonstration may well exchange observations with an F.B.I. agent on the scene and ask him questions.

This is neither unusual nor is it considered improper by most newspapers. But the area becomes murkier when information is changed and the reporter tells the agent a few things he knows in return for important information in his article.

In 1973, for instance, an Associated Press photographer leaving the besieged compound of Wounded Knee, S. D., told an F.B.I. agent at a government roadblock how many persons were inside the village and gave details of statements made at a news conference by Indian leaders. The photographer was dismissed by the A.P. for this, but then later reinstated when an arbitrator ruled in his favor.

Everts A. Graham Jr., managing editor for The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, said that one of his reporters was cooperating with the F.B.I. on an article involving highway corruption in Illinois. Mr. Graham said that the F.B.I. had been given names that the newspaper could not print because they were not believed to be confidential.

"We only allow it when we believe the public will be served better," he said.

There is now a stricter divide between government and the press than there once was. Eugene C. Patterson, president of The St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times said that this relationship of "arms-length" started early in the Nixon Administration.

"When subpoenas started coming down like leaves from the trees," he said, "during the cold war when a correspondent came back from an Iron Curtain country he was often debriefed by the State Department."

"Hell, when I came back from China, recently," he said, "I never heard a word from the State Department or the C.I.A. agencies asked the C.I.A. to provide the names of report-

Memo Says F.B.I. Sought Cambodia Story Source

Continued From Page 1, Col. 2

Unauthorized disclosures within the Nixon Administration led President Nixon to order wiretaps on the home telephones of four newsmen and 13 Government officials, including Mr. Halperin and Mr. Beecher.

The names of the newsmen to have been got in touch with were deleted by the bureau from the Hoover memorandum provided to Mr. Halperin's lawyers and the Justice Department lawyer present at Mr. DeLoach's deposition said that he believed the identities of the reporters should remain a secret.

Any information they supplied about Mr. Beecher's source for the article, he said, was given "either with an express or implied understanding of confidentiality" and the reporters would be "less inclined to be helpful in the future" if their identities were disclosed. The Times reported today that the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence had learned of a network of confidential F.B.I. informants among American journalists that existed until the end of 1973, and possibly later.

Mr. DeLoach said in the deposition that he initially recommended to Mr. Hoover that information be solicited from reporters about the Beecher article but that he could not recall whether he personally had telephoned any individual on the list.

The reporters in question were selected, he said, because they had written stories favorable to the F.B.I. in the past or the F.B.I. knew them personally, or something in that category.

U.S. Assurance Sought John Shattuck, a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union, which is helping to represent Mr. Halperin, responded to Mr. DeLoach, saying, "I want to make sure that we are in agreement that these individuals did not call in to the F.B.I., but they were, in fact, contacted by the F.B.I.; is that correct?"

Mr. Beecher's report disclosed that American B-52 bombers in previous weeks raided enemy supply dumps and base camps across the Cambodian border from Vietnam.

The disclosure of those raids presented the Nixon Administration with a ticklish problem because they had been conducted with the acquiescence of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, then the Cambodian ruler.

Mr. Nixon's foreign policy advisers reportedly feared that, once the bombings became publicly known, Prince Sihanouk would be forced to denounce them.

Labor Nominee Hinted

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Michael Moskow, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, is expected to be nominated by President Ford as Under Secretary of Labor, Administration sources said today.

Presidential Press Aides Talk of Truth

AUSTIN, Tex., April 23 (AP)—Many former White House press secretaries said Friday they were never told to lie to the press, but some said they had relayed information that turned out to be erroneous.

In a symposium with Washington reporters at the Lyndon B. Johnson Library, a few of the eight former press secretaries or assistants who participated complained that their sources of information in the executive branch had sometimes been less than candid with them.

Ron Nassen, President Ford's press secretary, said he was never asked to lie in the year and a half he held the job. The resignation of J. F. ten Horst, who quit as press secretary after President Ford pardoned Richard M. Nixon for any crimes he may have committed in office, caused the White House to work harder at keeping the press secretary informed, Mr. Nassen said.

Tom Johnson, assistant press secretary under President Johnson, recalled only one instance in which the White House denied something he knew to be true—plans for "an Austin-to-Boston political trip" after the President's visit to Southeast Asia.

"The President said he never had made plans for such a trip when three of us sat together in Seoul, Korea, and made plans for such a trip," Mr. Johnson said. George Christian, press secretary to President Johnson, said, "I outright lied to Dan Rather on the basis of misinformation from the Pentagon." Mr. Rather is a CBS News correspondent.

"That's the trap a press secretary gets into—if the President has available notes, on a daily basis or every other day basis, there would be less erroneous information put out on policy matters," Mr. Christian said. James Deakin of The St. Louis Post-Dispatch asked each of the press secretaries to say how much responsibility he felt he bore "for the political information that got out."

Someone from the audience shouted: "Let Ziegler answer that question." Ron Ziegler, who was spokesman for President Nixon, responded: "As part of the governmental process, I assume a great deal of responsibility for having served and for some of the errors I made as press secretary."

On an earlier question of whether any of the press secretaries had ever been ordered by a President to lie, Mr. Ziegler replied: "You have to keep in mind that I uttered the phrase 'inoperative.'"

He continued: "I agreed that the press secretary is only as good as the information he is given. I can underline that many times with reference to the Nixon years. Certain things turned out to be untrue. We all know that."

ON WINGS OF SONG

Sundays at 1:30 P.M.

Jewish sacred music presented by Cantor Paul Kwartin, with interviews and highlights from outstanding live performances. Sponsored by The Miller-Brewing Company.

The classic stations for classical music.

WQXR 106.1 FM STEREO

THE RADIO STATIONS OF THE NEW YORK TIMES

ANTIQUES

artful Providing fine antiques is both a science and art at the Original Center's 106 shops. Artful dealer Sally Lee of Frivolite presents internationally famous EDNA HIBEL's artistry (Tel. 371-2266). Come see. Tues.-Sat. 10:30-5:30 Sun. 12-5 FREE ADMISSION (Closed Mon) 415 E. 53 St. 40 E. 54 St. 488-0841

William Doyle Galleries Auction! WEDNESDAY at 10 a.m. Furniture, Paintings, Silver, Porcelain, Sculpture, Eggs and Tapestries Personal Property, etc. Refer to our ad in the Auction section, Sunday. TOMORROW Noon-5 p.m. MONDAY 9 a.m.-7:30 p.m. TUESDAY 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Doyle-Bryan O'Flaherty-J. Barry Donahue Auctioneers Telephone: (212) 427-2730; 988-3290

ARTS AND ANTIQUES FAIR & FLEA MARKET Sunday Noon to 7 P.M. Admission $1.50 5th St. & Avenue of the Americas or Shop for souvenirs of man's past.

THE ANNEX ANTIQUE FAIR/FLEA MARKET 24th St & Ave of the Americas Opens May 2 Every Sunday noon to 7 PM FREE ADMISSION Dealer information: OR 5-3860, 2-6 PM; 929-9144, after 6 PM

ANTIQUA DOLL, TOY, & GAME AUCTION MAY 2nd-1 P.M. Village Green Playhouse, 60 Main Street, Huntington, L.I., N.Y. Quality merchandise for the serious collector & investor. Only 400 theatre seats available. No standing room. No children. Terms: Cash. Food served. Reservations available via: Child's Play Box 798 Huntington 11743 516-271-8980 Member N.A.A. A Cantine-Kilpatrick Co.

ANTIQUA DOLL, TOY, & GAME AUCTION May 2nd-1 P.M. Village Green Playhouse, 60 Main Street, Huntington, L.I., N.Y. Preview May 1st, 2-7. Quality merchandise for the serious collector & investor. Only 400 theatre seats available. No standing room. No children. Terms: Cash. Food served. Reservations available via: Child's Play Box 798 Huntington 11743 516-271-8980 Member N.A.A. A Cantine-Kilpatrick Co.

ANTIQUA & FLEA MARKET SUN APRIL 26th Date May 2 OVER 50 HIBITS SUNDAY 10AM-5PM River Rd. 10000 to 10005, 4th Fl. Fairlane, 82 (near Ave). Proceeds to benefit Fairlane All Stars Soccer. Open 12-5 PM. BEV MICHAEL PROMOTION (201) 791-3145

CHARLES C. MACONE ANTIQUE RESTORATION Fine Furniture Restorations 880-9043 Dealers & Galleries Choice Space Available MANHATTAN ART & ANTIQUES CENTER (Between 53th & 54th St.) 1050 5th Ave. Fully air-conditioned, all modern conveniences, large reception area, excellent location, excellent condition. Close advertising direct mail and special exhibitions. Dev. & shops & galleries open. Under 12. Free. Call or write: 30 Ave. Bessie, 300 West Plaza, New York, NY 10014

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by WILL WENG

- CROSS 1 Western Indians 2 Friend, in Nice 3 General at Yorktown 4 Compass point 5 Guest 6 Joins the poker game 7 Highway: Abbr. 8 Hockey star 9 Chief Justice from Virginia 10 Like sea water 41 Like Williamsburg, Va. 43 More collected 44 Finished 45 Andrea 46 Shoe leathers 49 Buffalo or dollar 50 Singing word 53 Virginia's "worn" 57 Bitter (diehard) 58 Word with slow or cow 59 Early laborer 60 Scouts' good things 61 Tools DOWN 1 Window part 2 Friend, in Nice 3 General at Yorktown 4 Compass point 5 Guest 6 Joins the poker game 7 Highway: Abbr. 8 Hockey star 9 Chief Justice from Virginia 10 Like sea water 11 Back of relief 13 Bridge seats: Abbr. 18 Japanese natives 19 Accord 24 Japanese statesman and family 25 Recolled 26 Willow plain 27 Moon valley 28 Classified 29 Famed Virginia town 30 Practical 31 Butterfly 32 Restless facility 36 Like large areas of Virginia 37 Rectal pieces 38 Group of witches 40 Girl's name 42 So far 43 Diapers, as an acronym 45 Fixed potatoes 46 Bank fixture 47 Western Indians 48 Dash 49 Between A and F 51 Road 52 Brews 53 Chemical suffix: Var.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE: ACROSS: 1. IOWA, 2. NICE, 3. BATTLE, 4. NORTH, 5. GUEST, 6. DEAL, 7. HIGHWAY, 8. STARBUCK, 9. ROBERT H. LOUIS, 10. TIDE, 11. BACK, 12. BRIDGE, 13. SEAT, 14. ABBR., 15. JAPANESE, 16. NATIVES, 17. ACCORD, 18. JAPANESE, 19. STATESMAN, 20. AND, 21. FAMILY, 22. RECOLLED, 23. WILLOW, 24. MOON, 25. VALLEY, 26. CLASSIFIED, 27. FAMED, 28. VIRGINIA, 29. TOWN, 30. PRACTICAL, 31. BUTTERFLY, 32. RESTLESS, 33. FACILITY, 34. LIKE, 35. LARGE, 36. AREAS, 37. OF, 38. VIRGINIA, 39. RECTAL, 40. PIECES, 41. GROUP, 42. OF, 43. WITCHES, 44. GIRL'S, 45. NAME, 46. SO, 47. FAR, 48. DIAPERS, 49. AS, 50. AN, 51. ACRONYM, 52. FIXED, 53. POTATOES, 54. BANK, 55. FIXTURE, 56. WESTERN, 57. INDIANS, 58. DASH, 59. BETWEEN, 60. A, 61. AND, 62. F, 63. ROAD, 64. BREWS, 65. CHEMICAL, 66. SUFFIX, 67. VAR.

The New York Times

Founded in 1851
ADOLPH S. OCHS, Publisher 1896-1925
ARTHUR HAYS SULZBERGER, Publisher 1925-1961
GUY L. DUNFORD, Publisher 1961-1968

ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER
Publisher
JOHN B. CALDWELL, Editorial Page Editor
A. J. RASKIN, Assistant Editorial Page Editor
A. M. ROSENTHAL, Managing Editor
SEYMOUR TOFFER, Deputy Managing Editor
ARTHUR GELB, Assistant Managing Editor
PETER MILLONIS, Assistant Managing Editor
JACK ROSENTHAL, Associate Editor
CHARLOTTE CURTIS, Associate Editor
CLIFTON DANIEL, Associate Editor
MAX FRANKEL, Associate Editor
TOM WICKER, Associate Editor

Portugal at the Polls

Portugal is approaching what ought to be one of the greatest events of its modern history: the first free parliamentary elections in half a century, marking the formal return to democracy after the long night of the Salazar-Caetano dictatorships and the failure of a totalitarian leftist putsch last November.

Instead, the campaign for tomorrow's election has been clouded by severe economic depression, increasing violence, angry manifestations by some of the 800,000 destitute refugees from the former African colonies, general voter apathy and—most serious of all—bitter divisions among the democratic forces. In such circumstances, the elections may not produce the solid majority required for effective government.

The economic problems a civilian government must confront would be staggering even without the refugees. Portugal's economy was stagnant under the rightist regimes; but it has almost collapsed during two years of political turmoil, polarization and uncertainty after the takeover by the revolutionary Armed Forces Movement in April of 1974. A 15 percent unemployment rate and inflation exceeding 20 percent are in fact two of the lesser problems with which the elected leaders must cope.

Undoubtedly the steadily deteriorating economy has contributed to the seeming indifference of many Portuguese to the election campaign—in striking contrast to the balloting exactly a year ago for the assembly to write a new Constitution, which brought 92 percent of six million qualified voters to the polls. But another major damper on voter enthusiasm has been the serious bickering among the democratic parties, particularly between the Socialists and Popular Democrats.

Together, these pragmatic reformist parties polled 64 percent of the votes last year. They agree over a wide spectrum of social and economic issues. They stood firmly together in repulsing the bid for absolute power engineered by the Communists and their military allies last fall. There is every reason why they should join in a coalition after the elections to bolster democracy and guarantee the reforms the country needs.

A Western-oriented government anchored in an alliance between Socialists and Popular Democrats could make a powerful claim for the economic help it would need from the European Community, Canada and the United States. It could forge the strongest possible defenses against any fresh Communist adventures, a return to power by military revolutionaries, or a relapse into a rightist regime of the Salazar stamp.

Yet Mario Soares, whose Socialists led the field last year, swears he will not enter a coalition with anyone, even if this means leading a minority Socialist Government dependent for survival at times on Communist votes in Parliament. And the Popular Democrats have seemed more inclined recently to collaborate with the so-called Social Democratic Center, a conservative party, than with the Socialists.

Outsiders cannot tell Portuguese how to vote. All Portugal's friends and allies can do is to hope that after the election battle has been resolved, those democratic forces who view the country's future in almost identical patterns will overcome their divisions and work together to make that future a reality.

Oil Stockpiles . . .

The massive political obstacles encountered by programs to curb consumption and revive production of petroleum have increased the need to create the nation's first strategic oil reserve. Buffer stocks of one billion barrels, half by the end of 1982, were approved by Congress in December and President Ford now has rightly overruled his Budget Office in favor of a relatively rapid buildup toward that level.

It is unfortunate that accumulation of this stockpile, through Government-financed imports, could not have begun a year or two ago, taking advantage of the world's huge excess of oil production capacity over demand, as a result of the economic recession and the five-fold oil price increase. But output is still far below capacity. It thus should be possible to build the American stockpile without adding to the upward pressures on the oil price, mainly political, that already exist.

Mr. Ford's request for $871 million for the next fiscal year will get work far along on the underground cavities, or leased salt domes, in which the oil will be stored and will pay for the first 50 million barrels of oil. The target of an initial 150 million barrels by the end of 1978 has been reaffirmed.

The billion-barrel stockpile, when accumulated, will provide the equivalent of five to six months' imports at present levels. But even the first 150 million barrels will provide a substantial safety factor. The 1973-74 embargo reduced Arab but not other OPEC exports and it cut the total oil imports of the industrial nations only about 10 percent. Even with a stockpile of only 150 million barrels, the United States could make up for a cutback of that dimension for more than six months. It would be irresponsible now not to proceed to build that initial stockpile in a rapid but orderly fashion.

. . . and a Common Front

More important, without a good beginning, the whole program would appear in doubt at a time when the 17 other countries in the American-sponsored International Energy Agency, disturbed by the lagging American oil conservation effort, are wondering how committed the United States really is to a common energy program.

That program, which has now agreed on a relatively high floor price of $7 a barrel for oil to stimulate energy investment, has been made possible by the American commitment to pool supplies in an emergency with West Europe and Japan, which are far more vulnerable to an embargo. The billion-barrel stockpile target is a critical element in making that commitment credible.

Without it, a common front of the consumers in negotiating with the oil cartel on future prices and security of supply would be difficult to maintain. And there would be a danger again, as there was in early 1974, that each of the NATO countries and Japan would seek to assure its own supplies at the expense of the others, bidding up prices and increasing the vulnerability of all the industrial countries to Arab political and economic pressures.

The Housing Decision

The Supreme Court's unanimous judgment that Federal courts have the power to order Federal officials to promote low-income housing for minorities in the suburbs accomplished two laudable aims. It interrupted the recent unfortunate tendency of the Court to limit access to the Federal judiciary of constitutional and civil rights claimants and it recognized grim urban realities which the Administration's housing officials have steadfastly ignored.

The suit was brought in 1966 by six black Chicagoans who alleged that Federal and local housing policies had violated both the Constitution and the 1964 Civil Rights Act by placing almost all of Chicago's low-income public housing in black areas within the city. One object of the suit was to require the Department of Housing and Urban Development to develop low-income housing sites outside the city limits.

The Court reasoned that since H.U.D. had been found to have violated the Constitution and since Federal housing policy set forth in the Community Development Act of 1974 directed H.U.D. to select sites that would "avoid undue concentration of assisted persons in areas containing a high proportion of low-income persons," a court order would not interfere with suburban jurisdictions more than the administrative action mandated under the 1974 law.

The decision will probably not trigger a rash of lawsuits and rapid desegregation of the suburbs. Nevertheless, it is significant. Coupled with a recent Connecticut Federal court injunction holding up funds for Hartford's suburbs until they comply with requirements to plan for low- and moderate-income residents, the decision clearly signals that the Federal judiciary is prepared to require H.U.D. to obey the law.

While even an aggressive program of developing scattered-site housing under current law will not solve the problems of America's center cities, it would be a reversal of the Federal policies which were originally responsible for upper-class, largely white, suburbs ringed increasingly poorer and darker urban cores. That problem, as the Episcopal Bishop of New York, the Rt. Rev. Paul Moore Jr., recently noted, is severely threatening the balance and comity of American life.

Though those old policies have been changed by Congress on paper, they have not yet been thoroughly tested by vigorous executive action at H.U.D. Perhaps under the prod of the judiciary, the Administration will begin the difficult and complex effort of developing the broad housing opportunities for the poor that Congress directed it to undertake almost two years ago.

Prohibition of Love

The case of the four young sisters, ranging in age from 9 to 13, who were forced by court order to leave the home of their foster parents of more than five years, is a shocking reminder of the inhumane and irrational treatment of foster children under New York State law.

Two of the youngsters were returned to their unmarried natural mother, from whose custody they were originally removed for reasons of neglect and abuse. The other two were assigned temporarily to another foster home, pending determination whether the mother could be trusted to cope with the supervision of all her children. Two other children had been returned to her earlier, after two years in a foster home.

The four girls' tearful parting from their equally desolate foster parents, who were ordered by the court never to see the youngsters again, only emphasized the dismal cruelty of the existing legal process. The charge by State Supreme Court Justice Bernard McCaffrey that the foster parents should not have allowed their love to have "grown too deep" sounds nothing short of medieval. Yet the judge was merely obeying the medieval strictures mandated by New York's existing law.

The state's courts adhere to an irrationally strong "presumption" that, except in the face of flagrant neglect or abuse, a natural parent has "a supreme right" to the children. From that presumption flows the legal definition of the foster home's role as nothing more than a short-term storage tank. Viewed only as temporary caretakers, foster parents are therefore expected to avoid any attachment between themselves and the children residing with them.

The assumption that children's interests can best be served by a mandated "neutral position" that precludes love amounts to an appalling lack of understanding of children's needs, even when only short periods of foster care are involved. In reality, the record shows that the average length of foster care in New York is four years, and in over 40 percent of all cases exceeds five years.

Placing children into an impersonal, loveless holding pattern is legally mandated cruelty. For youngsters who have already suffered parental neglect or abuse, the added trauma of such cold storage cries out for a basic reappraisal of the legal process.

A bill that focuses on children's rights has been introduced in both houses of the Legislature. It deserves support by those who want to prevent the regular recurrence of parental abuse, compounded by state-ordered prohibition of love and affection.

Letters to the Editor

A Case for Razing Blighted City Areas

To the Editor:
When Felix G. Rohatyn, the Governor's New York City Economic Recovery Program chairman, proposed razing some blighted residential areas for use as industrial sites, he was denounced by various minority leaders.

Said one: "It amounts to an attempt to deport [sic] blacks and Puerto Ricans from vital regions of our city. We cannot get away from the fact that if cities were not inhabited by people of color, planners would think of other approaches to the problem." Instead of "clearing residential areas of the city," said another, "let him use up vacant land already there."

Blacks, Puerto Ricans and other residents of blighted neighborhoods are hardest hit by the city's economic crisis. But even if they were able to maintain an equal, or at least a constant, percentage of New York City's dwindling employment, they would still be disproportionately affected unless they were able to shed their historic ties to the central city.

Despite intensive work by Federal, state and city agencies to enable minorities to live in all neighborhoods, they still cluster in the central parts of central cities. It is a sad fact that these areas have—for many and varied reasons—frequently become blighted at about the time of their arrival.

In sharp contrast to their immobility, however, industries which could offer them jobs are leaving this region entirely. Minorities therefore desperately need new industries to move into New York in order to be able to maintain and enlarge their share of the American way of life.

Such industries cannot be expected to locate in the same blighted neighborhoods that other employers have recently fled, even if they would be welcome there. Nor do these "bombed out" partially occupied areas offer an easy life for their remaining tenants.

Thus, if there exists in New York a single neighborhood so eroded that, by comparison with its surroundings, there are few occupants remaining, which has the other basic essentials required by modern industry, its conversion to an industrial park could bring some real prosperity to the adjoining communities and their minority people. In such a case, it would be real discrimination not to try it.

Instead of carelessly impugning the motives and sensitivities of a man who came here as a victim of the Nazis, it is time for New Yorkers to swallow some hard facts and evaluate the few remaining sound alternatives. "Minorities" will soon be in the majority here. Will they be able to afford it?

JOHN F. WATERMAN
Brooklyn, April 16, 1976

Of Marcos and the U

To the Editor:
The April 13 editorial "Phi New Society" comes at a time the Philippine-U.S. Military Agreement is being renegotiated in Washington.

After a recital of its observations on President Marcos' New (all negative, completely ignorant, positive and constructive at best), the Times admonishes the American Government to use a "diplomatic situation in the Philippines" interpreted by the Times, as a "chip" for the bases' renegotiation. Other words: The Times is after to utilize the American panel as for solving a problem which only in its editorial mind.

As to the reference that the now are "more important to the Philippines" than to the United States, the Philippine delegation present in Washington made it clear in the mouth of its chairman, Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo, that "from our viewpoint, we feel we must appear in conversations on the basic situation that in projecting our power we are not encumbered by the sins of any subsisting military men between our two Governments."

The Times is free to infer from statement that the Philippines intend to drop the treaties which more than a generation have the interests of the United States than the interests of the Philippines. To serve the common security interests of the two countries, new agreements are needed, based on mutual interests rather than on ill-considered arrangements on the economic and military cooperation between two countries.

The American people are for that. The Times is not running esteemed country.

ERNESTO C. I.
Consul General of the Philippines
New York, April 13, 1976

To the Editor:
Your April 13 editorial "Phi New Society" is a welcome addition to the arm of Filipinos everywhere are committed and are struggling to restore the democratic way in the Philippines. Truly, the spirit of freedom and the ideals of democracy live on in the hearts of millions of Filipinos. What an irony, the other Filipino has forced a dictatorial form of government on his country.

There is nothing in the reform, allegedly being sought by President Marcos under martial law which cannot be successfully planned and executed under the 1934 Philippine Constitution (excluding the provisions on martial law) and other statutory provisions. In the absence of and apparent threat of external aggression, must be entertaining superior and unpatriotic motives; then basic, sincere and objective forms. That President Marcos borrows to "lift martial law" the Philippines three and a half after its declaration shows the fish, ulterior and unpatriotic motives.

The way to genuine political social stability in the Philippines: the short and long run, is for President Marcos to lift martial law immediately and allow his people to breathe again the sweet air of freedom and patience of freedom-loving Filipinos cannot be taxed too long. The fight for freedom and the rule of law.

ALFREDO T. TES
New York, April 13, 1976

To the Editor:
Your April 13 editorial "Phi New Society" is a welcome addition to the arm of Filipinos everywhere are committed and are struggling to restore the democratic way in the Philippines. Truly, the spirit of freedom and the ideals of democracy live on in the hearts of millions of Filipinos. What an irony, the other Filipino has forced a dictatorial form of government on his country.

There is nothing in the reform, allegedly being sought by President Marcos under martial law which cannot be successfully planned and executed under the 1934 Philippine Constitution (excluding the provisions on martial law) and other statutory provisions. In the absence of and apparent threat of external aggression, must be entertaining superior and unpatriotic motives; then basic, sincere and objective forms. That President Marcos borrows to "lift martial law" the Philippines three and a half after its declaration shows the fish, ulterior and unpatriotic motives.

The way to genuine political social stability in the Philippines: the short and long run, is for President Marcos to lift martial law immediately and allow his people to breathe again the sweet air of freedom and patience of freedom-loving Filipinos cannot be taxed too long. The fight for freedom and the rule of law.

ALFREDO T. TES
New York, April 13, 1976

To the Editor:
The April 12 Op-Ed article "Peking's Nuclear Handicap" is quite misleading. The Peking has not intensified the sign of nuclear hardware is the sign of caution or self-restraint; results from its incapability of so because of endless political dances at home which have made possible any significant scientific advancement. Peking refused to sign Nuclear Test Ban Treaty in 1964 to now, Peking has not made change in its position.

PAUL K.
Jamaica, N.Y., April 12, 1976
The writer is director of the Center for Asian Studies, St. John's University, Jamaica, N.Y.

To the Editor:
I agree with the basic points in April 13 editorial "F.B.I. as Burglar" but one sentence is erroneous and quite misleading.

You describe the Socialist Workers' Party as "an organization singularly lacking in political influence." This true, the revelations of harassment would appear to be as well as violative of the State's Constitution.

While the S.W.P.'s election paigns receive few votes (about 10 in the last Presidential race), its influence of the party has been much more extensively in other areas of politics. To cite the most recent example, the party's long anti-Vietnam War movement was more influential than the party's anti-war appeal would indicate.

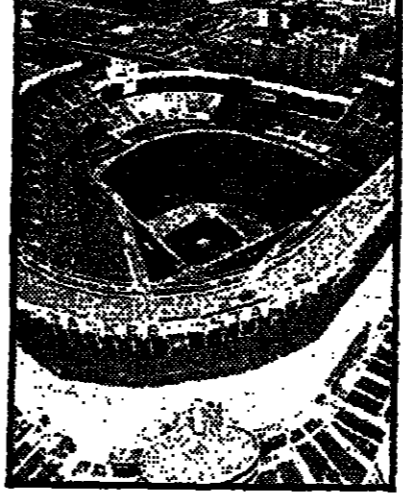

It was for this reason, as well as the party's role in the defense of Cuban Revolution and the civil rights movement, that the F.B.I. paid so (illegal) attention to a small, anti-Vietnam War movement was more influential than the party's anti-war appeal would indicate.

It was for this reason, as well as the party's role in the defense of Cuban Revolution and the civil rights movement, that the F.B.I. paid so (illegal) attention to a small, anti-Vietnam War movement was more influential than the party's anti-war appeal would indicate.

Wm. R. JAMES
Philadelphia, April 1, 1976

Construction Priority

To the Editor:
Seymour Weisman's April 14 letter is absolutely correct in protesting that Governor Carey's Budget Director is allocating funds for new buildings for the State University but denying funds for City University buildings "already under construction." Mr. Weisman has fired off a good shot, but at the wrong target.

There is no denying that SUNY needs construction funds as badly as CUNY, but there is no reason that the one university should gain at the expense of the other.

Mr. Weisman, and all others concerned with cancellation of construction of schools, hospitals, housing, etc., should—must, in fact—read your April 15 news article on the Yankee Stadium. The Times note reveals for all to see that the cost of this handout to the Yankees, touted by then-Mayor Lindsay and then-Comptroller Beame as costing only $22 million, has so far ballooned to some $60 million, and conservative estimates of the final cost are well over $100 million. To add injury to insult, the stadium will represent an annual $500,000 loss to the city for all time.

That's where CUNY's construction money is going, Mr. Weisman. It is not a question of "no money available" but what is being done with the funds that are available.

At least $40 million more is scheduled to be poured into the stadium, unless Mr. Weisman and others like him force this Operation Rat-Hole to a stop.

ERAZ HEMMAN
Bronx, April 15, 1976

Woodpeckers: Old News

To the Editor:
The fact that studies of the shock-absorbing head and neck structure of woodpeckers may some day help to save humans from serious injuries provides still another answer to that question frequently asked by anti-conservationists: "What good is a bird?"

But The Times news report on the work of a group of California researchers ("How Woodpecker Keeps From Being a Numbskull," April 14) suggests that medical people shouldn't practice ornithology without a license. That woodpeckers (and certain other cavity-chiseling birds) possess remarkable skeletal and muscular adaptations isn't news to any well-read bird watcher. The first studies of such cranial peculiarities were done in the 1870's, and the noted zoologist William Burt received his doctorate in 1930 from the University of California for a study of adaptive modifications in woodpeckers.

LES LINE
Editor, Audubon
New York, April 14, 1976

Faculty Desegregation: The Rationalizers

To the Editor:
Jaroslav Pelikan's March 29 Op-Ed article, "Quality and Equality," deserves serious reply. The dean of Yale's Graduate School offers a poor and pathetic explanation for academia's lack of success in desegregating faculty and administrative staff. The mere "assurance" a "university is an equal opportunity employer" is not enough. Without the actual hiring of minorities on all levels the "equal opportunity employer" sloganizing is rhetoric, and deceptive propaganda.

While Dean Pelikan admits that "our search for 'qualified' minorities" too often proves to be a disappointment . . . to anyone who truly believes in the principle of equal opportunity," he cannot bring himself to the conclusion that minorities are being excluded from the university's faculties. He balances "quality" against demands for "equity" and asserts that because there aren't enough "qualified" minorities (yet) we should merely recite the "need to make graduate study available to an increasing number of applicants from minority groups." The assertion that there is a "diminishing shortage" of minority college seniors applying to graduate school misses the point. The problem is that not many minority candidates are being accepted to graduate schools, on the pretext that they are not as "qualified" as white candidates.

Mr. Pelikan's notions of "qualifications" defy objective scrutiny. They are "intangibles" which college search committees find useful or expedient rationalizations for maintaining the status quo—which just happens to be the preferential hiring of whites. The impact and use of such elusive terms as "academic excellence" is clear: They confuse and undermine serious efforts to enforce equal opportunity policies. We reject the gradualist approach to equality. "Quotas," "merit" and "preferential hiring" are derivative issues, and must be seen in the context of the movement to put an end to institutional racism.

The hiring of minorities (now) to fill faculty posts will not be "at the cost" of quality schools. The demonstrable fact is that the schools which presently miseducate and neglect our children are staffed by teachers and administrative personnel who were selected by "merit."

Certainly whites and nonwhites ought to be held to a single standard of performance. But white faculties will be the last to be convinced that our colleges are not in the main staffed by "scholars" but by people with, at best, average credentials and qualifications. It is unconscionable to hold blacks to a higher standard of achievement and exact from them superhuman evidence of "rigorous scholarship."

MICHAEL MEYERS
Assistant Director, N.A.A.C.P.
New York, April 14, 1976

The New York Times Company

229 West 43d St., N.Y. 10018

ARTHUR OCHS SULZBERGER, Chairman and President
JOHN J. MCCABE, Senior Vice President

JAMES C. GOODALE, Executive Vice President
MICHAEL E. RYAN, Secretary
RALPH BOWMAN, Treasurer

WALTER MATTHEWSON, Executive Vice President
JOHN MORTIMER, Senior Vice President
JOHN D. FOMBERT, Senior Vice President
DONALD A. NIZEN, Vice President
FRED D. THOMPSON, Vice President

SYDNEY CRISON, Executive Vice President
BENJAMIN HANDELMAN, Senior Vice President
CHARLES E. BRACEFIELD, Vice President
WILLIAM H. DAVIS, Vice President
JOHN R. HARRISON, Vice President
ROBERT S. NOVEMBER, Vice President
ARNOLD ROHN, Vice President

Corporate

The New York Times

Affiliated Companies

LETTERS RATED TAR, NICOTINE

F.T.C. in 17th Listing Gives Content of 145 Brands

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—The Federal Government released today the results of its latest testing of cigarettes for tar and nicotine.

It was the 17th time the Federal Trade Commission has listed the tar and nicotine content of cigarettes since 1967. The agency tested cigarettes bought from August to October, 1975, in 50 locations throughout the country.

The tests showed that filter-tipped Carlton 70s had the lowest in tar and nicotine content of 145 cigarette brands. They found that regular-size, nonfilter Players had the highest amount of tar and the second highest amount of nicotine.

The commission, in releasing the results of its latest tests, said it found that the amounts of tar varied from 2 to 31 milligrams, and nicotine contents ranged from Carlton 70's two-tenths of 1 percent of a milligram to 2.1 percent of a milligram found in English Ovals.

According to the National Cancer Institute, tar is the element in a cigarette smoke that produces cancer. It also contains elements that act as irritants. The institute draws a direct relationship between the amount of tar inhaled by a smoker and the risk of cancer.

Nicotine is a poison and because it acts as a powerful stimulant in small doses, is a prime suspect as a cause of heart attacks.

Following are the ratings based on the order of tar values. The order would vary somewhat if listed by nicotine value which is the second figure. All are filter brands, unless otherwise noted.

1. Carlton 70s regular, 2 mg tar, .2ms nicotine
2. Carlton king menthol, 4 and 3.
3. Carlton king, 4 and 3.
4. King Sam's king, 7 and 4.
5. King Sam's king menthol, 8 and 4.
6. Lechery 100s menthol, 9 and 2.
7. Full Mail Extra Mild king (hard pack), 9 and 2.
8. Benson & Hedges regular (hard pack), 9 and 2.
9. Lucky Ten king, 9 and 2.
10. Larch 100s, 9 and 2.
11. Full Mail Extra Mild king, 10 and 2.
12. Bullwhip king menthol, 10 and 2.
13. Vantage king, 11 and 2.
14. Vantage king menthol, 11 and 2.
15. True king, 11 and 2.
16. True king menthol, 11 and 2.
17. Temco king, 11 and 2.
18. True 100mm, 12 and 2.
19. True 100mm, 12 and 2.
20. Multifilter king, 13 and 2.
21. Kool Milds king menthol, 13 and 2.
22. Winston Lights king, 13 and 2.
23. Marlboro Lights king, 13 and 2.
24. Marlboro Lights king menthol, 13 and 2.
25. Viceroy Extra Mild king, 14 and 2.
26. Viceroy king menthol, 14 and 2.
27. Alpine king menthol, 14 and 2.
28. Marlboro king menthol (hard pack), 14 and 2.
29. Parliament king, 14 and 2.
30. Dorel king, 15 and 1.
31. Marlboro king menthol, 15 and 2.
32. Kool king (hard pack), 15 and 2.
33. Balaio king menthol, 15 and 2.
34. Balaio king (hard pack), 15 and 2.
35. Benson & Hedges king (hard pack), 15 and 2.
36. Parliament king, 16 and 2.
37. Tramps king menthol, 16 and 2.
38. Galaxy king, 16 and 2.
39. Viceroy king, 16 and 2.
40. Raleigh king, 16 and 2.
41. Kent king, 16 and 2.
42. Old Gold filters king (hard pack), 16 and 2.
43. Full Mail 100 mm menthol, 16 and 1.2.
44. Virginia Slims 100 mm, 16 and 1.2.
45. Phillis Morris International 100 mm (hard pack), 16 and 1.2.
46. Silver King 100 mm, 16 and 1.2.
47. Virginia Slims 100 mm, 16 and 1.2.
48. Zack king (hard pack), 16 and 1.2.
49. Newport king menthol (hard pack), 16 and 1.2.
50. Super 100 menthol, 16 and 1.2.
51. Tramps king, 17 and 1.1.
52. Kool king menthol (hard pack), 17 and 1.1.
53. Kent 100 mm menthol, 17 and 1.1.
54. Phillis Morris International 100 mm (hard pack), 17 and 1.1.
55. Old Gold Filters king, 17 and 1.1.
56. Parliament 100 mm, 17 and 1.1.
57. Lark king (hard pack), 17 and 1.2.
58. Silver King 100 mm, 17 and 1.2.
59. Newport king menthol, 17 and 1.2.
60. Balaio 100 mm menthol, 17 and 1.2.
61. Kent 100 mm, 17 and 1.2.
62. Marlboro 100 mm menthol, 17 and 1.2.
63. Marlboro 100 mm (hard pack), 17 and 1.2.
64. Zack king menthol, 17 and 1.2.
65. Raleigh 100 mm, 17 and 1.2.
66. Kool 100 mm menthol, 17 and 1.2.
67. Marlboro 100 mm (hard pack), 18 and 1.2.
68. Benson & Hedges 100s menthol, 18 and 1.2.
69. Twist 100 mm (hard pack), 18 and 1.2.
70. St. Morris 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
71. St. Morris 100 mm menthol, 18 and 1.2.
72. Viceroy 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
73. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
74. Marlboro king, 18 and 1.2.
75. Lark king, 18 and 1.2.
76. Benson & Hedges 100s menthol, 18 and 1.2.
77. Camel king (hard pack), 18 and 1.2.
78. Zack king, 18 and 1.2.
79. Camel king, 18 and 1.2.
80. Camel king, 18 and 1.2.
81. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
82. Kent 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
83. Silver King 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
84. Newport king menthol, 18 and 1.2.
85. Super 100 regular, 18 and 1.2.
86. Saratoga 120 mm (hard pack), 18 and 1.2.
87. Newport king (hard pack), 18 and 1.2.
88. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
89. Camel 110 mm, 18 and 1.2.
90. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
91. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
92. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
93. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
94. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
95. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
96. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
97. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
98. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
99. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.
100. Winston 100 mm, 18 and 1.2.

bloomingdale's great international rug collection clearance save 20% to 60%

ORIENTAL DESIGNS! RYA RUGS! NATURAL AND MODERN WEAVES... PLUS A SELECTION OF BROADLOOM VALUES. COME IN FOR THEM ALL. LIMITED QUANTITIES AVAILABLE... MANY SPECIAL PURCHASES AND ONE-OF-A-KIND RUGS. RUGS AND BROADLOOM, 6th FLOOR, NEW YORK. SIMILAR SELECTIONS AT ALL STORES. HERE'S A PARTIAL LISTING OF WHAT YOU'LL FIND.

ORIENTAL DESIGNS

"KASHMIR"

Our 100% wool pile antique reproduction in rich Caucasian patterns and soft colorings. Available in four designs.

5'6"x8'6", reg. 325.00	199.00
8'3"x11'6", reg. 550.00	399.00

"ROYALTY"

Ours exclusively. Woven in Belgium of 100% wool pile that recreates the beauty of rare Persian designs. Available in five distinctive patterns.

5'6"x8'6", reg. 425.00	275.00
8'3"x11'6", reg. 725.00	499.00

"KASAL"

Moroccan designs re-created with the look of the North African originals. Woven of 100% wool pile and available in five patterns.

4'x6', orig. 180.00	79.00
5'7"x7'10", orig. 285.00	169.00
6'7"x9'10", orig. 410.00	249.00
8'2"x11'6", reg. 550.00	349.00

MODERN MOODS

"BANTU"

A modern design with an African influence. Made in Holland of 100% wool pile. Available in beige brown.

4'x6', orig. 150.00	79.00
5'7"x7'10", orig. 270.00	159.00
8'3"x11'2", orig. 500.00	299.00

"VILLAGER"

Totally today, yet with a folklore look. Woven in Holland of 100% wool pile and available in three patterns.

4'6', orig. 175.00	79.00
5'7"x7'10", orig. 325.00	149.00
8'3"x11'2", orig. 550.00	249.00

SORRY, NO MAIL OR PHONE ORDERS.
...NO C.O.D.'s. HURRY IN... QUANTITIES LIMITED.
RUGS AND BROADLOOM, 6th FLOOR.
NEW YORK AND ALL STORES.

THE NATURALS

"DRUGGET"

Our 100% wool flat-pile rug hand-woven in India... a perfect accent for any decor. Available in two patterns.

30"x64", orig. 35.00	15.00
4'x6', orig. 50.00	25.00
42"x66", orig. 50.00	25.00
5'6"x8'6", orig. 120.00	49.00

"NAGIN"

Made expressly for us in India of 100% wool pile with an attractive chain stitch. Available in five graphic patterns.

6'x9', orig. 195.00	79.00
---------------------	-------

"FLOKATI"

Our fabulously rich, plush shag that looks like the real thing. Here in a machine washable, non-allergenic acrylic pile in white, natural, brown or beige.

30"x60", orig. 25.00	15.00
4'x5', orig. 50.00	25.00
5'x8'6", orig. 100.00	59.00
8'3"x11'6", orig. 150.00	109.00

RYA RUGS

"SURF"

In a rich, high pile-woven of 100% wool. This traditional, bold Rya pattern is available in three colorways.

4'6"x6'7", orig. 155.00	99.00	8'2"x11'3", orig. 400.00	249.00
5'7"x7'10", orig. 235.00	149.00

"NORDEN"

Our colorful Rya from England is woven of 80% wool and 20% nylon pile. Available in two strong patterns, each in four fabulous colorways.

5'7"x7'10", reg. 275.00	99.00	8'2"x11'6", reg. 550.00	199.00
-------------------------	-------	-------------------------	--------

NEW LOW PRICES... SAVE $3 TO $6 PER SQUARE YARD IN OUR SPECIAL BROADLOOM EVENT

"DEAUVILLE" 10.50 per sq. yd. regularly 13.50 per square yard, installed.	"EXCELLENCE" 12.75 per sq. yd. regularly 16.75 per square yard, installed.	"EBBTIDE" 13.00 per sq. yd. regularly 17.00 per square yard, installed.
"SOUTHPORT" 13.00 per sq. yd. regularly 17.50 per square yard, installed.	"DOMINION" 14.75 per sq. yd. regularly 20.25 per square yard, installed.	"ESPIRIT" 19.00 per sq. yd. regularly 23.50 per square yard, installed.

1000 Third Avenue, New York. Bergen County, Fresh Meadows, Garden City, Manhasset, New Rochelle, Scarsdale, Short Hills, Stamford, White Plains. Open late Monday and Thursday. Chestnut Hill open late Monday through Friday. Jenkintown open late Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Handwritten signature or mark.

Gathered at dockside in the port of Honfleur to watch the catch being brought in. They fear the competition of the large trawler with freezer tanks, which can catch more fish and sell for less.

Progress' Is Sinking French Fishermen

F. CLARITY

New York Times France—Every 100 obstinate of this calm wooden-hulled make a living up, whiting, le out of the Seine Estuary a Channel ben of Honfleur, dwindles each still master 'emies: shift-rift tides and storms. What pe with, the as they un-as at the stone mercial and ss of France, urope, which men feel is r way of life. try to sell pleasure sail-from other ament of the fleur reflects thousands of dead middle-the arti- small- to find that eing put out ncreasing ef-chemical im- the French yllowing of by big out-in Paris, the problem ing middle- small-busi- ars. It has to subsidize ge others to erations, or un more ef-nd officials, hermen, ac- the small- id self-em- re becoming i social and n France, men of Hon- 9,000 with yal bastion, re for New s such as ain, favorite impressionist begun, per- ght progress seems fea- joining prog- might help ice for fish. t. In recent court to get ent a com- a across the umping sul- into the sea. at that, for e fishermen ng to think ser cooper- price for sell scoff at izing fish so r shipped Because of it takes fishermen, ing Time: Tomorrow April 23 tend will be ban any oth- er year. It's nual change ing time Sun-occurring at s Sunday, is most Ameri- our of day- of each work s' weekend weekend of be set ahead ltime Satur- as passed a for eight ght time, in- rent six, but s heavy op- sive and in- nor take et-working mostly on small boats, to catch as much fish a year as 8,000 West Ger- mans working on large trawlers with freezer tanks. The fishermen of Honfleur insist that they will not freeze their catch because Frenchmen still insist on fresh fish for dinner or lunch.

Paul Panier, head of the local, loosely knit fishermen's union, said the men "like the idea of being their own boss."

"They have the impression that this way they have freedom," he said. He added, however, that all but 28 of Honfleur's fishing boats were now up for sale in a port that had 68 boats working two years ago.

With a rueful smile that barely moved his thick mustache, he said that the union's recent court action was a failure. The court, at the regional center of Rouen, suspended the Le Havre factory's right to dump the acid in the sea. But the company, Thann-Mulhouse, found a loophole in the decree and continues to let the acid flow.

The court action cost the fishermen more than $4,000 and they have decided not to spend any more fighting the pollution they, contend is damaging their fishing grounds, a contention denied by the company and by environment officials in Paris.

"Progress is croaking up and there is no way out," said André Delestre, who sold his boat last year and now works occasionally for other owners.

Another fisherman, Christian Gaudebois, finished packing up the 30 pounds of shrimp he had just sold to a broker at the quay and said that for seven years he spends that day, he would get about $10. He said he could earn much more when the shrimp grow bigger in the summer but that his average monthly pay would still not be more than $450, considerably less than he could earn in a factory.

"Maybe I am crazy," Mr. Gaudebois said. "I know you can't be against progress. But, let me tell you, work all day in a factory, someone always watching you, you nunch out at 6 o'clock. Is that a life? I have a brother-in-law. He works with computers, for an American company, in Paris. He has a nice house, all that. But he spends all day messing around with his computers in an office, goes home in the subway and at the end of the month he is broke. When I go to visit him, I have more in my pocket than he does."

Quayside vendor wraps fish, just unloaded, for customer

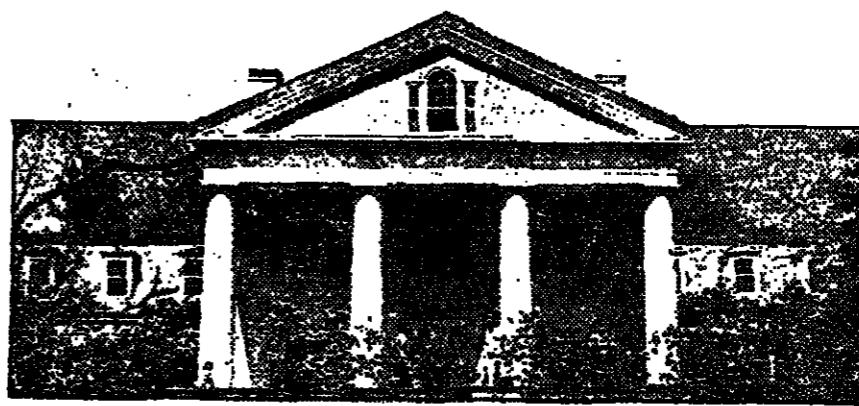

House on the Block Opens Doors

A George III silver epergne. At rear, a visitor to the auction looks over catalogue of offerings.

Thomas Devenish, a Madison Avenue antiques dealer, examines the bottom of a George II walnut chair.

The rear portico of the Chance Hill Farm estate

By LUCINDA FRANKS

Special to The New York Times

WILTON, Conn., April 23—Shortly before the visitors arrived, a security man carefully removed the gold hooks and gold scalloped soap dishes from the bathrooms and cupboards.

Armed guards and staff members took up stations around the grounds. The stables and orchards and meadows of dogwood were roped off.

And then they came, in a steady stream, up through the white pillars, over the intricate Savonnerie-style carpet, some with children, another with a dog that skidded across the marble floors. They rapped on fruitwood cabinets, overturned mahogany side chairs, opened drawers, peeked under Bergère a la Reine cushions.

The mistress of the mansion, unnoticed in blue jeans and blue canvas sneakers, floated through the curious invasion, like a ghost from the past. It was not the storming of the Bastille or the taking of the Winter Palace. It was a scene that has become quite common these days—the offering up of what had been a very private secluded estate for public auction.

The people were attending a preview of the contents of the estate, Chance Hill Farm, which contains what is regarded as one of the finest private racing stables in the Northeast. It is owned by Daniel Firestone, heiress to the Avon Products fortune.

The contents, estimated to bring a minimum of $150,000, will be auctioned off tomorrow by Sotheby Parke Bernet, and the 200-acre estate, complete with several smaller houses, a swimming pool, grass

Continued on Page 33, Column 5

Browsers looking over items for sale in the formal living room of the mansion

News Summary and Index

SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1976

The Major Events of the Day

International

While awaiting the arrival of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in Nairobi today, where he will begin a 12-day tour of seven African states, African leaders are wondering just how far he is prepared to go in offering tangible support for nationalist movements in Rhodesia and South-West Africa. The question is expected to emerge early next week in Tanzania and Zambia, where the presidents of those countries will press hard for United States assurances of support, even direct military backing, primarily for the guerrilla forces opposing the Rhodesian Government. [Page 1, Column 3.]

Two of Spain's most distinguished scholars who had sworn never to set foot in the country while Franco was alive have returned from four decades of exile. Claudio Sánchez-Albornoz, a historian and former president of the republic in exile, returned from Buenos Aires with an appeal for peace and reconciliation. He said that he planned to spend only a few months in Spain, and then return to Argentina "to die, unless I die of emotion in Spain." His return followed by two weeks that of Salvador de Madariaga, the writer, who had been living in Switzerland. [1:1-2.]

National

Called out by Mayor Kevin H. White, tens of thousands of people marched through Boston's center in a "Procession Against Violence," hoping to ease the city's racial tensions. The marchers were mainly middle class and white. The parade was led by the Mayor, Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, Senators Edward M. Kennedy and Edward W. Brooke, and other officials. [1:3.]

The Supreme Court turned down the pleas by seven contenders in the Presidential primaries for a resumption of Federal campaign subsidies. Without an explanation for the refusal, the decision was announced in a brief order that said that the motions made by the contenders on Thursday and a motion by the Democratic National Committee asking permission to file a friend-of-the-court brief supporting the contenders had been denied. The candidates may now go before the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. [1:7.]

A 1969 memorandum from the late J. Edgar Hoover to his top associates in the Federal Bureau of Investigation ordered that the F.B.I. use its confidential informants in the news media to determine the source of an article in The New York Times reporting secret American bombing raids on Cambodia. The document was provided by the F.B.I. to lawyers representing Morton H. Halperin, a former National Security Council aide whose telephone was tapped by the F.B.I. from 1969 to 1971. Mr. Halperin is suing the Government for damages. [1:1-2.]

Metropolitan

The State Department of Insurance approved a 47 percent increase in the automobile insurance rates of the half million New York State customers of the financially troubled Government Employees Insurance Company. The new rates become effective May 3 and affect all new and renewed policies. They follow two increases last year totaling 21.4 percent and virtually eliminate GEICO's competitive edge over other insurers in some parts of the state. "The increases allow for a correction of management's prior misjudgements of proper rate level and for the marked increases in medical costs and crash parts increases," state insurance superintendent, Thomas A. Harnett, said. [1:4.]

Patrick J. Cunningham was re-elected chairman of the New York State Democratic Party. His voice breaking and with tears in his eyes, he said afterward: "I've been judged by people who know me—through 20 years in politics and their judgment is good." No more than 35 members of the state committee in the crowd of about 300 voted against him after a nominating process that bluntly displayed the power of the party's regulars and oratory denouncing editorials that had counseled against keeping him. [1:5-6.]

Paul O'Dwyer, City Council President, entered the crowded race for United States Senator from New York. He joined four other Democrats who hope to unseat Senator James L. Buckley, Conservative-Republican, in November. The five announced candidates may be joined by Representative Bella S. Abzug, Democrat of Manhattan, whose announcement is expected soon. [1:7-8.]

The New York City Department of Consumer Affairs, struggling to stay within a reduced budget, has curtailed major parts of its law enforcement operations and is depending on consumer complaints rather than its own initiatives about violators of consumer-protection laws. [1:1-3.]

The Other News

International

Arabs seeking new anti-Zionism drive at U.N. Page 2 Intelligence data question size of Soviet threat. Page 2 U.S. Lebanon aide off to see Kissinger. Page 3 Portuguese vote to be a verdict on new rule. Page 4 Shift to right seen for Portuguese vote. Page 5 A glossary of political jargon in Peking. Page 6 The talk of Alma-Ata: Chinese refugees. Page 8 Thousands march in election rally in Saigon. Page 8

Palme urges Bergman to return home. Page 9 "Progress" is sinking French fishermen. Page 29

Government and Politics

Ford denies plan for Hanoi relations. Page 10 Carter issues position paper on economy. Page 10 Scandal an issue in race to succeed Scott. Page 11 Pittsburgh working area cool to election. Page 12 Church pins his hopes on Nebraska primary. Page 12 Candidates similar on housing issue. Page 13

General

Paper in Callaway case is losing ads. Page 9 Plea for new trial lost by black youth. Page 19 Abolition society holds annual meeting. Page 19 Oil rig copter crashes in the Gulf. Page 30 Witness fails to verify Solihah alibi. Page 20 Reactions vary on F.B.I.-journalist link. Page 25 Organized-crime figures guilty in extortion. Page 30 Two sentenced for shipping arms to I.R.A. Page 30

Metropolitan Briefs. Page 31 Judge, trying to do good deeds, is assaulted. Page 31 Work relief job program is closing. Page 31 Zechendorf negotiating to buy McAlpin Hotel. Page 31 Drugs prosecutor gets police bodyguard. Page 31 Cunningham accused of obstructing inquiry. Page 54

Quotation of the Day

"To be truthful, it's a heck of an attitude but I'm just not interested this year."—Joan Burke, the wife of a Pittsburgh police detective, commenting on the Pennsylvania Democratic Presidential primary. [1:2,3.]

Violent crime declines in the city. Page 56 Suffolk Airport operators accuse G.O.P. aides. Page 56

Industry and Labor

Nursing homes accused of inviting a strike. Page 30 P.B.A. seeks referendum on job cuts. Page 56

Education and Welfare

L.I. school trustee describes district's plight. Page 30

Health and Science

Two behaviorists win Kirtay Award. Page 20 145 cigarettes rated on tar and nicotine. Page 25

Amusements and the Arts

Miss Niska to sing operatic double bill. Page 14 Lubovitch opens a brief dance engagement. Page 15 City Opera revives Beeson's "Lizzie Borden." Page 16 "Last Hard Men," western, on local screens. Page 16 Peruvian colonial art at Inter-American Center. Page 17 French Neoclassical art is on show. Page 19 Miniatures displayed at antiques show. Page 24 Barbara Ward book on ecology is reviewed. Page 25 Barbara Walters to discuss time of transfer. Page 55

Going Out Guide

Family/Style The eternal serenity of Japan's gardens. Page 32 Women social workers decry lack of power. Page 32

Obituaries

Joe David Brown, novelist and journalist. Page 30 Alexander Laing, Dartmouth professor, author. Page 30 Colin MacInnes, wrote trilogy on London blacks. Page 30

Business and Financial

Dow off 7 to 1,000.71 on credit fears. Page 35

Jersey Forest Fires Create Emergency; Woods Are Closed

Special to The New York Times

TRENTON, April 23—Governor Byrne late today declared a forest-fire state of emergency in New Jersey and ordered much of the forest land and adjacent fields in the southern and central parts of the state closed to the public.

New Jersey's Forestry Department reported that four major fires and 21 smaller ones were burning in the area tonight.

The Governor said that the official start of the state of emergency would be noon tomorrow and that it would remain in effect until further notice.

"High winds, lack of rainfall and warm, dry conditions have created a tinder-box situation," the Governor said.

Closed to the public were woods, parks and any open spaces that might support a fire in an area bounded by the Garden State Parkway and the New Jersey Turnpike from the intersection of the highways in Middlesex County southward to the ocean at Cape May.

This area contains the New Jersey Pine Barrens, a sparsely populated woodland section.

A major fire in Warren County burning through the Kittatinny Mountains was reported under there yesterday.

But central and southern New Jersey got little or no rain from the weather front that swept through the Northeast yesterday, and Governor Byrne said he had received reports that the situation was considered extremely dangerous.

Mr. Byrne said that a conviction on a violation of his emergency proclamation could result in fines of $50 to $400. He declared the state of emergency at the request of New Jersey's Environmental Protection Commissioner, David J. Bardin.

Notes on People

Editorials and Comment Editorials and Letters. Page 26 Russell Baker discovers the decision-maker. Page 27 John Cassidy: a memoir of Frank Sullivan. Page 27 Hatem Hussaini: Palestinian states his case. Page 27

Issue and Debate

The national gamble on flu vaccination. Page 20

Levittown Trustee Describes Plight of His School District

Special to The New York Times

LEWISTOWN, N. J., April 23—Levittown schools have "teachers teaching out of closets and classrooms and . . . teachers standing desks," a trustee of the Levittown Board of Education testified today in State Supreme Court here.

The trustee, Dr. Don W. Watkins, who is also an administrator with the City University of New York, was the third person to testify about the fiscal plight of the school district with the highest school tax rate in Nassau County.

The nonjury trial before Justice L. Kingsley Smith involves a suit brought by 26 suburban and rural school districts that contend that the state's method of allocating school aid, based largely on tax rates, is inequitable. They argue that this method favors districts with high property values to the detriment of such property-poor districts as Levittown.

Similar suits have been successful in other states, among them New Jersey and Connecticut.

PENDING STRIKE HELD PROVOKED

State's Health Chief Blames Nursing Home Group

By DAMON STETSON

The State Health Commissioner, Dr. Robert P. Whalen, assailed the Metropolitan Nursing Home Association yesterday, charging that the association had "purposely" invited strike action against its member facilities to put pressure on the state to increase Medicaid rates.

"The Metropolitan Nursing Home Association, by refusing to honor previously negotiated contracts, has deliberately created a volatile situation which threatens the health and well-being of 18,000 helpless sick elderly people who are in the care of member homes of the association," Dr. Whalen said.

His denunciation followed the action by Judge John M. Cannela of Federal District court last Thursday in dissolving a temporary restraining order prohibiting members of Local 144 of the Hotel, Hospital and Nursing Home Union from striking. The judge refused to grant a preliminary injunction, leaving the union free to strike next Tuesday morning at the 90 homes that are members of the association.

Irwin Karassik, lawyer for the association, said he was appealing Judge Cannela's ruling and would seek a stay pending resolution of the appeal.

Medicaid Freeze Cited

The long-simmering dispute developed last winter after the association said its members were unable to pay negotiated wage increases to the 12,000 employees represented by Local 144 because the state had frozen Medicaid payments and would not provide reimbursement for the higher labor costs.

Voluntary hospitals and some proprietary hospitals where wage increases were paid earlier last year were reimbursed, a union source said, but the freeze went into effect prior to Dec. 1, 1975, when the second-year increases for members of Local 144 were due.

Dr. Whalen said that a special task force appointed by Governor Carey and the State Departments of Health and Social Services had done everything humanly possible to assist the association and the union in settling their differences.

"But it has become obvious," he said, "that the association is interested only in obtaining additional public funds at a time when the state government cannot afford any increases in expenditures."

"The association, while purportedly willing to arrive at a solution, has actually provoked a strike by remaining inflexible and unresponsive to any suggestion for resolution of the current controversy. Its actions to date have served only to confuse and create an explosive situation which threatens the lives of thousands of old people in the care of association members."

Dr. A. Lee Lichtman, president of the association, said late yesterday that the statements of Dr. Whalen were "shocking and intolerable to say the least."

"Any inflammatory remarks now in court proceedings are in progress, are counterproductive," Dr. Lichtman said.

He said that Judge Cannela, in his opinion Thursday, stated that both parties were anxious to avoid a strike. In addition, he said, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit "feels so strongly" about the legal issues involved that it has scheduled an emergency hearing of the association's appeal for Monday at 10 A.M. Governor Carey's special task force, he said, has called a meeting for 8:30 A.M. Monday.

"In view of all of these pending developments," Dr. Lichtman said, "Commissioner Whalen has been less than helpful."

COLIN MACINNES, 61, NOVELIST, IS DEAD

Wrote on Black Immigrant Community in London

Special to The New York Times

LONDON, April 23—Colin MacInnes, one of the first novelists to deal with Britain's community of blacks, died last evening. He was 61 years old.

'City of Spades'

In the late 1950's, Colin MacInnes, born in London, brought up in Australia and back in London again, wrote a trilogy on black life in London, touching on the immigrant community and the pop culture of the youngsters.

Contributed to The Times

Mr. MacInnes often contributed articles to The New York Times and other publications.

City of Spades

The three novels that established Mr. MacInnes' career were "City of Spades," published in 1957, very likely his best known work; "Absolute Beginners," 1959, on the rise of the West Indian immigrant teen-age subculture, and "Mr. Love and Justice," published in this country in 1961.

Discussing the Trilogy

Time magazine remarked that "each of these three books begins where a cold sociological observation rubs against a poetic perception of slumy slumside talk."

Writer's Work Dealt With

The writer's work dealt with the rise of tensions of black and white communities that produced the Notting Hill riots of 1958.

Adolph Goldberg, 79, Dead; Architect for City Projects

Adolph Goldberg, who retired as an architect in this city in 1967, died Monday evening in Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn. He was 79 years old and lived in Brooklyn Heights.

Architect for City Projects

Mr. Goldberg was the architect for the Louis Heaton Pink Houses and Glenwood Houses and was associate architect for Marcy Houses, all projects of the New York City Housing Authority. He had also done design and consulting work for the Lincoln Savings Bank, the Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Association and the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company, among other institutions.

Was an Emeritus Member of the American Institute of Architects and a past president of the New York State Association of Architects.

Firm Is Being Continued

by his former partner and associates as Epstein/Greenfield Associates.

Dr. Kate Frankenthal, 87, Former Berlin Councilor

Dr. Kate Frankenthal, a psychiatrist who was a member of the Berlin City Council and of the Prussian State Parliament in the era of Germany's Weimar Republic, died Wednesday at her home, 41 Central Park West. She was 87 years old.

Received Her Medical Degree from the University of Freiburg, went to Switzerland in 1933 and came to New York in 1936. She was a consultant to the Jewish Family Service of New York.

On Her 85th Birthday

, on Jan. 30, 1974, she was honored at a reception given by the Mayor and the city of West Berlin, where she had been a supervising physician. She was the author of "Background for Tomorrow," published in 1953.

Dr. Frankenthal Is Survived by a sister, Lina Tenca of Zurich.

U.S. Convicts Reputed Leader Of Crime Group in Shakedown

By MAX H. SEIGEL

The reputed head of the Joseph Bonanno crime group, Philip Rastelli, and two associates were found guilty yesterday of Federal charges of extortion in a protection racket involving mobile lunch wagons.

Testimony During Two-Week Trial

in United States District Court in Brooklyn disclosed that Mr. Rastelli, 58 years old, and the others carried out their extortion scheme through the operation of an organization founded in 1968 and called the Workers' Mobile Lunch Association.

Any Operator of the Silver-bodied wagons servicing industrial areas in Brooklyn, Queens and Nassau County who joined the association and paid "dues" of $10 to $15 a week was guaranteed his daily route and was given protection against all competition.

Wholesalers, Too

To guarantee members protection, the testimony showed, the association used threats of violence or actual violence, beating up a man in one case and smashing a truck in another.

In addition, witnesses told the jury of six men and six women that the association operated a shakedown racket among the wholesalers who supplied food and drink to the lunch-wagon operators by threatening to have its members boycott them.

Colin MacInnes

ALEXANDER LAING, TEACHER, WRITER

Dartmouth Professor Who Wrote About Sea Dies

Alexander Laing, an author who retired in 1968 as a literature professor at Dartmouth College, died yesterday at Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital in Hanover, N.H., from injuries received in a bicycling accident. He was 72 years old and lived in nearby Norwich, Vt.

Professor Laing incorporated

his knowledge of sailing ships into the backgrounds of his books. They included three histories of the sea of the fast clipper ships in the 1840's and 50's. He also wrote three volumes of verse; his most recent, "Brant Point," was published last year.

Other works included "The Cadaver of Gideon Wyck," a mystery that became a best seller in 1934; "Way for America," on politics, written in 1943; and "Jonathan Eagle," published in 1955.

He was a frequent contributor to the Atlantic, Harper's, The Nation, The New Yorker and The Saturday Review.

Professor Laing dropped out of the class of 1925 at Dartmouth, before shipping as a seaman for two years. He returned to the college in 1930 as an English tutor and received his bachelor's degree in 1933. The next year he won a Guggenheim Fellowship for creative writing.

Surviving are his third wife, the former Veronica Ruzicka; his son, David, by his second marriage; his sister, Harriet Hawes; and two grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held

Monday at 2 P.M. in the Rollins Chapel on the Dartmouth campus.

F.L. FITZPATRICK, 76, TAUGHT EDUCATION

Frederick L. Fitzpatrick, professor emeritus of natural sciences at Teachers College of Columbia University, died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack, at St. Luke's Hospital. He was 76 years old and lived at 460 Riverside Drive.

Dr. Fitzpatrick taught at the State University of Iowa, the Colorado College of Education and Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, before joining Teachers College in 1931.

He was head of its department of teaching of natural sciences from 1952 until his retirement in 1965. He was active in the nationwide reorganization of elementary-school and secondary-school sciences curricula in the 1950's and was director of the Science Manpower Project at Teachers College.

Dr. Fitzpatrick was the author of books on the teaching of natural sciences in the schools and was a founder in 1963 of The Journal of Research in Science Teaching.

He graduated from the State University of Iowa and served as a commander in the Navy in World War II and, in 1947, as a reports officer in a scientific survey of the World Bank.

A son, Frederick, survives.

Dr. Wilfred E. Fry, 76, Dies; Ophthalmologist, Teacher

Dr. Wilfred E. Fry, a nationally known ophthalmologist and former professor of clinical ophthalmology at Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia, died of a heart attack at his home in Ardmore, Pa. He was 76 years old.

Dr. Fry was a past president of the American Ophthalmological Society and a founder of the eye bank in the East.

He received an M.D. and a D.Sc. in ophthalmology at the University of Pennsylvania and held the title of emeritus clinical professor of ophthalmology at the university's medical school and hospital.

He leaves his wife, the former Irene Fort; a son, Edward; a daughter, Margaret Wheaton; and a grandson.

ISSACHAR HAMOVIC

Issachar Hamovic, managing director of American Israeli Mills Ltd., died of a heart attack yesterday at his home in Te Aviv. He was 57 years old.

Joe David Brown Is Dead at 60; Best-Selling Author, Journalist

By ALVIN KRESS

Joe David Brown, a best-selling novelist and journalist whose book "Addie Pray" became the basis for the hit movie "Paper Moon" and the television series it spawned, died Thursday night of a heart attack at his home, Covey Rise Farm, in Mayfield, Ga. He was 60 years old.

Mr. Brown, who worked for many newspapers, including The Daily News and the New York Journal-American, spent 16 years, off and on, as a Times magazine correspondent in London and Paris, New Delhi, London and Moscow, quitting three times along the way to write novels.

"Stars in My Crown," published in 1947, was a vaguely autobiographical account of growing up in the Depression-era South. It became a movie, as did Mr. Brown's "Kings Go Forth," a best seller based on his experiences during World War II. The 1958 movie starred Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis, and Natalie Wood.

Mr. Brown was born May 12, 1915, in East Lake, Ala., a Birmingham suburb, and attended local schools and the University of Alabama, from which he dropped out during the Depression to go to work as a reporter for The Birmingham Post.

On Papers in South

Before World War II, he worked for several newspapers in the South, including The Dothan (Ala.) Eagle and The Atlanta Constitution, where one of his sons, Joe David Brown Jr., is now political editor. He also worked as a financial reporter for The Journal-American and as a Sunday magazine writer for The Daily News.

In April 1943, when he was 28 years old, Mr. Brown was a bit on the elderly side to want to be a paratrooper, but he was accepted, won his jump boots and was sent to Europe with the 460th Paratroop Field Artillery.

He fought in the Rome-Arno campaign on the Italian peninsula, and was one of the first 20 paratroopers dropped into France in advance of D-Day, June 6, 1944. The next day, he was among a band of American who fought the Battle of the Bulge until 7 P.M. in an area about 10 miles from the Allied landing point on Omaha beach. Wounded, he won the Purple Heart, along with three battle stars and the French Croix de Guerre with palm.

Invalided home in March 1945,

Mr. Brown returned to

GENERAL SHTEMENKO

OF WARSAW PACT, 68

MOSCOW, April 23 (AP)—Gen. Sergei M. Shtemenko, Chief of Staff of the Warsaw Pact military forces, died yesterday in Moscow of cancer, Soviet sources reported today. He was 68 years old.

General Shtemenko served on the Soviet general staff during World War II, was named chief of the Soviet occupation forces in Germany and a candidate member of the Soviet Communist Party's Central Committee in 1952 and is believed to have helped organize the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. He was named chief of staff of the Warsaw Pact, the military alliance of the Soviet Union and its East European allies, in August 1968.

General Shtemenko had an up-and-down military career that closely paralleled the rise and fall of Stalinism in the Soviet Union. He opposed to an end to the favor of Stalin during World War II, and was chief of the army's operations division and deputy chief of the general staff in 1944-45 and chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces from 1948 to 1952.

In a sign that he may have been particularly close to Stalin's ruling circles, it was said that he was an intended victim of the unsuccessful so-called doctor's plot against top Soviet leaders in 1948.

Samuel A. Blank, 65, Dies; A Lawyer in Philadelphia

Samuel A. Blank, who retired in 1972 as a senior partner in the Philadelphia law firm of Blank, Rome, Klaus & Comsky, died Wednesday at his home, 600 Old York Road, Elkins Park, Pa. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Blank, a 1929 graduate of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, received his law degree at Pennsylvania in 1932 and joined a law firm. In 1946 he formed his own firm, Blank & Rudenko, now Blank, Rome, Klaus & Rudenko.

In 1936-37 Mr. Blank was a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives. He served in the Coast Guard in World War II.

Surviving are his wife, the former Ruth Wilmsa Sauer; two sons, Robert and Jeffrey; and four grandchildren.

ELIZABETH M'K. SCOTT

Elizabeth M'K. Scott, executive secretary of the New York Legislature Service, died Tuesday in Pittsfield, N.H. She was 78 years old and lived in this city.

Miss Scott, the former wife of the late Ernest Harris, a psychologist, had been with the organization for many years, publishing a legislative annual and a weekly report on the Legislature at Albany during sessions.

She leaves a brother, Robert.

Deaths	Deaths
ALBERT—Mrs. beloved husband of Lucille, died of a heart attack at his home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 7:10 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.	ALAN R.—Beloved husband of Mrs. Helen R., died of a heart attack at his home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 10:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.
ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A., died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.	ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A., died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.
ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A., died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.	ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A., died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.
ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A., died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.	ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A., died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

ALICE—Beloved wife of Mr. John A.,

died of a heart attack at her home, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 22 at 11:30 P.M. Burial at St. Ann's Church, 1111 11th Street, N.Y.C., on April 23 at 11 A.M.

Relief Employment Casualty of

Annals Will Record

Person Picks Success

Frank E. Campbell

"The Funeral Chapel, Inc."

1078 Madison Ave. (at 81st Street), N.Y.C., N.Y. BU 8-3500

الجمهورية

Work Relief Employment Project Ends a Casualty of City's Fiscal Crisis

RAYNE HUNTER Like many others in the program who say they prefer working in Vietnam and his high school diploma. "I hope to get out and do some work," he recalled the complaints and writing work to a shrinking job world of office work. "After a while you really didn't come to the thing."

Employment. Yet, he said, he has put three-year-old pro-in applications in a number of places, but so far, "no one has ever called back."

"It seems to me kind of strange, taking us out of this and throwing us back into welfare and unemployment," the 27-year-old young man said. "I don't see why they can't put up a few dollars more a day, all of that and put a person to work."

Mr. Lopez was among the mostly black and the work done—instead of along with the "That's asking for trouble," the casualty of that view was shared in part by the city's one project official, but savily on minor-asked not to be identified, but complained that the city was being "ponny wise and pound foolish."

"We just got them to the point where they really want to work," the official said, "and now they're killing their incentive."

State legislative authority for the demonstration program expires officially May 31, and officers have said that the extra cost over ordinary home-relief programs made it "too expensive in view of the present fiscal situation" of the state and city.

Costs in the program, in which enrollment was once as high as 10,000, and which served at one time about 60 percent of the 25,000 to 26,000 relief employables, exceeded home relief grants in part because municipal wages rose, and also because they included regular benefits such as vacations, as well as Federal and state taxes.

Of the total $60 million in wages over the last three years, taxes took $6.8 million.

Costs were shared equally by the city and state, but the city may seek recovery of some $5 to $7 million from the Federal Government.

According to officials, the quantity and quality of work by project participants were comparable and sometimes better than that of regular city employees.

MIDDAY IN MIDTOWN: The Pulitzer Fountain, at Fifth Avenue and 58th Street, attracts sun-lovers and those just trying to relax

Daniels Will Retire; Ison Picks Successor

Special to The New York Times

Y. April 23—D. Eisenhower in 1956. The Dominican V. winner, Vincent J. Dellay of Hudson West New York, served one term, even though he switched to the Democratic party before his term ended.

In the meeting at Mr. Daniels' office, state legislators, county freeholders, municipal officials and party leaders assembled to wish Mr. Daniels well and to congratulate Mr. LeFante.

Mr. LeFante, a 47-year-old businessman, will continue to serve as Assembly Speaker until after his expected election in November. He said in an interview:

"Right now I realize I have a big pair of shoes to fill. Congressman Daniels has been an outstanding public servant, and I'll have my work cut out for me."

Mr. Daniels was elected in 1958 as the candidate of the Democratic machine headed by the late John V. Kenny. Earlier, he had served as a municipal magistrate.

They Have Their Rules

"We don't have anybody we can turn to," a tall, athletic-looking young man said in a tone of barely controlled rage.

The counselors are good people. But they have their rules. And they have to live by the book. So, it's like they have no heart at all."

The 23-year-old project worker, who asked that his name not be used, said that, working as a fiscal assistant, "I learned quite a lot, dealing with people."

"I picked up some office skills and also learned that people have the same kind of problems I do," he said. "Some are even worse off."

"They're not being fair," said Robert Austin whose job of taking down building code violations and heat complaints was "the first job that I had that was decent."

Yesterday, the last day of work for the people in the program, goodbyes did not come easy.

"The people here are so beautiful," Mr. Lopez said softly. "I really hate to leave them."

Judge, Doing Good Deeds, Assaulted

By MURRAY SCHUMACH

A State Supreme Court Justice who tried to do two good deeds late Thursday night was rewarded for the second with abuse and a beating in Ozone Park, Queens.

A 31-year-old off-duty fireman was charged with assault on the 43-year-old justice, Gerald Held.

The fireman was also accused of driving while intoxicated. The judge was reportedly attacked in the presence of an assistant Brooklyn district attorney, Eric Bjornedy.

A trial over which Justice Held was presiding in Brooklyn did not end until nearly 10 P.M. with a guilty verdict against a burglar.

After arranging to get taxis for jurors, he dropped one of the jurors off at home and then offered to drive two court employees and the assistant district attorney to their cars, which were parked in Queens or to the Jamaica station of the Long Island Rail Road.

About 11 P.M., as the judge was driving his car east on Atlantic Avenue in Queens, he noticed a car driving in the same direction that seemed to be moving erratically.

"I decided to keep as far from that car as I could," he recalled yesterday.

However, when a traffic light forced the judge to stop, the other car was beside it. According to the judge, the driver of the other car, having noticed the special shield on the judge's car, became abusive and profane about the "big Cadillac."

Drove Very Slowly

Justice Held said that when the light changed he deliberately drove very slowly, hoping the other motorist would leave him far behind. But at the next traffic light, the other car was waiting again.

A little while later, as the judge had to make a right turn at 123d Street in Ozone Park to get to one of the parked cars, he was cut off by the motorist, according to the judge's account. The judge said that the driver got out of the car and tried to open the door of the judge's car. The

Metropolitan Briefs

Engineer Acquitted in L.I.R.R. Crash

A charge of criminally negligent homicide has been dismissed against Roy Tate, 42 years old, who was the engineer of a Long Island Rail Road train that crashed into a freight train in March 1973. A woman died of a heart attack in the crash and 27 persons were injured. Acting Justice Paul D'Amaro said in State Supreme Court in Riverhead, L.I., that the prosecution, during a 15-day trial, had not proved that Mr. Tate had been negligent.

Stolen Goods on Display to Owners

The Police Headquarters auditorium will have a bargain-counter look for the next two days. The idea is to find the legitimate owners of $500,000 worth of stolen merchandise. The loot of which $1.5 million worth has already been claimed, was seized by police officers who, posing as fences in a decoy Brooklyn storefront, arrested 80 persons on a variety of charges last week.

Chief of Detectives Louis C. Cottrell said the goods—ranging from typewriters and television sets to jewelry—will be on display today and tomorrow at Police Headquarters, just northeast of City Hall, from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. Claimants must be able to show ownership.

Gov. Grasso Swears in Woman Judge

Judge Ellen Burns was sworn in as a judge of the Superior Court of Connecticut, the first woman to take a place on that court, the second-highest in the state. "She is so eminently qualified," Gov. Ella T. Grasso said in her office in Hartford when she administered the judicial oath of office. Judge Burns, who is 52 and the mother of three, served the General Assembly or 24 years in the legislative commissioner's office. She was appointed to the Court of Common Pleas in September 1973 by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

Byrne Pays Parking Ticket

Governor Byrne mailed a $25 check to Mayor Beame to pay for the parking violation charged to the Governor's limousine Thursday by a New York City meter maid.

"I hope that our future conversations are more profitable and less expensive," Mr. Byrne said in a letter to Mayor Beame.

From the Police Blotter:

Two armed teen-agers were charged with attempted murder and robbery when they fled from a grocery store at 111-07 Long Street, Jamaica, Queens, after allegedly pistol-whipping and robbing the owner, Timothy Rogers, and an employee, Earl Hogan. Officers in a patrol car caught up with the youths near the scene, arrested them and recovered two handguns. The suspects were identified as Ronald Brown, 18, of 144-39 167th Street, and David McClain, 17, of 220-06 135th Avenue, both in Jamaica. A 6-foot-7-inch tall man escaped with an undetermined amount of money after he demanded cash from a woman teller at the National Bank of North America, 515 Seventh Avenue, warning her that she was being watched by an armed man who would kill her if she failed to comply.

Zeckendorf Negotiating to Buy the McAlpin

By ROBERT E. TOMASSON

William Zeckendorf Jr., the real estate developer, is negotiating on behalf of a group of investors to buy the McAlpin Hotel on Herald Square for conversion to rental apartments.

The projected conversion of the 23-story McAlpin, which opened in 1912 as the world's largest hotel with 1,200 rooms, would mark the most ambitious such venture in the recent trend of converting hotels to apartment houses. Such conversions are regarded as one of the most successful real estate innovations in a market that is generally depressed.

"We've been the laughing-stock of the world, tearing down 30-year-old and 40-year-old buildings," said Mr. Zeckendorf. He is the son of William Zeckendorf, who produced up about $3 billion in construction in the city after World War II until his empire collapsed in debt in 1965.

Need for Action Seen

The current negotiations for the purchase of the McAlpin from the Sheraton hotel chain, which both parties said were "in the legally binding stage," will mark the second such venture by Mr. Zeckendorf. Last summer he bought Delmonico's Hotel on Park Avenue, at 59th Street, for $6.9 million. The conversion of Delmonico's to apartment units is near completion, with rents ranging from $575 a month for a studio to $1,400 a month for two-bedroom units. Renting has been good, Mr. Zeckendorf said.

At the McAlpin, of course, we're not talking about anything near those rents," he said. "We do not see that building as attracting families. Rather

Special Drug Prosecutor Gets Police Bodyguards

By JOSEPH B. TREASTER

The Police Department has begun providing round-the-clock bodyguards for Sterling Johnson, the New York City special narcotics prosecutor, in response to a report that a group of Harlem drug dealers had offered $100,000 for his death.

The report of the offer came initially from a man who was arrested in Harlem in late February for possession of a weapon, according to the special prosecutor and police officers.

Mr. Johnson said that he had spoken with the informant, who has since been released from custody and whose name is being kept confidential by the police, shortly after his arrest, and that he took the report seriously.

"I've been in this business 20 years," said Mr. Johnson, a former police sergeant, "and I know he knows what he was talking about."

Mr. Johnson quoted the man as saying: "They want to take you out. They want to whack you."

Mr. Johnson said that nine weeks ago policemen had been assigned to guard his home and to escort his children to school.

The prosecution said he had shunned a bodyguard for himself, but that he had become convinced that he should ask for protection. Before he could make the request, he said, the Police Department had sent an officer to his office in lower Manhattan.

Chief Thomas P. Mitchellson, the commander of patrol forces whose office is reportedly supplying the guards for Mr. Johnson, acknowledged that "certain arrangements are being made to insure the safety of both Mr. Johnson and his family." But he refused to discuss any details.

Mr. Johnson, who is 41 years old, became the special narcotics prosecutor last May with the unanimous endorsement of the city's five District Attorneys. He worked for the Drug Enforcement Administration, setting up narcotics enforcement programs across the country and abroad.

"It is no secret that my family has urged me for some time now to retire from public office," he said, "so that we could have a less-strenuous and more-relaxed way of life—something that has been impossible during my years in the United States Congress."

Masotto Testifies in His Own Defense

SASBURY phrased, lost his temper at the bench and at one time became tearful with exasperation and had to remove his glasses to wipe his eyes.

Chief Witness

Mr. Sawyer, who finished his case yesterday, had presented as his chief witness Anthony Piazza, former assistant counsel to the Waterfront Commission. In his testimony, Mr. Piazza repeated the complaint he had made to the Appellate Division, that Judge DiLorenzo sought a luncheon meeting with him at which the judge asked him to "go easy" on information in the Brooklyn Division did not know the American Stevedores Company that owned it.

Judge DiLorenzo confirmed that Mr. Masotto was his long-time friend, client, tenant, butcher and fellow member of the Elks. He said they met frequently at an Elks Club in Brooklyn and played regu- there. He also said he regularly visited Mr. Masotto's butcher shop, around the corner from his judicial chambers in Brooklyn.

However, Judge DiLorenzo denied knowing that Mr. Masotto was employed by the American Stevedores Company. An earlier witness from the Waterfront Commission testified that Mr. Masotto was on the American Stevedores payroll as public relations director. Judge DiLorenzo also denied knowing the Chiarello family or Mr. Masotto or the company was under investigation by Mr. Piazza at the time of the meeting with Mr. Piazza. Judge DiLorenzo swore, was to ask him to help screen applications for membership in the American Italian Anti Defamation League flooding in from the Brooklyn piers. The trial will continue Monday with Judge DiLorenzo still on the stand.

A Prospective Juror Is Facing Charge for Rejecting Questions

Most Recent Purchase

Their most recent purchase was the Albert Hotel, which occupies the eastern blockfront on University Place between 10th and 11th Streets.

Henry Elghanayan said the conversion of the empty hotel—once a famous Greenwich Village landmark whose guests dealt to buy the McAlpin—would be resolved one way or another within three months. "A senior executive of the Sheraton chain characterized the negotiations as being 'in a late stage.'"

Mr. Zeckendorf said that the deal to buy the McAlpin would be resolved one way or another within three months. "A senior executive of the Sheraton chain characterized the negotiations as being 'in a late stage.'"

The Sheraton chain acquired the McAlpin after the default of the previous owners.

The hotel chain had owned the hotel from 1955 to 1968, when its name was changed to the Sheraton-Atlantic. In 1968 it was sold to the investing partnership of Sol Goldman and Alexander DiLorenzo for $7.5 million.

A prospective juror in State Supreme Court in Manhattan refused to answer certain questions on a routine court questionnaire and, as a result, faces a charge of contempt.

If found guilty, the prospective juror, Sylvia Malakoff, of 50 West 97th Street, could be fined $250 and or imprisoned 30 days.

It is believed to be the first time in State Supreme Court that a prospective juror has faced such a charge for failing to provide personal information.

The contested questions concerned what other names Miss Malakoff may have used, what jobs she may have had in the past six years and whether she owes anyone money.

Miss Malakoff's lawyer, Leonard H. Rubin of the New York Civil Liberties Union, said she had refused to answer the questions on the ground that they invaded her constitutional right to privacy. In addition, he said, WARM GREETING: Zoya Fyodorova being kissed by her daughter, Viktoriya Fyodorova Fouy, at Kennedy Airport last night. Miss Fyodorova was granted an exit visa from the Soviet Union to enable her to visit her daughter, who is expecting a child soon. She said she has no plans to visit Mrs. Fouy's father, who was a naval attaché in Moscow at the time of their romance.

Frank... The Face

our pots jarrass your plants?

A beautiful plant deserves a beautiful pot. Come to Pottery for the largest selection of pottery in all sizes, and prices. Under the sun.

St. New York City
Hours: 9 am to 6 pm, 594-5075 history of 1000s

NE
OLIN CO.

Order 5893

NAME NAC '66
1/6 cs. @
84.

SALLY '70
5/6 cs. @
75.

BLANC '61
3/6 cs. @
400.

USAN
1/64
6 cs. @
85.

'64
6 cs. @
49.95

URTET '70
15/66.

VILLAGE
'70
29.95

IA '75
150
MU 4-3823

(Liters)
6cs. @
36.

RT
'72
50.

& 75s cousin

BLIS '73
PRELIS
ILLES
57 eredia)

the)
Ivory KOW!

Y CASE
PRICE

LIN CO.
(32-34 St)
Int. to 6

93

TS'
NE

INDS ARMS
AS TENS
ES

AS STUDIO!
DAYS
W.M. 1-5
ED
SE

IC
KS

RNER RENTAL
ID oc
1 to 8.25

ON 581

IN BEER me 7

IN BEER dy to to 6
to phone
to Plaza, N.Y.C.
123

Notes on People

A Judicial First for Connecticut

In Hartford, Ellen B. Burns was sworn in yesterday as Connecticut's first woman Superior Court judge by Gov. Ella T. Grasso, who promoted her from Common Pleas Court. Mrs. Burns was first appointed to the Circuit Court in 1973 by Thomas B. Meskill, then Governor. The new appointment for Mrs. Burns, who is 52 years old, was approved unanimously by the Senate and by a vote of 110 to 6 by the House. Among those attending the ceremony for Mrs. Burns were her husband, Joseph, and her three teen-age children.

Ellen B. Burns in Hartford yesterday.

A paternity suit, being tried in closed session, has kept Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks in Manhattan Family Court most days this week. Also in court is Judith St. John, 25, who alleges that the $350,000-a-year basketball star is the father of her 3-year-old son, Marc Donovan St. John. The 31-year-old, 6-foot-4 guard denies the parenthood and, therefore, liability for financial support. Mr. Frazier has an 8-year-old son by his wife Marsha, whom he married when she was a student at Southern Illinois University. They separated shortly after the son's birth; she now teaches in Chicago. Trial of the suit, pending for two years, will continue next week before Judge Manuel Guerin.

When King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden pays a visit Sunday to Jamestown, N.Y., where 45 percent of the population is of Swedish descent, he will give one of his "favorite sons," Roger Tory Peterson, the highest award of the Swedish Academy of Science. The ceremony honoring the "modern Audubon" will be held at City Hall Plaza at 1 P.M. Mr. Peterson, the artist-writer of the well-known field guides about birds and other animals, as well as plants, is a weekend guest of hometown friends. Ground will be broken today for the Roger Tory Peterson Nature Sanctuary on 190 acres of the Freewburg Swamp, where Mr. Peterson did some of his early bird and butterfly chasing.

The Rev. John W. Vannorsdall, who was named this week to be the chaplain at Yale University next September, will be the first Lutheran and the first non-Yale man in the post, and he expects his style to differ from that of his predecessor, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin.

Mr. Vannorsdall, who is 52 years old, was graduated from Harvard and the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. From 1951 to 1957, he served as pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church and as a lecturer at Yale Divinity School. He was the Lutheran chaplain at Cornell from 1962 to 1967, and has been chaplain of Gettysburg College, a Lutheran school in Gettysburg, Pa. He and his wife Patricia have three children.

Mr. Vannorsdall expressed "very high regard" yesterday for Mr. Coffin and "his prophetic ministry of speaking out against injustice," including his antiwar activities during the Vietnam war. "But at this time," Mr. Vannors-dall said, "I will probably emphasize a pastoral ministry—the nurturing of individuals in their religious roots."

Three men in a boat, concluding two days of talks about joint economic plans, assaulted on the eastern Aegean Sea yesterday accompanied by 46 Turkish destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines, most of them American-built. President Fahri Koruturk has the Shah of Iran and Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan as guests on his yacht, the Savarona, as Turkish fighter-bombers screamed overhead. Content with a gesture in the continuing Turkish-Greek dispute over rights in the Aegean, President Koruturk ordered the Savarona turned back to port well short of international waters and any Greek islands.

Myres S. Douglas, who taught Gerald R. Ford real-property law for three years at Yale Law School, received the American Society of International Law's Manley O. Hudson Medal last night at a dinner in Washington.

Dong Kingman, the Hong Kong-born artist, is in Lenox Hill Hospital with pneumonia. He was unable to accept the award of the American Watercolor Society's eighth tercentennial medal to him, at its annual dinner Thursday. Yesterday he said from his hospital room that, having turned 65 years on April 1, he believed he "may be coming of age." His short film about his childhood, "Hong Kong Dong," a blend of painting, animation and photography, will have its premiere at the San Francisco Film Festival. He also expects to be art director for an animation film of the "Hobbit" trilogy, and he is preparing for his 25th watercolor show. The word "retirement," Mr. Kingman said, "is not in my Chinese-American dictionary."

Laurie Johnston

Owner of House on Block Opens Doors to the Public

Continued From Page 29

the Ripper drove up and offered a good price, I'd say fine." But Mrs. Firestone looked rather wistful as she described how, when she moved in 10 years ago, she had the dining room wallpaper made to match one antique strip that was still left, how she photographed a priceless antique rug and had it reproduced for the living room. "The sun room was like the waiting room of a funeral parlor with black asphalt floors and dark green shutters," she said. "I had the ceiling painted like the sky with clouds on a light blue background." While Mrs. Firestone spied on her visitors—"A lot of them are local people who were never invited in, you know," said Tony Taggart of Previews Inc., the realtors that are handling the sale of the house—the visitors commented on Mrs. Firestone's home. They plopped down on the 18th-century red leather porter's chair with the high encased back (designed to keep the draft off resting porters), and they tested the William IV jockey's scales with a buttoned leather weighing seat. "I heard Robert Redford was going to be here to look at the stables," said Lorraine Curran, who lives in the area. "I came because I'm curious to see how the others live."

Two gray-haired women looked at the George III-style mahogany three-pedestal dining table. "Oh my," said one. "You wouldn't need to cover that with a tablecloth. You could put your dishes right on top."

And Mrs. Bruce Treweek tried to keep out her dog, which kept slipping back through the dooring. "I'll pretend I don't know him," she said. "We live across the tracks and we were kind of to see how the others live." "My kids trick or treated here one Halloween," said her companion. "But we've never been inside the house."

Some people, especially antiques collectors, were disappointed in the home, since it was advertised as containing "the entire contents" of the mansion. In fact, Mrs. Firestone said, she had already taken a number of heirlooms and antiques with her to Washington. What was left in large part were reproductions. The upstairs rooms, in contrast to the first-floor antiques, looked more like a country barn sale, with bunk beds, old toys and less-expensive modern furniture. Thomas Devenish, a Madison Avenue dealer, strolled around examining the under-sides of furniture and cabinets with a flashlight. "She must have gotten rid of the good stuff," he said. "I sold her a lot of stuff over the years, but I don't see any of it here."

Continued From Page 29

Metropolitan New York Better Business officials said recently that misuse of terms like "sale" and "discount" in advertising had become so widespread in the city that they had lost their meaning. These officials were careful to say, however, that blame for this lies with the business community and newspapers that accept such ads, as well as with enforcement agencies. The officials also said that to the extent that bogus going-out-of-business sales and other kinds of phony sales draw business away from honest retailers, these legitimate businessmen suffer. During an interview with Mrs. Guggenheimer, Lloyd Gray, the supervisor of the markets inspectors, was called in to provide some information to the Commission. He was asked for his opinion of the impact of the staff cuts. "Storekeepers are very aware that we only have 10 people out there, and they are taking advantage of it," he said.

Remark Stirs Concern Mrs. Guggenheimer immediately asked the reporter who was present not to make his statement public because it might encourage dishonest businessmen. She then repeated her belief that the department's enforcement efforts were still adequate. Later, she said that if the 93 department employees paid with Federal funds were lost to the department, "that's the end of a consumer protection program in the City of New York."

Justice Bryant had earlier signed a temporary restraining order requiring about 150 students, mostly blacks, to end their occupation of Day Hall, Cornell's administration building. The students occupied the building about 10 hours after ejecting Cornell's president, Dale E. Coxson, and other top administrators from their offices.

In his decision, Justice Bryant cited an affidavit he received from three black student leaders in which they promised that future demonstrations would be peaceful and orderly.

Advertisement for Axelrod's Buttermilk. Features an image of a buttermilk carton and text: "Buttermilk with the fresh taste of nature. Axelrod's buttermilk is made the old-fashioned way from country-cultured milk. It's creamy and full-bodied, with a mellow, straight-from-the-farm flavor. Reaches your dairy case at the peak of freshness. A quality product from the Axelrod family." Includes the Axlerod's logo.

Advertisement for GIANT MOTHER'S DAY CARD!. Text: "Sunday, May 9 is Mother's Day. This year give her something she'll always treasure. We have created a special Mother's Day gift... it's actually two gifts in one. A Giant Mother's Day Card (11" X 28") with beautiful verses about Mom, plus seven homemade taffy kisses, one for each day of the week. The card and kisses will be sent directly to your mother, personalized with your name, from the 'Sweetheart Town' of Loveland, Co. Send $3.50, plus $1.00 for postage and handling." Includes a form to request the card.

Advertisement for N.Y.'s Lightolier Track Specialists. Text: "Everything in track lighting systems for home, office, store, gallery. Skilled advice for decorators, do-it-yourselfers. Lightolier taste and quality at very affordable prices, from N.Y.'s track specialists. LINCOLN LIGHTING CENTERS rather an illuminating experience. 761 Tenth Ave. (52nd) LT 1-7610. In White Plains, too: most exciting store in the East! 7,000 sq. ft. of fixtures, lamps, chandeliers. 169 Main St., 1 block W. of Macy's."

Advertisement for TILE TOP TABLES. Text: "Choice of Tiles From ITALY, SPAIN, MEXICO & PORTUGAL. PARSONS, BAMBOO AND SPANISH STYLES. Mon.-Sat. 10-6:30. Thurs. 10-5. EASY TO CLEAN. ALCOHOL, WATER & HEAT RESISTANT TOPS. SPECIAL SIZES TO ORDER. BUY DIRECT AT THE FACTORY! SAVE UP TO 20% OFF! 195 Chrysler St., N.Y. Room 404 (Corner of 2nd Ave. below Houston St.) 6900 TILE TOP TABLE CO. 1140 2nd Ave. (bet. 80 & 81 St.) N.Y.C. 963-9199"

Advertisement for Remember Mama With A Mink From. Text: "natural ranch with shag or portraun collar. Pale or medium beige, grey. Three initials or name included. We will convert your dated fur into a cape or fur leather jacket. Fur is labeled as to country of origin. MASTER CHARGE BANK/AMERICAN EXPRESS 136-40 E. Putnam Ave. GREENWICH, CONN. 06830 OPEN SATURDAYS 203 TO 9-3012 P. PARKING IN REAR Exit 3, Connecticut Thruway"

Advertisement for REX HUMBARO PRISON TV SPECIAL. Text: "Sunday, April 25. SEE OUR AD ON PAGE 54"

Budget Cuts Curb New York City Consumer Agency

Continued From Page 1, Col. 3

deputies while previous Commissioners got along with two. According to a list given to The New York Times, most of the people lost to the department were provisionals, many of whom were attached to the advocate's division. This division, which consists primarily of lawyers and investigators, was added to the city's old markets and licensing departments when the Department of Consumer Affairs was created in 1969. Civil Service tests for those jobs were never written. The remainder who left the department were lost either through retirement or normal turnover — employees who moved on to other jobs and could not be replaced because of the hiring freeze. Mrs. Guggenheimer pointed out that license fees and fines assessed by the department brought $5,502,000 into the city treasury during the 1975 fiscal year, which was $1,402,000 more than its budget. Further, she noted that through the efforts of the department, consumers received $2 million in refunds and debt cancellations in 1975. She also described consumer abuses as "economic mugging," which caused suffering, in some cases, as painful as a physical mugging. She has resisted, however, saying that the cuts were damaging enforcement and hampering information about the effect of the cuts. Although the commissioner's stated last June, when cuts stripped the department's neighborhood offices of experienced personnel, that this amounted to "giving the dishonest businessmen an open invitation to fraud," she said in September 1974 that staff cuts had seriously impaired enforcement, the commissioner insisted in two recent interviews that the department was "holding its own" in combating consumer abuses. Interviews with department personnel, all of them conducted in the presence of a public-relations representative, presented a different picture. Information from these interviews indicated the following: Thirty inspectors are currently assigned to the division, which issued 60,000 licenses and permits to businesses last year, among them parking lots, TV repair shops, home improvement concerns and used-car lots. Inspectors used to make regular neighborhood sweeps to look for licensing violations and they used to investigate to find out why a business had failed to renew its license. These efforts have been "curtailed to a minimum," according to Christopher Bossis, principal inspector in charge of licensing. Last year, the number of licensing violations issued by the inspectors dropped to 876 down from 1,115 in 1974. The inspectors now spend almost all their time responding to consumer complaints, of which there were 7,395 in 1975, compared with 5,987 in 1974. According to Mr. Bossis, the odds are 60 to 40 that an inspector responding to a complaint will find that a given business that should be licensed is not.

Despite the fact that all going-out-of-business and fire sales are supposed to be licensed, only 14 such licenses were issued in 1975. No one in the licensing division has any technical expertise in television repair, and there is one part-time consultant with expertise in home improvements. Inspectors in the agriculture and markets division used to search newspapers regularly for deceptive advertising. This has been discontinued. All five inspectors in this unit, who are responsible for enforcing the 44 consumer protection regulations promulgated by the department, now spend their time responding to consumer complaints.

The department's neighborhood offices which used to issue violations and were a source of fraud investigations, have been reduced to complaint intake and resolution centers. The number of investigations in progress at the department currently is 42, compared with 63 in January 1975. Since last fall, the department has stopped inspecting the scales used to weigh moving-trucks, coal, scrap metal and the like. Yearly inspection of these scales is mandated by law. The driver of the truck that carries the inspection equipment was disabled, and the city hiring freeze has prevented his replacement with someone else licensed to drive a tractor-trailer vehicle.

The staff of the advocate's division, which generates all lawsuits and consent agreements, has been cut in half. Lawyers in the division must "steal" secretarial and clerical help from elsewhere in the department.

Only one management study has been done on the department's operations, and the changes it advised in the licensing and agriculture and markets divisions were implemented in 1974 and early 1975. A summary of those results was issued by the Budget Bureau's Office of Management Services last June, and it showed, for example, that the productivity of the agriculture and markets inspectors had reached 91 percent of attainable levels in 1974.

Workload Increases That year, the markets inspectors performed 6.1 inspections per day, compared with 4.3 in 1973. This year, the department calculates that to fulfill its statutory obligations each man must make 8.9 inspections a day. "The problem is that the Consumer Affairs Department doesn't serve as particular interest groups at the schools do, or the welfare agencies," said City Councilman Henry Stern, Henry Stern, formerly first deputy commissioner in the department under Myerson. "Because it serves all of us, no one is particularly concerned about its fate."

Mr. Stern and others also agreed that the impact of the budget cuts on the Consumer Affairs Department was much less obvious than cuts in sanitation, for example, which show up immediately and graphically as piles of garbage.

Bruce Ratner, a former consumer advocate with the department and now director of the Help Center, operated jointly by WNET Channel 13 on the basis of complaints reaching the center that certain kinds of frauds, like food-freezer plans and baby-picture schemes, which had almost disappeared, are having a resurgence in the city.

Terms Lose Meaning Metropolitan New York Better Business officials said recently that misuse of terms like "sale" and "discount" in advertising had become so widespread in the city that they had lost their meaning. These officials were careful to say, however, that blame for this lies with the business community and newspapers that accept such ads, as well as with enforcement agencies.

The officials also said that to the extent that bogus going-out-of-business sales and other kinds of phony sales draw business away from honest retailers, these legitimate businessmen suffer.

During an interview with Mrs. Guggenheimer, Lloyd Gray, the supervisor of the markets inspectors, was called in to provide some information to the Commission. He was asked for his opinion of the impact of the staff cuts. "Storekeepers are very aware that we only have 10 people out there, and they are taking advantage of it," he said.

Remark Stirs Concern Mrs. Guggenheimer immediately asked the reporter who was present not to make his statement public because it might encourage dishonest businessmen. She then repeated her belief that the department's enforcement efforts were still adequate. Later, she said that if the 93 department employees paid with Federal funds were lost to the department, "that's the end of a consumer protection program in the City of New York."

Susan P. Casteras Married at Yale

Susan Paulette Casteras, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John M. Casteras of Colonia, N. J., was married yesterday afternoon to Eric Schnapper, son of Morris B. Schnapper of Silver Spring, Md. and the late Mrs. Schnapper. The Rev. Roland H. Bainton, Titus Street Professor Emeritus of Ecclesiastical History at Yale University, performed the nondenominational ceremony at the Fence Club on the Yale campus in New Haven. The bride, who will continue to use her maiden name, graduated in 1971 from Vassar College, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She received the degree of Master of Arts and Master of Philosophy in art history from Yale, where she is a doctoral candidate in art history. She is a former assistant director at the Yale Art Gallery. Her father, a metallurgical engineer, was general superintendent of the Maritime Copper Works in Perth Amboy, N. J., and her mother taught in the Woodbridge (N. J.) school system. Mr. Schnapper, an associate counsel for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., received bachelor's and master's degrees from Johns Hopkins University, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He studied as a Marshall Scholar at St. Catherine's College of Oxford University, and graduated in 1968 from the Yale Law School. His father is owner and publisher of the Public Affairs Press, Washington book publishers, and his mother was a speech therapist at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Corporate Editor Is Named For Time Inc. Publications

The appointment of Ralph Graves, associate publisher of Time magazine, as corporate editor for all Time Inc. publications was announced yesterday by Hedley Donovan, editor-in-chief of Time Inc. Mr. Graves, a former managing editor of Life magazine who has held several other senior editorial posts at Time Inc., becomes Mr. Donovan's deputy. At the same time, Murray Gant, who had been Mr. Donovan's deputy with the title of acting editorial director for the last 10 months, has returned to his regular duties as chief of correspondents of the Time-Life News Services and as assistant managing editor of Time.

Advertisement for Lattoflex. Text: "Backaches? Arthritis? Disc Troubles? If you think beds are all alike you haven't slept on a lattoflex yet! Its superfirm flexible wood slat spring and mattress will give you superior sitting-sleeping comfort. Lattoflex springs to fit your own bed. Tax deductible with doctor's prescription. LATTOFLEX Beds, Couches, Convertibles, Mattresses 150 E. 58th St., 15th fl. (betw. 3rd & Lex.) New York, N.Y. 10022 - (212) 753-5877 - 10:30-5, Sat. 11-3."

Over-the-Counter Quotations

Quotations supplied through NASDAQ as of 4:00 P.M. Quotes do not include retail markup, markdown or commissions. Volume represents shares that changed ownership during the day. Figures include only transactions effected by NASDAQ market-makers but may include some duplication where market-makers traded with each other.

Main table of stock quotations with columns for ticker symbols, bid/ask prices, and volume. Includes sections for 'Over-the-Counter Quotations', 'BANKS AND S&L', 'INSURANCE', and 'MUTUAL FUNDS'.

Advertisement for 'Fund In' featuring 'Specialists' and 'Clarity Rules'. Includes a small image of a person and text about investment services.

Advertisement for 'INSURANCE' with the headline 'Calls by 7 to 1,000' and 'Market of Tighter'. Includes a small graphic and text about insurance services.

AUTHORITY BONDS

United States Government and Agency Bonds

Table of Authority Bonds and United States Government and Agency Bonds, listing various bond issues, maturities, and yields.

MUTUAL FUNDS

Table of Mutual Funds, listing various fund names, share prices, and performance metrics.

Advertisement for 'Supplementary O-T-C' and 'Brokers Se For a St'. Includes text about financial services and a signature 'Arnold'.

Handwritten signature 'Arnold' in a box.

ish-Fund Inquiry Debated

Specialists bit Clarity
J.S. Rules

HAEL C. JENSEN
igation into illegal shush funds was de-erday by an overflow nore than 300 corpo-ralists.
our and a half, the tax lawyers bom-Internal Revenue
cials with questions
gency's sweeping in-into such funds.
s. Volpe, president York Chapter of ecutives Institute, sored the event at Hotel, said the at-the largest within the organization's etings.
chieffer, chief of shattan audit divid the crowd of tax
ie of them sitting es and other doorways and said a decade since a development, had a much concern on the national
ne."

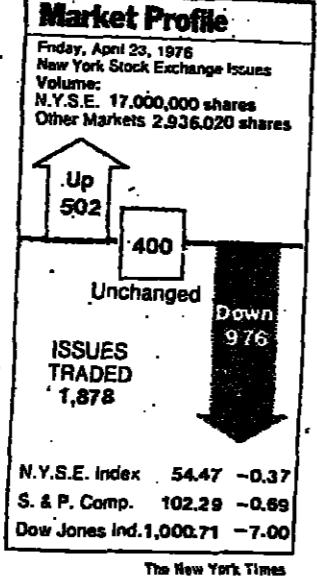

Elliott H. Gray, left, Internal Revenue Service regional administrator, and Thomas F. Volpe, head of the New York Chapter of the Tax Executives Institute, during the conference at the Biltmore Hotel yesterday.

100 corporations, intensifying its investigation of the Securities Commission that the investigation is questionable or illegal in the United States. Such a result in tax liability is not a country. weeks ago, the id that it was in-alls by 7 to 1,000.71 ear of Tighter Credit

IG. VARTAN declined yesterring fear—fina-redit conditions ral Reserve—et on a balmy ines industrial near its lowest sion, wound up 7 points at 1-spite the ner-marketplace,

ged to close mark that is psychological.

Fed might take triggered by Thursday of key money rose sharply lightly respect-d policy sug-lose of yester-t such agreeprt of investors a partner of s, said that operations to est a firming

He noted that etary agree-up during the DEAL PLETED of Absence

Chairman
KOSHETZ between E. T. of E. B. and an unan 83 per-the company
consummated, company an-ced yester-
Charles E. man, presi-and chief ative officer
Barwick's re-had granted a indefinite said that al-lick had not an, the board in that dur-essence, he to act on any Barwick said sell shares and members ing about 8.3
th a value of
Jon. On the scent, tradtwick shares
n the Amer-ge. Yesterday that trading id be resumed
ge manuface, has had 8
in the year
74, the coun-oss of $20.47
of $189.5 mil-before, the 12 million on to buy da Units
ly announced
ary, Alberta,
ed an agree-
tion Oil Comto buy Union marketing dilition subject for inventory losing.

Penney Reported
Studying Payoffs
To Its Executives

By ISADORE BARMASH
The J. C. Penney Company, the nation's second-largest retail chain, is conducting an investigation of alleged payoffs and mishandling of internal funds involving a number of its mid-management executives, it was reliably reported yesterday.

Although a Penney spokesman in New York said that the company could not comment on such reports, it was learned from sources close to the company that at least three separate incidents of allegedly illegal activities have been uncovered in the last 20 to 30 days. Three executives of manager status have reportedly been discharged in the construction, catalogue and merchandising divisions of the company in recent days.

Golden Rule Company
The exchange of favors, money and various forms of emoluments is not unusual between suppliers and retail companies in which merchandise selection and choice of services often depends on decisions by individuals. But Penney's, founded at the turn of the century by James C. Penney as the "Golden Rule" company, has been singularly removed up till now from any hint of kickbacks or bribes.

However, yesterday, reports of a widespread investigation by Penney's management were said to be rampant at the company's national headquarters in Manhattan at 1301 Avenue of the Americas, at 53d Street. Mr. Penney, who died in 1973

EXXON NET UP 22%
ON CURRENCY GAIN

Rise Is 59c a Share From '75 Quarter—Anaconda Expects Lower Loss

The Exxon Corporation, the world's largest industrial corporation, announced yesterday a 22 percent increase in earnings in the first quarter of 1976, with most of the advance resulting from gains from foreign-currency transactions rather than the petroleum business.

Exxon said that its net income rose to $730 million, or $3.26 a share, in the first three months of this year from $596 million, or $2.67 a share. Last year's earnings were restated in accordance with standards issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board in October 1975. Revenue rose to $13.08 billion from $11.91 billion in 1975.

Currency Translations
Exxon said that it had a favorable change from its foreign exchange translations of $192 million between the 1976 and 1975 first quarters. In the first quarter of 1975 the corporation had earnings of $84 million from translating foreign affiliates' local currency assets and liabilities into dollars. This gain compared with losses totaling $108 million in the first quarter of 1975. The gains this year resulted from a weakening of the Italian Lire, French Franc and the British pound.

Volvo, Too, Will Build Cars in America

DETROIT, April 23—While Volkswagen announced plans today to build an assembly plant in the United States to bolster its share of the American market, Volvo was quietly pushing ahead with construction of a plant at Chesapeake, Va., near Norfolk.

The Volvo facility will begin producing cars next February. The eventual cost of the project is estimated at $150 million. Volvo of America Inc. is based in New Jersey, so is Volkswagen's American subsidiary, Bjorn Ahlstrom, president of Volvo, said his company would begin assembling its 240 series of cars initially at a rate of about 10,000 a year.

Mr. Ahlstrom said plans were to expand the Volvo plant in Halifax, Nova Scotia. It builds about 15,000 cars a year for the Canadian market.

Volvo's new model for 1976 is the 240 series, which is a four-door sedan. It is expected to be sold in the United States next year. The company also plans to introduce a new station wagon in the United States.

Tom Schmücker, Volkswagen general manager, discussing plans to assemble autos in the United States. Mr. Schmücker held news conference in Wolfsburg, West Germany.

Germans Approve VW Output in U.S.;
Choice of Plant Site Is Still Undecided

By PAUL KEMEZIS
Special to The New York Times
WOLFSBURG, West Germany, April 23—Volkswagen's supervisory board agreed unanimously today to produce its Rabbit automobiles in the United States starting in late 1977.

The decision came only after auto workers were given strong guarantees that the plant would not cost German jobs. The decision was seen here as a personal triumph for the general manager of Volkswagenwerk A.G. Tom Schmücker.

Stanton, Pa., and Columbus, Ohio, are also in the running. The project, designed to shore up Volkswagen's shrinking American market, has been under consideration for four years. In the last five years the company's sales in the United States have dropped 50 percent to 267,000 a year because of rising costs in Germany and stiff competition from American and Japanese small cars.

Officials of the company at its headquarters here in Wolfsburg said that a former General Motors tank plant at Brook Park, Ohio, is the most likely site but that plants in New had failed; Mr. Schmücker won approval from the union and the German federal and state governments which together with Volkswagen's shrinking American market, has been under consideration for four years.

Mr. Schmücker announced that the company would select an existing plant in the United States within the next two months and would invest an initial $160 million to $200 million and stiff competition from American and Japanese small cars.

Mr. Schmücker conceded today that the going would be tough, but he said that in the predecessor, Rudolf Leiding, site but that plants in New built the air-cooled rear-engine car but it also undertook a program to design a new family of cars using water-cooled engines and front-wheel drive.

One of these, the Rabbit, is seen as the eventual successor to the Beetle, and it is the Rabbit that Volkswagen will begin building in the United States late next year. But the company has had problems getting the Rabbit into production in Germany.

Stanton, Pa., and Columbus, Ohio, are also in the running. The project, designed to shore up Volkswagen's shrinking American market, has been under consideration for four years.

Mr. Schmücker conceded today that the going would be tough, but he said that in the predecessor, Rudolf Leiding, site but that plants in New built the air-cooled rear-engine car but it also undertook a program to design a new family of cars using water-cooled engines and front-wheel drive.

One of these, the Rabbit, is seen as the eventual successor to the Beetle, and it is the Rabbit that Volkswagen will begin building in the United States late next year.

But the company has had problems getting the Rabbit into production in Germany.

CAR SALES RISE
70% FOR 10 DAYS

A Total of 249,441 Autos Sold During April 11-20 Span, Up From 146,688

DAILY RATE IS AT 31,180

Annual Sales Pace Is Raised to 9.9 Million — Only A.M.C. Shows Decline

DETROIT, April 23—American new-car sales increased 70 percent in the April 11-20 period from last year and were near record levels.

A total of 249,441 cars sold in the middle period of April compared with 146,688 last year. The daily selling rate of 31,180 compared with 18,336 last year and was the third best on record.

111 Percent Chrysler Gain
The Chrysler Corporation reported a 111 percent sales gain in mid-April, the General Motors Corporation an 87 percent increase and the Ford Motor Company a 41 percent gain.

Chrysler's sales were up 84 percent, G.M.'s 62 percent, Ford's 29 percent and A.M.C.'s was off 15 percent.

G.M. and Chrysler improved their market share, while Ford and A.M.C. saw their decline.

Table showing car sales data for various companies (G.M., Chrysler, Ford, A.M.C., Total) for the period April 11-20, 1976, compared with the same period in 1975.

Following are sales reported by the four companies for the April 11-20 period:

Special Introductory Trial Offer!

Value Line

FOR THE NEXT TWELVE WEEKS FOR only $29.

REASONS FOR THIS OFFER:

Value Line offers its service on a 12-week trial basis at approximately half the regular rate to new trial subscribers only because we have found that a high percentage of those who once try Value Line for a period of months stay with it on a long-term basis.

SUBSCRIPTION:

For the next 12 weeks you will receive new reports at the rate of about 125 a week, which will replace and update those already in your binder. (Filing takes only one minute a week.) You will also receive during the next 12 weeks the weekly "Selection and Opinion" section of the VALUE LINE INVESTMENT SURVEY, bringing you Value Line's forecast of the economy and the stock market, advice on investment policy, in-depth analyses of especially recommended stocks, the Value Line market averages, and other features.

BONUS:

Under this special trial offer you will receive all the latest full-page reports on each of the more than 1600 stocks covered by Value Line the year round filed and indexed in two strong ring binders. This Value Line Reference Service, which alone sells for $35, will be yours at no extra charge under this offer.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE:

If you find that the Value Line Service is not all that you expected it to be, you may return the material we send you within 30 days for a full and unquestioned refund of your $29.

RESTRICTION:

This offer is limited to one individual in a household that has not already had a subscription to the VALUE LINE INVESTMENT SURVEY during the past two years. See for yourself how Value Line's investment advisory service, though not "free of charge," might help you maximize your investment profit possibilities and reduce your investment risk.

The Value Line Investment Survey

Arnold Bernhard & Co., Inc. • E. 44th St., N.Y., N.Y. 10017

- Begin my special 12-week trial to The Value Line Survey (limited once to one household every two years) and send me the Investors Reference Service and the booklet "Investing in Common Stocks" as a bonus. My check or money order for $29 is enclosed. (Trial subscriptions must be accompanied by payment.)
I prefer one year (52 weeks) of Value Line, plus the bonus, Investors Reference Service and the booklet, "Investing in Common Stocks" for $248. (There are no restrictions with this offer.)
Payment enclosed. I bill me for $248.

GUARANTEE: If dissatisfied for any reason, I may return the material within 30 days for a full refund of the fee I have paid. $12504

SIGNATURE:

NAME (please print)

ADDRESS APT. NO.

CITY STATE ZIP
Not assignable without subscriber's consent. Foreign rates on request. Subscription fees are fully tax-deductible. (NY residents add applicable sales tax.)

Send for these timely United Reports on these 2 attractive industry groups Buy? Hold? Sell?

Computers Drugs

Facts, figures, analysis, appraisal of risk, and individual advice on each stock.

- Burroughs
Control Data
Digital Ept
Honeywell IBM
NCR
Sperry Rand
Am Home Prods
Eli Lilly
Merck
Schering-Plough
SmithKline
Squibb
Upjohn
Warner Lambert

You will also receive a full 4-week Quest Subscription to United Reports on Business and Investments

ALL OUT COUPON AND MAIL TODAY

This entire package only $3

4 weeks of Reports alone is a $9 value

NAME (please print)

ADDRESS

CITY STATE ZIP

UNITED Business & Investment Service

210 Newbury St., Boston, Massachusetts 02116

YES, YOU CAN EARN 50% AND MORE

FROM RARE CORN INVESTMENT

33% is what our investors earned in 1975. $100 or $25,000 to invest? We split it out. What they bought, paid and sold at. We'll show you how our investor's made money in 1975. 1976 may be even better! For details write: CAN-AM CORN INVESTMENTS

125-41 25th Street S. W. Tempe, Calif. 92876

100 ADVERTISER IN THE NY TIMES FOR 13 YEARS

Estimated earnings and dividend $10

Send this ad with $10 to Dept. T-38

UNITED Business & Investment Service

210 Newbury St., Boston, Mass. 02116

Market Place

Mallory Compensation Plan Debated

By ROBERT METZ

P. R. Mallory & Company, the maker of Dura Cell alkaline batteries, is asking shareholders to approve a novel compensation plan for outside directors at its annual meeting next Wednesday.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Outside directors commonly serve with nominal pay plus expenses. It has become increasingly difficult to get able people to serve in an era of court rulings holding directors to high standards of performance.

The plan offered by the Indianapolis-based company would permit individual outside directors to buy up to 5,000 Mallory shares under a proposal encompassing a total of 50,000 of the company's shares.

Stock Market Indicators

(The tables for the most active trading, percentage changes, dollar leaders and the market diary are based on the 4 P.M. New York closing listed on the New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange. The market averages, however, are based on the 4 P.M. New York closing.)

N.Y.S.E. Index: High 114.25, Low 114.00, Close 114.10, Change +0.10

S&P Averages: High 114.25, Low 114.00, Close 114.10, Change +0.10

Up-Down Volume: NYSE 4,167,000 shares, AMEX 46,000 shares

Odd Lot Trading: Purchases of 100,000 shares; sales of 34,500 shares

The Dow Jones Stock Averages: Industrial 28, Utilities 15, Stocks 35

Consolidated Trading: Amex Issues Most Active, O.T.C. Most Active

Market Diary: Advances 242, Declines 222, Net Change +20

O.T.C. Market Diary: Advances 1, Declines 1, Net Change 0

Consolidated Trading for N.Y.S.E. Issues: 1976 Stocks and Div. Sales

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

1976 Stocks and Div. Sales: High Low Last

Respiratory Stimulant

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

These people suffer from respiratory ailments...

Respiratory Stimulator for Babies Is Invented

FACED BY V. JONES... The New York Times... April 23—specially those pre-born, often suffer...

Ulrich A. Frank, senior member of technical-staff of Roche Medical Electronics, with the respiratory stimulator that he invented for infants.

...provides early stimulation of the... The little mat-tar, so as not to move the pa-

...According to the patent, hollow electrically conductive material forms the U-shaped track, and magnets installed in the vehicle send magnetic fields down through the track.

...Fitting-Room Zipper Puller... A zipper puller invented by Inez A. Huntress of Glendale, Calif., is a flexible chain to be fastened at one end to the wall of a fitting or dressing room.

GERMANS APPROVE VW OUTPUT IN U.S.

Continued From Page 35... long term he hoped the company would climb from its present position of 3.3 percent of the American market to 4 to 5 percent.

Japan's Steel Exports to China Reduced by 75% for First Half TOKYO, April 23—Japan's steel shipments to China have been reduced by 75 percent for the first half of this year in negotiations between six major Japanese steel makers and Peking's metal and minerals import-export corporation.

WHEAT FUTURES DECLINE IN PRICE

Heavy Selling Follows U.S. Report on Stocks on Hand... By ELIZABETH M. FOWLER... Heavy selling depressed wheat futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade, as traders reacted to the Government's stocks-on-hand report issued after the close on Thursday.

...The volatile May potato-futures contract, which has dropped sharply for four days this week, reversed direction and rose the daily limit of 50 points to close at 10.34 cents a pound, up from 9.86 Volun-2 on the New York Mercantile Exchange was at a moderate pace of 2,504 contracts.

DEBATE BY I.R.S.

...said they were... The questions raised at the hearing were whether the payments had in response to... The U.S. off-... he press at the New York Times.

Business Briefs

Pound Drops Despite Bank Move... BRUSSELS, April 23 (UPI)—Emergency action by the Bank of England today to shore up the ailing pound failed to halt its downward slide.

Oil Output Said to Fall 1.5% in '75... BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 23 (UPI)—The world's oil production slumped 1.5 percent in 1975, compared to 1974, and Middle East production fell by 10.5 percent, according to The Middle East Economic Survey.

Phillips Petroleum Agrees to Curbs... LOS ANGELES, April 23 (UPI)—The Phillips Petroleum Company has agreed to tougher rules for the conduct of company officials in an agreement settling a stockholder suit arising from the company's alleged illegal political contributions.

United Technologies Shifts Pratt Unit... The United Technologies Corporation announced yesterday a restructuring of its largest division, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, into a new group to be headed by Bruce N. Torelli as president.

Too, Will Build Autos in America... The U.A.W.'s president, Leonard Woodcock, agreed that "New Stanton is designed as an auto plant and would be better run. But it will take up to 18 months to get it ready for production and the Brook Park plant could be ready in four to six months."

Business Records... MARY E. MYERS, Chief Asst., Calhoun, Va., is being promoted to Asst. to the President of the company.

Foreign-Car Assembly In U.S. Is Nothing New... DETROIT, April 23—The Volkswagen and Volvo plants on American soil will not turn out the first foreign cars to be built in this country.

Marathon Extending Offer On Pan Ocean Till Monday... Marathon Energy, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Marathon Oil Company, said yesterday it was extending its tender offer for Pan Ocean Oil Corporation common stock until Monday.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

U.S. Orders Banks to Halt Paying Clubs Showing Bias... WASHINGTON, April 23 (UPI)—Banks and other financial institutions have been ordered to stop paying memberships for their executives in private clubs that discriminate against women and minorities.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

PENNEY REPORTED STUDYING PAYOFFS

Continued From Page 35... at the age of 94, had sought to imbue the company that he founded with the humanitarian principle of "treating everyone as you would have them treat you."

RCA and Corning In Polish TV Deal... Including installation of complete color TV picture tube facilities in Poland. The contract with Corning, valued in excess of $50 million, is for equipment and technical assistance for construction of a color TV glass bulb plant there.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Amex and O.T.C. Show Price Drops; Turnover Declines

Concern that interest rates may rise soon weakened most prices yesterday on the American Stock Exchange and in the over-the-counter market. Late Thursday the Federal Reserve Board reported that the nation's basic money supply rose $3.4 billion in the latest reporting week.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

TWO SENTENCED FOR STOCK FRAUD

Continued From Page 35... fraudulently raised the stock price of the Belair Financial Corporation and had made illegal payoffs disguised as payments to charitable institutions.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead?

Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead?

Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

Uranium Upsurge Ahead? Find out why Schaefer is convinced there will be an advance in the uranium mining shares in the late 1970's which will dwarf the 'boom' in gold stocks during the early 1970's.

U.S. and Foreign Stock Exchanges

Table of U.S. and Foreign Stock Exchanges including Midwest, Pacific, and Boston sections with columns for stock names, prices, and changes.

Table of American Exchange Bond Trading with columns for bond names, prices, and yields.

Table of Chicago Board Options Exchange with columns for option contracts, prices, and volumes.

LONDON

Table of London Stock Exchange with columns for stock names, prices, and changes.

Table of Tokyo Stock Exchange with columns for stock names, prices, and changes.

Table of Buenos Aires Stock Exchange with columns for stock names, prices, and changes.

New York Stock Exchange Bond Trading

Table of New York Stock Exchange Bond Trading with columns for bond names, prices, and yields.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Table of World Bank with columns for bank names, assets, and liabilities.

Auction Sales section with text and tables listing various items for sale, including real estate, art, and collectibles.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Real estate listings for Nassau-Suffolk, including properties in Great Neck, Manhasset, and other areas.

Handwritten text: 07/1/2015

SEE IT TOMORROW IN THE SPORTS SECTION The New York Times Going Into Commission Feature

NEW HOMES GRAND OPENING SOUNDS POINT Estates

HEHN Real Estate

O'ROURKE PRESENTS FOUR FINE BUYS

O'ROURKE 516-944-9400

TOWN & COUNTRY SPECIALS

Sandsport 516-883-7780

Sandsport 516-883-8757

MacCRATE 516-767-3320

Sandsport 516-883-7780

Sandsport 516-883-8757

MacCRATE 516-767-3320

MacCRATE 516-627-4440

WALKER 516 MA 7-3100

MILLANG 516-427-4342

JUST LISTED!

LOCLUST Valley-Older Col

MacCRATE 516-627-4440

WALKER 516 MA 7-3100

MILLANG 516-427-4342

JUST LISTED!

LOCLUST Valley-Older Col

MacCRATE 516-627-4440

WALKER 516 MA 7-3100

MILLANG 516-427-4342

JUST LISTED!

LOCLUST Valley-Older Col

MacCRATE 516-627-4440

WALKER 516 MA 7-3100

MILLANG 516-427-4342

JUST LISTED!

LOCLUST Valley-Older Col

MacCRATE 516-627-4440

WALKER 516 MA 7-3100

MILLANG 516-427-4342

JUST LISTED!

LOCLUST Valley-Older Col

MacCRATE 516-627-4440

WALKER 516 MA 7-3100

MILLANG 516-427-4342

JUST LISTED!

LOCLUST Valley-Older Col

Brackett 516 MA 1-0210

Adam Estates 516 MA 1-0210

MacKlapan 516 MA 1-0210

C.L. Lipari 484-5040

Claire Sobel MAI-4300

Lex 921-5025

State 921-5025

Seaford Custom Ranch 921-5025

Seaford Custom Ranch 921-5025

Seaford Custom Ranch 921-5025

Smithtown vic-Hauppauge In-Ground Gunite Pool

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WANTAGH-SUPERB HOME

WOODBROOK

NEW HOMES 10% DOWN

CLEAN WATERFRONT

FARMINGDALE-GUANTAN

GRT NECK-2 YR RENTAL

LIDO BEACH

ARDSLEY-3 BR hi Ranch

MAJESTIC SPLIT

2 CAR GAR

2 CAR GAR

VALLEY STREAM WOODRIDGE

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

WOODBROOK

Various real estate ads on the right edge of the page.

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

HOULIHAN

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

BIXLER

To answer box number advertisements

To answer box number advertisements

To answer box number advertisements

To answer box number advertisements

To answer box number advertisements

To answer box number advertisements

To answer box number advertisements

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Mc Clellan In Pelham

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Whittmore

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

Severin

07/11/2015

Connecticut 171 Westport-Connecticut 172 Westport-Connecticut 173 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 174 Westport-Connecticut 175 Westport-Connecticut 176 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 177 Westport-Connecticut 178 Westport-Connecticut 179 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 180 Westport-Connecticut 181 Westport-Connecticut 182 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 183 Westport-Connecticut 184 Westport-Connecticut 185 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 186 Westport-Connecticut 187 Westport-Connecticut 188 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 189 Westport-Connecticut 190 Westport-Connecticut 191 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 192 Westport-Connecticut 193 Westport-Connecticut 194 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 195 Westport-Connecticut 196 Westport-Connecticut 197 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 198 Westport-Connecticut 199 Westport-Connecticut 200 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 201 Westport-Connecticut 202 Westport-Connecticut 203 Westport-Connecticut	Westport-Connecticut 204 Westport-Connecticut 205 Westport-Connecticut 206 Westport-Connecticut
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

VACATION-LEISURE HOMES

Massachusetts 507 East Hampton 508 East Hampton 509 East Hampton	Massachusetts 510 East Hampton 511 East Hampton 512 East Hampton	Massachusetts 513 East Hampton 514 East Hampton 515 East Hampton	Massachusetts 516 East Hampton 517 East Hampton 518 East Hampton	Massachusetts 519 East Hampton 520 East Hampton 521 East Hampton	Massachusetts 522 East Hampton 523 East Hampton 524 East Hampton	Massachusetts 525 East Hampton 526 East Hampton 527 East Hampton	Massachusetts 528 East Hampton 529 East Hampton 530 East Hampton	Massachusetts 531 East Hampton 532 East Hampton 533 East Hampton	Massachusetts 534 East Hampton 535 East Hampton 536 East Hampton	Massachusetts 537 East Hampton 538 East Hampton 539 East Hampton	Massachusetts 540 East Hampton 541 East Hampton 542 East Hampton
--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
Cont'd From Preceding Page
AMERICAN... 134,000
CHAMPAGNE... 122,000
HARRISBURG... 79,000

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
NEW VERMONT-HARRINGTON TOWNSHIP
NEW YORK... 134,000
HARRISBURG... 79,000

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
KENT-TIBETS LAKE
5.8 ac +/- town of Irvington

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
BUCKS COUNTY
APPROXIMATELY 300 ACRES

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
KENT-TIBETS LAKE
5.8 ac +/- town of Irvington

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
BUCKS COUNTY
APPROXIMATELY 300 ACRES

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
KENT-TIBETS LAKE
5.8 ac +/- town of Irvington

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
BUCKS COUNTY
APPROXIMATELY 300 ACRES

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
KENT-TIBETS LAKE
5.8 ac +/- town of Irvington

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
BUCKS COUNTY
APPROXIMATELY 300 ACRES

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
KENT-TIBETS LAKE
5.8 ac +/- town of Irvington

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
BUCKS COUNTY
APPROXIMATELY 300 ACRES

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Let's & Acreage - Westchester 417
KENT-TIBETS LAKE
5.8 ac +/- town of Irvington

Let's & Acreage - New Jersey 463
BUCKS COUNTY
APPROXIMATELY 300 ACRES

APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711

BUILDINGS & FACTORIES
New Jersey 863
Fairfield Sublet 711
Wanted: White Plains Area

Stones-Hesson-Suffolk 1113
HAMPTONS... 1113
Fairfield Sublet 711

Offices-New Jersey 1263
CLIFTON, N.J.
30,000 SQ FT
FRONTS G.S. PARKWAY

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Apartments-Farm-Manhattan 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1501
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Apartments-Urbain-Manhattan 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511
One & Two Bldgs 1511

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

Offices-Other Sections 1281
BUCKS COUNTY, PENN.
MULTI-STORY BLDG
9,000-CAR PARKING

The Churchill
300 E. 40th St.
APPLICATIONS BEING TAKEN FOR MAY OCCUPANCY ON A FEW CHOICE EXECUTIVE STUDIO SUITES

GRAMERCY TOWERS
Live Better At Gramercy Towers
Immediate Occupancy
Studios from $267

A BREATH OF FRESH AIR COMES TO CHELSEA
Grand Opening of New Rental Office
Grand Opening Rental Specials From $290

Renoir House
Studio w/ sleep air $390
1 Bedroom $460
CABLE TV AVAILABLE

55 West
BECK & CALL
55 West
RENTAL OFFICES

16 W 16
RENTAL OFFICES
16 W 16
RENTAL OFFICES

COOPER GRAMER
RENTAL OFFICES
COOPER GRAMER
RENTAL OFFICES

28th St
RENTAL OFFICES
28th St
RENTAL OFFICES

STUDIO 380
ALSO IDEAL ONLY SAYS
DRYDEN EAST

45 ST 330 W
SPECIAL RATES NOW
FURNISHED

TO ANSWER BOX NUMBER ADVERTISEMENTS
Simply address your reply to the box number given in the advertisement

INGRAMS
Real Estate For Exchange
MID-WESTCHESTER
APARTMENT HOUSES
Brooklyn 781

1668 Right Column - Cont.

1672 Right Column - Cont.

ANNOUNCING THE GRAND OPENING OF GALAXY

12 YEARS AND 57 MILLION AGO, WE DREAMED UP THE PERFECT NEW YORK APARTMENT. Now it's in New Jersey. Located in the heart of the Garden State, this 15-story building is a masterpiece of modern architecture. It features a variety of unique apartments, many with balconies and panoramic views. Amenities include a health spa, indoor and outdoor Olympic-size pools, a country club, and a 24-hour concierge.

AN ELEGANT SHOPPING MALL BENEATH OUR PRIVATE PARK

Our own arena and bank. Gourmet restaurant. Diverse of smart shops and boutiques. Multiple indoor garage spaces.

OUTSTANDING VALUE

Hotel Lincoln Square - 100 Lincoln St. - 2100 sq. ft. - 10 rooms. - 24-hour service. - Call 212-692-1100.

HOTEL EMPIRE

At Lincoln Center. Live at the West End Cultural Center. Weekly from $39.50 to $77.00. Call 212-692-1100.

HOTEL LINCOLN SQUARE

100 Lincoln St. - 2100 sq. ft. - 10 rooms. - 24-hour service. - Call 212-692-1100.

HOTEL LUCERNE

100 Lincoln St. - 2100 sq. ft. - 10 rooms. - 24-hour service. - Call 212-692-1100.

CASAGMO FOX HILL

Both villages offer a variety of homes. Rents from $300. Gas, heating and cooking included. Call 212-438-0438.

STARKS AGENCY

Industrial. BLDG Trade & Engineering. Call 212-692-1100.

PROVIDENT AGENCY

Area Representative. For drawings of corridors and char...

ASST BKPR/GENL OFC

ASST BOOKKEEPER. Small import co requires expd good typing, hard working, fast & accurate bookkeeper to operate Burroughs 18000 computer, full time, Midtown. Excellent pay, 144 E 44 St, Call 697-3216.

BOOKKEEPER A/R

BOOKKEEPER F/C. Small import co requires expd good typing, hard working, fast & accurate bookkeeper to operate Burroughs 18000 computer, full time, Midtown. Excellent pay, 144 E 44 St, Call 697-3216.

BOOKKEEPER EXPD

BOOKKEEPER TO GENL LEDGER. Small import co requires expd good typing, hard working, fast & accurate bookkeeper to operate Burroughs 18000 computer, full time, Midtown. Excellent pay, 144 E 44 St, Call 697-3216.

CHEF (WORKING)

For successful restaurant in SE MASS. Must have chef certificate. Excellent opportunity for the right person. Call 212-692-1100.

ACCOUNTANT

ACCOUNTING CLERK. Call 212-692-1100.

Brady Agency

774 MADISON AVE. 887-5400. Employment Agencies. 2500.

Secy. On Specialty

Secy. On Specialty. Call 212-692-1100.

STARKS AGENCY

Industrial. BLDG Trade & Engineering. Call 212-692-1100.

PROVIDENT AGENCY

Area Representative. For drawings of corridors and char...

ASST BKPR/GENL OFC

ASST BOOKKEEPER. Small import co requires expd good typing, hard working, fast & accurate bookkeeper to operate Burroughs 18000 computer, full time, Midtown. Excellent pay, 144 E 44 St, Call 697-3216.

BOOKKEEPER A/R

BOOKKEEPER F/C. Small import co requires expd good typing, hard working, fast & accurate bookkeeper to operate Burroughs 18000 computer, full time, Midtown. Excellent pay, 144 E 44 St, Call 697-3216.

BOOKKEEPER EXPD

BOOKKEEPER TO GENL LEDGER. Small import co requires expd good typing, hard working, fast & accurate bookkeeper to operate Burroughs 18000 computer, full time, Midtown. Excellent pay, 144 E 44 St, Call 697-3216.

CHEF (WORKING)

For successful restaurant in SE MASS. Must have chef certificate. Excellent opportunity for the right person. Call 212-692-1100.

ACCOUNTANT

ACCOUNTING CLERK. Call 212-692-1100.

MANAGER

MANAGER. Call 212-692-1100.

MECHANIC

MECHANIC. Call 212-692-1100.

MOVERS

MOVERS. Call 212-692-1100.

OFFSET

OFFSET. Call 212-692-1100.

DIE MAK

DIE MAK. Call 212-692-1100.

Process Engi

Process Engi. Call 212-692-1100.

Brooklyn Pa

Brooklyn Pa. Call 212-692-1100.

PROGRAMMER

PROGRAMMER. Call 212-692-1100.

PROGRAMME

PROGRAMME. Call 212-692-1100.

Every moi an averag 39,600 apartmen ads appe The New Times Classified Pages

It's the place to get the apartment choices. It's the place to advertise for your favorite response. Order your Classifieds in New York City call 645-3211 before and 5:30 P.M. in the suburbs call The Times regional office.

Handwritten signature or mark.

Barbara Walters, NBC to Meet on Time of Departure

By JOHN J. O'CONNOR

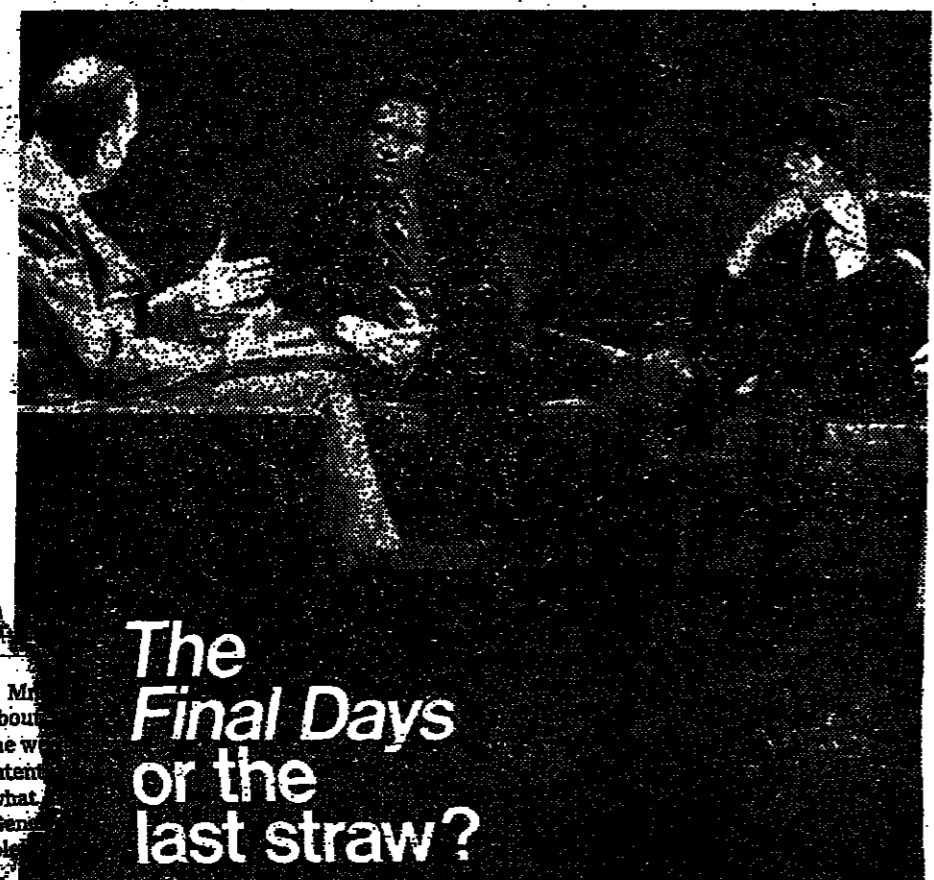

Barbara Walters said yesterday that she would meet Monday with Richard Wald, president of NBC News, to discuss the timing of her departure from the network following her acceptance of a million-dollar contract from ABC.

New Orleans Open

5PM Jack Nicklaus, Ben Crenshaw and Billy Casper head the field in this $175,000 event!

4 NBC Sports

The Final Days or the last straw?

What was the purpose in reporting the Nixons hadn't slept together in 14 years? What of the charges by Nixon's sons-in-law that they were misquoted? Were the authors out for blood or for history? These are some of the questions raised when Edwin Newman interviews Woodward and Bernstein this evening.

"Speaking Freely"

4 7PM WNBC-TV

New for Spring (not a re-run)

Serpico is back in a brand-new adventure: "The Deadly Game"

David Brinley as the famous street-wise undercover cop—still nipping the mask of corruption, in and out of the department! Allen Garfield is the big-shot corrupter and Curt Young plays the loan shark.

4 9PM NBC

John Chancellor and Hugh Downs and the late Frank McGee. The program has retained a remarkably steady audience, and still has more viewers than for its two network competitors, "The CBS Morning News" and "Good Morning, America."

On the other side of the Walters equation, ABC has cut back drastically this year on its once hard-hitting "Close-Up" documentaries and at the same time, surged to the top of recent ratings lists from being a poor third in the entertainment schedule.

News Operation Sags The ABC news operation has been sagging—in output, in ratings and in morale. The Reasoner edition of the nightly news has been slipping badly to distant third in the ratings.

For many industry observers, the solutions chosen by ABC are clear: instead of concentrating on the improvement of news coverage and content, change the surface images; instead of expanding staffs and improving equipment generally, invest $1 million a year on a five-year contract for a single "superstar" whose presence alone may improve images and raise ratings.

Miss Walters has yet to establish a solid record as a superstar. She is a strong TV personality, but the ratings show she has yet to prove that she can command a loyal audience. The drop in the "Today" show ratings over the last year might perhaps be attributed to her NBC co-anchor, Jim Hartz.

On-camera Narrator She was the on-camera narrator for "Children of Divorce," an NBC documentary in which she had a minimum of input. The program attracted only 14 percent of the total TV audience that evening and finished 62d on a ratings list of 62 programs for the week.

In her new position as anchorwoman on the Reasoner edition of the nightly news, Miss Walters will be moving into new and quite different territory. She has been singularly adept at the direct interview, the quick give-and-take of confrontation.

Man Who Won $75,000 Now Wins $100,000

In 1973, Paul Kramer, a 50-year-old Farmington, Conn., dealer of home-heating oil, won a $75,000 jackpot in Connecticut's weekly lottery.

Mr. Kramer, who is married and the father of three college-aged children, will receive the new prize in 10 annual installments of $10,000 each to lessen the tax bite.

Lottery officials said that the holder of a ticket stood a one-in-910,000 chance of winning this week's drawing, but they said they could not estimate the odds of Mr. Kramer's winning the top prize twice without knowing how many tickets were sold in both lotteries.

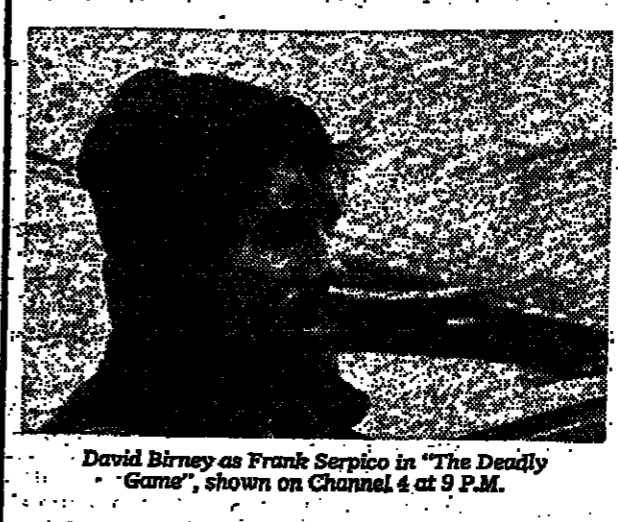

Efforts to reach Mr. Kramer for comment yesterday were unavailing. "I don't know when he'll be back," said a man who answered the telephone at his office. "He's gone fishing."

LEARN ABOUT TRAVEL OR TRAIN AS AGENTS 7 WEEKS COURSE TUES. & THUR. EVES 6-9 PM NEXT CLASS STARTS MAY 13

Television

Morning

- 5:30 (4) Agriculture, USA
6:00 (4) Across the Fence
6:30 (2) Sunrise Semester
(4) Vegetable Soup
(8) Patterns for Living
(7) News
7:00 (2) Patchwork Family
(4) Zooms
(5) Underdog
(7) Hot Fudge
7:30 (4) Mr. Magoo
(5) Dennis the Menace
(7) George Washington
(8) News
(11) Carrousel
(13) Crockett's Victory Garden
8:00 (2) Pebbles and Bamm Bamm
(4) Emergency Plus 4: Animated
(5) The Flintstones
(7) Hong Kong Phooey
(9) Newark and Reality
(11) Apprenda Ingles
(13) Sesame Street
8:30 (2) Bugs Bunny-Shorts
(4) Bule and the Pinguets
(5) The Brady Bunch
(7) Tom and Jerry
(9) Connecticut Report
(11) Videography
9:00 (4) Secret Lives of Waldo Kitty
(5) The Partridge Family
(9) Wanted: Dead or Alive
(11) Electric Company (R)
9:30 (2) Scooby-Doo
(4) Pink Panther Show
(5) Switched
(7) New Adventures of Gilligan
(9) MOVIE: "The Werewolf of London" (1935)
Henry Hull, Valerie Hobson. The first sawtooth, still the best.
(11) It's Written
(13) Mister Rogers (R)
10:00 (2) Shazam!
(4) Land of the Lost
(5) The Monkees
(7) Super Friends
(11) The Executive Woman
(13) Sesame Street (R)
10:15 (1) One's Woman's New York
10:30 (4) Run, Joe, Run!
(5) MOVIE: "It's a Gift" (1934). W. C. Fields, Baby Leroy. Fields in clover. And Baby keeps him on his toes.
(11) Friends of Man
11:00 (2) Far Out Space Nuts
(4) Return to the Planet of the Apes
(5) Movie: "Dayton's Devils" (1968). Rory Calhoun, Laine Kazan.
(11) Tennis Highlights of the match between Pancho Gonzalez and Pancho Segura
(13) The Electric Company (R)
11:30 (2) Ghost Busters
(4) Westing
(7) The Odd Ball Couple
(13) Mister Rogers (R)
12:00 (2) Valley of the Dinosaurs
(4) The Jugglers
(5) In and Out of Focus
Dorothy Moore, Leon Thomas, guests.
(11) Movie: "War of the Planets" (1967). Tony Russel, Franco Nero
(13) Zoom (R)
12:30 (4) G-USA (R)
(5) American Bandstand: Al Wilson, Queen, Mule Dog, guests.
(11) Knowledge Lodge (R)
(2) CHILDREN'S FILM FESTIVAL: "The Camelot" (R)
(4) SPIRIT OF '76: Philadelphia
(5) MOVIE: "The Man Who Could Not Hang" (1959). Boris Karloff, Roger Fryer
(9) MOVIE: "The Big"

David Brinley as Frank Serpico in "The Deadly Game", shown on Channel 4 at 9 P.M.

- 6:00 P.M. Firing Line (13)
7:30 P.M. Eye On 2
9:00 P.M. Mary Tyler Moore (R) (2)
9:30 P.M. "The Man in the White Suit" (13)
11:30 P.M. Saturday Night (4)

- 11:30 (4) Star Trek
(9) MOVIE: "Million Eyes of Su Mu" (1967). Frankie Avalon, George Nader
(21) Washington Week in Review
(22) Catch 25
(47) La Comunnidad En Marcha
(50) Black Perspective
11:40 (2) MOVIE: "Harper" (1966). Paul Newman, Lauren Bacall, Robert Wagner, Arthur O'Connell. Tough, tony private investigator, served with a redish by good, new-actors cast.
12:30 (9) Championship Wrestling
(11) MOVIE: "Blueberry" (1959). Charles Bronson, Michele Morgan, Deshaun Darreux, Clever and effective. From France.
(13) Austin City Limits: Townes Van Zandt and Clifton Chance and the Red Hot Louisiana Band
1:00 (4) MOVIE: "The Time Machine" (1960). Rod Taylor, Yvette Mimieux. Very nice sci-fi.
1:30 (9) MOVIE: "The Living Coffin" (1965). Gaston Santos, Mary Duval. Don't sit up.
1:35 (2) MOVIE: "Little Murders" (1971). Elliot Gould, Maudie Patton, Vincent Gardenia. Flat and strained as the play, a little accomplished.
2:04 (5) DON KIRSHNER'S ROCK CONCERT: Barry Manilow, R. T. Express, guests.
2:30 (9) News
2:35 (2) MOVIE: "Go West" (1940). Mae Busch, Mollie Marx, some pearly moments.
3:34 (5) The Saint
3:35 (2) News
4:58 (2) MOVIE: "The Brigand of Kandahar" (1966). Ronald Lewis, Oliver Reed
(11) Star Trek
(9) MOVIE: "Million Eyes of Su Mu" (1967). Frankie Avalon, George Nader
(21) Washington Week in Review
(22) Catch 25
(47) La Comunnidad En Marcha
(50) Black Perspective
7:00 (4) SPEAKING FREELY: Edwin Newman talks with Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward of the Washington Post.
(5) MOVIE: "The Big Clock" (1948). Ray Milland, Charles Laughton, George Macready. Murder, magazine empire. Stylish, well-meshed suspense. Art hooray for Elsa Lanchester.
(7) PEOPLE, PLACES, THINGS
(11) SPACE 1999 (R)
(13) AGRONSKY AND COMPANY
(21) Wall Street Week
(22) Decades of Decision
(41) Olga Tony
(47) Lo Mejor Del Cine
(50) Firing Line with Maria
(58) Movies with Maria
7:30 (2) EYE ON: "New York in the Year 2000" (R)
(7) High Rollers
(13) Inside Albany
(21) Black Perspective
(31) On the Job
8:00 (2) THE JEFFERSONS
(4) Emergency (R)
(7) Tabitha: Comedy
(11) MOVIE: "The Invisible Creature" (1960). Sandra Doris, Tony Wright. Tension in a strange house.
(13) ANTONIA: A PORTRAIT OF THE WOMAN (R)
(11) W. Somerset Maugham
(13) The Ballad of Baby Doe
(41) Gran Teatro
(50) Evening at Symphony
(58) Yugoslav Hour
8:30 (2) MOVIE: "Thunderball" (1965). Sean Connery: On-the-ball Bond. (Network cautions that the film contains mature subject matter.)
(11) Star Trek
(9) MOVIE: "Million Eyes of Su Mu" (1967). Frankie Avalon, George Nader
(21) Washington Week in Review
(22) Catch 25
(47) La Comunnidad En Marcha
(50) Black Perspective
7:00 (4) SPEAKING FREELY: Edwin Newman talks with Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward of the Washington Post.
(5) MOVIE: "The Big Clock" (1948). Ray Milland, Charles Laughton, George Macready. Murder, magazine empire. Stylish, well-meshed suspense. Art hooray for Elsa Lanchester.
(7) PEOPLE, PLACES, THINGS
(11) SPACE 1999 (R)
(13) AGRONSKY AND COMPANY
(21) Wall Street Week
(22) Decades of Decision
(41) Olga Tony
(47) Lo Mejor Del Cine
(50) Firing Line with Maria
(58) Movies with Maria
7:30 (2) EYE ON: "New York in the Year 2000" (R)
(7) High Rollers
(13) Inside Albany
(21) Black Perspective
(31) On the Job
8:00 (2) THE JEFFERSONS
(4) Emergency (R)
(7) Tabitha: Comedy
(11) MOVIE: "The Invisible Creature" (1960). Sandra Doris, Tony Wright. Tension in a strange house.
(13) ANTONIA: A PORTRAIT OF THE WOMAN (R)
(11) W. Somerset Maugham
(13) The Ballad of Baby Doe
(41) Gran Teatro
(50) Evening at Symphony
(58) Yugoslav Hour
8:30 (2) MOVIE: "Thunderball" (1965). Sean Connery: On-the-ball Bond. (Network cautions that the film contains mature subject matter.)

Evening

- 8:00 (2) World of Survival (R)
(5) Mission: Impossible
(9) Racing from Aqueduct: The Top Flight Handicap
8:30 (2) MOVIE: "Thunderball" (1965). Sean Connery: On-the-ball Bond. (Network cautions that the film contains mature subject matter.)

Afternoon

- 12:00 (2) Valley of the Dinosaurs
(4) The Jugglers
(5) In and Out of Focus
Dorothy Moore, Leon Thomas, guests.
(11) Movie: "War of the Planets" (1967). Tony Russel, Franco Nero
(13) Zoom (R)
12:30 (4) G-USA (R)
(5) American Bandstand: Al Wilson, Queen, Mule Dog, guests.
(11) Knowledge Lodge (R)
(2) CHILDREN'S FILM FESTIVAL: "The Camelot" (R)
(4) SPIRIT OF '76: Philadelphia
(5) MOVIE: "The Man Who Could Not Hang" (1959). Boris Karloff, Roger Fryer
(9) MOVIE: "The Big"

Radio

- 9-9 A.M. WOR: Breakfast Symphony, Sinfonia Concertante in E flat, Mozart; Suite from Les Destouches, Overture to Fidelio, Handel; Overture to Scherzo, Berlioz; Lullaby, MacDowell; Oriental Dances from Russian and Lullaby, Glazunov.
9-10 A.M. WOR: Faust Overture, Wagner; Choral Overture, Dvorak; Symphony No. 93, Haydn.
9-10:10 A.M. WOR: Piano Personalities, Claudio Arrau, Piano Sonata No. 15, Beethoven.
11-11:30 A.M. WOR: Battle Cry of Freedom, Gottschalk; Country Fair, Mayer; A Pagan Poem, Loeffler; Symphony No. 3, Haydn.
10-11 A.M. WNCN: Blumenstock in A, F. Schumann; Islande, Oriental Fantasia, Baladiev; Harspichord Suite No. 2, Handel; Piano Sonata No. 23, Beethoven.
10:00 Noon WOR: Saturday Pope Concert, Guitar Concerto, Rodrigo; Pathetic Concerto, Liszt; Sinfonia Concertante in A, Stamitz.
1:00-2 P.M. WNCN-FM: Rejoice in the Lord Always, Purcell; Concerto for Flute, Oboe, and Orchestra, Haydn; Four Romantic Pieces, Dvorak; Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, Bach; Romantic Liery; Sinfonia Concertante in A, Stamitz.
2:00-2:30 P.M. WOR: Pastoral Idyllic, Mendelssohn; Mozart: Guitar Concerto in D, Vivaldi; Piano Concerto No. 1, Liszt.
2:30-3:30 P.M. WNCN-FM: Piano Trio, Haydn; Suite spode del Tetro, Scarlatti; Circles, Berlioz.
4-4:30 P.M. WNCN-FM: Keyboard Bashful Small
4:30-7 P.M. WOR: Heads from Germany, David Berger, host; Flute Sonata in D, Gram; Dust for Flute and Guitar, Lauffensteiner.
7-8 P.M. WNCN-FM: Mozart Overture, Beethoven; Chamber Symphony in B flat, Beethoven; Chloee Suite No. 2, Ravel.
8-8:30 P.M. WNCN-FM: Labentzner, Delli; Piano Concerto No. 2,

- 10-11 P.M. WMCA: Sally Jessy Raphael, Rod McKuen, poet Dr. Frank Wyszen, acupressurist.
10-11 P.M. WVEV: Body and Soul, Jim D'Anna, host. Discussion of the arts.
10:45-12 P.M. WQXR: What's Your Problem? With Bernard Melzer. Call-in, (low estate, finance).
10:30-10:55 P.M. WNYC-AM: Teenage Book Talk, Ruth Rausen, host. Sean Manley and Gogo Lewis, editors of "Ballet Beasts."
11-11:30 P.M. WNYC-AM: A Look at Ourselves. "What America Means to Me."
11:00-12 P.M. WNYC-AM: Shakespeare Matters. The Dublin Gate Players production of "The Merchant of Venice."
11:00-12 P.M. WBAI: Litchfield with Paul Gorman, Talk.
1 P.M. WSOU: College Basketball, Seton Hall vs. St. Francis.
1:35 P.M. WMCA: Baseball, Yankees vs. Kansas City.
2-4 P.M. WBAI: Women's Studies. Viv Sutherland, host. "Exploring the Male Mystique."
2:30-3:30 P.M. WNYC-FM: Speaking of Dance, Lee-Edward Stern, host. Dancers from England's Royal Ballet (Part I).
4:30-4:55 P.M. WNYC-FM: The Young Mendelssohn, Sabag Azzuril, host. Alina Horavans, composer (Part I).
5:05 P.M. WOR-FM: Mystery Theater. E. G. Marshall, host. "The Prince of Evil," adaptation of Shakespeare's "Richard III," starring Howard Bay Silver.
5:30-5:55 P.M. WNYC-FM: Hands Across the Sea, Robert Russell discusses the music of Germany.
5:30-5:55 P.M. WNYC-AM: Frigidities For Males, With Norman Kern.
6-6:30 P.M. WNYC-AM: A World at Stake, With Robert Hoffman. "An Italian View of European Unity."
6:30-8 P.M. WOR-AM: Mighty Memory Mobile, Garry Moore, Bob Maxwell, hosts.
7-8 P.M. WBAI: Salad, Beatrice Frum Hunter, author of "Food Additives and Food Safety: After Red No. 2 What Next?"
7-8:30 P.M. WNYC-AM: The Lively Arts, William Wells, host. Justin Frantz, pianist.
8 P.M. WMCA: Basketball, Nets vs. San Antonio.
8:05-10 P.M. WOR-AM: Joe Franklin Show, A tribute to Groucho Marx. A. J. Jacobs, host.
8:20 P.M. WNEW-AM: Baseball, Mets at Houston Astros.

News Broadcasts

- All News: WBSB, WINS, WJWS, Hourly on the Hour: WQXR, WJLE, WMCA, WNBC, WNYC, WNEW-AM, WOR, WOR-FM.
Five Minutes to the Hour: WQXR (also five minutes to the half-hour); WNYC, WFLX, WJWS.
Fifteen Minutes Past the Hour: WFLX, WJWS.
On the Half Hour: WPAI, WFLX, WJWS, WNBC, WMCA, WNYC.
6:30 only: WBAI.

Suffolk Airport Operators Say G.O.P. Aides Got Contributions and Free Rides

By PRANAY GUPTA
Special to The New York Times

WESTHAMPTON, L.I., April 23—Authorities are investigating charges made by the concessionaires at Suffolk Airport that Republican officials in the county demanded and received official contributions and free flights on private planes in exchange for their approval of permits and licenses.

The airport, which is in this resort community on the South Shore, has three runways and is owned by Suffolk County. It registers about 3,000 flights a week, involving private jet and propeller planes and planes of the Air National Guard.

According to legislative investigators, the concessionaires, Suffolk Aviation Inc., have operated fueling, parking and flight-training facilities at the airport for five years.

Among its charges were that free flights to Washington and to Grossinger's resort in the Catskills were provided to Edward M. Schwenk, the Suffolk G.O.P. chairman, and that free flights were provided to Richard D. Zeidler, the former Brookhaven Republican town chairman, so that he could inspect his yacht in Maryland.

Neither Mr. Schwenk nor Mr. Zeidler could be reached to lay out their associates denied any impropriety.

The airport pays the county $1,400 a month rent and does a business of $250,000 to $400,000 a year, investigators say. But under a complex arrangement Suffolk Aviation has never had a legal contract with the county.

Indeed, John V. N. Klein, the Suffolk County Executive, said in an interview this afternoon that he had been "dissatisfied" with the performance of Suffolk Aviation. A county audit in 1973 was critical of the concern's bookkeeping practices.

"I have threatened to remove them for four years," Mr. Klein said, adding that he had also proposed that the airport itself be phased out.

Investigators reported today that the operators of Suffolk Aviation, Richard Rubio, the president, and Joseph Rubio, the secretary, now apparently feel that, as one law-enforcement official put it, "their investment in terms of political contributions was not worth it" in the light of the efforts to phase out the airport.

Richard Rubio declined to comment today. Henry F. O'Brien, the Suffolk District Attorney, and Paul Gianelli, the chief assistant prosecutor, also would not comment, but other sources close to the investigation said that the Rubio brothers had also charged:

That they had been paying large sums of money regularly to a Suffolk real estate agent for brokerage service, and that the agent, who had been introduced to them by a Republican official, had specified that this money was actually going to unidentified Republican officials.

That the Rubio brothers were urged to make and did in fact make large contributions to the Suffolk Republican Party in exchange for pledges that G.O.P. officials would assist in obtaining the annual license for Suffolk Aviation.

Investigators disclosed that in 1973, at the suggestion of Mr. Klein, the County Executive, the Suffolk District Attorney's office, which was then headed by George Aspland, a Republican, had looked into some of these charges. But that investigation was unproductive, investigators said, one of the reasons being that the Rubios had "firmly refused to talk."

Now, investigators say, the Rubio brothers have reportedly said that at the time of the first investigation, they had been directed by political figures in Suffolk to "stonewall" the inquiry.

REX HUMBARO
PRISON TV SPECIAL
Sunday, April 25
SEE OUR AD ON PAGE 54

Violent Crimes Drop 0.4%, Latest Police Data Indicate

By SELWYN RAAB

Violent crime declined slightly in the city during the first two months of this year compared with last year, but the number of reported crimes involving property loss continued to increase sharply, according to the Police Department's latest statistics.

Police officials generally were puzzled by the sudden 0.5 percent dip in violent crime categories—the first decline in more than three years. The rise in property crime, such as burglaries, larcenies and motor vehicle thefts, totaled 15.3 percent. It was attributed partly to the economic depression in New York.

A breakdown of violent crime statistics for January and February showed murders were down 16.5 percent, rapes 15.6 percent and assaults 7.6 percent.

figures. However, many said privately that the data indicated that crime had not taken a sharp upturn following last year's police manpower trims. Because of budget cutbacks, police personnel has been reduced to about 26,500 officers and supervisors from a high of 31,000 in 1974.

The crime data for the first two months of this year included the following findings:

• The total number of reported felonies was 95,652—9,829, or 11.5 percent, more than the same period last year.

• The incidence of violent crimes dropped by 83, or 0.4 percent, compared with last year.

• Property crimes increased to 74,741, a rise of 9,912, or 13.3 percent.

No Sharp Upturn

The only category of violent crime to show an increase was robbery, which rose by 4 percent. In the first two months of this year, there were 14,161 robberies, constituting by far the largest category in the total of 20,911 violent crimes.

For the first part of 1976, the total crime index, which comprises violent crimes and crimes against property, rose by 11.5 percent—about the same figure as the 11.8 percent increase recorded for all of 1975.

Most police officials declined immediate comment on the implications of the newest crime

The fastest-climbing categories were motor-vehicle thefts and larcenies, the same two categories that showed the largest increases in 1975. Auto thefts were up 27.6 percent and larceny-theft, 19.6 percent.

James F. Hannon, the Police Department's chief of operations, said that the new statistics were being analyzed and that officials were uncertain as to what circumstances caused the decline in violent crimes.

"We did see similar trend towards the end of last year, but it's too premature at this stage to judge why it is happening," said Chief Hannon, who is the city's highest-ranking uniformed officer. "We hope it is a permanent turn for the better."

Jobs Rate Cited

The continued rise in burglaries and thefts was attributed partly by Chief Hannon to the economic recession and high unemployment in the city.

He said that officials were disturbed by the sharp increases in auto thefts and that he had ordered borough commanders "to attack that problem vigorously."

Chief Hannon and other officials believe that the high cost and scarcity of auto parts have led to car-theft rings whose members strip vehicles of their most valuable parts, rather than sell them intact.

One police expert, Lieut. Mary L. Keeffe, the head of the sex-crime analysis unit, offered an explanation for the 15.6 percent decline in reported rapes: the educational campaign by the police to alert women on methods of preventing attacks and an intensified drive to arrest rapists.

"It's not a statistical fluke and I think it will continue," Lieutenant Keeffe added.

P.B.A. Seeks a Vote To Bar Further Cut In Police Personnel

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association disclosed plans yesterday to seek a public referendum in November to block further cuts in emergency services.

If the referendum proposal were adopted and succeeded in blocking cuts, it could seriously obstruct the Beame administration's efforts to balance its budget by 1978.

Present plans call for reducing the Police Department by 1,575 officers in the coming fiscal year, as well as eliminating hundreds of firemen and sanitation workers.

The P.B.A.'s referendum plan was disclosed in the new issue of the association's publication, PBA Front & Center, which was distributed yesterday.

Ken McFeeley, president of the police union, said that the referendum would be "a move to mobilize massive public support for ending police layoffs."

The P.B.A. move seeks to require the city to maintain emergency services at the level they were at the end of last month. For the Police Department that would mean a level of 26,333 uniformed personnel.

The P.B.A. publication quoted Mr. McFeeley as saying that the association would devote as much time, money and manpower as possible to the referendum. The P.B.A. head said that volunteers from the association and other police and fire unions would begin next month to gather the 30,000 signatures required for a referendum.

Mr. McFeeley was also quoted as having said that the referendum was needed to block the possible elimination of an additional 1,500 police officers.

A decade ago, the P.B.A., through a referendum campaign, won public approval for blocking the creation of a civilian complaint review board to oversee the actions of the police.

Picking a sports camp takes practice

As a parent, you may need basic training in selecting wisely. What are the questions you should ask?

Find out Sunday in the Spring Survey of Education... A big separate section in

The New York Times

Beame Gets Award

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., April 23—Mayor Beame received an honorary award tonight from Beta Alpha Psi, the national honor accounting society, at the Hofstra University School of Business.

British Bargains to get you in the spirit for '76

Brought to you by the estimable Robert Morley.

Cheap-Cheap
$399 Roundtrip
New York to Glasgow

Also, Cheap-Cheap roundtrip New York to London or Manchester: $410. Cheap-Cheap is the lowest allowable individual fare. Not a charter fare, it's available on all flights. There's nothing like subsidizing your spirit of independence: Cheap-Cheap leaves you all the free time (22 to 45 days, to be precise) to go where you please. Thomas Paine, your heroic pamphleteer, was born in Thetford. William Penn went to school in Essex. The trick with Cheap-Cheap is to plan ahead: there are a limited number of seats and you must book and pay 2 months before you go. Also, there's a $50 cancellation fee, so you should work things out carefully with your Travel Agent.

London Show Tour
$561
from $561

The original London Show Tour is still the best one around. For a two-week tour, you get an incredible amount: round-trip airfare from New York, 13 nights in a good London hotel (with private bath and continental breakfast each morning) and a number of extraordinary features. Not the least of which is 7 theatre tickets (or your choice of two other ticket plans). Plus, there's membership in private clubs and discounts at hundreds of shops and restaurants. And even an Avis car for two days (gas and mileage on you). While you're in town, come see Ben Franklin's famous printing press at the Science Museum.

Fly-Drive Holiday
$511
from $511

For those who like to go their own way—with wheels, this tour is all you need. Price includes round-trip airfare from New York, your first night in a good London Airport hotel and an Avis car for 13 days, with unlimited mileage. Go wherever the spirit takes you: To Wales, where Thomas Jefferson's forebears lived. To Scotland, the scene of John Paul Jones' invasions. To Buckinghamshire, where stands a barn made from the broken up timbers of your Mayflower. To Gravesend, where Princess Pocahontas is buried. There's also a Fly-Drive Scotland for the same price, if you wish to try the high road or the low road.

How far your dollar goes:

- A full 3-course luncheon in a country inn $4.00
- George Washington's Ancestral Home (Sulgrave Manor) .65
- 2 tickets to a Cricket Match 2.25
- 3,000-year-old Stonehenge .60
- The American Museum at Bath Free
- Men's Shelland wool sweater 7.25
- Westminster Abbey Free
- 1 week's unlimited rail travel in Britain (BritRail Pass) 60.00
- Shampoo and Set at an exclusive London hairdresser 6.31
- Pint of bitter (beer) in a pub .55

Compute-A-Tour

This remarkable British Airways service lets you "program" your entire holiday to suit your needs exactly. And at a savings, too. You and your travel Agent work everything out in advance: your budget, your itinerary, how you want to go, where you want to stay. There are hundreds of hotels, side-trips, bus tours, etc. to choose from. Even entertainment can be planned in advance. All about Britain, too. Why not follow the American exhibits on tour this year.

This is just a small sampling of all our tours. The prices for our two-week tours quoted above are for May only; they will be slightly higher afterward. Cheap-Cheap and Group Inclusive Tours are subject to Government approval and a number of restrictions, including a $15 surcharge for weekend travel. For full details, you must read our "Holidays Britain and Europe" and Cheap-Cheap brochures. Call your Travel Agent or British Airways.

British Airways
Box 111, Dept. 30-35
Rogo Park, New York 11374
Phone (212) 687-1600 or see the Yellow Pages for our toll-free number in your area.

You've got me in the spirit, Mr. Morley. Please send me British Airways' Bicentennial package.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
My Travel Agent is _____

Do come home. All is forgiven.

British airways

We'll take good care of you to Britain. Europe. The World.

097120150